Vancouver Machine Crashes Into Sea as Result and Pilot And His Companion Have Narrow Escape

VANCOUVER, Nov. 5: (CP)-A mallard duck, heeding winter's warning and winging its way southward off Point Grey late yesterday afternoon, crashed into an open flying boat of the Royal Canadian Air Force and, as a result, the machine was forced into the water with its two occupants. Sergeant N. E. Small, pilot, suffered cuts about the face and a broken leg. His companion, Aircraftsman H. P. Whelan, escaped with minor injuries in the plunge of two hundred feet of the machine to the water. Small's face was badly battered by a blow from the duck, forcing him to lose control of the machine. The men were picked up by a fishing boat.

AIRPLANE MISSING

FAIRBANKS, Nov. 5:-Search is being instituted from here today by Victor Ross, veteran pilot, for Pilot Jack Herman and plane with five passengers which has been missing since Saturday noon when it left Dawson for here, having not been reported since. Pivotal Point Falls In Offensive From North in Ethiopia

Advances in All Directions Claimed by Rome—Sir Samuel Hoare Expresses Himself as Well Pleased With Peace Negotiations

ROME, Nov. 5:-Makale, pivotal point in the Italian advance into Ethiopia from the north, surrendered last night before the main body of the invading army, coming through the muddy mountain passes in three divisions, had arrived. There was no large scale opposition on the part of the defenders although it was admitted by the Italians that they had suffered quite a few losses through sniping and ambush tactics. Several vil- DON JUAN lages were captured as the Italians moved on toward Makale. The civilian population of Makale hoisted white flags as the advance guards of the Italians arrived on the

In spite of the easy fall of Makale, there is a general expectation that a fierce battle may be pending south of Makale. Ethiopian forces were reported to be concentrating in readiness to strike.

The Italian army on the northern front halted its advance today because of rain and the need of building supply roads up to the present front.

An official communique issued here last night stated that Dolo in of ex-King Alfonso of Spain and the south had been captured. Another Rome report asserted that thousands of Ethiopian soldiers, due to the defection of one of Emperor Haile Selassie's principal chiefs, were deserting and going over to the Italian side.

Official denial was given here to reports yesterday that there had been a heavy toll of Ethiopian women and children as a result of aerial bombing.

Italian planes were reported today to have bombed and destroyed a munitions caravan enroute from British Somaliland to Harar, killing arms, munitions and petroleum.

BY ACCLAMATION

The electing of Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin and twenty-four of his supporters by acclamation is still another indication of the general trend in Great Britain at the present time. Only twelve Laborites were elected by acclamation, the Labor party there being the official opposition party at the present time. No Liberals except Liberal supporters of the present administration were chosen by acclamation.

CENTRALIZING POWER IN CHINA

The nationalizing of silver in China is a step toward the centralizing of power in a country that is diversified in language, customs, religion and forms of government. The Nanking Government claims to be the government of China but there has not been a time yet when the whole of the country paid tribute to that administration. Minor rebellions are continually going on and today there are defections in more than one part of the country.

The issuing of money by the central power and the nationalizing of silver is a big step in the consolidation of the country for without money no rebellions can succeed.
