WESTMINSTER PORT REOPENED TODAY UNDER GUARD

Japan's Army Might Again Force Concessions From China

Gen. H. Ying-Ching (left) couldn't defend it, so he told his government when Col. Takashi Sakai (center), Tokio's spokesman, delivered an ultimatum calling for Japanese control of Peiping and area shaded in map, so another big chunk of territory has been carved out of domain of Chiang Kai-Shek (right), dictator and apostle of Chinese unification, by Japan. Japanese troops (note flag) threatened to march again into the ancient capital, Peiping, as shown on former invasion two years ago. Though the Japanese ultimatum was accepted, supposedly ending anti-Japanese activity in northern China, the situation remained tense. The Chinese capital may be moved further south.

Relief Camp and Other Unemployed Expected to March on Ottawa to the Number of Twenty to Thirty Thousand

Capitalists From Tacoma Visit the City

A very pretty American yacht from Tacoma was here at the week-end, El Primero, with the owner, S. A. Perkins and his guest R. B. Henderson aboard on a tour going as far north as Juneau and Sitka. Mr. Perkins is the owner of four daily newspapers in the state of Washington and Mr. Henderson is banker and both were much interested in the local situation and particularly in the development of this port.

Mr. Perkins has been here several times in the past but on this occasion he took a much greater personal interest in the place than on the occasion of former visits. His yacht carried a crew of seven men and is very finely fitted up. It makes a speed of 17 knots and has a cruising radius of 5,000 miles. The boat will be calling here on the way south.

The Regina strikers will not disband or return to relief camps but it is expected here that they will continue their trek.

Fraser Lake Sawmills Have Fifty Carloads of Aspen For Shipment Through Prince Rupert

Mill is Also Shipping About a Car Load a Day of Lumber To the Prairies—Employment Given About Seventy-Five Men Just Now

FRASER LAKE, June 24:—Between sawmill and woods, operations of the Fraser Lake Sawmills, of which M. M. Connally is the head, are at present giving employment to about seventy-five men, providing a tidy summer payroll for this particular district. The sawmill started operations this year on May 15 and Mr. Connally expects to continue sawing until September at least. The mill has a capacity of 40,000 feet per day.

Spruce and fir lumber is turned out by the plant, most of which is finished, the mill being well equipped with planers. Shipments are being made steadily to the prairie market at the rate of about one car (25,000 to 30,000 feet) daily.

The mill at Fraser Lake, like other interior lumber plants, has also been turning out switch ties (of fir here) for the Canadian National Railways.

Aspen Logs to China

Mr. Connally now has fifty carloads of aspen logs ready to ship through Prince Rupert to the Orient. He is only awaiting orders now to send this timber. Already he has shipped seventy-five carloads during the past year or so and he expects the market to expand. The demand now is for a slightly better grade for which a somewhat higher price is paid. Development of hemlock export from Prince Rupert would facilitate the export of aspen logs which are used in China and Japan for matchwood. The sticks are eight to sixteen feet long with a minimum thickness of eight inches at the small end.

DINNER OF 30 COURSES

Visitor to China Tells of Adventure In Dining on a Very Mixed Diet

BOMBAY, June 24: (CP)—To persons acquainted with the eating customs of the East as exemplified in India, a 30-course meal in China seems to be an adventure. The Times of India recently published the following description of the experience of a visitor to a Chinese city.

"Don't worry," a friend, conversant with such things said on the way to an invitation affair. "It's only a 30-course feast. Just nibble at the different dishes. Refuse the bowl of rice at the end, unless you feel able for it; for etiquette demands it be finished to the last grain, and hold everything you can in both hands. The meal will last two hours."

The room was bare, with an uncircled window, four Chinese scrolls and an ugly pendulum clock on the walls, a round table, set with various dishes on green-patterned American cloth, and eight wooden stools.

"My friend refused the first and second stools offered and I did the same, registering the first item in the table of my mental 'don'ts.' Once seated, it was difficult to know what to do with our feet, which dangled as they had not done since nursery days. Those days were even more vividly recalled when the waiters brought in a steaming-hot towel and presented one to each of us. Imitating my fellow-guest, I took it in both hands and proceeded to wipe my face and hands. It was surprisingly refreshing, and amazing the quantity of street dust it was able to bring off."

"The table, too, laid out with 10 saucers of varied dainties, recalled the dolls' tea-parties of the nursery, when odds and ends were egged from the kitchen cupboard. At the 10 saucers I could see peanuts, sugar-candy, melon seeds, sliced bananas and apples, sweetened radishes, crystallized plums, slices of sponge cake and a salad mixture. For each guest was set a saucer containing some native relish, a bowl and a pair of chopsticks.

"We had arrived on the stroke of the second hour of the second half of the day, but it was not till the third hour that a Chinese woman teacher, two merchants and two students made our party complete. We had foregone our usual midday tiffin and were ready for our 30-course meal, so it was a little difficult to refrain from doing more than nibble when we drew our stools up to the table and the feast was opened.

"Memories of playing progressive games came fast as I seized, or rather failed to seize, a nut or plum with my chopsticks. You either popped the dainty straight into your mouth or ate it held pre-

Nature Builds Your Body—but you supply the materials.

Health suffers if you run short of iron.

Your food and drink are the only materials Nature gets to maintain bodily strength and well-being. But the tragedy of modern foods is their shortage of iron. Sooner or later this has an effect upon the health. It causes, at first, a run-down condition and simple anaemia; then develops into serious ailments, if not checked.

This was shown to be true in a group of forty-five people whose blood was examined by a competent authority. In forty cases the blood was thinner and paler than it should have been, due to the shortage of iron. The authority who conducted the tests recorded the exact amount of the shortage for each person, then put every one of them on a 30-day treatment. The preparation he gave them was Dr. Williams' Pink Pills (called pink because they have a pink sugar coating). In one month he examined their blood again and found that the red corpuscles and the iron had definitely increased in every case.

This test is a demonstration of what this fine old remedy can do for you, if . . . as is likely . . . you need iron.

Wouldn't you like to feel really strong and vigorous again? Wouldn't you like to eat well, sleep soundly, take a keen interest in life around you . . . ? Then put yourself on a 30-day treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Directly you begin taking this reliable old preparation, the reconstructive process will start. The blood will grow richer . . . will carry more vitality . . . and your own feelings will react pleasantly. Old aches and off days will give way to new vigor and brighter outlook on life. You will know once again the joy of possessing that priceless treasure . . . health! Full size box 50¢.

37H curiously between the two straight sticks. After a short interval the main dishes arrived, one by one hot, deliciously tender, invariably in small balls or slices, save for on large fish specialty, but in no logical order. Fried chicken in balls would precede lotus seeds in syrup, sliced mushrooms would follow sea slugs in gravy. There were meat dumplings, apples dipped in sugar, sliced bacon, fish steaks in this gastronomic medley, so that there was a slight suggestion of nightmare in this fantastic disregard of the value of a balanced menu.

There was nothing to drink, and our Western thirst became acute. When the feast was rounded off with delicious soup and a bowl of rice we accepted the one with zest and refused the other with genuine thankfulness.

"You haven't eaten till you're stuffed," our host said disappointedly, using the usual polite Chinese formula."

The Real Fighting Pictures Shown Under Canadian Legion Auspices With Matinee

Speaking of the war picture which is being shown today and tomorrow at the Capitol under Canadian Legion auspices the Ottawa Journal says editorially:

"Whatever may be said of the picture of this name now showing at the EKO Capitol Theatre, let no one say of it that it is propaganda for war. For not all the books that have been written against war, nor all the sermons that have been preached against it, tell as much of its stark, awful pity. This is not a picture to pander to the morbid or the sensational, nor is it compounded of that mere emphasis upon horror and beastliness which have marred cinema versions of so many war books. What is shown here is an actual and faithful photographic record of things that were done and endured by Canada's own flesh and blood in those four dread years in France—a mingling of human heroism and sacrifice with acts and scenes so terrible as to be almost beyond belief.

Rev. R. P. Graham, Anglican clergyman at Massett until recently, accompanied by Mrs. Graham and six children, left this morning for Atlin aboard the steamer Princess Louise.
