ALL MUST CO-OPERATE

Gainful Occupation Instead of Relief is the Aim of Your Government

T is the policy of your government that relief recipients shall give services in return wherever possible. Recent refusal of a certain number to do the small amount of work required has jeopardized this policy and embarassed those who are willing to do their share.

As a result of the actions of these disturbing groups your government has laid down a policy that all relief recipients, physically able to perform work, but who refuse to do so or to give a reasonable day's service, will be considered ineligible for further relief. Where it is necessary, dependents of these men will be allowed relief and the disqualified relief applicant will be removed from the position of head of the family so far as unemployment administration is concerned. He will only be reinstated when he is prepared to give a reasonable amount of labor in return for his and his dependents' relief.

The policy of your government has been to distribute relief upon a basis of comparative need, having regard for the number of dependents in a family without regard for the physical fitness of the recipient. Only those physically able are required to undertake labour on public works and then on a basis of one day's work for each $3.20 received.

Work, wherever possible, will be provided within walking distance of workers' homes; where this is not possible, transportation will be provided. Relief workers will not go out in bad weather. As additional public works funds become available, plans will be made to supplement amounts of relief by extra work.

Your government fully realizes that the amount of relief given is only upon a subsistence basis, but is doing its best to improve conditions and bring about a change in policy. At present the problem is to give the greatest possible distribution to the monies available. The money borrowed for unemployment relief and for public works, plus the annual vote from current revenue for bridge and road maintenance, has been pooled for the purpose of assisting those who find it impossible to obtain employment. It is obvious, therefore, that relief recipients must do their share in the upkeep of roads in return for the allowances made.

Having dealt fairly with relief recipients. your government feels that it should have the reasonable co-operation of the unemployed. Such co-operation will assist in bringing about the improvements which your government desires, namely, that gainful occupations shall be substituted for relief.

Believing that relief scales, in existence when your government took office, were imsufficient to prevent suffering where recipients were without other income, the fellowing changes were made:

> Scale of food allowance increased by ten per cent.

> Dependents' allowance increased by one dollar each a month.

> Allowance to expectant mothers of five dollars a month for a period of four months.

> Special grants to organizations assisting needy cases in the provision of clothing and shoes.

> Increased medical aid for treatment of the unemployed.

> System changed from serip to eash. Distribution of $500,000 in wages in the > autumn and winter 1934-35 out of public works funds to relief workers who gave services in return, in addition to regular relief scales.

> Granting permission to relief recipilents to do casual labor to an amount equal to their food allowance without affecting the relief granted.

The result of this policy has been that. although the number of relief recipients has been reduced by approximately 15,000, the costs of relief has increased by $750,000

Contrary to allegations frequently made, your government does not require unemployed single men, domiciled in British Columbia, to go to National Defence camps for relief. All such men without dependents, who can prove they lived in the province prior to May 1, 1931, when relief assistance was instituted, are elegible to receive relief at their established domicile.

Orders have been issued to all provincial relief officers to enforce the regulations respecting the condition that all relief recipients, physically able to do so, shall give work in return for relief.

The head, he said, was twice the size of that of a large sea lion. It was dull grey in color, with stripes near the head and the head itself very much darker than the body and tail.

While he was laying-to in order to investigate this strange creature more thoroughly, to his surprise suddenly arched its back and raised its head, just as a snake will do at least twenty feet, perhaps nore than that. When he finally eft the spot of the strange encounter, he said that he noticed that the creature was swimming but not travelling very fast, although he did not doubt that it was capable of great speed if neces-

> H. M. C. S. Armentierres, in the course of a north coast cruise, has I been a visitor in port since Thursday, tied up at the Canadian National wharf, off Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve headquarters. The vessel, which came here from the Queen Charlotte Islands, will leave on Sunday. Lieut. Smith R. C. N. R., until recently chief officer of the Canadian National steamer Lady Hawkins on the West Indies service, arrived here yesterday afternoon on the Princess Adelaide from Victoria to join the Armentierres.

Enthusiastic after a four and a half months' absence during which they made a cruise aboard H. M. C. S. Skeena through the Panama Canal to Trinidad, Bermuda and Jamaica, Pat Palmer, Pat Sims. Gordon Williscroft and William Grosvenor, ratings of the local unit of the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve, returned home aboard the Princess Adelaide yesterday afternoon. The cruise proved both interesting and instructive and will give the lads something to talk about and describe to their buddies for a long time to come. Such training trips as these are among the rewards the R. C. N. V. citizen as Mr. Taylor returns from R. lads get for diligence and proficiency in their naval studies.
