Carl Hubbell Takes Giants to Victory In World Series Opener

Big Southpaw Did Fine Hurling Job to Give National Leaguers 6 to 1 Win in Baseball Classic Today

NEW YORK, Sept. 30: (CP)—Behind superlative pitching of big Carl Hubbell, the new York Giants completely outplayed the New York Yankees at the Polo Grounds today to take the first game of the 1936 World Series by a score of 6 to 1. The Yankees' only run came in the third when Outfielder George Selkirk, first man up, hit a home run into the right field stands. The Giants evened it up in the fifth with a home run by Dick Bartell into left field and went one up in the sixth. In the eighth Red Ruffing and the Yankee infield blew up and Giants scored four more runs on three hits and two errors to make it decisive. The game was played in rain. Charlie (Red) Ruffing was losing pitcher.

Carl Hubbell... The Giants' run in the sixth came when Mel Ott doubled against the left field wall and advanced to third on Jimmy Ripple's sacrifice. Gas Mancuso fired out a single to score Ott.

As the Yankees slithered around in the mud, Giants went to town in the eighth as Manager Bill Terry, first up, singled into right centre. Ott bunted safely, advancing Terry. Ripple made a great sacrifice and sent Terry to third and Ott to second. Mancuso was deliberately walked, filling the bases. Ruffing lost his grip and walked Burgess Whitehead, sending Terry home. Then Ott came home as Travis Jackson poked out a long fly to Joe DiMaggio. Hubbell scratched out a single, scoring Mancuso and Whitehead as Bill Dickey lost the throw-in. Frank Crossett stopped the rally when he tossed Joe Moore out to Lou Gehrig.

Hubbell was never in trouble and yielded only seven hits as against nine chalked up against Ruffing. Only one error was made by the Giants, a fumble by Hubbell of Bob Rolfe's bunt.

PLANS OF BUILDING

New Naval Reserve Headquarters On Local Waterfront Will Be Splendid Structure

Copies of plans and specifications for the new extension to the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve building here, tenders for the construction of which are now being called, have been received in Prince Rupert and show that the structure, when completed, will be quite attractive and a real improvement to the general appearance of the local waterfront.

The new addition will measure 32 by 73 feet and will consist largely of two rooms—one a commodious recreation and drill room 61 feet in length and the full 32-foot width of the new extension and the other comfortable officers' mess-room 12 by 32 feet. The present building will be incorporated in the whole new structure with little alteration of the present interior layout. However, the whole exterior will be taken into one new general design. All will be of frame construction with stucco finish. The main entrance on the water end will be quite attractive and there will be box towers at each of the four corners of the structure.

Hon. Clarence D. Howe, federal minister of marine, will be paying a visit to Vancouver shortly and, according to telegraphic advices received here yesterday afternoon, he will be asked while in Vancouver to have Ripple Rock, long regarded as a serious menace to navigation, removed from Seymour Narrows.

It is expected that the matter will be brought before the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce at its regular monthly meeting on Friday night of this week with a view to backing up any new efforts that may be made with a view to having the rock removed. Prince Rupert and Alaska interests would, no doubt, favor any move with a view to bringing about immediate removal of the rock.

Correspondence Classes Urged

Matriculation Work May Be Carried Out at Less Cost Says Superintendent of Education

W. O. Fulton, who has been trying to secure a matriculation class in the King Edward High School here, recently wrote the superintendent of education a personal letter in regard to it. The reply follows:

"In reply to your letter of September 24, when a matriculation class is to be formed, the principal should be notified a couple of weeks before the school opens and the required number of specialists appointed to the staff. "At this date it would be unfair to the staff and students to disrupt the work by forming a new class. All senior matriculation students may remain in Prince Rupert and, with much less cost to the parents, complete the year's work by means of our correspondence lessons. Hundreds of students are now taking senior matriculation in this way." Mr. Fulton is sending away for the course of instruction.

FINE MUSIC LAST NIGHT

William Balagno Given Great Demonstration of Appreciation By Large Audience

Led by William violin virtuoso, formerly of this city but for some years a member of the Seattle Symphony Orchestra and otherwise prominent in the musical life of the Puget Sound metropolis, four Balagnos joined last night at First Presbyterian Church to give lovers of better music in Prince Rupert a treat such as they are all too seldom afforded. It was a great evening for an audience which filled the commodious auditorium of the church, making it necessary to find extra seating accommodation to provide for all. Nor was there lack of appreciation. Indeed there was one ovation after another and it was a tribute indeed to the artists.

Of course, William Balagno was the drawing card of the evening but the assistance he received from his brother, Charles, who put in a heavy evening's work as accompanist, incidentally, never being in better form, and his nieces, Marie and Charlotte, the former as piano soloist and the latter who accompanied the last number on the program, did a full share to make for the general excellence of the recital.

Mr. Balagno's program was almost entirely along classical lines and his repertoire was a varied one giving full play to his wonderful talents as a master of the violin. Incidentally, Mr. Balagno has developed greatly during the several years since he was last heard here. His technical skill was well enough known to his local friends and admirers but he has added to that an interpretive genius and a mellowness of execution which has virtually transformed him. He is no longer merely a high class orchestra violinist. He is a maestro.

The Opening Number
 First-offering of Mr. Balagno was Sjogren's "Sonata in D. Minor," a Norwegian number in three movements lending itself to a range of technique but with an elusive melody. The audience warmed up with the sweeping presto finale and from then on there was a warm enthusiasm which was later to develop into a volume of acclaim that seldom has greeted a musical artist here.

Pugnani's powerful "Praeludium and Allegro" (arranged by Kriesler), with its strident harmonies and novel effects, gave full scope to Mr. Balagno's technical skill. This concluded a group in lighter vein which included Kreisler's "La Gitana," Arensky's "Londonderry Air," Granado's "Spanish Dance" and Dvorak's "Largo" (better known as "Goin' Home") from the New World Symphony.

The outstanding number of the evening, however, was Mendelssohn's "Concerto in E Minor" in five movements. It adapts itself to most of the phases and moods of good violin playing and Mr. Balagno, taking full advantage of the enthusiasm which had already been developed, completed his capture of the audience. The audience would not be denied an encore and Mr. Balagno replied with the Brahms "Cradle Song."

Mr. Balagno's fourth group of the evening included two of his own compositions—the novel "Menuet in Olden Style" and the delicate "Evening Song." Debussy's "La Plus Que Lente," "Chant," a negro spiritual by White and "The Flight of the Bumble Bee," a well known and characteristic descriptive bit by Rimsky-Korsakov.

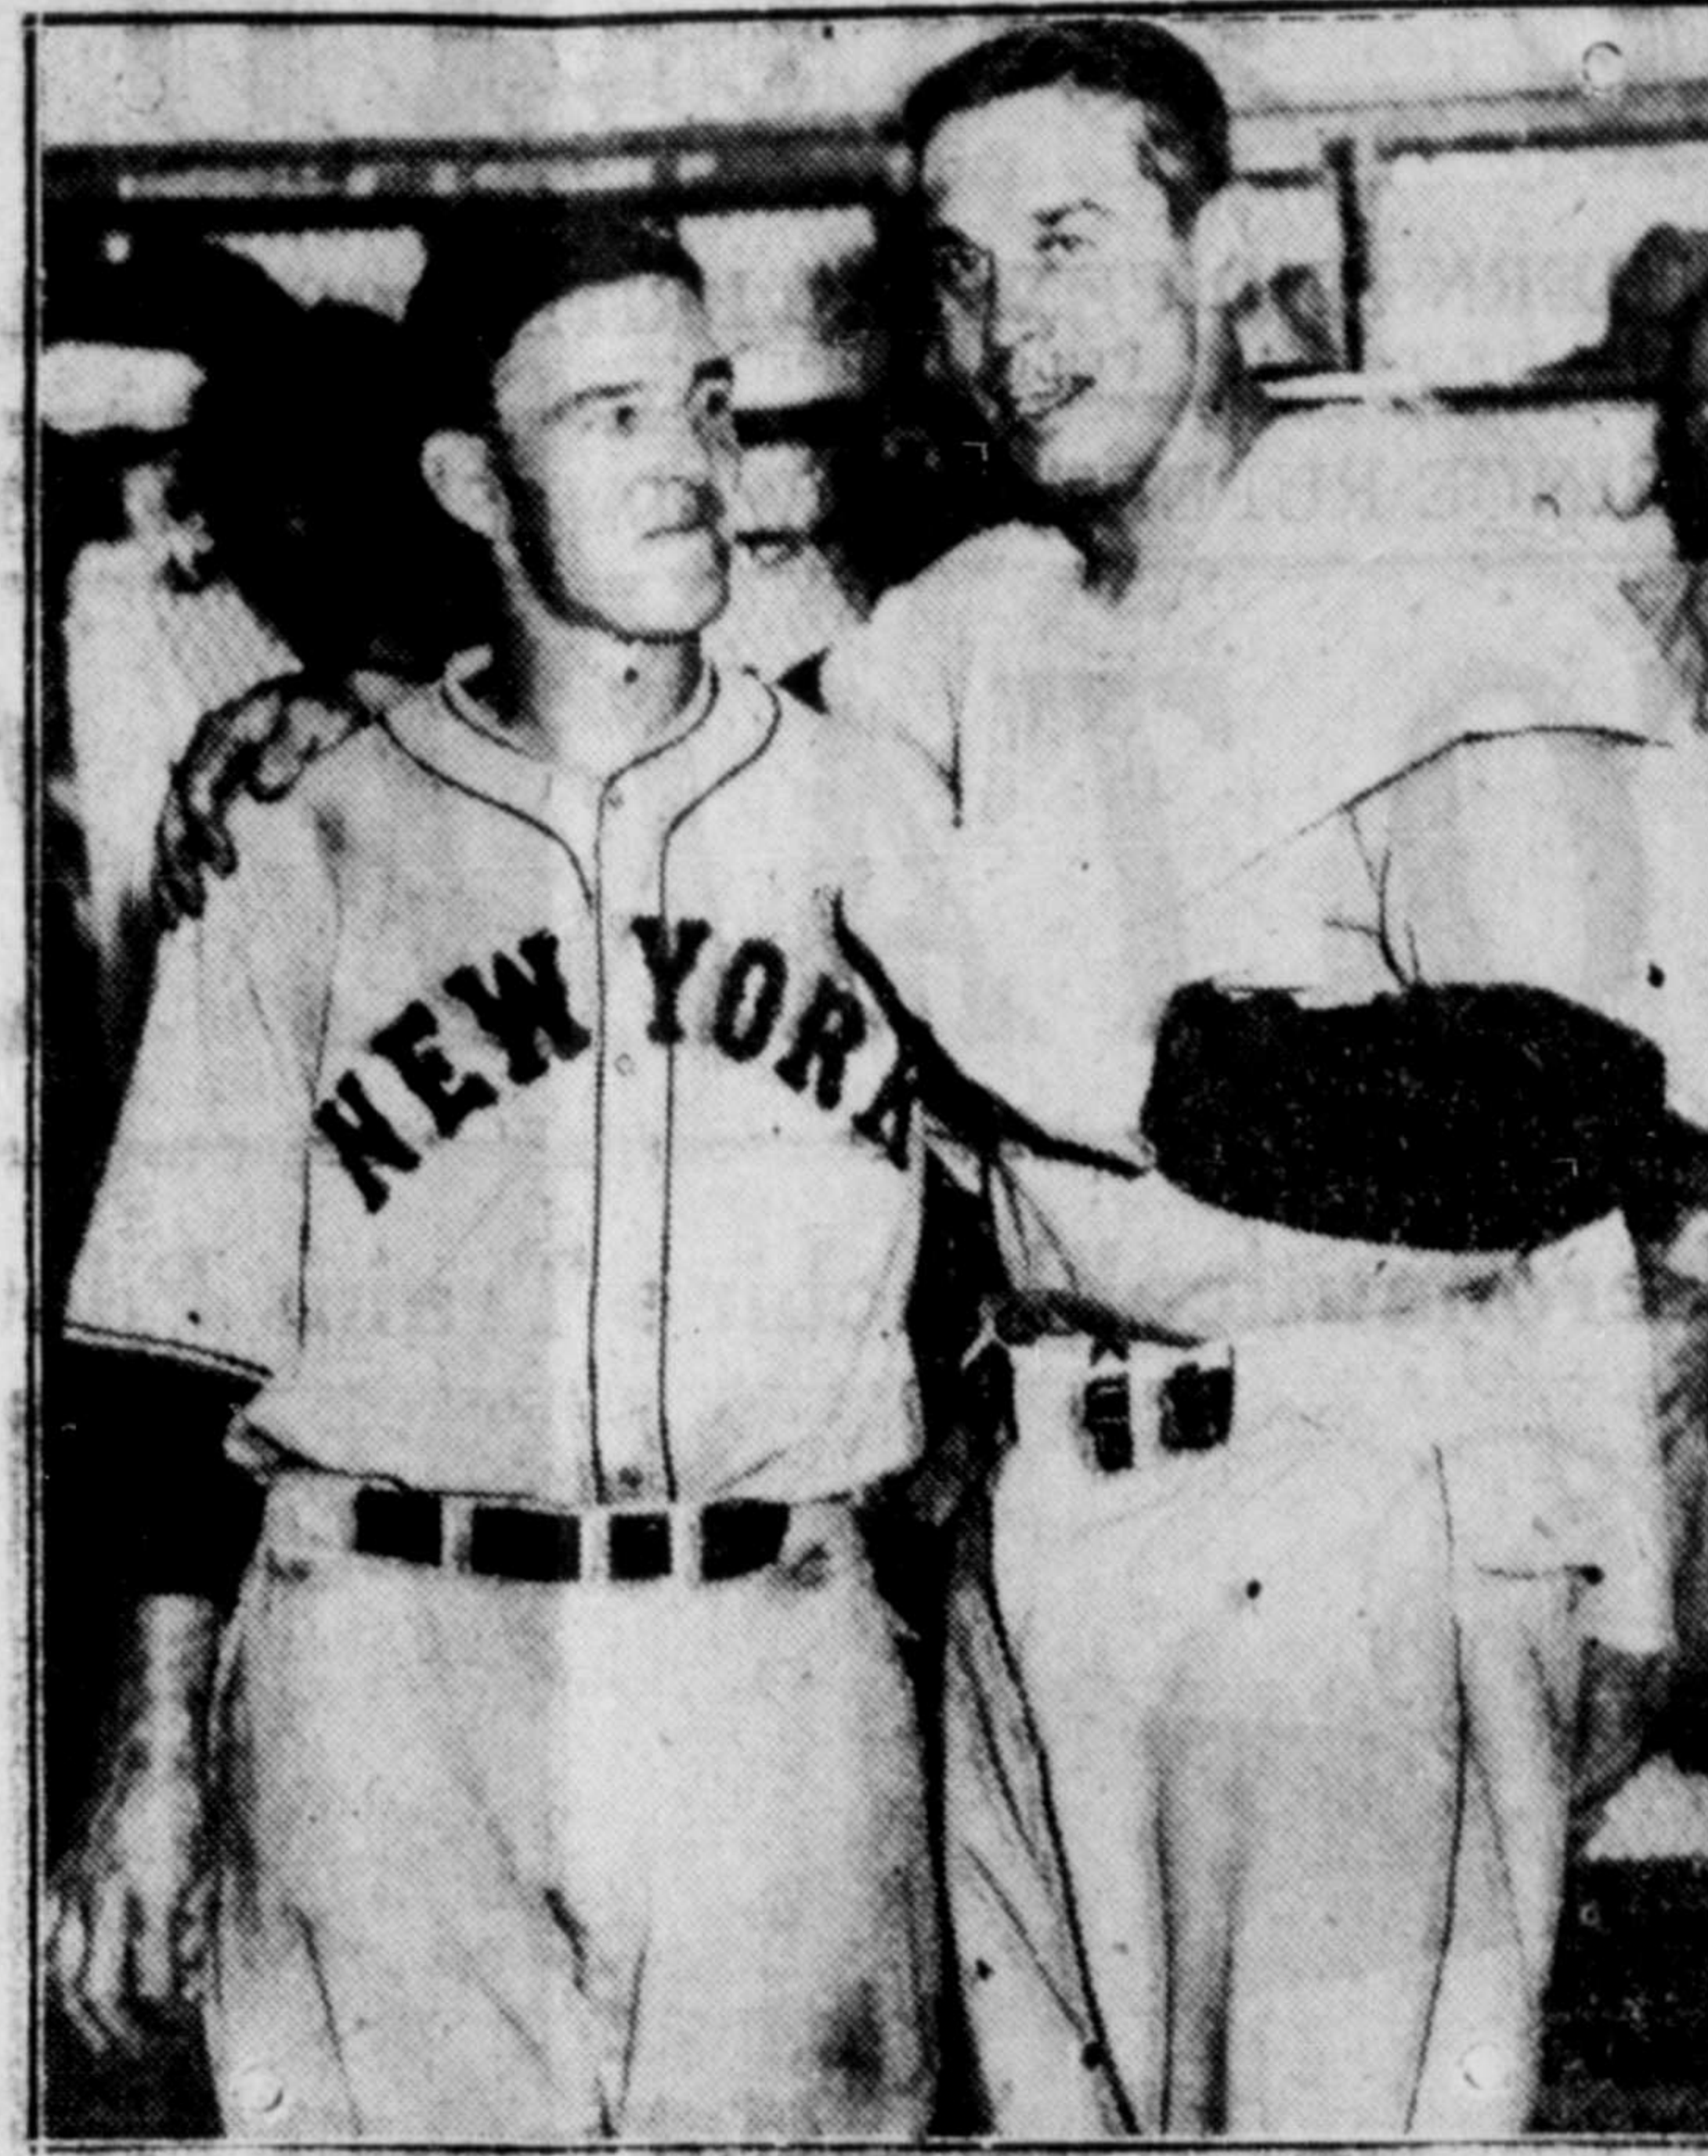

Marie Balagno
 Marie Balagno's piano solos were Rachmaninoff's "Prelude in G Sharp Minor," Arensky's "Etude in F Sharp" and Glinka-Balakirev's "The Lark." This popular local girl received her full share of the acclaim and gave Scarlotti's "Pastorals" for an encore.

The last number of the evening, not included on the program, was a surprise offering of Beethoven's "Menuet in G" in which Mr. Balagno was accompanied by little Charlotte Balagno who demonstrated that she is fully imbued with her family's musical talent. The accompaniment was perfect.

E. J. Smith presided at the door and usherettes were Misses Willa Dyer, Evelyn Dalby and Caroline Mitchell.

MARRIAGE OF CHIEF

Maggie Matilda Wesley Becomes Bride of Herbert Russell at Kitzequcla

KITZEGUCLA, Sept. 30.—A very interesting wedding was celebrated on Saturday evening last when the heir to the chieftainship, Herbert Russell, was united in marriage to Miss Maggie Matilda Wesley, daughter of Samuel Silas Wesley. The bridal pair were escorted separately by the band to the United Church which was filled to overflowing with friends and visitors. Rev. Bishop Black read the marriage service.

Amid much rejoicing the couple were conducted to the Community Hall and a sumptuous banquet was enjoyed by all. The band played many selections and a cornet solo was given. Many humorous toasts were made to the bride and bridegroom. A large brides-cake adorned the table.

Among the visitors present were J. Smith, J. Green, Mr. and Mrs. T. Campbell, J. Wells, Mr. and Mrs. Turner, P. Well, Mr. and Mrs. A. Mathew, R. Muldoe, Mr. and Mrs. B. Well, Mr. and Mrs. B. Milde, Miss V. Clifford, A. Fox, H. Harrell, A. Brown, J. Danes, P. Campbell from Hazelton, three visitors from Kispiox, 44 from Kitwanga including Chief William Taylor and from Kitwanooc, seven.

There were about 200 guests present to congratulate the future chief. Many lovely gifts were presented to the bride.

ALICE ARM PICKING UP

Esperanza and Dolly Varden Mines Operating and Rebuilding Of Dolly Varden Road in Progress

There is a decided pick-up at Alice Arm with at present no unemployed at the camp, according to Dr. J. T. Mandy, resident mining engineer, who returned from there yesterday on the Catala.

Dr. Mandy says that the Esperanza has been operating with about fourteen or fifteen men employed. Just now there is a temporary shut-down owing to a slight accident to equipment but he understands it is planned to operate continuously.

The Dolly Varden mine is being reopened and considerable work has already been done by the lessees. Transportation is a problem as, while there is a good gang of men working on the rehabilitation of the road, it will be impossible to have it finished this fall. It is expected to get at the work early in the spring so that ore shipments may be made from the Dolly Varden as soon as the snow is gone.

Dr. Mandy will be in the city for a few days before leaving to visit nearby camps.

Found Gandhi Very Affable

Visitor to India Discovers Nationalists Leader Active

EDMONTON, Sept. 30. (CP) — Lunch with Mahatma Gandhi was the outstanding event on a journey that led through India, China and Japan, Ronald Keith of Edmonton told members of a service club here. The trip, made by tramp steamer, occupied eight months.

"Ghandi is a very affable gentleman," the Edmonton youth related. "He has changed his tactics somewhat during the past few months. His present policy leans toward industrialization and improvement of life in Indian villages. In this he has been partially successful."

Keith was introduced to the nationalists' leader while visiting one of the central provinces of India. Many of Ghandi's students were deserting him, he said. They felt he was not giving them real action.

FIGHTING FOR PRINCIPLE
 Nearly half a century ago there was a resident of South Wales who called himself the last of the Druids. He spent a good deal of his time suing the various English railway companies for over-charging their customers a few pence more than the law allowed them. This man, when he died, left instructions that he was not to be buried but his body was to be cremated on a huge pile of oak logs on his native hillside.

Now comes an Englishman, who refused to pay what he claimed was an overcharge of five pence in his income tax and was sent to jail for contempt of court after the court had ordered him to pay and he refused.

FOLLOWING C. C. F. FOOTSTEPS
 Following the virtual breaking up of the C. C. F. as a result of divisions in its own ranks comes a division in the ranks of the All-Canadian Labor Congress, the organization that threatened to drive the international unions out of Canada. Several local unions owe allegiance to this organization and it is possible they may be affected by the troubles at headquarters. Disputes of that kind do not make for progress and solidarity in any organizations.

LOOKING AT MAP
 Looking at a map is very instructive. According to one of the latest maps Prince Edward Island is shown as about the same size as Graham Island in the Queen Charlotte group and yet it has a legislature, a lieutenant governor and all the appurtenances of a province of Canada. The whole of the three maritime provinces in the east seems to have about the area of the county of Prince Rupert. The secret of the importance of those three eastern maritime provinces lies in the skill of the people as go-getters and co-operators when bombarding Ottawa.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning
 "The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.
 A new bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel 'up and up'. Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. E.C."

MANY GIVE TO MUSEUM

Valuable Exhibits and Substantial Cash Donations Received—Change of Hours for Winter Months

Commencing this week the Prince Rupert Museum will be open to the public only three afternoons a week — Wednesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays from 2 to 5. It will not be open mornings during the winter as few people visit there mornings when there are no tourist boats in the city. This was decided at the meeting of the Museum Board yesterday afternoon.

It was reported by Rev. Canon Rushbrook that the native people of Kitkatla had promised to donate to the museum samples of the various native dried foods.

Cash donations were received as follows:
 Canadian National Recreation Association, $10.
 Robert Simpson Western Ltd., $10.00.
 T. Eaton Co. of Winnipeg, $25.00.
 T. A. Kelly Logging Co., $10.00.

A letter was received from H. C. Wrinch of Hazelton offering to donate a set of Indian gambling tickets and also a set of bound reports of the American Bureau of Ethnology, providing that the museum paid the express charges. The offer was accepted and the donor will be thanked.

Five new members were reported to have joined, paying the fee of $1 each. This makes a total of 113 members for the year. During the month there were 186 paid admissions to the museum. Five letters of appreciation were received from persons who had visited the museum during the summer.

The custodian reported receipt of donations or loans of articles for exhibit as follows:

Japanese Net Float, Magne Robben, city.

Old Native Drum, Rev. H. Lawrence Flores, Kitwanga.

Indian Skinning Knife, George MacLean, city.

Indian Woven Tray, Mrs. Glenie, city.

Indian Skull, Indian Fish Club

Indian Bailer, Indian Pestle, two Fossils, one Fish Spear, two Stone Implements, one piece of sandstone, two Sling Stones, one Mortar, from J. Bridden, Massett, Q. C. I., through Geo. W. Cripps, city.

Two Sperm Whale Teeth, Naden Harbor Whaling Station.

Indian Pestle and Mortar, Indian Stone Hammer, from Mrs. A. Rosang, Lewis Island.

Indian Stone Hammer, loaned by George McAfee, city.

Indian Adze, donated by J. J. Payne, city.

Coral, donated by Rev. DeLap, Northern Cross.

COMEDY IS EXCELLENT

"Mr. Deeds Comes to Town" Said To Be One of Outstanding Pictures of Year

One of the outstanding comedy-dramas of the year, "Mr. Deeds Comes to Town" opens a four-day engagement at the Capitol Theatre here opening tonight. Gary Cooper and Jean Arthur play the leading roles and the cast includes such popular and well known players as George Bancroft, Lionel Stander, Douglass Dumbrille, H. B. Warner, Raymond Walburn and Warren Hymer.

"Mr. Deeds Goes to Town" tells the story of a rustic young man who suddenly falls heir to twenty million dollars and goes to New York against his will to claim the money. The adventures that befall him make for great hilarity. He gets mixed up with a girl reporter; feeds doughnuts and coffee to a horse; dashes madly around the streets in his underwear; tries to give his entire fortune away to needy farmers and manages to get himself arrested as mentally incompetent.

A feature of the picture is the presentation of Madame Margaret Matzenauer, famous prima donna, in a "bit" part. The picture has many novel and interesting features and is expected to draw large patronage. This is why it has been booked for four nights.

DOES OWN CHOOSING

Cupid Chuckles at Matchmakers As Juliana Proves

THE HAGUE, Sept. 30.—For 14 years they've been marrying Princess Juliana of the Netherlands to everybody from the Prince of Wales to the cantor of an Amsterdam synagogue.

Princes galore, a viscount and a baron—all at one time or another have been mentioned as desirable mates for the sturdy, pink-cheeked heiress to the Netherlands throne. So now Princess Juliana has made her own choice and surprised everyone. The German Prince Bernhard von Lippe-Biesterfeld popped into the picture from a clear sky. The matchmakers had overlooked him completely.

The "let's marry off Princess Juliana" campaign got started when she was a bare 13 years old. The dashing young British Viscount Rupert Trematon, son of the Earl of Athlone, was the lad the matchmakers considered an excellent match for the girl who was born to be a Queen.

It was just an idea. It is unlikely that Juliana or the Viscount ever even met. He was killed in 1928 in a motorcar crash. No sooner had the Viscount Trematon bubble burst than the gossipers blew another one—a "love affair" between the Princess and an Amsterdam cantor. This was so outrageously without truth that it collapsed before it was barely launched.

Two years later the busybodies were marrying her off to Prince Ferdinand of Rumania who was much surprised to learn of it. The Princess had more to worry about at that time than a husband. She had to go to college—the University of Leyden. She was "plain Miss Van Buren" during the university years. She was a "good fellow." Her schoolmates called her "Julia."

When she became 21, however, the marriage bee began buzzing again; not in her hat but in the bonnets of the matchmakers. They didn't have much to go on, for Juliana, the tennis-playing, ice-skating daughter of rich and thrifty Queen Wilhelmina, had no eyes for any particular man. There was vague talk that she would marry a "German prince." There were many German princes most of whom would gladly have wished the rumors were true; but they weren't.

Prince of Wales

Two years ago the matchmakers went to work in a frenzy. Juliana was 25. It was time something was done. Who should this heiress to a kingdom with 60,000,000 subjects (including the colonies) take for husband? The Princes of Wales! What could be sweeter? He was a bachelor. They said his single bliss was a matter of deep concern to his people, desirous of seeing the royal line extended. So it was rumored repeatedly that the Prince—now King Edward VIII of England—and Princess Juliana would be married. The prince, however, went merrily on his bachelor way. The rumor regrettably died.

With a great many continental busybodies almost in a lather over the matter, Princess Juliana also went calmly about her daily affairs. It was a full life she lived, leaving little time for romance. She travelled a great deal. She studied voice and violin. She bicycled. She wrote things—a play, "Blue Beard," that she produced, and a poem that won a prize.

Dutch Baron von Hardenbroek was mentioned. His father was commander of the Dutch household cavalry. He was the only native son whose name ever entered the matrimonial sweepstakes. It may have been true that romance budded there. Queen Wilhelmina, however, nipped it by sending the baron on a long mission that took him far from the field.

Then, unheralded and unannounced, came Prince Bernhard von Lippe-Biesterfeld, the man the matchmakers had overlooked. The prince is two years younger than the Princess. He is a graduate at law and is engaged at present in a non-paying apprenticeship to the German Dye Trust. "Nowadays," as his mother commented, "everyone must work, even a prince."

Princess Juliana herself is no miser in names. Formally she is "Princess Juliana Louise Emma Marie Wilhelmina"—of the royal house of Orange-Nassau.

"Benno" is Taller
 Prince "Benno's" mother remarked proudly that her son drives "like fury." He is gay and talented. Queen Wilhelmina herself has said she is "highly pleased with his excellent qualities," and that "he has shown himself to be a hard worker."

Both Princess Juliana and Prince Bernhard vow this will be no royal "marriage of convenience." It's love, speaking over the radio to her subjects she said, simply: "I love him." The prince said "I am very happy."

Marrying Princess Juliana will not be all beer and skittles as the prince well knows. Though he is marrying a woman who will be a Queen, he can never be a King. He can go about the dyke-bound kingdom laying a cornerstone here and there, and perhaps making a speech in his careful Dutch at a dedication ceremony. That is about all. Juliana will be Queen, Juliana will rule.

The details of financing the Prince Consort are expected to be arranged without difficulty. It is understood that Queen Wilhelmina will recommend that $136,000 a year be taken from the sum allowed her by the government and turned over to her only child's husband. Princess Juliana herself is financially independent. As her mother's heir she will inherit a fortune that has been estimated at $20,000,000. Queen Wilhelmina has been a shrewd investor.

If, as they say, Queen Wilhelmina will turn over the throne to Juliana soon after the marriage—which will probably be before the year's end—the people of the Netherlands will have a Queen with most of the excellent qualities of their present ruler.

Juliana has been called even more democratic than her mother. She has inherited the characteristic thrift and caution of Queen Wilhelmina, but it is leavened with the charm and gaiety that was her father's heritage.
