Egyptian Constitution Refused By Britain

Anti-British rioting that broke out in and about Cairo, Egypt, developed a political situation which had in it grave possibilities for England. It was reported that Premier Nessim Pasha resigned his post following a mass meeting of the Wafd party, Egypt's independence organization. The wafdists, comprising 90 percent of the electorate, have resolved to push a nationwide boycott of everything British in protest against Britain's refusal to give Egypt a constitution. Sir Miles W. Lampson is the British High Commissioner for Egypt and the Soudan.

STRIVING FOR PEACE

Hoare-Laval Peace Plan Revised After Protest by Cabinet and Other Nations

New Negotiations

Official Explanation is Made by Italy in Regard to Bombing of Hospital

PARIS, Dec. 11: (CP)—France and Great Britain, their differences on formula for East African peace reconciled and Premier Mussolini's acceptance of the negotiations probable although Emperor Haile Selassie's acquiescence to the terms is unlikely, undertook today to put the settlement machinery into motion speedily. Authoritative sources said the method of procedure involved postponement of the League of Nations meeting set for tomorrow to consider the oil embargo and a request to the League committee of five to take over negotiations.

LONDON, Dec. 11: (CP)—The British Foreign Office announced Tuesday that Great Britain had resumed negotiations with France for the perfection of a plan to end the war between Italy and Ethiopia. This announcement lent credence to reports that the cabinet had summarily rejected the tentative agreement which had been reached in recent conversations in Paris between Sir Samuel Hoare, British Foreign Minister, and Premier Pierre Laval of France. Under this agreement it was proposed ceding a portion of Ethiopia to Italy and the granting of a seaport in Eritrea to Ethiopia in exchange.

Late last night another report said that a new peace proposal had already been drawn up between Great Britain and France, with British cabinet approval, whereby there would be an exchange of privileges advantageous to both Italy and Ethiopia as well as provision for mutually beneficial economic development. This new plan, it was thought, might result in a (Continued on page five)

CALGARY, Dec. 11:—A telegram received here last night from Premier William Aberhart in Ottawa said that "full and favorable" consideration was being given Alberta's claims at the Dominion-provincial conference but that no definite answer might be expected for a time.

BLANKET SLAYING CHARGES

Largest Number in Years Arraigned For a Single Case, Arising Out of Killing of Hull Bank Clerk.

(Canadian Press)

HULL, Que., Dec. 11:—The largest blanket murder charge in Canada in many years was laid yesterday when eleven men and one woman were charged with the murder last Wednesday of Armand Nadeau, bank clerk, who was shot to death in the $16,000 hold-up of messengers of Banque Provinciale du Canada while on their way to the Royal Mint at Ottawa with old bills for destruction.

Nathan Martin, alleged Chicago gangster, who was shot to death by the police on Sunday as he resisted arrest, is said to have been the man who actually fired the shots that killed Nadeau. The blanket charge names persons who the police claim actually took part in the hold-up, those who plotted its execution, some who had withdrawn from the enterprise before it was carried out, the woman who drove the killer to Montreal and the man who disposed of the gun that killed Nadeau. All are under arrest but one man who is now being sought.

If a remedy was not forthcoming by constitutional means, some other way out would have to be found.

RAILWAY SITUATION UNDER REVIEW BY C. N. R. HEADS AT SASKATOON HOTEL MEETING.

feel recovery is now assured. Our exports and imports are increasing, recent trade treaties are expected to increase the volume of traffic; moving and 1936 should see us well on the way to recovery," Mr. Fullerton predicted.

Concluding with a word about railway hotel systems, the speaker gave an estimation of the value of the tourist trade to Canada.

"One frequently hears the argument that the policy of railways constructing hotels was all wrong. I am willing to admit that certain of these hotels were overbuilt, but where, I ask you, would the tourist business of Canada be today if these hotels had never been built? If it be fully recognized that service to the travelling public is one of a railway's primary considerations, whatever criticism can be made of overbuilding hotels must necessarily to some extent be modified."

Mr. Hungerford

Replying to Mayor R. M. Pinder's toast to the Canadian National Railways, J. S. Hungerford, president of the national system, took to task those critics who were under the impression railway managements were "asleep at the switch".

"At no time since railways began has there been anything like as many new developments in methods of operation and design of equipment and facilities in a similar period of time as there have been in the last five years," he asserted.

Instancing such improvements as faster train schedules, collection and delivery of package freight, the movement of package freight on local passenger trains, the simplification of freight and express classification, he said further vast improvements in railway service were in sight. Introduction of improved equipment would necessarily be limited by financial conditions and no sudden revolution would take place. However, equipment being retired would be replaced by units of new and more efficient design. Many kinds of existing locomotives and cars would be vastly improved during the balance of their service life by the application of new appliances and devices.

Particularly in the west, said Mr. Hungerford, there was no justification for exaggerated pessimism in regard to the future of the railways. Like Mr. Fullerton, however, he spoke of the effect on railway earnings of trucks taking over the railways a certain share of the greatly reduced volume of traffic resulting from the depression. Both factors had reduced gross earnings of Canadian railways in 1933 to less than half what they were in 1928.

In humorous vein, he remarked that now the railway was in the hotel business in Saskatoon, it would welcome those who came by any means of transport and, in closing, told his audience they might regard the Bessborough as "an expression of confidence on the part of the Canadian National Railways in the future of the prairie provinces generally and of the province of Saskatchewan in particular."

LOCAL TEACHERS

City Commissioner Alder has done such excellent work in Prince Rupert that it is with diffidence we have anything to say of a critical nature. We have no criticism to make of his appointments but we agree that a general policy, so far as possible, of appointing local teachers in preference to outsiders would be not only just but in the interest of the city.

There are a number of young ladies who have excellent qualifications and undoubted ability, who have been teaching in smaller schools long enough to show that they are quite capable of handling their classes and giving instruction along the lines required. Such teachers undoubtedly should have a chance to take local positions. We hope that the commissioner will consider this when he makes any further appointments and give every possible consideration to local people who apply.

In connection with the most recent appointment, we understand that it was the desire of the commissioner to have more men on the staff and, being a married man, Mr. Hayward will make his home here. Mr. Alder, as is well known, is strongly in favor of encouraging home making here.

Single teachers who are imported from outside do not make their homes here usually. Local girls are therefore to be preferred.

There is evidently a well organized campaign of letters prepared to be sent to the local newspapers, a second of which we have already received. This cannot be published without the signature of the writer and even then part of the letter should be deleted because of its personal nature. We suggest to the people holding these letters that they send them to the commissioner direct instead of to the newspapers. We do not like to be made the vehicle for an organized campaign, much as we appreciate the object the promoters have in view. The subject has already been ventilated in public, so let the commissioner have the rest of the letters.

ROOSEVELT'S POSITION

When President Roosevelt undertook to overcome a national crisis by controlling some of the banks and closing others and by bringing about an era of spending with the government taking the lead, he was bound to incur the enmity of those who benefited from being given a free hand.

Roosevelt succeeded in preventing what might have been a national calamity which would have had a very bad effect on Canada and the rest of the world. Because of his rapid fire moves he averted serious trouble and the nation is now back on its feet and the depression is practically over.

There can be little comparison between Canada and the United States. Canada never had a serious crisis such as that which threatened her neighbor. What happened in Canada was that a few business firms became insolvent and a few thousand men were thrown out of employment and had to exist on a dole for several years. There was never any danger of a national eruption here.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go
The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sick and the world looks punk.
Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 26c.

SPORT CHAT

After two and a half years of activity, the two German Alpine villages of Garmisch and Partenkirchen are merged into one town and everything is ready now for the Winter Olympics, February 6-16, at which 29 nations, including Canada, will compete. "For the first time, the uninterrupted progress of the winter games is guaranteed even when the worst possible weather conditions are taken into account," Dr. Karl Ritter von Halt, president of the committee for the Winter Olympics, said when he announced completion of preparations.

Despite an abundance of lakes nearby, all ideally suited for skating events, an ice stadium which will be the scene for figure skating and ice hockey competition was built in the centre of the Olympic winter resort in the German Alps. Modern apparatus for manufacture of artificial ice makes the layout "absolutely weather-proof." The rinks' surface will be crackless and steady. Neither sun nor rain, try-outs proved, can influence the quality of the ice. The stadium can be illuminated and has seating accommodations for 10,000 spectators. Speed skating competition is scheduled to take place on nearby Riesser Lake.

The Slalom, downhill—and combined run and jump courses, with one small and one big ski jump, are united into a tremendous ski stadium on the Gudli Mountain where 80,000 spectators can observe the start as well as the finish of the events. The ski jumps are beside each other with a 90-foot steel tower between. On this tower the Olympic fire will burn during the games. The steep wooden structure of the larger jump is 129 feet high. It is predicted that only "skidders" who jump 240 to 270 feet will have a chance to finish in front. The record is 252 feet.

If a sudden rise in temperature should make progress of the ski competition impossible the events will take place in the higher mountain region. Some Reichswehr regiments will be held in readiness in case an unexpected change of weather should necessitate new preparations for the jumping competition. A few years ago the German championships were successfully finished here on a small stretch of snow when the sun suddenly changed winter into spring and the surrounding pastures were covered with flowers. A former footpath has been converted into a first class bob-sled course.

The start is about 920 metres above sea level. The course, which has 15 curves to the left and right, is 1,600 metres long. Several dangerous turns were smoothed out after a few four-seater bobs plunged off the course and nearly into the spectators, but some hair-pin curves, which are upholstered with ice from nearby Riesser Lake, may prove dangerous even to expert bobs.

The 11-day program comprises 97 different performances. Garmisch-Partenkirchen, a town of 15,000 inhabitants, expects to be host to 100,000 visitors. Since not more than 9,000 rooms are available in town and only a few thousand more in the nearby villages of Oberammergau and Mittendorf, the majority of visitors will find shelter in Munich, about 60 miles distant. The railway between Munich and Garmisch-Partenkirchen has been double-tracked and stations have been enlarged to permit the arrival and departure of one train every seven minutes.

WHIFFLETS

From the Waterfront

Capt. Len Williams, master of the Northland Transportation Co.'s motorship liner Northland, which was in port this morning from Ketchikan with frozen fish for transshipment east over Canadian National Railways, reported having encountered between Juneau and Sitka on the present voyage north of the Northland the most severe storm he had ever experienced in his long career of navigating this coast. Terrific seas, high wind, snow and ice bergs all combined to make the passage between Cape Decision and Cape Omaney out to Sitka one that taxed the seaworthiness of the staunch little vessel but she came through safely. It was also very cold and the nightwatchman suffered frozen fingers. The Northland arrived here at 7:45 a.m. from the north and, after discharging, sailed at 10:30 a.m. for Seattle. She had 40 passengers on board, all going through.

C. N. R. steamer Prince George, Capt. H. E. Nedden, arrived in port on time at 9:45 this morning from Vancouver, Powell River and Ocean Falls with a fair-sized list of passengers and sails at 4 o'clock this afternoon for Anyox and Stewart whence she will return here tomorrow evening southbound.

settlement of the whole dispute. The final revised formula was reported authoritatively to provide Ethiopia access to the Red Sea through Italy's Eritrean port of Assab, yielding of Ethiopia's northern Tigre province to Italy except for the sacred city of Aksum, transfer of the southeastern Oga-den and Danakil territories to Italy, an Italian colonization scheme in the southwest and a treaty between Ethiopia and the League for financial and administrative assistance.
Capt. Anthony Eden said the plan would have to have the approval of both Italy and Ethiopia as well as the League of Nations.
Prior to the Foreign Office announcement there were reports of a split in the cabinet on the question of land concessions to Italy, some sections of British officialdom and parliament being in revolt over the way Premier Baldwin was handling negotiations. It was reported that Capt. Anthony Eden and several ministers felt that any territorial concessions to Mussolini would damage the prestige of the League of Nations and permit Italy to benefit by aggression.
From Geneva last night came reports that representatives of smaller powers which are members of the League of Nations were in virtual rebellion against concessions to Italy which were reported to have been offered by France and Great Britain.

NAAS HAS BIG BELL

Native People Of Aiyansh Proud Of New Acquisition To Church Yard

The native people of Aiyansh are very proud of a fine big church bell which arrived a few days ago in the Naas River village and has been placed on the top of a high bell tower in front of the village church. The bell, made of brass, weighs 1400 pounds and was ordered from London, England. It is said to be the biggest and finest bell in Northern British Columbia. It was purchased by using a fund which was raised by the natives themselves and was taken up the river by Capt. Adams in a small boat.

The village of Aiyansh also has on its church tower a large clock which was assembled by John Bulger of Prince Rupert in 1933 and which is reported to be still in good order.

Both the Anglican mission church and the Church Army Hall at Aiyansh have been recently repaired and painted.

HUNGERFORD MADE CHIEF

Sioux Indians Revive Ancient Tribal Rites in Saskatoon

SASKATOON, Dec. 11.—Reviving their age-old tribal rites for the first time in nearly a decade a band of Sioux Indians in full ceremonial costume from the Moose Woods Indian Reservation yesterday invested S. J. Hungerford, president of the Canadian National Railways, as an honorary chief. Henceforth he will be known by all braves as "Chief Mighty Power."

Since Mr. Hungerford's lengthy railway career has been associated with the motive power department for so many years, the title was appropriate. The ceremony was performed in the Bessborough immediately after the official opening of the hotel at noon.

Chief Tom Bear placed the head dress emblematic of chieftainship on the head of the railway president and covered his shoulders with a blanket as a symbol of admittance to the tribe. Through an interpreter the new chief thanked the braves for the honor and wished them good crops and success in their adopted mode of living.

Strangely enough the last similar ceremony was performed to initiate W. A. Kingsland, now vice-president of the Canadian National Railways, Toronto, when he was operating chief of the western region. First railwayman to be taken into the tribe was B. T. Chappell, now general superintendent for the National system at Vancouver.

TWO GOOD PICTURES

"Under Pampas Moon" Provides Thrills and Music—Drama In "Age of Indiscretion"

"Under the Pampas Moon," a romance of the Argentine pampas where the gauchos live a colorful and romantic life, and "The Age of Indiscretion," a play depicting the influence of divorce upon the lives and fates of children of separation, comprise the mid-week double bill program at the Capitol Theatre here.

In "Under the Pampas Moon" Warner Baxter has the role of a picturesque cowboy of South America in whose veins flow a mixture of Spanish and Indian blood and whose habits are crossed between those of a raiding bandit and a plainsman. Ketti Gallian, a French stage star, who recently made her screen debut, is co-starred with Baxter. Three new song numbers are sung by the two stars and Veloz and Yolanda dance the sensational new "Cobra Tango." Paul Lukas, Madge Evans, May Robson, Helen Vinson, Ralph Forbes, little David Jack Holt and Beryl Mercer are among the principal members of the cast of "The Age of Indiscretion" which is said to be a gripping piece of dramatic entertainment.
