United States Election

After all the stories we had heard from people visiting here from the United States telling of the failure of the Roosevelt policies and the revulsion of feeling against the New Deal, it might have come as a surprise to hear that President Roosevelt had beaten his opponent by something like ten million votes. It might have been a surprise had it not been for the newspaper and radio reports coming from the other side of the boundary telling of the attitude of each candidate, the one constructive and promising definite action in dealing with the pressing problems of the day, and the other destructive, promising nothing but objecting to all the policies of the administration and not admitting that one single act of the President had been beneficial.

The virulent attacks of men like Father Coughlin and the leader of the Jeffersonian Democrats also did President Roosevelt much more good than harm.

Up to the time of the election of President Roosevelt, the United States had been one of the most conservative nations in the world. It knew little of what is known as advanced legislation. It was content to go on in the old way, self-centred and self-satisfied until the depression hit it so hard that something had to be done and done quickly to prevent a social upheaval. The men who were hit hardest were probably the men who in the recent election worked the hardest against Roosevelt, yet his rapid move after his election had been the means of preventing a total collapse which would have been fatal to their interests.

The New Outlook

What the Landons of the United States do not yet realize is that a change has come over the world and that we can never go back to the times of Hoover. In all nations there still seem to be a few people who cling to the hope that the old order will return once the depression is over but in that they are mistaken. The world is moving forward and one of the moves is in the direction of removing the disparity between the very poor and the very rich. In the United States and Canada there are many in both political parties who fail to realize that there can no longer be two classes in the community, the master class and the servant class. The two are merging one into the other. What at one time were looked upon as the lower classes will soon cease to exist. They are being educated and developed physically and mentally. They mix on terms of equality with the families of the well-to-do in the schools and universities and the tendencies are all for the betterment of the race.

It is not suggested that the old lines have yet disappeared or that they will disappear in a generation but they are gradually disappearing and the change is coming very rapidly. The part of the true statesmen like President Roosevelt is so to direct the change that it may come about gradually and with the least possible suffering and annoyance to all concerned.

Objects to Tag Day

S. F. Wright sends us a letter objecting to tag day for the war veterans. He argues that the soldiers were promised that they would be taken care of and tag days should not be necessary. While we agree with much of what he says and think in many cases the pensions should be increased, yet we do not think it would be wise to publish a letter against the poppy sale on the eve of the day on which it is to be held without giving opportunity to answer it for the information of the public. We understand that the poppies are purchased from veterans who live by making them and that the profits accruing to the local organization are not used to supplement the pensions but in dealing with extraordinary cases which come before them where quick aid is needed such as would be taken care of by fraternal organizations in other circumstances. It seems to us a very meritorious work the Legion is doing and we should not like to be a party to interfering with it.

GROTTO IN WIN AGAIN

show in the Intermediate League and made themselves popular with the fans in their battle with last year's Intermediate champions, the Scythians, who won 26 to 21. Both teams were clicking nicely and checking hard. Only nine field baskets were scored by the time the whistle blew for the interval. The Newsies were leading 13-12.

In the second half, both squads played great combination with neither team able to jump ahead. Brown came on for Bryant with the Newsies and scored two quick baskets. The game began to get rough and Dominato and McMeekin were sent off on personals. With the occasional basket and because they were making their penalties count, the Scythians managed to keep a three or four point lead. Towards the end of the game Campbell was a whole team in himself, playing all over the floor, and running Bennie's boys ragged. Beynon and Campbell turned in a nice game while Blake Suehiro and McMeekin were a tower of strength for the Newsies. Full time score was: Scythians, 26; Ben's, 21.

Other Games: In the Ladies' League, the High School won a well earned victory over the Grotettes 16-10. This game was faster than usual for the girls and was featured by speedy and accurate passing on the part of the Students. Margaret MacLeod brought down the gallery with two long shots that didn't touch the hoop. Beale worked hard for the losers but they missed Smith, their centre.

In the curtain raiser the Junior Moose were lucky to register a win over a fast and snappy High School squad. These teams played a brand of ball that would do credit to a higher circuit. The game was fast right through. Hirano, for the High School snared ten points. Individual scoring was as follows:

Senior League: Grotto—MacPhee (15), Ratchford (8), Stalker, Smith (2), Morgan (18); total, 43; Moose—Mitchell (2), Wingham (12), Nakamoto, Armstrong (5), Smith, Stiles (9); total, 28; Intermediate League: Scythians—Dominato (6), Beynon (13), Fitch, Letourneau (3), Houston, Currie, Campbell (4); total, 26; Ben's—McMeekin (3), Bryant, Brown (6), Palmer, Suehiro (3), Christison, Viereck (4), Blake (5); total, 21.

Ladies' League: Grotettes—Beale (8), Bury, Menzies, Croxford (1), McMeekin (1), Erickson; total, 10; High School—Ellison (2), Davis, Blain (4), Mussallem (4), MacLeod (6), Lewellyn; total, 16.
