Prince Rupert people should keep their eyes on Stewart, show an intelligent interest in its affairs and be sympathetic and helpful in regard to its undertakings, according to J. J. Little, general manager of the Northern B. C. Power Company, who returned from that town a few days ago.

Going more into detail in regard to the possibilities, Mr. Little said everyone knew that the Trail smelter, a subsidiary of the Canadian Pacific Railway, was starting work on the extension of the railway. They also knew that the well known Premier mine had put on more men recently and was shipping as much concentrates as ever. These activities in themselves meant a great deal. He was, however, very enthusiastic over the United Empire mine which promised to become one of the great mines of the district.

Speaking of other activities, Mr. Little said the fact that the Consolidated was spending so much money on the Big Missouri led people to think that eventually it would mean a great operation at that point. The company had optioned adjoining properties and, doubtless, the advancing price of gold and silver was a stimulating factor in connection with the development of the property.

Dr. W. A. Clemens Tells Gyo Club Some of Accomplishments of This Branch of Scientific Service

Salmon Research

Efforts Being Made to Maintain Proper Balance Between Escapement and Catch

Interesting facts in regard to the natural history of Pacific Coast salmon and sidelights on biological research work which is being carried on by the scientific staff of the Biological Board of Canada with a view to conservation of the fishery resources were revealed by Dr. W. A. Clemens, director of the Nanaimo Biological Station and recognized authority on the subject of salmon, in speaking before the Gyo Club of Prince Rupert at luncheon yesterday.

As far as the biological work of the board on the Pacific Coast was concerned, Dr. Clemens explained, salmon was receiving the major attention, particularly the sockeye species in view of its value and the fact that it was showing serious signs of depletion. The task was to maintain a proper balance between escapement and catch. The speaker explained the various methods which were being pursued to obtain information as to migration and habits of the various species of salmon and described some of the results which had already been obtained.

Results of Tagging

As a result of tagging, it had been learned that the spring salmon moved far afield, fish tagged in Northern British Columbia having been found as far south as California. The movement of sockeye salmon, as far as had been so far learned, was more limited. Information thus far obtained indicated that the sockeye salmon invariably returned to its native stream to spawn and die. It was different with the pink salmon. Pinks tagged on the Queen Charlotte Islands, for instance, had been found going up the Naas and Skeena Rivers to spawn.

Dr. Clemens told of the astounding mortality of sockeye salmon between the time of spawning and maturing of the fish. It had been ascertained as a result of the research work at Cultus Lake that of every one hundred eggs spawned only one went down the stream as

SOFTBALL EVENED UP

C. N. R. A. Beats Grotto and Each Have Now Won Once

The Canadian National Recreation Association softball tossers turned the tables on the Grotto team last night and evened up the championship play-off series, taking an exciting game by a score of 3 to nil. No runs were made by either side until the fourth inning when the C. N. R. A. broke loose. Unger, first man up, reached first on an error by Forig, was forced at second base by McIntosh, and both Hibbard and Cameron hit safely, filling the bases. Geddes flew out to Hill. Pitcher hit one to Yager which was fumbled and McIntosh scored. Stiles then hit a low fly ball to short right field which Postulo dropped and both Hibbard and Cameron scored. Pitcher being caught at home plate for the third out. There was no further scoring although the Grotto threatened in both the seventh and eighth innings. In the ninth inning Horton caught three flies in centre field, the last one being a shoestring catch which ended the game.

The C. N. R. A. played good ball throughout. Hibbard and Astori getting two hits each.

For the Grotto, Bury and Gurvich were best, while Hill at centre handled six out of seven chances.

Yager connected with the best hit of the game in the seventh inning, driving the ball for two bases into the rock pile.

HIGHWAY MOST IMPORTANT

This morning one of the advertisements asking for suggestions as to Prince Rupert needs came to hand with the following suggestion: 'Prince Rupert needs the highway connected with the east and when that is done Prince Rupert need not worry about needs.'

We agree thoroughly with the writer that the highway is the greatest need of the day both for Prince Rupert and all the interior country. Once it is built it will revolutionize travel. Many people who otherwise never come here will arrive in their cars and spend a day or two or more before returning. Once people know they can get through to some definite objective they will drive north instead of going elsewhere. Prince Rupert will then have something to advertise. It will become the business of the local chamber of commerce to induce tourists coming to Vancouver to continue the run northward. Interior points will probably join in the move and the Associated Boards of Trade will likely take a hand in it.

Prince Rupert must allow no political or other considerations to interfere with efforts to secure highway connection with the rest of the world. We have already waited too long. We have been very patient knowing the difficulties that governments have had to meet in the past few years. There was no general united protest when the work was shut down several years ago and there has been no insistent demand that it be continued, at any rate not a demand that could be heard far beyond the boundaries of the city.

We have on former occasions pointed to Alaska where, although they have no city anything like the size of Prince Rupert, they have much more highway built than we have. The people there unite on an objective and waive political consideration. Here we seem to be tied to politics. If, for instance, this paper should advocate a strong demand being sent to Premier Bennett urging help for the province so that the unemployed could be put to work on the much needed highway, we should find Conservatives hanging back. If we should advocate bringing pressure to bear on Premier Pattullo, we should find a similar attitude taken by many Liberals. So many people are politicians before they are Prince Rupert citizens, whereas they should be Prince Rupert citizens first and politics should be secondary.

When the right moment arises we should all unite and make a noise that will be heard right across the country.

a matured yearling. Depredations of squawfish and Dolly Varden trout were believed to be to a large extent responsible and steps were now being taken to rid Cultus Lake of these enemies. Dr. Clemens also told of work that was being carried out in regard to artificial propagation which, so far, had not yielded much more satisfactory results than the natural means.

Scientific Organization

Dr. Clemens briefly described the organization of the Biological Board's scientific service which consisted of two major branches—biological, having to do with the natural history and conservation end, and fisheries experimental, applying to processing of fish, etc. Nainimo was a biological station and Prince Rupert a fisheries experimental station. The object was to dovetail the work of the two branches in the scientific work. As a result of the biological investigations, trends of the pilchard and trout fisheries had been learned. Research had also been carried out in regard to oysters—the native variety as well as imported Atlantic Coast and Japanese varieties. Two canneries had been established on the coast to pack Japanese oysters which were thriving here.

At the conclusion of his address, Dr. Clemens was tendered a vote of thanks by W. H. Tobey, president of the Gyro Club, who was in the chair. There was a large attendance of members and the following guests: Dr. W. A. Clemens, Nainimo; Dr. A. H. Hutchinson, Vancouver; George Dibb, Anyox, and Dr. Neal Carter, H. W. Birch, Dr. J. P. Cade, L. H. Haworth, G. W. Johnstone and O. F. Denstedt, Prince Rupert.

WHIFFLETS
From the Waterfront

Skipper O. P. Smith was in port with his well known troller Billy Boy from Passage Island in the Wright Sound area where he has been fishing of late and where he reports there has been a good run of cohoes recently. O. P., who arrive Monday, left again Tuesday afternoon heading south with Vancouver as his ultimate destination.

The well known steamer Anyox, formerly of the Coastwise Steamship & Barge Co.'s ore carrying fleet and now flying the flag of the Pacific Salvage Co., being engaged in towing of logs from J. R. Moran's logging camp at Crescent Inlet, Queen Charlotte Islands, to the mainland, arrived in port at 7 o'clock last evening and, after taking on fuel at the Imperial Oil Co.'s station here, left this morning for Captain's Cove where she had left a tow which she will pick up and take to Ocean Falls.

Making the company's final voyage of the summer tourist schedule to Alaska, C. N. R. steamer Prince Rupert, Capt. Neil McLean, arrived in port at 10 o'clock this morning from Vancouver, Powell River and Ocean Falls and sailed at 1 o'clock this afternoon for Skagway and other northern points whence she will return here next Monday southbound. The vessel brought in a good sized list of passengers, many of whom were round trip tourists.

Coming north from Vancouver via the Queen Charlotte Islands on a regularly scheduled voyage, C. N. R. steamer Prince Charles, Capt. Edward Mabbs, left Skidegate Inlet at 8 o'clock last evening for Massett Inlet, where she is making her calls today, and is expected to arrive here early tomorrow morning.

There were 261 passengers in all aboard the steamer Princess Louise on her arrival here yesterday afternoon from Skagway enroute to Vancouver. The large majority were round trip tourists returning south. Fourteen persons left the vessel here while four went south aboard her from this port.

Warner Baxter and Spencer Tracy Seen in Separate Vehicles at Capitol Theatre

Another excellent double bill comes to the screen of the Capitol Theatre here at the middle of this week in "Such Women are Dangerous," starring the suave and ever-popular Warner Baxter, and "Now I'll Tell" with Spencer Tracy in the featured role.

Baxter is said to be at his romantic best in "Such Women are Dangerous" as he fights off the advances of three lovely damsels in the persons of Rosemary Ames, Rochelle Hudson and Mona Barrie. The play has an unexpected climax that introduces some excellent serious drama. Miss Ames is a faithful secretary, Miss Hudson an infatuated debutante and Miss Barrie a sophisticated charmer. Henrietta Crossman, Herbert Mundin and Irving Pichel are among others included in the cast.

"Now I'll Tell" is the dramatic story of the fascinating life of a man who moved from one success to another through the sporting and night life in New York during the exciting years from 1910 to 1932. Supporting Spencer Tracy are Helen Twelvetrees in the important role of the wife and Alice Faye as a night club singer.
