PUBLIC WORKS PRINCE RUPERT

ESLING AND KING HAVE PASSAGE—BRADY AND FRASER SPEAK

In the course of a rather warm debate in the House of Commons between W. K. Esling, member for West Kootenay, and Hon. Dr. J. H. King, minister of health, in which the former was demanding public buildings for Trail, Dr. King asked Mr. Esling if Trail "needed them as much as the people of Prince Rupert do." Dr. King also referred to the post-office site in Prince Rupert and humorously asked Mr. Esling "to dilate on the purchase of the site, giving the date and the price paid for it."

The debate continued in part as follows: Dr. Manion: The Minister might add the Prince Rupert elevator.

Mr. King (Kootenay): It is serving a useful purpose.

Mr. Manion: Returning $100 a year to this government on an investment of $1,500,000.

Mr. Neill: I am not interested in the Trail post office; I am not interested even in a public building at Kimberley, but I am interested in the lack of public buildings in the district of Comox-Alberni. I would like to call the attention of this committee, and more particularly of my Conservative friends to the fact that this vote comprises the sum of $243,262, and with the exception of the small sum of $5,000 for Kimberley the whole of that sum is for buildings in districts represented by Conservatives. Except, I say, for that little vote of $5,000 for Kimberley, every one of the twelve votes is going to districts of hon. gentlemen opposite, one of whom has made so much complaint of how he and his Conservative friends in British Columbia have been treated. I hope the lesson will be taken to heart by them, and that when I ask the Minister of Public Works for some few niggardly votes for odd wharves later on, hon. gentlemen opposite will remember this vote.

Mr. Clark: It is pretty hard to find anything but a Conservative out there.

MR. BRADY
Mr. Brady: So much has been said regarding certain places where post offices are to be built that their names have become historic during the last few days. Let me mention another place that has not a post office building—the large, thriving city of Prince Rupert. The postal and other government business is carried on in a rented building costing annually about $4,000. The postal revenue for 1926 was $85,439; the customs and excise, $301,480. Besides these services the Marine and Fisheries department and the government telegraph department have accommodation in the same building. But it is not by any means adequate for the purpose. One of the government's representatives from Victoria visited Prince Rupert while I was there and after going through the building expressed the opinion that it was neither hygienic nor suitable for the amount of business handled. I do not expect that I shall be able to induce the government to promise me a post office tonight, but undoubtedly they should consider the desirability even from the standpoint of economy alone, of erecting a building at Prince Rupert adequate to handle the large volume of government business that has to be transacted there, rather than pay out every year $4,000 in rent for undesirable accommodation. In Smithers, a very promising town, the postal revenue for 1926 was $4,854, and at Ocean Falls, $6,596. I think since other places have had so many successful advocates, Prince Rupert and those I have mentioned are entitled to favorable consideration from the government.

Mr. Fraser: I would like to ask the Postmaster General if he has any report in regard to the necessity of a post office building in the town of Prince Rupert?

Mr. Veniot: From memory I would say not, but there may be an application on file. I will look it up and let my hon. friend know.

Mr. Fraser: I would point out the necessity of recommending to the Minister of Public Works an amount for a public building in the town of Prince Rupert. That town is a very important community in the central part of British Columbia, with a population of about 3,500 people, and last year the postal revenue amounted to $12,412. I notice that in the estimates many places are receiving substantial consideration from this government which have neither the revenue nor the population of Prince Rupert. I asked that this be included in the estimates last year and it was not done; I ask again that in view of the development likely to take place in the course of the next year, consideration be given to this request by the Minister of Public Works and the postal authorities. There is also an inspector of customs at that point, and a very considerable revenue is derived in that way. There is also in my district the town of Salmon Arm, with a population of between 1,200 and 1,500 which produces a postal revenue of about $8,800. In addition to the postal and customs revenue at this point I would point out that there are officials of the Forestry branch of the Interior department stationed in that town, and the rentals paid for office quarters must be very considerable. I suggest that it would be in the interests of the government and would reduce expenditure by a very considerable amount to erect a public building of their own in that town and thereby give the necessary accommodation to the various officials stationed there. There is not an item in the estimates for either of these places, but I am hoping the minister will be good enough to include them when the supplementary estimates are prepared. The Minister of Health (Dr. King) laughs; perhaps he remembers that last year he promised to do this for me, and to give it his very serious consideration. He is still considering, but I hope he will pass along a favorable decision this year.

Public Works—Generally—Experimental farms—replacements, repairs, improvements, etc., $100,000.

Mr. Brady: I would like to ask the Minister of Agriculture if it is the intention of the government to give northern British Columbia an experimental farm?

Mr. Motherwell: "If it is the intention of the government to give my hon. friend a farm?"

Mr. Brady: No, not to me, to northern British Columbia.

Mr. Motherwell: The estimates of the Department of Agriculture will be up after a while, and I will be able then to give my hon. friend all the information he desires.

Mr. Brady: This is a very important question for the mixed farming districts of the Bulkley Valley, Burns Lake, Smithers, Telkwa, Francois Lake, and Ootsa Lake. Some years ago this question was before the House and was favorably considered by the present Minister of Agriculture (Mr. Motherwell). I think that it would be a very intelligent method of expenditure, because the result of the establishment of an experimental farm in this particular district would be far reaching. This district is one of the most suitable and best adapted to mixed farming in Canada, and the people of that great district which includes thousands of square miles are engaged in all forms of agricultural industry. They have splendid root crops; they carry on dairying; they have wheat, oats, rye, and timothy, and every other crop which should encourage the government to give these people an experimental farm. The hon. member for Victoria (Mr. Toimie) some years ago very strongly advocated an experimental farm for this particular part of British Columbia, and I believe that the time has now come in this country when the question of mixed farming should receive more careful consideration. We have the great wheat fields of the prairies provinces, but we must consider the other great districts of Canada which are perfectly adapted to mixed farming, and the district to which I refer should have an experimental farm, and the government should assist what is recognized to be a substantial forward movement in the development of a great industry. When I heard the number of advocates for public buildings I was not enthusiastic, but I do feel that when the question is one of national importance, concerning the well-being of Canada, the voice of these people should be heard and the government should be sympathetic. I trust, Mr. Chairman, that the Minister of Agriculture is of the same mind today as he was in 1924.

LAYING MEN OFF AT DOCK PLANT

Just before the council adjourned last night, Alderman Perry asked Ald. Brown whether any men had been laid off at the dry dock plant recently when the plant had been shut down.

In reply, Alderman Brown said that he could not give details of the matter at hand but promised a full report for the next meeting of the council.

Alderman Perry said that no ships had been here and no wheat arriving from the east for some days and it was not fair to have the men engaged to do nothing. He was not referring to the technical men but unskilled labor should always be obtained and the staff should be cut down when the plant was closed down.

Alderman Brown explained that it was necessary to be ready for any demand made on the city and it was not possible to pick up skilled men at a moment's notice.

Mayor Newton and Alderman Perry then engaged in a conversation on the question and the mayor said that the superintendent had spoken of the necessity of having men ready whenever they were needed. However, as Alderman Brown had promised a full report for the next meeting of the council, he asked Alderman Perry to leave the matter over until then which was agreed to.

Document Providing for Use of Power Plant by City Expected from East Soon

Alderman Jos. Greer was told by the mayor at the meeting of the city council last night that the agreement between the city and the railway company for the use of the dry dock plant had not yet been finally ratified. It had been explained by the City Solicitor that the document had gone to Montreal and been returned various times as to the city solicitor had considered adding certain clauses for the better protection of the city's interests. The agreement was now in the east and it was expected that it would be forwarded to the city shortly.

SHANGHAI SITUATION COMMANDS ATTENTION.

The expected entry of Shanghai by the Cantonese has occurred. The situation is rife with grave possibilities and the eyes of the world are focussed on the great international seaport.

Future developments will undoubtedly be largely governed by the action of the foreign interests. By meeting the situation with a strong military hand, things might be settled temporarily at least but it would be only temporary.

The time is getting closer to armed intercession but the stage of negotiations has not yet passed. One thing sure is that the situation will not continue much longer as it is. It looks like a settlement or a fight before long.

PACIFIC COAST IS INTERESTED.

The Pacific coast, facing the Asiatic shores, has a special interest in the prologue to the great drama beginning on the Chinese stage. For more than fifty years its orators and prophets have predicted the shifting of the world's focus of commerce and culture from the Atlantic to the Pacific—when the teeming Asiatic millions should wake up and modernize their mode of life. Does the present period of unrest mark the start of the awakening?

Hardly. China's awakening began more than a hundred years ago, when the guns of British frigates forced the Celestial Empire to admit foreigners and opium, to grant concessions, to receive missionaries. Ever since then the Chinese giant has been stirring uneasily—and every restless movement left a trail of blood. Now he has one sleepy eye partly open—and he does not like that which he sees.

For a century China has been slowly, very slowly, changing from a social order based on the family and the clan to something else. What that will be, nobody can predict with accuracy, but it is certain that the transitional period will last a long time. It took Germany more than two hundred years to evolve from the old Roman Empire to the modern republic. It will take China much longer to complete its process of recrystallization. The present disturbance may be merely one of a long series.

TURNING YELLOW INTO RED.

Sun Yat Sen, American-trained leader of the southern or Cantonese part of China, never got very far with his project of uniting the country under his banner while he relied on Japanese support. After his death his successors accepted the aid of the astute Soviet leaders. Russian influence began to dominate Canton; it is still dominant, Russian guns and bullets became its equipment. And Russian advice brought about the ridiculous combination of two violently opposed issues, nationalism and communism, in the propaganda of the Cantonese.

You can't be a communist and a patriot at the same time because communism must break down nationalistic boundary lines to succeed. The Russians know well enough that Chinese nationalism will hurt the cause of communism in the Far East, but if this Chinese nationalism can be turned against the British, if England can be further weakened by it, if it will help eventually to stir up revolution in India and thereby cause more unemployment in Lancashire, they will be content. They are using Chinese and Indian nationalism to strengthen the cause of communism in Great Britain. They forced a fake red mask on John Chinaman's yellow face in the hope of turning England red. So far the astute Soviet leaders seem to have succeeded remarkably.

FREE LUNCH

NO one expects to become a "down-and-outer"—but any one may. When the hard realities of life have been faced and old age approaches, many find, with bitter disappointment, that the "future" which once looked so promising, has become a "present" for which they have no adequate provision.

There may be no willing relatives or friends to help, and you may yourself be incapacitated for earning.

You need not face such a future—you can provide definitely against such a fate by obtaining now a Government Annuity. The Government of Canada has wisely provided that anyone residing in Canada may have an old age of comfort and leisure.

Canada, with all her vast resources, guarantees you an income when your working days are over—an income for the rest of your life—an income free from Dominion taxation—an income that cannot be seized under any law or court process, and that cannot be forfeited or stolen.

You can secure such an income (in amounts from $50 to $5000 a year) through the Canadian Government Annuities Branch, by one complete purchase or in small convenient installments.

Can you afford to reject such an opportunity. Fill out coupon below and mail it now for full particulars.

SPORT CHAT

A few years ago the tennis courts of Prince Rupert tennis club were the only ones in use in the city. Now the Canadian National and the Northern B.C. Regiment have courts and all are well patronized during the summer months. In fact on some of the courts games have been in progress all winter. The addition of a few courts in other parts of the city would help considerably, and no doubt all would be well patronized. Several cities, in the west particularly, have municipal courts, which cost little for upkeep after once they are put in shape.

Chick Evans has been named "architect" for one of the most extensive golf course projects ever conceived—construction of a chain of approximately 50 golf courses that eventually will circle Chicago. For a salary of $400 a month Evans, former national open and amateur champion, will devote his entire time to advising the Cook County Board as to the best manner of laying out the courses. These links, to be located in tracts totalling 15,000 acres, some of which are undeveloped and timbered, will extend from the North around the city and touching the lake just inside the Indiana-Illinois line. Evans' amateur status will not be impaired by his employment.

CASE AGAINST SELF FINISHED

MAGISTRATE McCLYMONT RESERVES DECISION UNTIL TOMORROW IN MATTER OF GAMING CHARGE

The taking of evidence and the argument of counsel in the case against Ben Self of keeping a gaming house at the Grand Terminal Club was completed in police court this morning and the case was adjourned until tomorrow morning to permit magistrate McClymont to examine the cases cited by counsel.

For two hours yesterday afternoon Ben Self was on the stand in his own defense giving evidence as to the operation of the Grand Terminal Club. He explained that at one time there was a club on Third Avenue which was not large enough to accommodate all the members and it was decided to lease the Empress theatre block. He had secured the lease and made the alterations to the building and installed the equipment which was used by the club and for which he was allowed $50 per month. He was also an employee of the club and received $75 monthly salary. The money invested in the club amounted to approximately $14,000.

In explaining to his counsel how the games were conducted in the card room, witness said that it had been the practice for the members of the club to pay twenty-five cents for the use of the cards for a game of "rummy." This contribution was free and voluntary and was not insisted on by the club. The membership fee amounted to $5.00 per year and was payable in April. The witness then went on to say that the majority of the members of the club were fishermen and they had the privileges of the club at any hour of the day or night.

W. O. Fulton cross-examined the witness at considerable length as to the rules and regulations of the club and the practice in regard to playing games of chance. The various values attached to the chips on the night of the raid were explained by Mr. Self who said that he had left the table to go out for some refreshments when the raid was made. In regard to the memorandum of the club, Mr. Self said that this had been drawn up for the members of the club. He had never heard that the document had been originally drawn up by Mr. Farris in Vancouver. The witness then related how each player bought his chips from Mr. Levine and at the end of the game these were cashed by Mr. Levine.

Sometimes a "kitty" was taken off during the game but he did not know whether it had been done that night. Mr. Fulton asked why it was that cards for use at poker were sold at a loss of four cents a deck. Witness explained that these cards were often used afterwards for rummy games.

A number of questions were then addressed to the witness in regard to the cost of operating the club and counsel was told that the club had not been paying and they were going to consider advancing the membership dues. The register of the club showed a membership of 269 since the club opened and, during that time, over 1400 guests had visited the rooms. This was partly due to the fact that the billiard hall which was used in the league games was well patronized and no one except a member or a guest was allowed in. Witness then related how he had not been paid in full for his services having only received two cheques for $525 since the club opened.

The evidence of George McLimoyie, an employee of the club, referred only to certain clerical work which he had performed. He had written up the membership book after Mr. Self had handed him slips showing who had become members. In regard to the last ten names in the book he had added these after the raid had been made as the book was in the lawyer's hands at that time. He had never visited the card room much, as he was busy in the billiard room and did not know the practice there. So far as he knew, however, no employee of the club had played as agent or backer of the club.

In summing up the case for the defence, Mr. Gonzales said that the charge was against Ben Self personally. He went over the evidence and said that there had been nothing to show that Ben Self had profited personally. In fact there was money owing to him. While it must be admitted the business of the club was conducted rather loosely at times, yet it was common knowledge that business houses in the city often had a very loose way of attending to the matters of book keeping. Mr. Gonzales then quoted numerous cases in support of his contention that the courts had held that the general practice of playing games in such clubs was not a violation of any statute.

W. O. Fulton for the prosecution maintained that it was not a bona fide club but was commonly known as Ben Self's place. It was only a sham as a club. He then reviewed the evidence showing that the lease of the premises had been taken out by Ben Self and said that Ben Self had spent $14,000 in the place. It was not reasonable to suppose that all this expenditure by one man was for the purpose of the 269 members. Mr. Fulton also contended that, by the evidence of the accused, he was guilty as he admitted that a "kitty" had been taken from certain games. The address of Mr. Fulton was rather lengthy and he also quoted a number of cases in support of his contention. The magistrate said he would consider these cases and adjourned court until 10 this morning for further argument by counsel.

This morning, Milton Gonzales, counsel for defence, argued that various cases mentioned by counsel for the prosecution had no bearing on the case or confirmed the argument which he had already advanced.

Mr. Fulton, in replying, said that he would ask the court to examine the various references as there was evidently no dispute as to the law in the matter. He argued that if the court should find that it was not a bona fide club then the cases cited related to the case.

EDMONTON HAS TAX PROBLEM

CITY WILL ASK GOVERNMENT FOR A PORTION OF GASOLINE TAX

EDMONTON, March 22.—A tax of 46 mills. That is the goal which city commissioners are striving to reach. But the problem facing them is one that calls for a financial wizard. How the commissioners are going to reconcile increased demands from the School Board, labor unions, and Library Board with the citizens' ultimatum given last December that the tax rate must be reduced, is causing considerable speculation in civic circles. The 1926 mill rate was 44.35, made up of 21 mills for public and separate schools; 18.30 for debentures, interest and redemption; 4.35 for general municipal purposes, and 70 mills for the library. The school board estimates approved Thursday night call for $1,142,000, which means an increase of one mill; the library board requests $43,500, or an increase of $3,500 over last year, while wage increases will aggregate approximately $35,000.

One of the outstanding items of concern, so far as the commissioners are concerned, is the growing requirements which the city is called upon to bear under the Provincial Widowed Mothers' Allowance, Indigent T.B. patients, and mentally defective children.

GASOLINE TAX
Some relief may be obtained, city officials hope, through the appeal of Mayor Bury, acting in conjunction with the mayors of Calgary, Lethbridge and Medicine Hat, to the provincial government for a portion of the gasoline tax. Through the policy of economy which has been instituted, the city comptroller estimates that the revenue surplus for 1926 will be approximately $45,000, though a definite figure will be obtainable only when all departmental accounts have been approved.

MAKES PLEA FOR OLD DIME NOVEL

Stephen Leacock Does Not Know Why They're Bad for Children

MONTREAL, March 22.—A plea for the old "dime novel" was made by Prof. Stephen Leacock, Canadian humorist, in the course of an address he delivered here on what children should read. Prof. Leacock explained that he did not know why the dime novel was bad for children. The scene was in the Rocky Mountains somewhere, he explained, in characterizing that particular type of literary production, and it opened with "Bang, bang, bang!" That "bang, bang, bang" was the very music that children of a certain age want to hear, he continued, and ventured his opinion that besides moving pictures "dime novel" was beautifully wholesome. Virtue was always rewarded, he said, and the most absolute modesty surrounded the heroine. She moved among the smoke of the revolvers and no man laid a hand on her.

OPPOSITION TO BEAUTY CONTEST

ANGELICAN W.A. BASES PROTEST ON GROUND OF LOWERING STANDARDS OF FITNESS

TORONTO, March 22.—(Canadian Press Despatch).—The protest against beauty contests made by the women's auxiliary to the missionary society of the Church of England in Canada, Toronto, is based on six points, which are:

- (1) We think that these contests create a false standard, because they emphasize the purely physical side without regard to the fact that beauty is a balance of bodily, mental and spiritual qualities, the mental and spiritual being at least equally important with the physical.
- (2) They do not appeal to men and women of the high type, and tend to foster in those who take part levity of outlook which must make it very difficult for them to settle down in realities of life, whether of home life or business.
- (3) They cultivate a taste for expensive, extravagant clothes, and aids to beauty; a taste which grows very rapidly by what it feeds on.
- (4) They increase the unfortunate tendency of the present day for women and girls to expose their persons too freely and carelessly; in this way they blunt the sense of modesty.
- (5) They possess nothing of the appeal of skill and courage which belongs to athletic contests and which redeems them from being merely physical exhibitions.
- (6) The winners of such (beauty) contests obtain a dangerous popularity and are subjected to a commercial exploitation that cannot be other than unwholesome.

"We therefore think they lower the standards of fitness which should obtain among women and men alike."

OLD MASSEY HOME IN TORONTO GIVEN TO UNIVERSITY

TORONTO, March 22.—(Canadian Press).—The old Massey residence at the corner of Wellesley and Jarvis Streets is to be turned over to Victoria University by the trustee of the estate of the late Lillian Frances Massey Treble, by order of Justice Middleton. In the will of the testator, who died 10 years ago, Euclid Hall, the old Massey residence was bequeathed to such corporation organized in connection with the Methodist Church of Canada that would undertake to establish it as an educational institute or for hospital purposes. Since no corporation of the Methodist church came forward and since the United church by special resolution waived all claim to the property, Victoria University as the residuary legatee of the will falls heir to the property, which at present is used as an art gallery.

Vapors Check a Cold Overnight

There are many ways to treat a cold but only one DIRECT way—with vapors that can be inhaled. Vapors penetrate immediately into every corner of the air passages and lungs, soothing and healing with every breath. Vicks is so remarkably successful in treating cold troubles because it acts like a "vapor lamp in salve form." When rubbed over throat and chest the body heat releases vapors of Menthol, Camphor, Eucalyptus, Thyme and Turpentine. At the same time Vicks is absorbed through and stimulates the skin like a poultice or plaster. This double, direct action often checks the worst cold overnight.

The Well-Managed Home

THE manager of a household is the purchasing agent for a large proportion of the family needs. In order to do a good job she must know what, when and where to buy. She must study goods and the concerns which make goods and have them to sell. She must put her home on a business basis and run it on business principles in order to make the most of the family income.

Information is the only basis for intelligent purchasing. And the right way to get the greatest amount of necessary information is to read the advertisements.

Advertisements tell you what is new and good in merchandise. They reveal improvements and inventions to make your home life easier, more comfortable and more convenient. They give you information about a thousand and one things that are useful.

Every manager of a household—every member of the household who shares the responsibility for the family's welfare—should make a habit of reading the ads.

REPORTING IN OTTAWA HOUSE

INTERESTING ADDRESS GIVEN BY PAST PRESIDENT OF PRESS GALLERY

TORONTO, March 22. — (Canadian Press Despatch). — "Parliamentary Reporting in Canada" was the topic chosen by Arthur R. Ford, managing editor of the London (Ont.) Free Press, speaking at the Sigma Delta Chi journalistic lecture course of the University of Toronto. Mr. Ford, who is a past president of the Ottawa Press Gallery, said in part:—

"The Canadian Parliamentary Press Gallery consists of from 25 to 30 accredited newspapermen, the great majority representing Canadian newspapers and The Canadian Press, Canada's co-operative news gathering organization, with an odd representative of the weekly or magazine press. About half of these correspondents are permanently located all the year round at Ottawa and between sessions cover the news of the government and the departments at Ottawa.

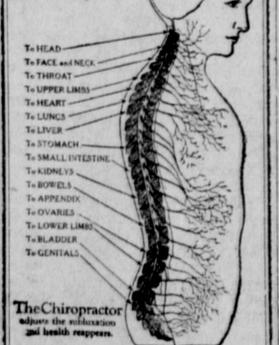

"In the early days of parliament and in fact until the establishment of The Canadian Press some 15 years ago each newspaper gave its own complete report of parliamentary news. Except for a few great and wealthy newspapers which could afford to keep large staffs at Ottawa the reports were comparatively meagre, colored and unsatisfactory. The cost not only of keeping reporters at Ottawa but the expense of tolls made it impossible for any but the large metropolitan papers to give thorough reports. Papers likewise in those days were much more partisan in character. A Conservative paper covered the speeches of its leaders and more or less ignored the speeches of the Liberals, and vice-versa. As Samuel Johnston stated when he was

TYPICALLY PARTIZAN

"I once represented the Fredericton Gleaner, along with other papers in the Press Gallery. It was in those days typically partisan of the type of partisanship familiar to New Brunswick. At the time of the famous naval debate of 1913 there was great interest in what attitude would be taken by Sir Wilfrid Laurier towards the proposals of Sir Robert Borden to appropriate $35,000,000 for the building of two dreadnoughts for the Imperial navy. Sir Douglas Hazen, minister of marine and Conservative cabinet minister from New Brunswick, spoke early one afternoon, followed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier who announced his opposition to the plan. I wired the Fredericton Gleaner informing them Sir Wilfrid had made his long expected announcement and incidentally added that Sir Douglas had made a few plattitudinous remarks. I asked how much they wanted, the reply coming back, "Send Hazen verbatim, ignore Laurier entirely."

"The coming of the Canadian Press and the establishment of a bureau for The Canadian Press not only altered very much the character of the work in the Press Gallery but revolutionized the reporting of the proceedings of Parliament in the Canadian newspapers. The Canadian Press is a co-operative news-gathering organization which represents all the daily newspapers of the Dominion. Without going into its history I might say it had its inception in the West and today includes the whole of Canada. It was the outgrowth of the unsatisfactory as well as the costly system of collecting particularly Canadian news.

CHARACTER OF WORK

"News, before the days of The Canadian Press, was collected partly through the individual enterprise and initiative of the newspapers, which had to maintain correspondents all over Canada and partly through news services maintained by the telegraph companies. The disadvantages of such a system were obvious, which had their own axes to grind. The Canadian Press established as one of its services in Ottawa a bureau of its own, with a staff of some seven or eight men. It proceeded to give over its leased wires a fair, non-partisan and uncolored report of the proceedings of parliament to the newspapers of Canada from coast to coast. It has meant that the reading public of Canada have secured what they did not always get in the past—an actual dependable report of the debates in the House of Commons end of the proceedings of the committees of the House. Even the most partisan papers take The Canadian Press reports and publish them. I believe the development of independent thinking on the part of Canadian electors and the tendency to get away from extreme partisanship is partly due to the fact that the old-time political report of parliament in which one side always made masterpieces of speech and leaders on the other side spoke to empty benches has been due to arrival of The Canadian Press.

"The entrance of The Canadian Press has also altered very much the character of the work of the newspaper correspondents. In the old days shorthand was almost essential and the members of the Press Gallery were so confined by the necessity of covering all the speeches they had little time for interpretation of what was going on, for explanation of the meaning of political developments. The Canadian Press has largely taken the burden off the shoulders of the Ottawa correspondents. They can devote more time to interpreting to the public the meaning of statutes and to following the lines of political development. They have more time for comment and can take more care in their writing. The actual proceedings of parliament and the announcements of government policy are largely covered by The Canadian Press. The duties of the correspondent can largely be described as forecasting what is likely to happen and interpreting what has happened after the event."

1000 Eggs in Every Hen

New System of Poultry Keeping—Get High-Priced Winter Eggs—Famous Poultryman

TELLS HOW

"The great trouble with the poultry business has always been that the laying life of a hen was too short," says Henry Trafford, International Poultry Expert and Breeder, for nearly eighteen years Editor of Poultry Success.

The average pullet lays 150 eggs. If kept the second year, she may lay 100 more. Then she goes to market. Yet, it has been scientifically established that every pullet is born or hatched with over one thousand minute egg germs in her system—and will lay them on a highly profitable basis over a period of four to six years' time if given proper care.

How to work to get 1,000 eggs from every hen; how to get pullets laying early; how to make the old hens lay like pullets; how to keep up heavy egg production all through cold winter months when eggs are highest; triple egg production; make slacker hens justic; $5.00 profit from every hen in six winter months. These and many other money making poultry secrets are contained in Mr. Trafford's "1,000 EGG HEN" system of poultry raising, one copy of which will be sent absolutely free to any reader of this paper who keeps six hens or more. There is big profit for the poultry keeper who gets the eggs. Mr. Trafford tells how, if you keep chickens and want them to make money for you, cut out this ad and send it with your name and address to Henry Trafford, Suite 292A, Herald Bldg., Binghamton, N.Y., and a free copy of "THE 1,000 EGG HEN" will be sent by return mail.

The fourth annual National Number of the Montreal Herald, proving both a unique and interesting volume, has come to hand at the Daily News office. The volume is adequately illustrated with well selected and interesting pictures and there are many articles by various prominent persons on matters of moment. Altogether it is a number that should prove attractive to the most of Canadian readers.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 21 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emption is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e. carrying over 8,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 5,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emption are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emption must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

For more detailed information see the Bulletin "How to Pre-empt Land."

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price for first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

MIL factories, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 440 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partly free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to 10 head.
