Martin Itjen And His Famous Street Car Return North

Martin Itjen, picturesque pioneer of "Soapy" Smith's days in Skagway, was a passenger aboard the Princess Norah this morning returning with his famous "Skagway Street Car" to the Alaska tourist centre after having spent the winter on a tour of the Pacific Coast as far south as California during the course of which he was able to obtain a great deal of publicity for Skagway from a tourist standpoint. He was accompanied by Mr. McAllister, Skagway newspaperman.

Mr. Itjen attracted considerable attention in the south and was quite a novelty. One of the outstanding experiences was a meeting with Mae West, the glamorous screen star, whom Martin declares to be a "mighty fine gal."

DR. WARREN DISCUSSES PROPOSALS

Shows How University of British Columbia May Help the Cause of Adult Education in Prince Rupert

At a well attended and representative public meeting in the City Hall last night, Dr. Harry V. Warren of the University of British Columbia made it clear that the proposed university extension scheme made possible through a grant from the Carnegie Foundation of New York was not to be a night school as night schools were already provided for under the provincial Department of Education. It was an extension of the university lectures on a limited scale to the outlying districts but a two weeks' intensive course in such a subject as diesel engines might be arranged if there was a real demand for it. No course of lectures would be given unless it was made clear that there was a demand and this would be arranged through Commissioner W. J. Alder and other members of the committee consisting of L. W. Patmore, School Inspector T. W. Hall, Mrs. R. L. McIntosh and Dr. Neal Carter. Organizations or individuals interested in having any class of instruction or lectures should make representations to the university through this committee.

Dr. Warren suggested that a series of half a dozen lecture nights be arranged on current events, that possibly a Little Theatre movement might be organized here and that Professor F. G. T. Wood might give a series of three or four lectures on the drama. Commander Robinson might come for two weeks and give a course on diesel engines. He did not think the University Senate would consent to send a man to give instruction on mining when there was already so good a man in the city as Dr. J. T. Mandy.

The speaker said that it was proposed to start the work in a modest way and, if it was found successful, it could be increased the following year. He discussed the matter of education generally, vocational and cultural. His own hobby he said was the theatre. The study he had made of the subject had enabled him to appreciate the finer points of the drama.

University Difficulties

Dr. Warren told about the difficulties the university had passed through. The income had been cut from $600,000 a year to $250,000 with the result that a number of the young men had to go. They all found good positions in British and American universities. Then the Carnegie Foundation made a grant of $50,000 a year to be used as they saw fit. It was decided to devote $30,000 to adult education and the remainder to be given as scholarships.

Mass Meeting Held to Observe International Labor Day Here; Rev. Clarke Principal Speaker

Prince Rupert's observance of International Labor Day took the form of a public meeting last night in the Moose Hall under the auspices of the unemployed and local labor organizations. There were about four hundred persons present with Einar Larsen in the chair. Principal speaker was Rev. C. D. Clarke, pastor of First United Church, whose subject was "The Brotherhood of Labor," other speakers being Charles Chapman, Oscar Larsen and O. Whyte. The meeting passed a resolution calling upon the provincial government, in view of its failure to implement its pledges with respect to abolition of relief camps, work and wages, restoration of municipal grants and social and health insurance measures, its unsympathetic attitude towards the working classes and the fact that the unemployed could expect nothing from it, to resign forthwith. A collection was taken up, $19.80 being received as a result.

In opening, Mr. Clarke developed a theory of how men, whose first problem had been obtaining of food and protection, had banded together for mutual welfare first in family units, then in clans or tribes and eventually in nations. Brotherhood had been based upon grim necessity rather than brotherly love. Protection had developed into aggression. The strong, feeling their strength, began to subdue their fellows in the idea of obtaining more strength. Empires were formed not for welfare but for strength. The owners of wealth and property became the ruling class, their ambition being the acquisition of more wealth and power.

Dealing with the trend of industrial expansion, Mr. Clarke traced how the interests of the employer and the worker had become separated. The small employer, who once shared comforts with his few assistants, became the administrator of large scale industry interested only in the collection of dividends and no longer concerned or associated with the welfare of his employees. The employers dominating in wealth and power, laws were made in the interests of the owning class for the protection of their property. The worker was left to look after his own welfare and could see nothing for his labor but a mere existence. Then developed the consciousness of the worker and the rise of trades unionism by means of which higher wages and better living conditions were obtained. The labor movement eventually became international in scope, welfare of workers in Canada being dependent upon welfare of those in other countries.

Fallacy of Tariffs

Tariffs were supposed to protect the workers of one country against underselling of products made in another country having lower living and working conditions but this was a fallacy for tariffs, as a matter of fact, were used to provide more profits for the owning class. The only solution now appeared to be to raise the standards of living in one country to keep up with those in another. Wages were not the problem today nor better prices for goods the solution. In the struggle for welfare a great social movement was developing. The workers were beginning to feel that they were entitled to the fullest life possible, to enjoy the privileges of education, travel, modern invention. To accomplish this, the worker must obtain control of the means of production and distribution and the struggle to

UNIVERSITY OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

The opportunities which are offered to Prince Rupert people in regard to university extension work will be appreciated by many but perhaps it is well to point out to the university people that it is a belated offering of something the outlying points should have been getting long ago. We are not blaming the university for the delay but lay it rather to financial and other conditions.

For many years the university has been looked upon by many as a glorified high school for the particular use of the people of Vancouver and Victoria. It costs too much for the average person to send his sons or daughters to Vancouver for more than half the year in order to enjoy university privileges and yet the people of the outside districts pay the same amount in taxes for the upkeep of the university as do the people of Vancouver.

With the extension of university privileges to outside points, the people will begin to feel that they really have some part and lot in the big institution of learning. To place the privileges of the university at the service of all the people on equal terms the university should pay the travelling expenses of the outside students to and from Vancouver and also pay the board and lodging of the students while attending. This, of course, is impossible, so we are glad to receive some of the crumbs which fall from the rich man's table in the way of extension courses.

Prince Rupert, through the self-denial of parents, has been able to enjoy some university privileges. Students have attended and are now attending at the classes and are doing well. Many have graduated with honors. In placing before the university people the handicap under which we are placed in regard to this public institution we are not knocking. We know something of its value to the province and are particularly glad that we shall be given an opportunity to share in its privileges.

GYROS HEAR DR. WARREN

Makes Plea For Co-operation In Connection With Education Plan in Prince Rupert

A plea for public co-operation in connection with the proposal to commence adult educational classes in Prince Rupert under the auspices of the Carnegie Foundation and the University of British Columbia was made by Dr. Harry V. Warren, professor of mineralogy at the University of British Columbia, in an address yesterday before the Prince Rupert Gyro Club. "We are not asking for money," declared Dr. Warren, "but for your co-operation, tolerance and goodwill in instituting a movement which may help to get the province out of the present deplorable situation."

Had it not been for finances provided by the Carnegie Foundation, such a scheme of adult education could not have been considered, Dr. Warren stated. The work had been undertaken by the University of British Columbia as being the organization best able to carry it on. Teachers of the country could not conduct the work as they were already overworked owing to understaffing. Churches and clergymen already had their resources and time taken up with parochial work. Service clubs were busy with their local undertakings and the government was not able.

It should be remembered, declared Dr. Warren in opening, that the University of British Columbia did not belong to Vancouver but to the whole province all of the people of which had an interest in it and were entitled to its privileges. He mentioned how the University was carrying on, despite reduced resources, and giving education to more rather than fewer people.

Possible Local Subjects
In regard to the adult educational work which might be carried on, Dr. Warren said that this would depend upon what might be wanted locally. Diesel engines, dramatics, politics, economics and literature might be subjects of interest in Prince Rupert. While the organization provided the money and the personnel, it was usually considered advisable to charge at least a small fee for instruction.

Speaking of the general economic situation, Dr. Warren expressed the opinion that too seldom were hard work, drawing in one's belt and co-operation mentioned as possible means of solution to existing difficulties. More often were some magic formulae offered as solutions.

Dr. Warren's address before the Gyro Club was preliminary to a public meeting last night at which he gave details of what it was planned to do and suggested means of doing it. Today he followed up at the Rotary Club luncheon. President J. J. Little in the chair, by telling what had been done in other communities along the line of adult education and how experiences of other places similar to this might be applied locally.

President S. J. Jabour was in the chair at the Gyro luncheon. Guests besides Dr. Warren, included I. L. Boomer of Vancouver and Dr. Joseph T. Mandy, resident mining engineer, who introduced the speaker of the day.

T. W. Brown, a member of the club, was welcomed back from his honeymoon trip.

WHIFFLETS From the Waterfront

The British freighter Paris City sailed at 6 o'clock last night for United Kingdom or Continent with a full cargo of No. 1 Northern wheat loaded from the Alberta Wheat Pool's local elevator. Grain is now commencing to arrive from the prairies for the next ship, name of which is so far unannounced, which is expected to arrive about May 18 to load another full cargo for United Kingdom or Continent. This, it is expected will end grain exports to be made from here this season. It will fulfill the requirements under which the Pool has had the elevator under lease during the past year.

Making her final voyage of the season on the Alaska route and having on board a large number of northerners going up for their summer's work, C. P. R. steamer, Princess Norah, Capt. William Palmer, arrived in port at 9:30 this morning from Vancouver and sailed an hour later for Skagway and other northern points whence she will call here next Monday afternoon southbound. There were 68 passengers aboard the Princess Norah on arrival here. Three disembarked at this port while eleven joined the vessel here.

Two Canadian boats—Relief, 10,000 pounds, and Pair of Jacks, 15,000 pounds—are in today with halibut. They are holding over for sale until tomorrow.

now they were finding out what the various communities wanted and when all the returns were in they would decide how to apportion the work. The question of cost was important. It was suggested that the fares of the lecturers should be paid from the fund provided and that each community might look after the accommodation of the visitors while in the city. This would enable more extensive courses to be given.

Dr. Warren explained the attitude the university took toward all political and other movements. They were not communist or red but they welcomed discussions of all public questions and encouraged students to study them. They tried to so train the students that they would be swayed only by facts and not by fiery oratory. The University depended for its existence on the goodwill of the people and they wanted an opportunity to show that they were really a provincial institution doing what it could to meet the needs of all the people.

Dr. J. T. Mandy presided and thanked the speaker on behalf of those present.

8 RIGID TESTS PROVE HOME GAS GIVES MOST MILEAGE

HOME GAS
 MADE IN B.C.

At the bottom of the beaker shown at right, you see the actual size of 15 drops of gasoline—the amount of Home Gas needed to start your engine.

The beaker at left shows the actual amount (1/200th part of a gallon) of Home Gas that will run your engine for one minute.

Only 15 drops of HOME GAS to start a cold engine.....

In this latest test of Home Gas, carried out by G. S. Eldridge & Co. and Standard Testing Laboratories of Vancouver, eight cars were used ranging from one week to nine years old, with mileages varying from 3 to 98,000. It was established that the average car (with cold engine) would start on just 15 drops of Home Gas.

Absolute Proof

Only 1/200th of a gallon runs the engine for One minute..

These tests confirm once again the oft-repeated claim of Home Oil Distributors Limited that when you buy Home Gas "You can buy no better". For a quick and economical start, for speedy acceleration, power under all conditions, anti-knock quality, purity and mileage, Home Gas stands second to none.

THAT HOME GAS IS THE OUTSTANDING GASOLINE SOLD IN BRITISH COLUMBIA!

MASS MEETING HELD

system. Patching up capitalism by social legislation and public works would not suffice. Capitalism, based on the sacredness of material wealth, must be replaced by socialism, based upon the sacredness of human life and welfare, not property.

How was the worker to obtain control? Not by armed revolution, the speaker thought. There were only a few in Canada who advocated that, he believed. The means of obtaining control, Mr. Clarke believed, should be, "instead, by getting hold of Parliamentary procedure. There must be a campaign of education. Unless the people understood what socialism was about, it was useless to put in a socialist government. The speaker regretted that the press, dominated by the interests, was not with the socialistic movement. One alternative was to parade. The relief camp men had had to go to Vancouver to draw attention to conditions under which they were kept. Jesus had gone from Galilee to Jerusalem because Jerusalem was the capital.

"I am heart and soul with the movement," declared the speaker, "and I apologize to no one. Co-operation and sacrifice are necessary. If we are going to get anything worthwhile, we must pay for it. Nothing in the world can stop this movement. The world will overthrow any movement that crushes humanity. We are moving in the right direction with a humanizing movement. Let us hope that some day before long we will get there."

Other Speakers

Charles Chapman spoke on some current questions such as the Corbin strike, the need of the unemployed and their families for more adequate relief including boots and clothing, relief camp conditions, work and wages. Premier Pattullo's days were numbered, he asserted. He charged that the banks were behind the boat owners in the dispute here with the halibut fishermen who were fighting to raise the standard of living.

Oscar Larsen declared that the workers had fought with success in the past for better conditions and would do so again. He advocated the abolition of the wage system and its replacement by a plan whereby the worker received the full proceeds of his labor and under which production would be for use and not for profit. The working classes should also fight against war and dictatorships. He called for fifteen seconds' silence in respect to the memory of those who had sacrificed their lives in the interests of the workers.

O. Whyte presented an explanation of the objects of the Canadian Labor Defence League. One of its most important functions was to protect those who were active on behalf of labor from unjust court proceedings and frame-ups.

Announcement was made of the inability of J. E. Panter, C. C. F. candidate for Skeena in the federal election, to attend the meeting.

Announcement was also made of an unemployed tea and sale to be held on May 16 and a whist drive the same evening.

Coast freighter Salvor, Capt. Albert Georgeson, was in port overnight with general cargo for local delivery.

NEW SPEED MARK MADE

NEW YORK, May 2:—Tommy Tomlinson, who had left Los Angeles at 7:54 Tuesday morning, set his Douglas robot transport plane down at Floyd Bennett Field here after having made a new record of eleven hours, five minutes and forty-five seconds for a transcontinental flight. The time was twenty-eight minutes less than the previous record mark.

The plane gave an excellent performance despite conditions on some parts of the route which were far from favorable. Dust-storms were encountered. The average speed was 200 miles per hour.

Tomlinson was accompanied by two companions.

Grass Fires Kept Department Busy In April Month

The city fire department responded to an unusually large number of eighteen alarms during the month of April, all but three of which were accounted for by grass fires due to the dry weather. Only in two cases was damage done. A roof fire on April 2 at the residence on Borden Street owned by Mrs. G. W. Kerr and occupied by J. S. Irvine did damage of $37.45 while $10 damage was done by a roof fire at the shop of B. M. Simpson on McBride Street on April 13. There was one false alarm and fourteen grass fires.

In April last year there were five alarms. So far this year there have been thirty-seven fire calls as compared with twenty-six in the first four months of 1934.

TOTAL INCREASING

The employment service committee announces that the total amount of work pledged since the beginning of the canvass amounts to $22,292, the sum of $2,160 having been added since Tuesday.
