FORGET ALL WORRIES

Tomorrow is Christmas Day and a general holiday and most people, including the staff of the Daily News, are taking Thursday as well. During that time may we suggest that all forget their worries, if they have any, and give themselves up wholly to the enjoyment of a real holiday. It is particularly a children's day and as such most people will devote their energies to making the day a happy one for the young folks. In doing that they get their greatest enjoyment.

WARMING UP

The United States election campaign is warming up. Although the election does not take place until next November the newspapers are carrying a great deal of election news and the big quadrennial contest is having a strong influence on the attitude of the government to public questions, both home and foreign. The business of the country is badly interfered with and the sane judgment of the country is warped.

NEW ERA OF PROGRESS

Mayor McGeer of Vancouver is so pleased with the Ottawa conference that he sees in it the beginning of a new era of progress in Canadian affairs. Particularly pleased is he with the lifting of the burden of unemployment relief which has had to be borne by the cities. We hope it will mean an era of progress in all lines of endeavor.

SIR ANTHONY EDEN'S APPOINTMENT

The appointment of Sir Anthony Eden as Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs in the British Government in succession to Sir Samuel Hoare is an important move and one that will be highly commended throughout the British Empire except in places dominated by Italian sympathizers. Sir Anthony is a firm believer in the League of Nations and its power. He sees that if the League fails in this particular case, it may as well go out of business. If the League is able to prevent the absorption of Abyssinia by Italy it will so strengthen the League that it is likely to become an everlasting power for peace in future.

To all our friends on Land and Sea and in Light Houses — we extend the Season's Greetings.

HAS GOOD MAJORITY

But Baldwin Still Has Lead in Parliament

Labor Gained

Government 432, Opposition 182, Final British Totals

LONDON, Dec. 24. (CP)—Final detailed Canadian Press standing of parties in the new British House of Commons shows the Government has a majority of 250, excluding the vacancy caused by the death of A. Noel Skelton since his election as a Conservative in Scottish Combined Universities.

The Government total is 432 and that of the Opposition 182. In the Government ranks are 386 Conservatives, 34 Liberal-Nationals and eight National-Labor members. In addition, there are three elected as Nationalists and one Independent. The Nationalists are Arthur Hopkinson, in Lancashire; Mossley; Hon. Ivor Guest, in Brecon and Radnor and Sir E. Graham-Little in London University. The Independent is A. P. Herbert, in Oxford University.

Labor led the Opposition with 153 members elected. There are 16 Liberals and four Independent (Lloyd George) Liberals. Four members of the Independent Labor Party were elected and one Communist. Two National Abolitionists elected in Northern Ireland will not take their seats. Two Independents in the Opposition classification are Rt. Hon. J. Wedgwood, who received an acclamation in Newcastle-under-Lyme and formerly ran as a Labor candidate for Labor, and Miss Eleanor Rathbone, in English Combined Universities. If Mr. Wedgwood were classed under his former party affiliation, the total "regular" Labor vote would be 154.

Mr. Herbert, who ran as an Independent, "took the government whip" along with R. H. Bernays re-elected Liberal-Nationalist in Bristol North. By so doing they are placed on the whip's list for circulars or other information, indicating they will take voting and speaking orders from the government whip.

The present standing:
Government (432):

BATTING IN SR. LEAGUE

Floyd Vaughan of Pittsburgh Leading Stick-Handler For National League

Official batting records of the National League for 1935 show that 240 players took part in championship games. Of this number 31 engaged in 75 games or more, 109 took part in 10 to 74 games, and 59 appeared in fewer than 10 games.

Floyd Vaughan, Pittsburgh, is the leading batter, with a percentage of .385.

Joseph G. Moore, New York, went to bat more times, 681, equal-ling the record held by Lloyd J.
Waner, Pittsburgh, made in 1931.

August J. Galan, Chicago, is the leading run scorer, with 133, and he also stole most bases, 22.

William Herman, Chicago, accumulated the most base-hits, 227; most two-base hits, 57, and most sacrifice hits, 24.

Joseph M. Medwick, St. Louis, hit for the largest number of total bases, 365.

Ival R. Goodman, Cincinnati, made most three-base hits, 13.

Walter A. Berger, Boston, made most home runs, 34.

Forrest Jensen, Pittsburgh, produced most one-base hits, 160.

Six players took part in all their club's games: William Herman and August J. Galan, Chicago, 154 games; Ethan N. Allen and Adolph Camilli, Philadelphia, 156 games;

Joseph M. Medwick, St. Louis, 154 games; and August R. Suhr, Pittsburgh, 153 games. Suhr, by playing all his club's games in 1935, brought his string of consecutive games to 628, establishing a new National League record. The former record was held by Edward W. Brown, with Brooklyn and Boston, June 5, 1924, to and including June 7, 1928, a total of 618 games. Suhr started his streak on September 11, 1931, playing 16 games; 154 in 1932, 154 in 1933, 151 in 1934 and 153 in 1935.

Henry Leiber, New York, by hitting two home runs in the second inning of the game of August 24, against Chicago, tied the modern record held by Lewis R. Wilson, New York, made July 1, 1925.

Ernest C. Lombardi, Cincinnati, by hitting four doubles in the first game of a double-header, May 8, tied the modern record held by four players.

Terry Moore, St. Louis, by making six hits in six times at bat in the game of September 5, against Boston, tied the record held by many players.

Longest Streak
Joseph M. Medwick, St. Louis, compiled the longest consecutive hitting streak, batting safely in 28 games. During this run he went to bat 120 times and made 43 hits for a percentage of .358. His record began August 17 against New York and was stopped on September 12 by the same club.

Walter A. Berger, Boston, by scoring 14 runs in 11 consecutive games, acquired the longest run scoring streak. He began it June 9 against New York and was stopped June 19, second game, by Chicago.

By winning 21 consecutive games from September 4 to September 28, 1935, Chicago ran up the longest unbroken string of major league victories since the New York Giants established the all-time record of 26 in 1916. Chicago won four games each from Philadelphia, Boston, Brooklyn and New York, two from Pittsburgh and three from St. Louis, in that order, before the streak ended.

Boston, by losing 115 games in 1935, established a new modern record for most defeats in a season in the National League. Former record held by Philadelphia, with 109 in 1928.

SPORT CHAT

The Jubilee Year of 1935 was a tremendous success in sport, whether you take it across the Empire, across the world or just concentrate on Canada. It bows out after presenting a gaudy show here and elsewhere.

They'll remember 1935 because that was the year New Zealand turned Jack Lovelock loose on America's mile runners, and the Oxford student ran away from Glenn Cunningham and Bill Bonthron.
Perhaps that was the high point for the Empire that was celebrating the King's Jubilee.

But 1935 gave Canada some good things too. It brought Chuck Campbell of Toronto before the sculling world, it established Thomas Patrick Gorman as hockey's supreme master-mind and it put Sandy Somerville back on his golfing throne. It was a good year for the old-timers of sport and it wasn't unkind to young fellows.

Hockey got itself into difficulties and out of them during the year.
Halifax Wolverines won the Allen Cup and the right to represent Canada at the Olympic Games next year. The team broke up almost under the noses of the amateur hockey people, who moved quickly to install Port Arthur Bearcats as the Olympic team.

Montreal Maroons, responding to the magic touch of Gorman, won professional hockey's highest prize, the Stanley Cup. They succeeded Chicago Black Hawks who won the title in 1934, also under the leadership of Gorman. Maroons trounced the National League champions, Toronto Maple Leafs, in three straight games.

Hockey in 1935 featured Charlie Conacher again as its greatest scorer. Eddie Shore came back to top all defencemen in the sport.
Old Frank Boucher still was the best centre. Heading the parade of newcomers was a quiet young wingman from Calgary, Dave (Sweeney) Schriner.

Looking back on the year from the doorstep of 1936, you see the muscular Chuck Campbell conquering United States and Canadian scullers in dramatic fashion.
They couldn't hold the Toronto kid who will enter 1936 as a possible Diamond Sculls and Olympic winner.

You see the burly, smooth-stroking Hamilton Leander crew of eight sweeping down the old Welland ship canal to beat New York's U. S. national champions in the feature race of the Canadian Henley regatta. Another possible Olympic winner will carry on into the new year.

You see 16-year-old Sammy Richardson of Toronto behaving like a Jesse Owens with his broad jump of 24 feet 11 inches and his 9.8 dash over 100 yards in the Canadian track and field championships at Winnipeg. There is the picture of Scotty Rankine of Preston, Ont., trouncing field after field in Canada and the United States at distances from five to fifteen miles.

It was 1935 that brought along Doug Peace, 15-year-old Toronto boy, as the best amateur bicycle rider to be discovered since Torchy Peden. Phyllis Dewar of Vancouver, Bob Pirie of Toronto and George Larson of Hamilton smashed swimming records left and right during the year.

Badminton found its new champions in Rod Phelan of Toronto and southpaw Margaret Taylor of Kelowna. B. C. Curling became a matter of national interest while Gordon Campbell and his Hamilton Thistles were winning the Mac-Donald's Brier trophy without a defeat in interprovincial competition.

Alex Hurd of Kirkland Lake Ont., did the speed skating in 24 Canada; Gordon Wallace, Vancouver welterweight, punched his

MOOSE WIN BASKETBALL

Captured First Half Honors in Both Senior and Junior Leagues

Moose Senior and Junior basketball teams won first half honors by last night's victories.

In a free-scoring game the Senior Moose took an early lead and never were in danger, coming out winners, 48-33 over Lambie & Stone. The Clothiers had an off night while the Moose were not passing up any chances. The only exciting part of the first half was when Lambie & Stone squad ran in three baskets and a penalty in the last three minutes to make the score read 28-22 at the end of the half.

The Clothiers chalked up the first basket in the second half but that was all they had to say as the Lodgemen proceeded to win by the largest score in the first half of the season, 48-33.

Individual scores:

Lambie & Stone — Calderoni, Johnson (8), Lindsay (8), Morrison, Armstrong (5), Beynon (12), Tobey; total, 33.

Moose—Wingham (11), Mitchell (16), Pierce, J. Morrison (2), Smith, Stiles (19), R. Morrison; total, 48.

Junior Game

The finish of the Junior game was a real thriller although the Moose apparently had it on ice, leading 13-6 with only a few minutes to go when two baskets by Eastman and one by Montesano brought the Boy Scouts to a winning position. During the last two minutes the Moose defense held and they emerged winners of a hard fought struggle by a score of 13 to 12.

Individual scores:

Scouts—Brown, Eastman (6), Lindseth, Dybbavn, Erickson, Mon-tesano (6); total, 12.

Moose—Husoy (2), Lear (4), Schubert, Hale (4), Blake (3); total, 13.

Final basketball standings for the first half are as follows:

| | W. | L. | P. |

| Moose | 8 | 5 | 16 |
| Lambie & Stone | 7 | 6 | 14 | way into the headlines; Percy Page's Edmonton Grads and the Victoria Blue Ribbons led the basketball parade; Sally Fuller, from the E. F. Seagram stable, won the King's Plate.

A young fellow with steel nerves, Gene Kunes from Norristown, Pa., won the Canadian open golf title at Montreal from an international field. Lacrosse had its Orillia Terriers and tennis had its Marcel Rainville, Walter Martin, Gilbert Nunns, Bob Murray and Roland Longtin, who decided little between them. All Canadian tennis titles went to the United States.

Football came on the scene towards the end and wound up 1935's display with greater color, greater crowds and greater intersectional rivalry than ever before.

HOLD-UP DETAILS

Robbery of Vancouver Bank Yesterday Was Well Planned

VANCOUVER, Dec. 24: (CP)— The robbery of the Commercial Drive and Gravelly Street branch of the Royal Bank of Canada in the East End of $1000 by four bandits took place at noon yesterday.

Two of the bandits entered the bank and, while one covered three clerks and six customers, his companion hammered on the door of the office of the branch manager, J. W. Logan. Failing to get response, the gunman smashed the butt of his automatic through the glass door panel and ordered the manager to come out. As the manager obeyed, the third gunman entered and the trio ordered the staff and customers to the rear. The third bandit then walked to one of the teller's cages but failed to break in. He managed, however, to enter another where he swept the money into his pockets and joined the two confederates outside where a fourth man waited in a stolen taxi. All then sped away.

Hauptmann Appeals to State Board For Clemency—Lindberghs To Spend Christmas at Sea

TRENTON, N.J., Dec. 24:—Bruno Richard Hauptmann, convicted kidnap-slayer of Charles Augustus Lindbergh Jr. on March 31, 1932, played his final card against imposition of the death penalty, set for the week of January 13, yesterday when his appeal for clemency was filed with the New Jersey State Board of Pardons.

Governor Harold Hoffman still holds to the view that Hauptmann was not alone responsible for the crime.

Commenting in the death house last night on the departure of Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh and their second son, John, for England Hauptmann remarked that Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh had the right to go anywhere they wished. "I wish them a pleasant journey," the stolid Bronx carpenter said.

Christmas At Sea
NEW YORK, Dec. 24:—Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh and son, John, will freighter American Importer on which they are now travelling to taken on the ship for young John together with many gifts. The entire passenger accommodation of Eve-the vessel was reserved by Col.

Lindbergh and only immediate relatives were on hand to see them off early Sunday, the public not knowing of their departure until after they had gone. They are due to arrive in England New Year's

COLD SNAP IS NEEDED

Pole Camps May Have to Close If Output Cannot be Hauled

Unless there is an early arrival of cold weather in the interior, pole camps of the Hanson Timber & Lumber Co. in the Hazelton district may have to close down. It was stated yesterday by Olof Hanson M.P. Men have been cutting poles in the bush for the past three months but, unless the ground freezes, it will not be possible to take them out. Cold weather of the winter is depended upon to get the poles out.

Four years ago and once before that the winter was so mild that the poles could not be taken out over the frozen ground.

There is still hope, of course, that a cold snap may come in January and thus permit of getting the timber out.

OUTSTANDING DRAMA HERE

"China Seas," Special Christmas Offering at Capitol Theatre, Is Spectacular Thriller

One of the greatest adventure dramas of the year, "China Seas," comes to the screen of the Capitol Theatre here as the Christmas and Boxing Day feature with special matinees on both days.

With a great array of stars in the cast, including Clark Gable, Jean Harlow, Wallace Beery, Lewis Stone, Rosalind Russell, Dudley Digges, C. Aubrey Smith and others, "China Seas" is a red-blooded drama of fierce loves, bitter hates and deadly intrigues played on the plunging deck of a wheezy old liner beset by screaming typhoons and bloodthirsty Malay pirates off the wild southeast coast of Asia. It presents the three principal stars in types of roles which made them famous—Gable as the hard-bitten young skipper of a passenger steamer on the most dangerous run in the world; Miss Harlow as a wise-cracking, tender-hearted lady of the ports of the Orient deeply in love with Gable and not afraid to show it and Beery as a genial Irish trader whose gruff affability masks his operations as the sinister "brains" of half wild pirate bands.

The locale is the last frontier of the oceans, the only place on earth where pirates still rove the seas.

The story recalls the recent newspaper headlines telling of pirate raids on modern pleasure vessels, such a raid and typhoon being among the thrills.

Carol Service In Cathedral

Choir Rendered Special Christmas
Music Most Acceptably

There was a special Christmas carol service Sunday night in St. Andrew's Anglican Cathedral following the regular evening prayer service. The service was conducted by Very Rev. James B. Gibson, dean of the Cathedral, and the choir was under the direction of A. J. Lancaster with Peter Lien as organist. The program, splendidly rendered, included the anthems "Arise Shine for Thy Light is Come," "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks By Night" and "The Cherubim Song" (Russian) and the carols "Holy Night," "Hark, What Mean Those Holy Voices," "See Amid the Winter Snows" and "Good Christian Men, Rejoice."

Crowded House At Food Matinee

Capitol Theatre Packed and Salvation Army Gets Many Donations

The Capitol Theatre was packed with a capacity audience of seven hundred children and a few adults yesterday afternoon for the food matinee in aid of the Salvation Army's Christmas Cheer Fund. Admission was in the form of canned food donations and, while in future more actual food and less canned milk might be acceptable, nevertheless everything was appreciated. The donations were received by Adjutant Eva Laycock and her assistants. At the opening of the moving picture entertainment, the "little commandant" expressed appreciation for the donations and acknowledged the generosity of the theatre and its management in making the event possible.
