CLOSING ON KIDNAPPERS

Arrests Expected Momentarily In Weyerhauser Case—Volney Davis Talks

TACOMA, June 4:—Although the manhunt has now spread from coast to coast, federal "G" men were concentrating their search for the abductors of young George Weyerhauser last night within a radius of 100 miles of Tacoma. There were conflicting reports of the supposed kidnapers having been seen at widely separated points. Arrests are still expected momentarily. Numbers of the notes paid in the $200,000 ransom have been broadcast.

An important development yesterday was the finding in Seattle of the abandoned automobile of F. Rodman Titcomb, uncle of the kidnaped boy, which was taken from him after he had paid over the ransom on behalf of J. P. Weyerhauser, the boy's father.

It was definitely announced yesterday that Volney Davis, a member of the Alvin Karpis gang, who surrendered in Chicago at the end of the week and was taken by plane to St. Paul where he pleaded guilty to having participated in the kidnaping of Edward Bremer last year, had nothing to do with the Weyerhauser abduction. It was reported, however, that he may have made important disclosures to the authorities to assist in the apprehension of Karpis and members of the gang who are hardly believed now to have engineered the Weyerhauser kidnaping.

Attention is now being turned to known northwest criminals. One theory is that the abductors may have used an airplane in effecting their getaway.

FRANCE SEEKING NEW ECONOMIC ORDER NOW; NEW MINISTRY FALLS

PARIS, June 4:—President Albert Lebrun of France has made a plea to Great Britain and United States to cooperate with France in bringing about a new monetary and economic order. The veteran Joseph Caillaux, brought back to the ministry of finance by the new premier, Fernand Bouisson, yesterday appealed for a world conference to stabilize currencies. Dictatorial powers in regulating French fiscal matters, such as were asked for by but denied Premier Pierre Flandin, were also refused to the new ministry which had its first test of strength in the Chamber of Deputies tonight on a confidence motion and was defeated by two votes. There is no indication as yet as to who will be called upon to succeed Bouisson. It appears doubtful that any ministry will be granted the sweeping decree of power which financial experts declared is necessary to save the franc and restore the financial position of the country. The Bouisson government had been in power only four days.

WASHINGTON, D.C., June 4: (CP)—Following a special meeting of the cabinet today and a conference with industrial and economic experts, President Franklin D. Roosevelt made an important announcement with respect to future plans following the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States which last week ruled the National Recovery Act unconstitutional. He stated that it had been agreed to submit an emergency legislative program to Congress for restoration of the N. R. A. on a restricted basis. Under the judgment the N. R. A. would expire in twelve days.

The President ordered yesterday that the director of the N. R. A. should not demobilize his force. This was taken to indicate that it was expected some plan will be reached to carry on the principles of the Act.

A POLITICAL SKIT

A few days ago we quoted from the Vancouver Province a political editorial dealing with the situation at Ottawa. Today we are reprinting a little editorial skit purporting to show the political trend as viewed by the editor of the Vancouver Sun. Here it is:

General McRae blew into Ottawa the other day and all the distraught Tories clustered about his suave figure just like the batty children of Hamelin flocked around the Pied Piper.

"General," they pleaded, "toot your horn and take us some place."

So the General gave them a couple of toots and everything was going merrily when there was suddenly a solemn hush and the General looked up to see Richard Bedford Bennett fixing him with a gloomy stare.

"Hey, hey!" said Mr. Bennett, "What's all the tootin' about?"

"Bedford," said the General (they all call him Bedford now; it seems more baronial). "Bedford," he said, "these boys want somebody to take hold now that you're all washed up."

"It can't be done," said Mr. Bennett sadly. "Nobody can take my place."

There were one or two surreptitious "phooeys" in the crowd and a quite audible snicker.

But Mr. Bennett turned sharply and said "Boo!" and the crowd melted away like Senacherib's hosts, or whatever it was. One cabinet minister fainted before he scuttled around the corner.

"Now, General," said Mr. Bennett sternly, "wot abaht it?"

"Well," said the General, "who's going to wear the mantle and the crown and carry the orb and all that sort of stuff?"

"What do you think about Brother Bill?" suggested Mr. Bennett.

The General looked at him until Mr. Bennett turned red and muttered something about the heat.

"Alright, then," he went on, "we've always got Arthur. Arthur is sound, very sound. He is a sturdy fellow, is Arthur, and can take a beating just about as well as any of them."

"But what about Harry?" asked the General.

"Harry who?" enquired Mr. Bennett.

"Harry Stevens," said the General.

Mr. Bennett cleared his throat. "Never heard of him," he said briefly.

"Well, then, what do you suggest?" asked the General a trifle impatiently.

"Now you know," proclaimed Mr. Bennett, "I've always liked that boy Rhodes. But Rhodes has a boil, and that lets him out. No fellow with a boil should ever be Prime Minister. It causes unrest in the country."

The great man paused.

"General," he proceeded, "I've always loved you, General. From time to time you have been the apple of my eye. Why don't you take a crack at it yourself?"

The General snorted, counted ten and took a walk around the block.

"Bedford," he said solemnly, "don't make me laugh. While I was getting you this job, I was the cat's miouw. After that you gave me the glassy eye plus the gate. Can it!"

"And besides," continued the General, after a little pause, "I'm a practical politician, and practical politicians never get caught holding the bag."

"I don't mind going to funerals," he concluded, "but I'll be darned if I'll be the corpse."

BABE RUTH IN GOTHAM

Cannot Return to Diamond For 60 Days—Bill McKechnie's Caustic Comment

NEW YORK, June 4.—Babe Ruth and family arrived in New York yesterday from Boston following the resignation of the former Home Run King from the Boston Braves. His plans for the future, he told newspapermen, were quite uncertain.

On the voluntary retired list, Ruth will be out of active participation in baseball for at least 60 days. Then he will be able to sign up with any team he wishes.

SPORT CHAT

Paul Dean yielded ten hits to the Chicago Cubs on Saturday as the St. Louis Cardinals continued their upward swing in the National League to win by a score of 4 to 3 in a 12-inning game at Chicago. Lon Wernecke was the losing pitcher. It was the first game of a double-header, both ends of which he world champions won. The Cards defeated the Cubs in another close game Sunday and retched the lead of the New York Giants from five and a half to three and a half games. In their only week-end game, the Giants were blanked Sunday by the lowly Boston Braves. The Cubs dropped from third into fourth place below the Pittsburg Pirates who had an easy shut-out victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

"Lefty" Grove showed a return to old form for the Boston Red Sox on Saturday by shutting out the New York Yankees in the opener of a double-header at the Yankee Stadium. The Yanks came back and won the nightcap. "Lefty" Gomez and "School Boy" Rowe staged a pitchers' battle at Detroit, the Chicago White Sox winning by the odd run over the Tigers. Rowe allowed six hits.

BOYS!
Here's the way to earn your own C.C.M. in a few weeks

THE number of merchants, factories and offices having parcels and messages delivered by bicycle is growing all the time. In Toronto alone there are more than 10 thousand bicycles being used for delivery purposes. Openings are constantly occurring for boys with bicycles. A bicycle delivery job pays good money, and you can earn your own bicycle in a short time. Thousands of boys have earned their own bicycles.

Perhaps there is a merchant in your very neighborhood who needs a boy with a bicycle, or maybe there is one who is not delivering by bicycle, but who could be persuaded to do so if you pointed out to him that delivery by bicycle is far cheaper than delivery by motor truck or horse. Keep your eyes open and land a job. Most C.C.M. dealers will be glad to let you have a C.C.M. bicycle on easy payments.

Any C.C.M. Men's or Boys' model, with the addition of a parcel carrier, makes a good delivery bicycle. Because of the increased use of bicycles for delivery purposes, the front forks and front hubs of regular C.C.M. models have been made even stronger.

A well-loaded C.C.M. runs so smoothly, steers so easily, rides so comfortably that you can make better time on it. And C.C.M.'s durable enamelling and chromium-plate over 20-year nickelling stand all kinds of weather. There are other C.C.M. features, too, such as Straight Line Drive, Triplex Hanger, powerful C.C.M. Hercules Coaster Brake, Frames of seamless steel tubing, Endrick Rims, rustless steel Spokes, Dunlop Fort or Dunlop Imperial Tires.

VERY WELL KNOWN MAN

Official of Government, Now Dead. Was Philanthropist And Prominent Mason

VICTORIA, June 4.—Robert Baird, who died in Victoria Sunday, was taken to hospital recently when he suffered a relapse while attending the King's Silver Jubilee ceremonies at Parliament Square, where he had been honored by the award of a commemoration medal. For some months previously he had been convalescing from nervous disorders centering in the spine.

Born in Ontario

One of seven children born to Mr. and Mrs. William Baird of Sunderland, Ont., the late Robert Baird commenced on February 7, 1876, a career that was to carry him to brilliant attainments in a highly specialized field of municipal administration.

His early youth and training were passed in Eastern Canada, shared by six brothers and sisters, some of whom have since died. Between 1899 and 1900 Mr. Baird taught school at Sunderland, before going to the University of Toronto in the latter year, where he took a Master of Arts degree, graduating in 1904.

Between 1904 and 1914 he was identified with the Royal Bank of Canada, rising to the post of assistant manager at one of the prairie branches. On May 1, 1914, he became the first inspector of British Columbia municipalities, when that service was created as a branch of the Attorney-General's Department.

Given Promotion

Mr. Baird remained as the original inspector of municipalities until the end. In 1934 he was promoted, in addition, as deputy minister of municipal affairs, when the new department was created by the Pattullo ministry, under Hon. A. W. Gray, retaining the inspectorate at the same time.

For a number of years past Mr. Baird acted for the Attorney-General in his capacity as committee of the estates of persons in provincial care under the Lunacy Act, a position of great responsibility in which tens of thousands of dollars worth of property were held and invested in trust for those in provincial mental institutions.

Several of his brothers became barristers, one, W. J. Baird being well known in connection with his former appointment as liquor commissioner for this province. He died in 1934 in Vancouver, after a brief illness.

Acts of Philanthropy

While it was for outstanding work as inspector of municipalities that Robert Baird was chiefly regarded, there are few men who had such a wide range of interests or who brought more genuine ability and good fellowship to bear on the problems of their daily work. He was noted both in and outside of the Civil Service for many acts of kindness and philanthropy.

In his duties, Mr. Baird will be high irreplaceable. From twenty years of active association with the 78 municipalities of the province, he knew all their circumstances, and his advice was actively sought by those at the head of municipal affairs. The annual report of his department was ever an intensely human document, sparing in castigation and warm in praise where this could be honestly bestowed. It was, further, a record of fact from which none sought appeal.

Distinguished Mason

Mr. Baird was a distinguished Mason, having held in succession the offices of Grand Junior Warden, Grand Senior Warden, Deputy Grand Master and Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Freemasons of British Columbia. He was elected Grand Master in 1928.

In the Scottish Rite he also distinguished himself, being a thirty-second degree Mason. He also was a member of the Union Club and the Victoria Golf Club.

He is survived by his widow, Madame Eva Baird, and one daughter, Helen Patricia, at the family residence, 1503 Laurel Lane.

Funeral will take place in Vancouver on Wednesday.

WHIFFLETS From the Waterfront

In spite of anything but pleasant weather conditions, many angling parties were out over the week-end, some of the excursions extending into the King's Birthday holiday. The angling season may now be said to be fairly under way. In the most of cases, good strings were taken. Joe Scott got the "big fish" of the week-end—a seven-pound rainbow at Khtada Lake.

Union steamer Catala, Capt. A. E. Dickson, returned to port at 11:30 this morning from Anyox. Stewart and other northern points and sailed at 1:30 this afternoon for the south. The vessel called at Georgetown before arriving here to load box shoeks for Butedale.

Coming north from Vancouver via the Queen Charlotte Islands, C. N. R. steamer Prince John, Capt. Dan McKinnon, is not expected in port this trip before late tomorrow night. Delay has been caused by the vessel having an exceptionally large shipment of freight for the Consolidated Whaling Corporation's whaling station at Rose Harbor which is being put in readiness for the season's operations.
