PILOT IS TO BLAME

Responsibility Fixed by Soviet For Loss of Air Liner—State Funeral For Victims

MOSCOW, May 21:—The dead pilot of a smaller observation escort plane was held responsible by the Soviet government Monday for the collision late Saturday which caused the destruction of the great air liner Maxim Gorky with loss of forty-eight lives.

As great solemnity prevailed to give a state funeral to the victims of the crash, the Soviet government was laying plans to build an even greater and stronger plane.

High Soviet officials led the funeral rites yesterday and there were 50,000 marchers. Twenty-seven planes flew overhead in formation.

The Maxim Gorky was built at a cost of six million roubles donated by laborers, peasants, newspapermen and others as their contribution towards the development of Russian aviation.

STRIKE END LOOKED FOR

Miners Expected to Resume Work At Bridge River Dividend Payers This Evening

New Wage Scale

Non - Dividend Payers Propose Slightly Lower Wages Until They Become Profitable

GOLDBRIDGE, May 21: (CP)—The central committee of the striking gold miners recommending to the miners today that they accept the scale arranged by Hon. George S. Pearson, minister of mines, for Bralorne, Pioneer and Bradian mines namely: miners, $5.40; muckers, $4.50; minimum for outside labor, $4. The committee also issued a statement that, if Wayside and Congress attempted to resume work at lower scales, such a move would be resisted. It is generally expected that night shifts will go to work at the mines this evening.

At a meeting of operators of Wayside, B. R. X., B. R. Consolidated, Pilot, Congress and Minto mines in the Bridge River district, the companies unanimously decided to offer the following scale of pay in non-dividend paying mines: miners, $5 per day; muckers, $4.50; surface men, $3.75. When any mine went into the dividend paying class, the wage scale would be increased to conform with that of other dividend-paying mines. Request was made that this scale be submitted to a secret ballot of miners for acceptance or rejection.

A mass meeting of Bridge River miners is to be held at Bralorne today.

UNITED STATES SENATE EXPECTED TO SUSTAIN VETO OF BONUS BILL

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 21:—Speculation is rife as to what will be the fate of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's veto of the Pattman soldiers' bonus bill which will be delivered personally to Congress by the chief executive tomorrow. The House is expected to override the veto by a large margin but in the Senate it may be different. It is claimed that 35 senators will back the veto. This would be two more than the number required to sustain the veto. Noon Wednesday is tentatively set for the joint session of Senate and House at which the President will deliver the veto message in person. Some objection has been taken on constitutional grounds to such procedure. Mr. Roosevelt will veto the Pattman measure principally on the grounds that it endangers the monetary stability of the country.

VANCOUVER SITUATION

It seems as if a very serious situation was developing in Vancouver. The destitute single unemployed do not evidently relish the idea of spending another summer in relief camps and are trying to impress upon the authorities that work with wages must be provided.

Ottawa does not look with any very kindly eye on those who are drawing attention to the dangers of a policy of laissez faire. They cannot understand that the people out here should be more assertive than those in the east.

While we all hope that a policy of secession may not be necessary, it is very evident that something will have to be done to take care of the situation. Work must be provided and the federal government is the only authority that is constitutionally able to undertake it. The provincial administration has not the means at its disposal as long as the province is a part of Canada.

We realize that a great many people in Prince Rupert and elsewhere do not understand why any special action is necessary. They point to the past and say that it never has been done before. They must remember that conditions have changed. There never were in the past such opportunities for becoming inordinately rich as today and the people in the past were not sufficiently well educated to realize that such a condition as that through which we have been passing was not necessary.

There are plenty of food and clothes and they are the real riches of the country. The difficulty is that they have been withheld from the people because the people did not have enough money to pay for them. The people owning the food and clothes also owned the money.

We do not wish to appear overly radical in our views. We only wish to once more draw attention to a condition which exists and to give expression to views held by most of the people. Everyone knows there is plenty of food, clothes and luxuries. The disagreement is as to the manner of distribution. Each group or party has its pet scheme and the result is that nothing is done to remedy a dangerous situation and the Vancouver unrest is just one example of the discontent.

From the Waterfront

With the Fresno City, now here, apparently the last ship to load grain from the Alberta Wheat Pool's elevator for the time being at least, speculation arises as to the future intentions of the Pool in regard to the use of the local house. The Pool's lease on the elevator expires this summer and there appears to be some question as to whether or not it will be renewed. There is no information whatever on this matter to be obtained at the local offices of the Pool. The Fresno City will clean up about all the wheat there is left in the elevator.

No further word regarding the wreck of the steamer Denali on Zayas Island in Chatham Sound has been received here directly from Capt. W. P. Armour of the Armour Salvage Co. since he left for there early yesterday morning with the power tugs Daly and Pachena and scow. Capt. Armour was not back this morning nor was there any idea as to when he might be in. Yesterday afternoon the police boat P. M. L. 8 was cruising in the vicinity about half a mile from the wreck, being unable to get closer owing to heavy seas. Constable Harold Raybone reported to headquarters that all of the big freighter then visible was a small part of the bow still sticking upward onto the reef. The destruction of the big ship and her cargo appeared to be complete.

Union steamer Catala, Capt. A. E. Dickson, returned to port at 11:40 this morning from Anyox, Stewart and other northern points and sailed at 1:30 this afternoon for Vancouver and waypoints.

C. N. R. steamer Prince John, Capt. Dan McKinnon, is due in port late tonight or early tomorrow morning from Vancouver via the Queen Charlotte Islands. The vessel left Skidegate Inlet at 10 o'clock last night for Massett Inlet.

Northland Transportation Co.'s liner North Sea, Capt. A. W. Nickerson, is due in port today from Ketchikan with fresh halibut for transshipment east over the Canadian National Railways and, after discharging, will proceed to Seattle.

NO CHANCE OF SALVAGE

Steamer Denali and Her Cargo Total Loss Following Stranding On Zayas Island

More Details

Only Smal Portion of Big Vessel Still Clinging to Reef Outside Prince Rupert

KETCHIKAN, May 21:—Officers of the wrecked Alaska Steamship Co.'s steamer Denali made a trip to Zayas Island yesterday aboard the coastguard cutter Cyanne to make a survey of the situation with a view to instituting salvage operations if possible. They found, however, that the pounding the vessel had received from the heavy seas together with the fire which broke out after the stranding and the ensuing explosion of dynamite on board had made it impracticable to attempt to salve anything either of the ship or its cargo. In fact, very little of the vessel is left.

Possibly one-third of the forward part of the vessel still remains on the reef. Another one-third amidships was blown away by the explosion while the stern end has disappeared below the water.

There were no actual witnesses of the explosion on Sunday evening which is supposed to have virtually completed the destruction of the vessel. The dynamite was stowed in the hold almost under the bridge.

Sea Very Rough

The passengers, most of whom were taking their first sea voyage, were in their beds when the stranding occurred at 2:15 a.m. Sunday and were not aware that the ship was ashore until they were called to take to the lifeboats. Soon after they were landed on Zayas Island through the rough sea, the lifeboats were wrecked on being pounded upon the shore.

After the others had been taken ashore, Capt. Donald Healy and two wireless operators stayed aboard for some time, being finally taken off by the coastguard cutter Cyanne which manoeuvred to get a lifeboat alongside the wrecked vessel. All were later brought here and the officers and crew are now awaiting transportation south to Seattle.

The cargo of the Denali included lumber, road building machinery, cars, trucks, explosives, etc. After calling at southeastern Alaska ports, the vessel was to proceed to the westward.

Five years ago the Denali stranded in a snowstorm on Mary Island but was refloated at that time without damage.

The loss as a result of the wreck is placed at $700,000. The cargo was valued at $500,000.
