BANK HEAD ADMITS CHANGES NEEDED BENNETT DISCUSSES FISCAL - MONETARY REFORM PLANS

Royal Bank Head Is Heard In Discussion of Economic System

Further Modifications in Capitalistic Structure May Be Required if Depression Evils to be Eradicated, Declares M. W. Wilson

MONTREAL, Jan. 10: (CP)—The capitalistic system has been the result of a progress of evolution and, as such, has been the subject of modifications from time to time to meet changing conditions, declared M. W. Wilson, president of the Royal Bank of Canada, in addressing the annual meeting of the shareholders here today.

"I would be the last to suggest that further modifications may not be required and changes may be a necessity if we are to be rid of the evils of major depressions," said Mr. Wilson.

TIN SHOP HAS FIRE

Premises of J. G. Steen on Fraser Street Visited by Flames This Morning

A frame building on Grenville Court off Fraser Street owned by the estate of the late Dan Lindeborg and occupied by Steen's Sheet Metal Works was extensively damaged by fire which broke out about 10 o'clock this morning. So much damage was done that it will probably be considered inadvisable to rebuild. Some of the stock and equipment of the tin shop may be salvageable. The shop books were locked up in the safe.

SHRINE CLUB ANNUAL BALL

Very Enjoyable Affair Held Last Night in Masonic Temple With 120 Present

The annual ball of the Prince Rupert Shrine Club was held last night in the Masonic Temple, the affair attracting a gathering of about 120 persons and proving most enjoyable to all. The banquet hall of the Temple was attractively decorated for the occasion with Shrine emblems and balloons. Dancing was in progress from 9:30 p.m. to 1:30 a.m. with excellent music by Charlie Balagno's Orchestra and George Frizzell making a genial master of ceremonies. At midnight delicious refreshments were served.

The committee in charge consisted of S. J. Jabour, J. S. Nelson and W. H. Shortridge, Arthur Brooks, bank president of the club, also taking an active part in the affair. W. H. McCallum presided at the door.

STATE TRIAL OF SAMUEL INSULL STARTING SOON

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—Trial of Samuel Insull, former utilities magnate, on charges of embezzlement and conspiracy arising out of the collapse of his huge financial enterprises, will commence shortly in Cook County court. Insull was recently acquitted in federal court on similar charges.

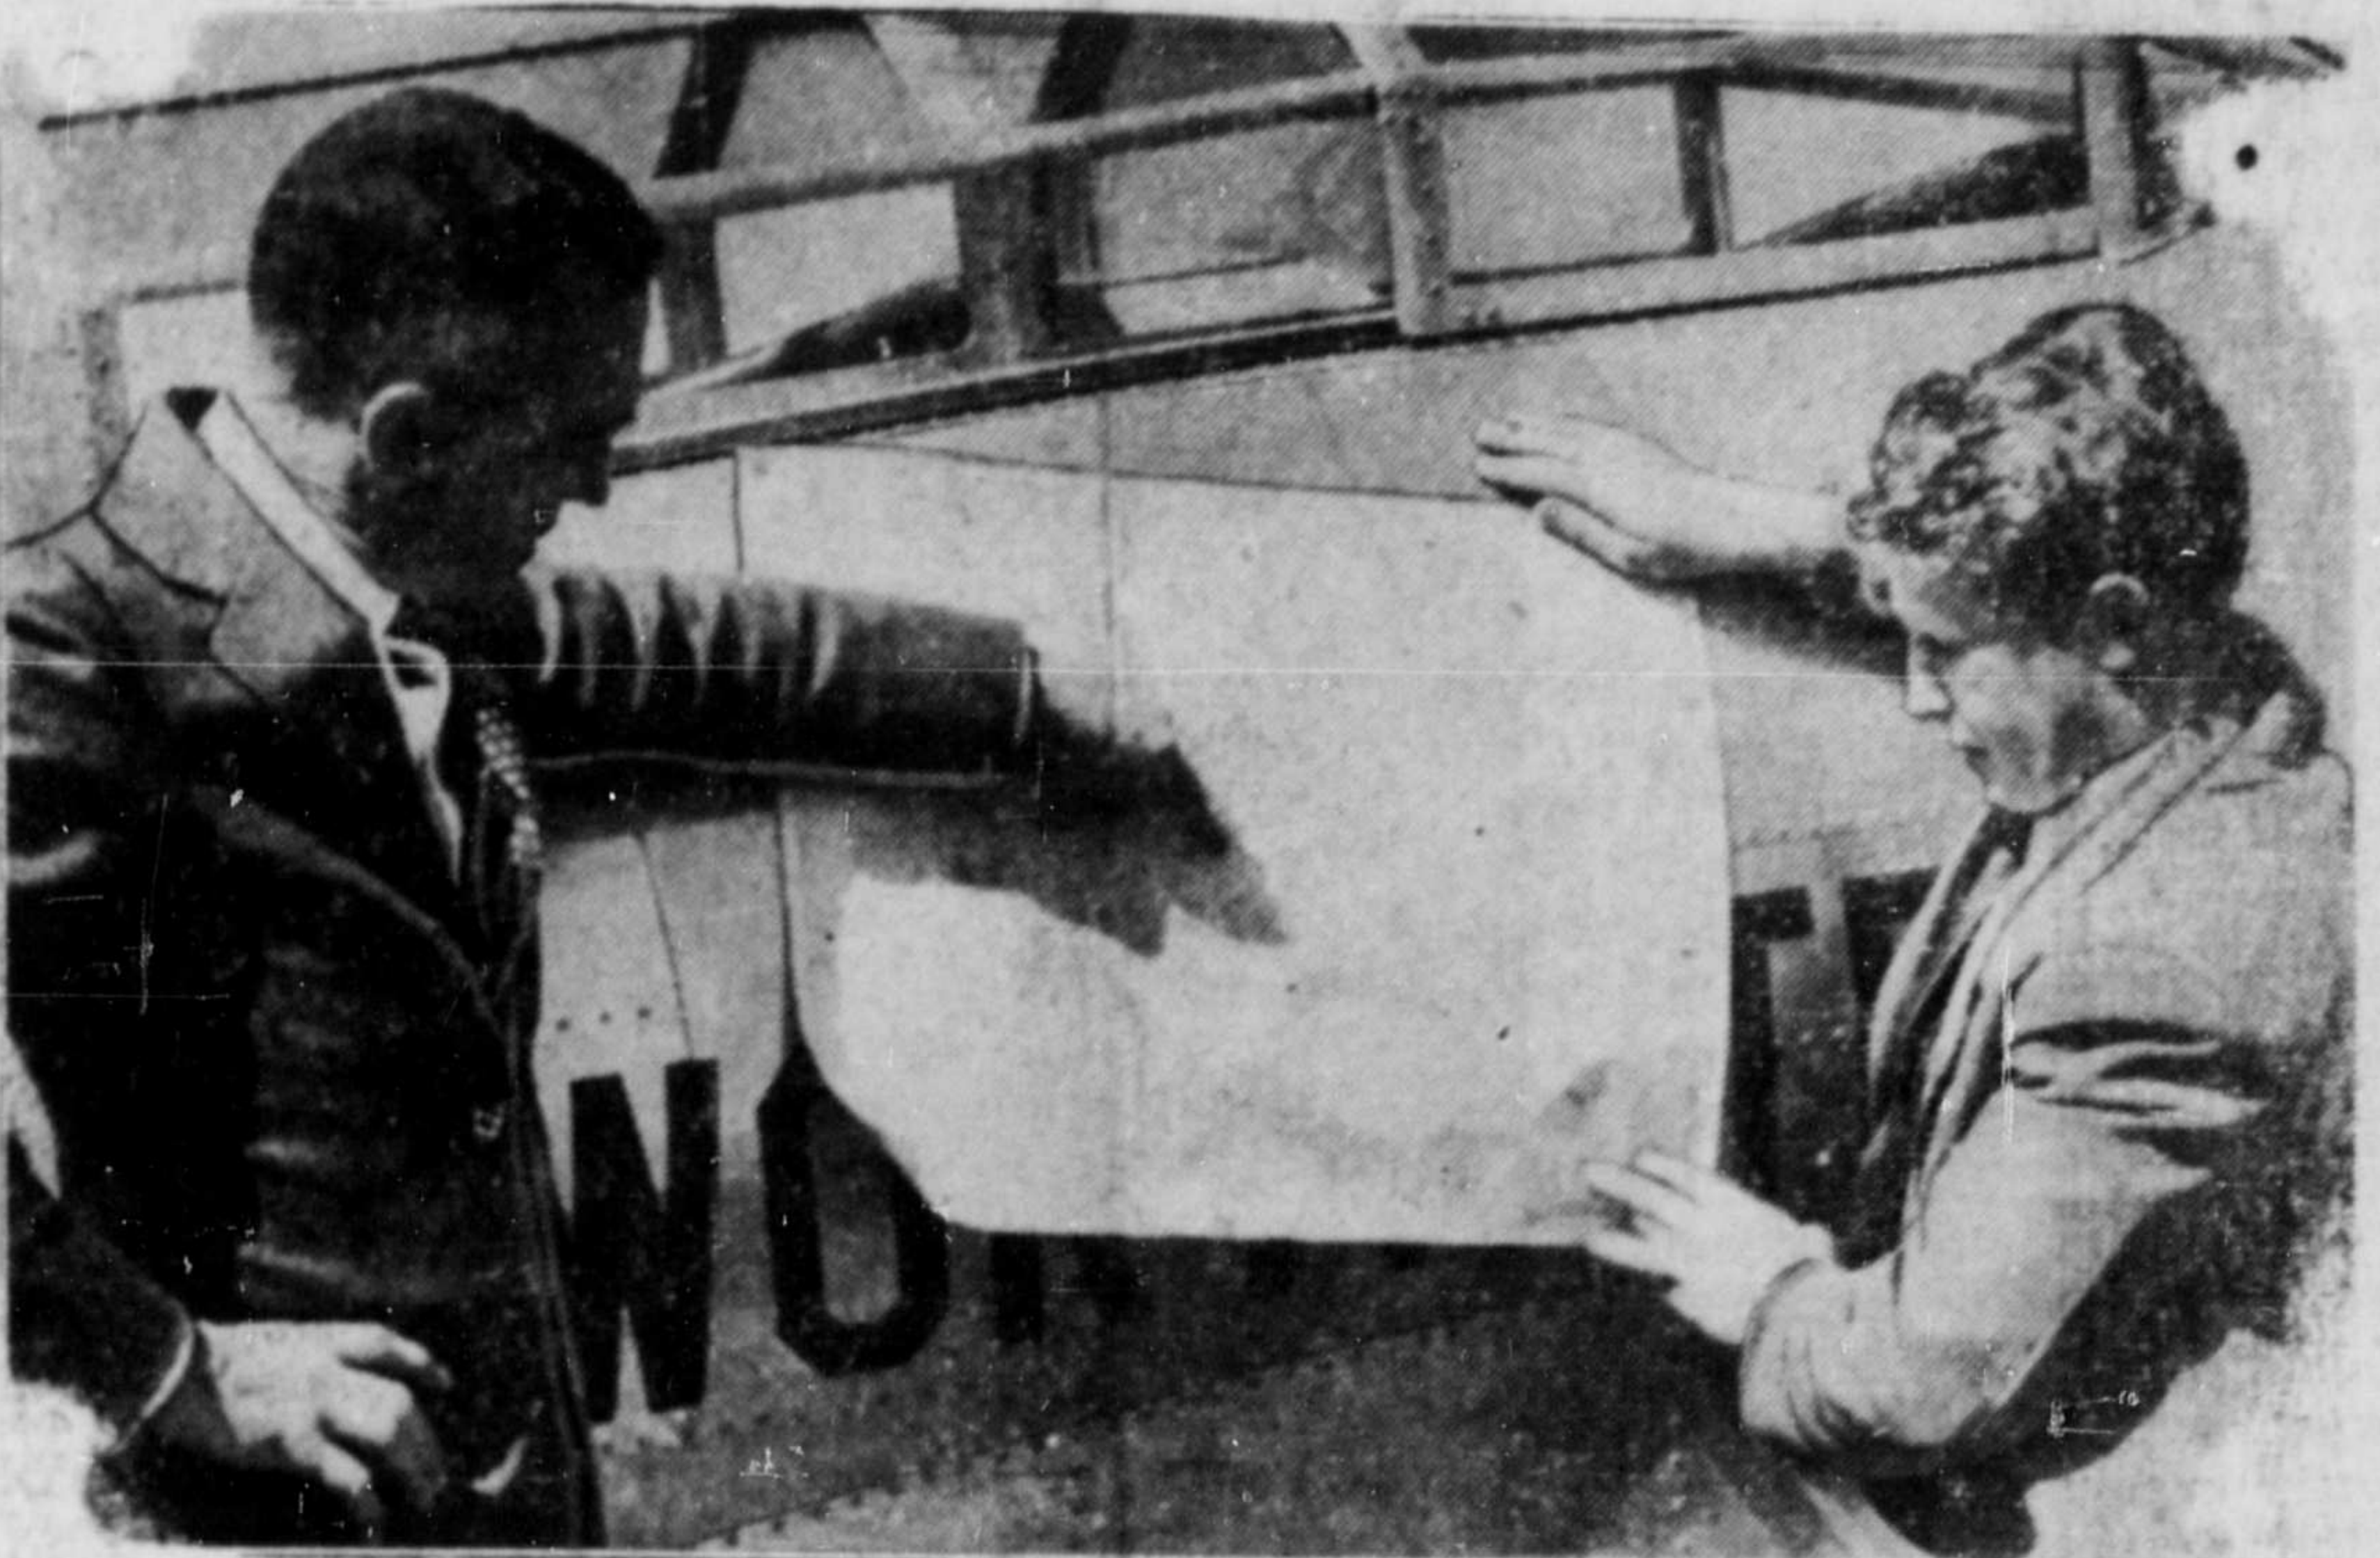

FLOTILLA OF ARMY PLANES TO ENGAGE IN WINTER FLYING

WASHINGTON, D.C., Jan. 10.—Eighteen United States Army military planes are about to leave here for Duluth where they will engage in cold weather manoeuvres. From Duluth, a mass flight to Great Falls, Montana, is planned.

Cook Stove Needed For Large Family

Adjutant Laycock of the Salvation Army has another appeal to make to the people of Prince Rupert. A cookstove is needed. There is a woman with a large family in the city and the husband is in the hospital. The lady cooks all her own bread as well as other foods but, unfortunately, the stove they have been using has gone to pieces. If anyone has an old cook stove to spare that is good enough for baking it would gladden the heart and lighten the load of a woman who really needs it.

Aerial Explorers Preparing For Trans-Antarctic Hop

Left to right, Lincoln Ellsworth and Bernt Balchen, intrepid aerial explorers of Antarctic regions, shown studying a map of the South Pole area over which they are planning to fly shortly. The men are camped on Snow Hill island, near Deception Island, and are awaiting favorable weather conditions to take off on a 2,300-mile non-stop flight to the Bay of Whales. The Bay of Whales is the site of Little America, Admiral Byrd's southernmost base.

Windle of Burns Lake Favored To Win C. C. F. Nomination Tho' Split Might Let Southerner In

With the interior support split between A. E. Windle of Burns Lake and J. E. Panter of Smithers, the nominee of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation in the federal election this year will probably be the man who is able to win the support of the Prince Rupert delegates at the nominating convention to be held in Prince Rupert tomorrow. The general expectation is that Windle, the up and coming young newspaperman, who has been cutting quite a swathe as a public speaker and student of economic affairs since his arrival in the district, first at Vanderhoof a couple of years ago and later moving to Burns Lake, will win the third party nomination although it is conceivable that a split between the northern men might result in a compromise upon the Vancouver aspirant, J. S. Taylor. The strength of Alan Cormack, Ocean Falls draftsman, seems an uncertain quantity.

Three of the four candidates whom the provincial executive has ruled as eligible for the Skeena nomination were defeated candidates in the provincial election of 1933. Mr. Windle ran against A. M. Manson in Omineca, Mr. Panter against E. T. Kenney in Skeena and Mr. Taylor in Vancouver Centre. Alan Cormack is the "dark horse."

Twenty Blackfish Seen in Harbor

This morning a school of about twenty blackfish came into the harbor. The thrashing about of their big fins caused quite a commotion in the water. They did not remain long but soon returned to the open sea. They were probably attracted in by the presence of smaller fish in the harbor.

OFFICERS OF MOOSE

W. B. McCallum Elected Head of Order For Year 1935 at Meeting Last Night

The local Moose Lodge last night elected officers for the year 1935 as follows:

- Dictator, W. B. McCallum. Vice-Dictator James Taylor. Prelate, G. B. Connelly. Treasurer, Ted Rorvik. Trustees — P. DeJong (three years), J. L. Blain (one year) and Percy Cameron (continuing). Delegate to Supreme Lodge, B. M. Simpson.

Tonight's train, due from the east at 10:15 p.m. was reported this morning to be thirty minutes late.

Fine Program At Meeting of Music Club Wednesday

The regular fortnightly meeting of the Ladies' Music Club was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ernest Anderson, Fifth Avenue West. There was a splendid attendance of members with the president, Mrs. R. L. McIntosh, in the chair.

The program for the afternoon was in charge of Miss Elizabeth Currie who read a very interesting paper on "Franz Schubert, the Father of Song." At the conclusion of the meeting, tea was served by the hostess.

The miscellaneous program was as follows:

- Piano duet, "Symphony No. 1, First Movement, Opus 21 C." (Beethoven), Mrs. E. J. Smith and Miss Margaret McCaffery. Vocal solo, "Lullaby" (Schubert), Mrs. J. H. McLeod. Vocal solo, "Serenade" (Schubert), Mrs. Ernest Anderson. Piano solo, "Menuet from L'Arlesienne," (Bizet-Godowsky), Miss F. Hicks. Vocal solo, "The Echo," (Lord Somers), Mrs. J. H. Carson. Vocal solos, "Love Song" (Kennedy-Frazier) and "Hebridean Sea Song," Mrs. William Millar. Piano duet, "Allegro from Pastoral Symphony" (Beethoven), Mrs. E. J. Smith and Miss Margaret McCaffery.

The establishment of a gymnasium in Prince Rupert appears to be still quite a live issue. The desirability of the project was recently brought up again by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the service clubs are showing signs of interesting themselves in the undertaking again.

Disabilities of System To Be Rectified, Prime Minister Says in Talk

Explains Bank of Canada and Its Objects—Promises Legislation to Protect Investors From Unscrupulous Promoters—Appeals For Support

OTTAWA, Jan. 10.—Confining himself largely to fiscal and monetary questions, Prime Minister R. B. Bennett was on the air again last night in the fourth of a series of eight thirty-minute radio talks to the people of Canada. He discussed the new Central Bank of Canada, its functions and aims, describing the institution as "a powerful instrument of social justice and aid in correcting disabilities of the old system."

The Prime Minister also spoke of the necessity for reform in the structure of stock-selling companies and promised at the next session of Parliament amending legislation to the "Dominion Companies' Act" which, "with the co-operation of the citizens of Canada, will stamp out some of the present abuses and evils in corporations operating under Dominion authority and give further protection to the investing public."

His program of reform Mr. Bennett described as "a determined course of action already begun" which he sincerely believed would bring a new era of prosperity to the people of this country. It was the intention of his government to replace elements of the old system which had broken down and become worn out or obsolete. This might be called radicalism by some but it was necessary if there was to be continuity of reform.

He decried selfish individuals or corporations which would take advantage of the present situation to exploit the people for their own interests and promised that his government would not tolerate the continuation of such practices.

In his peroration, the Prime Minister made a direct appeal for support at the polls, which was the only manner in which the people could express appreciation for what the government had already done and approval of its future line of policy.

"I am no longer young," said Mr. Bennett. "I have worked hard these last four years. Indeed, I have worked hard all my life. I will be glad to take a holiday when the time comes but I have now set out upon a program of reform which I desire to see brought to fruition for the benefit of the people. It is for that reason that I am asking for your support."

Reform Capitalistic System In opening, Mr. Bennett reiterated a previous statement that the time had now come for reform of the capitalistic system. On account of the depression and the necessity for emergency measures, this had so far not been possible. Now there had been a measure of recovery, however incomplete as yet, and further progress without reform was impossible.

He did not seek to escape responsibility, Mr. Bennett said, for what the government had not done. Nor was it his desire to seek undue credit for any of the government's achievements.

Dealing with the subject of the Bank of Canada, Mr. Bennett pointed to the great powers which had been conferred upon the institution that it might be of public service. He then traced the steps which had been taken leading up to the formation of the bank.

The country's development, Mr. Bennett explained, had been largely carried out through capital borrowed from abroad. When this flow of capital had ceased owing to the depression, it had become necessary to make an accounting.

The Prime Minister referred to the monetary and financial sides of the Ottawa conference of 1932, the trade treaties of which, as was well known, had benefitted Canada so greatly.

One resolution adopted by the conference and to which Canada had subscribed had been in favor of lower rates of interest and an abundance of short term money. Following along this line, the Canadian government had caused bank rates to be reduced. A program of bond conversion had been embarked upon as a result of which the Dominion was saved no less than $14,000,000 per year in interest charges. A policy of issuing short term treasury bills had been adopted. Canada had re-entered the British money market and its securities had met with a gratifying reception there.

RADIO RECEPTION

Numerous complaints have been made recently in regard to local radio reception. For several nights in most parts of the city a buzzing noise came in that spoiled reception.

Prince Rupert people feel that as they are required to pay a license for their radios they should be protected to some extent against noises that prevent them from hearing the musical and other programs that come over the air. They have been asking who is the inspector and is he doing anything. Where is the Radio Association? Is it active?

Undoubtedly there is good cause for complaint. Seal Cove people have been able, in some instances, to get clear reception when the rest of the city has been blanketed with a buzzing noise that made reception impossible. Last night was better than for several nights past but even last night the objectionable noise came on early in the evening although it soon stopped.

THE LATEST RELIGION

Germany, which brought about a modification of the Catholic faith known to protestants today as The Reformation, seems likely to bring about a new religious faith differing in many respects from Christianity but also resembling it. This is known as the German Faith Movement led by Professor Wilhelm Hauer and Count Ernst Reventlow. When the various protestant sects made it impossible for the formation of a national Christian church, many of the Nazi leaders threw their influence with the new Faith movement. Its present membership is less than half a million but it is spreading rapidly and it is possible it may sweep the whole country. It is not opposed to Christianity but maintains that some of the doctrines preached by Jesus of Nazareth are alien to the German blood.

To be a member of the new faith a person has to make oath that he and his family are free from Jewish or colored blood. He must not be a Free Mason, a Jesuit or belong to any secret organization. Its emblem is the golden sun wheel and it already has a weekly paper advocating its doctrines. Much of its inspiration is taken from the Teutonic Eddas and Sagas, these replacing the sermon on the mount and other Christian teachings. Humility and pacifism are set aside and doctrines stressing the high destiny of the Teutonic race and particularly of the German people take their place.

There are other similar concurrent movements in Germany all based on the Christian religion but differing from it to the extent that they tend to develop a German nationalism. The number of adherents of these various cults is said to have reached between two and three millions and their numbers are increasing daily.

DISABILITIES OF SYSTEM TO BE RECTIFIED, PRIME MINISTER SAYS IN TALK

was one of the present objectives of the government.

There was still necessity for much to be done by the Dominion and by the provinces in co-operation with the Dominion, the Premier declared.

The new Bank of Canada would be an instrument of control over the banking and currency system. On it was conferred the sole right of note issue. It would co-operate with the chartered banks to extend and control the credit of the country. It would be a powerful instrument of social justice, aiding as it could in correcting the disabilities of the old system. It would be a valuable instrument of advice and assistance in financing and would open up a new chapter in Dominion financial affairs.

Watered Stocks

Turning his attention to "stock watering," a practice which had been employed in exploiting the investing public, Mr. Bennett declared that a larger measure of protection must be given to the investor. There must be even stricter government regulation of the structure of company financing so that improper practices might be more readily detected and more efficaciously stamped out. There must be drastic simplification of capital structure so that it became more easy for the investing public to understand.

Amending legislation to the Companies Act to be introduced at the next session of Parliament would include the abolition of the right to issue "no par value shares," the Premier promised. There would be other legislation enacted to stamp out evils in stock promotion methods and to prevent concentration by companies.

Recovery measures having engaged the attention of the government during the first three years of its life, the time had arrived when a reform program could be embarked upon, Mr. Bennett said. This was the second stage in the administration's plans. The program of reform was described as a determined course of action which had been already begun. He sincerely believed it would usher in a new era of prosperity for the people of the country whose unselfishness, courage and Christian fortitude had been so amply demonstrated in the trying times of the past few years. These times of hardship had thrown all into confusion and uncertainty. Many in the struggle had lost their sense of values. Certain individuals and corporations might have taken advantage of the situation to advance their own interests for selfish purposes. The welfare of too many people was at stake to tolerate continuation of this. Here lay a remedial responsibility for the government and his government intended to apply the necessary remedies. But all must unite to devise and apply the remedies.

The government was not unmindful of the situation as facing the young people of the country. It was the government's intention to forward their interests, assist in solving their problems and also seek their advice.

Changing the System

His reform program, Mr. Bennett admitted, was by no means complete as yet. It could not be expected to be. However, his government was resolved to replace elements of the old system which had broken down and become worn out or obsolete. This might be called radicalism by some but it was necessary in the continuity of reform. There could not be imperviousness to change but the necessity for changes must be admitted and acted upon. "Nor do I care if it is said that we are taking the first step on the road to Socialism." One thing there was, however, which never must be relinquished, as some countries might have done, namely the private rights and liberties of the individual, the privilege to work out one's own destiny. Never should that be given up.

In closing, the Prime Minister made his appeal for the support of the people in his program of reform, further details of which would be unfolded in later addresses.

The next broadcast by the Premier will be on Friday night.

Working in poor light causes eyestrain, which affects our entire nervous system and results in damaged eyesight. The present high percentage of defective eyesight is needless. Proper home lighting, scientists say, is a major help toward prevention.

Watch your family as they read. Does a child of yours hold his book noticeably closer than 14 inches? If so, the chances are that his eyes are being strained. He needs better home lighting, and he may need eye-glasses.

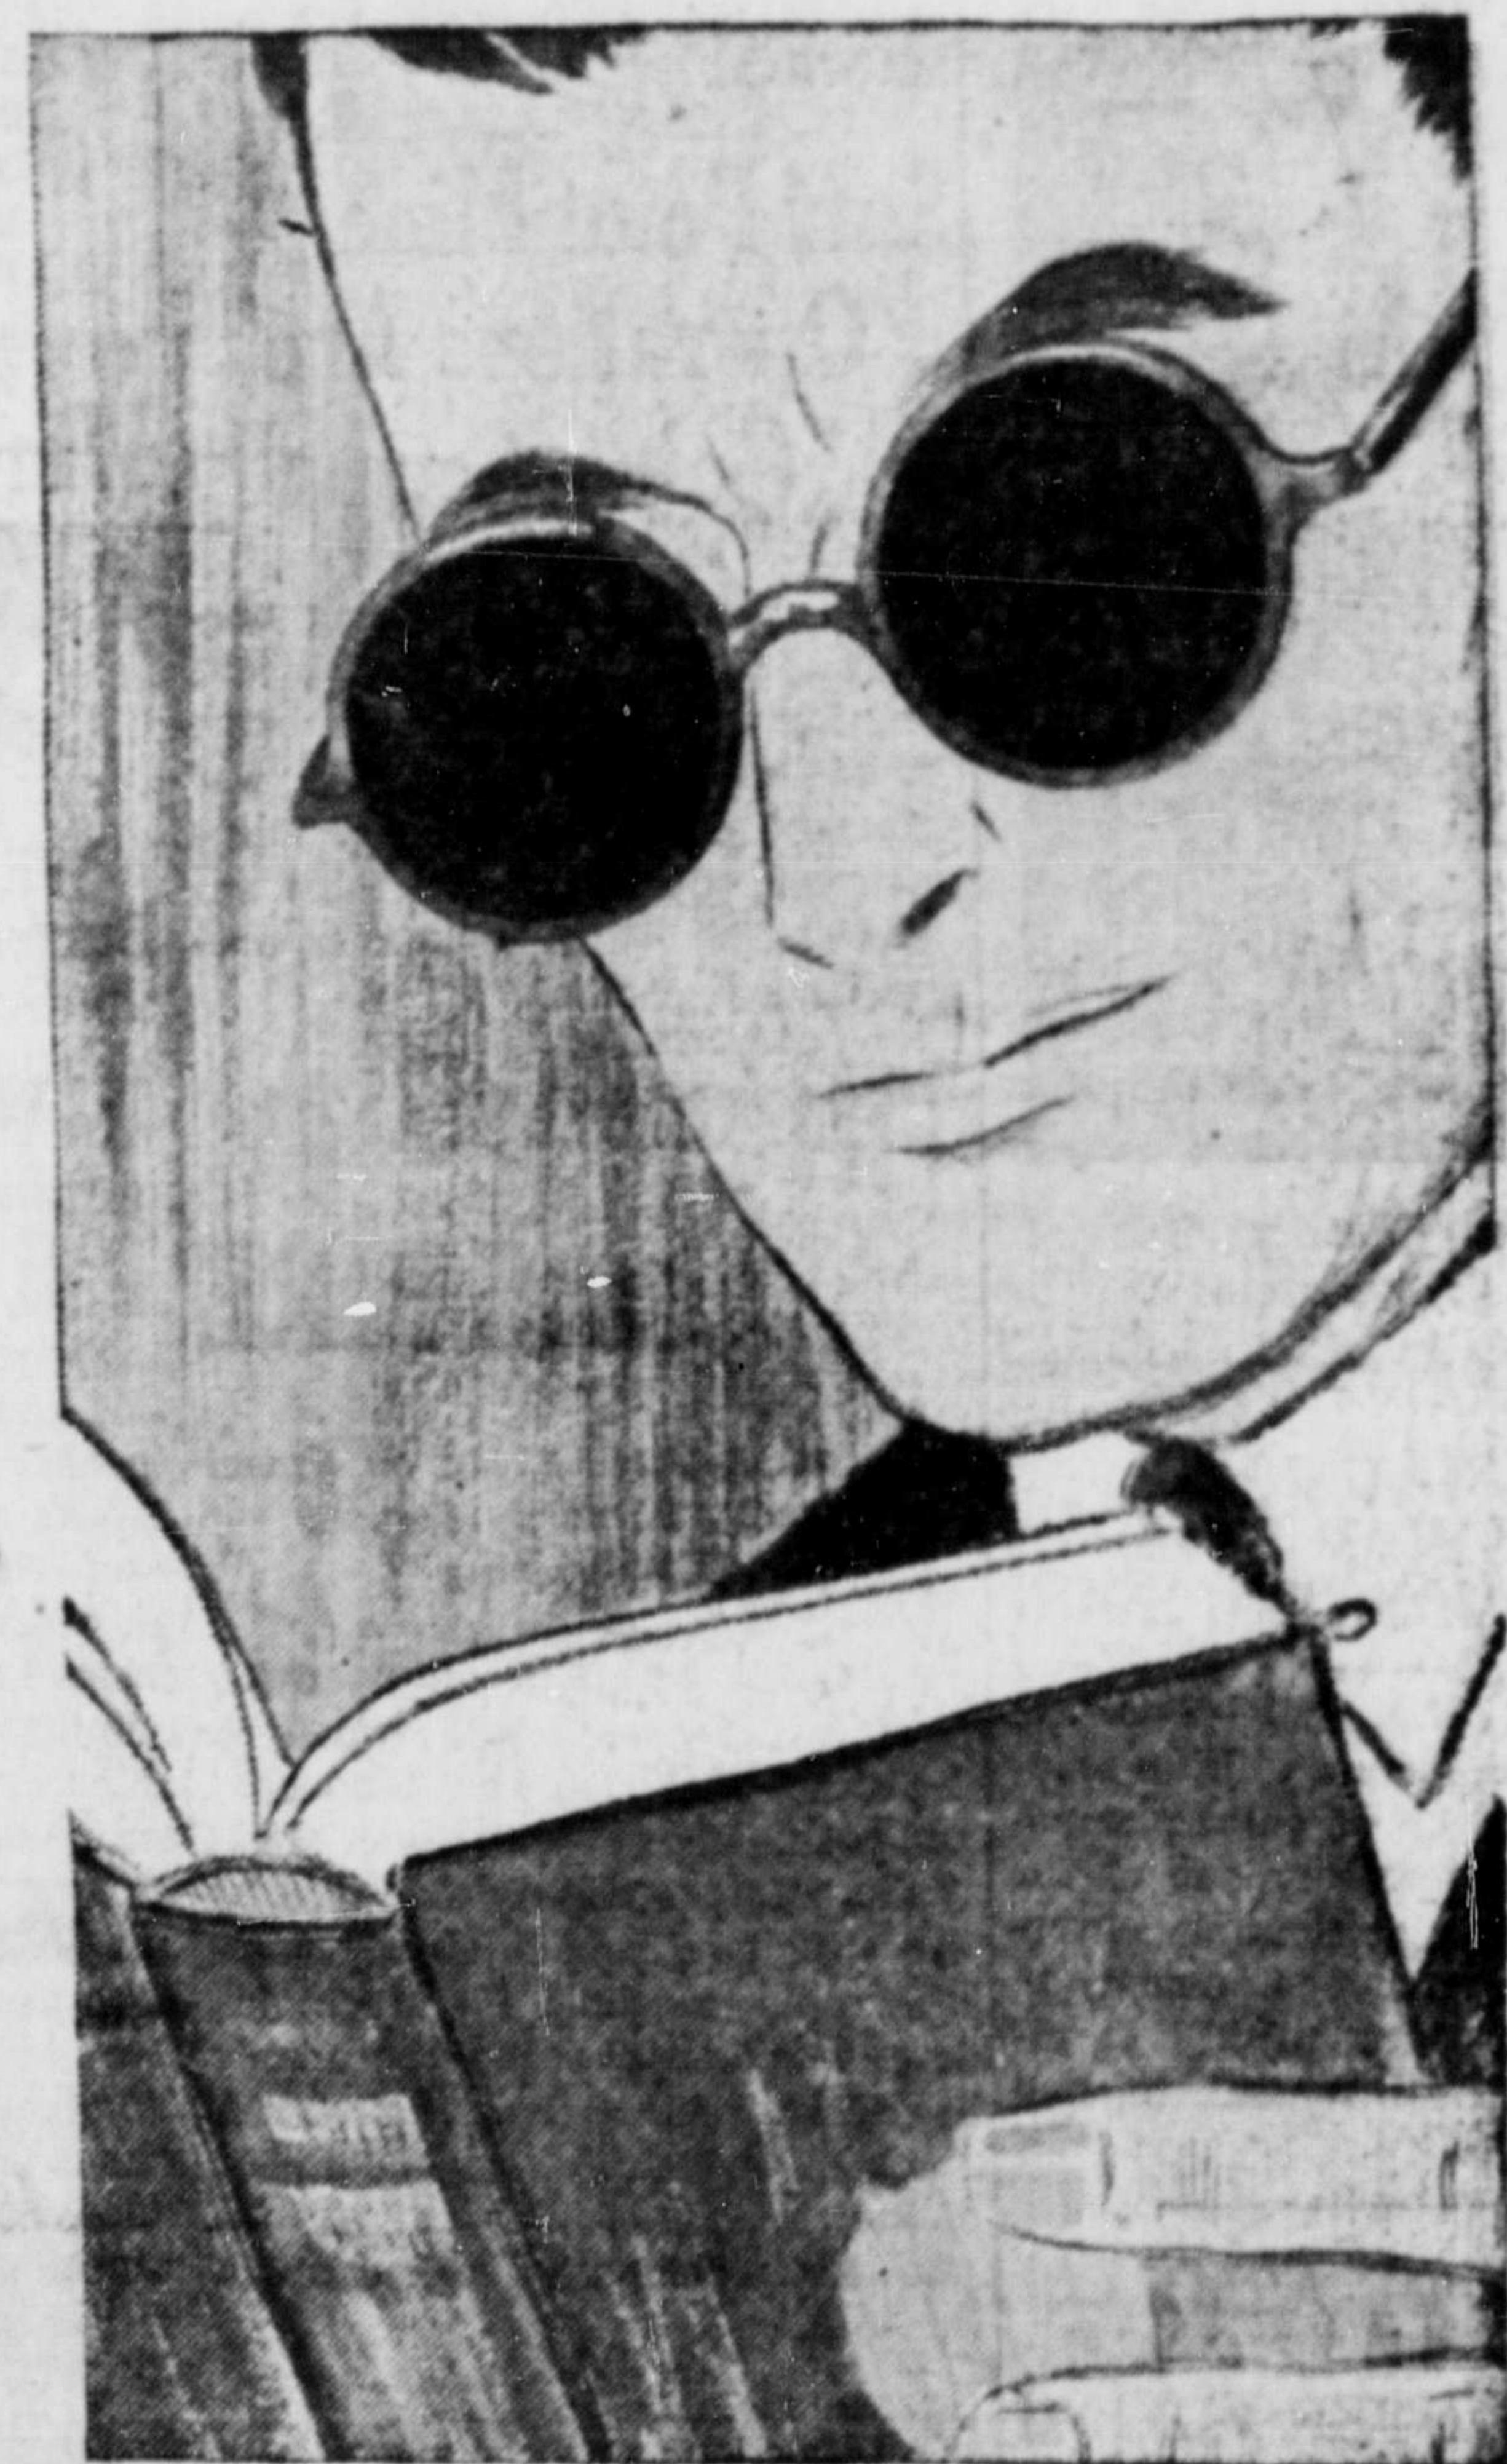

Check your home. Is every socket filled, and with a lamp bulb of the correct wattage? Are your fixtures correctly shaded? Have you sufficient reading lamps, and are they correctly placed?

FOLLOW THESE SIMPLE LIGHTING RULES

1. Use lamp bulbs of the correct wattage. The minimum is 40-watt EDISON Mazda Lamps for 3-socket lamps, 60-watt for 2 socket lamps, 100-watt for single socket lamps.
2. Have all lamp bulbs shaded. For portables, a shade

THE FIRST REAL CANADIAN MONEY

History relates that Canada, in 1817, "was too poor to afford the luxury of a metallic circulating medium, and the development of trade and agriculture was hampered by the lack of facilities for exchange."

American money, also British and French and some Spanish and Portuguese, was used—all subject to fluctuating rates of exchange and causing monetary confusion. There was no Canadian money, either coin or paper.

But in 1817, when the Bank of Montreal was started, its directors—merchants who knew what Canadian business urgently needed—immediately provided a paper currency (the Bank's own bills in small denominations) and later copper coins. These Bank of Montreal issues were the first real Canadian money.

Through 117 years since then, the Bank of Montreal's notes have performed a useful function, as Canadian business has grown from small beginnings to its present extensive proportions. These notes have provided a sound, dependable and elastic currency, their volume automatically expanding and contracting with the changing demands of trade.

Notes of the Bank now in circulation amount to $35,000,000, or about one-fourth of the entire commercial bank note currency of Canada.

The Bank's resources ($759,000,000) are likewise about one-fourth of the total resources of the Canadian commercial banks. These figures indicate the extent to which the Bank of Montreal participates in Canadian business activity.

WHIFFLETS From the Waterfront

According to reports in well-informed quarters the big Canadian National Coast Steamships liner Prince Robert, which has been tied up for the past two or three years at Vancouver, is to be operated during the coming summer in a number of special runs on the Skagway route augmenting the service to be operated regularly by the steamers Prince Rupert and Prince George. Before going back into commission, an extensive overhaul job will have to be carried out on the Prince Robert and it is understood that the vessel will be brought to the local dry dock for the work.

The steamer Prince Charles, according to report, is to be shortly commissioned on the Queen Charlotte Island run between Prince Rupert and Vancouver in place of the Prince John which is to be tied up here and which will be given a general overhaul. Some overhaul work is to be carried out on the Prince Charles before she goes back into service.

Meantime, the annual overhaul of the steamer Prince Rupert, a job which will extend over six weeks or so, is now starting. Chief Engineer W. E. Baillie with his engine room crew and several deckhands have come north from Vancouver to join the vessel. Following the work on the Prince George will be going in to the local yard for her overhaul.

Union steamer Cardena, Capt. Ernest Georgeson, northbound from Vancouver to Prince Rupert, was at Wadham's Cannery in Rivers Inlet at 1 o'clock this morning. The vessel is due here tomorrow evening. On next week's voyage north from Vancouver the Cardena will make a call at Surf Inlet with men and machinery for the Princess Royal gold mine.

The Alberta Wheat Pool's local elevator is still expecting the British freighter Vancouver City here about January 16 or 17 to load a full cargo of grain for the United Kingdom or Continent. Grain continues to arrive from the prairies to keep the local house full as grain is taken away.
