DEATH LIST IS GROWING

Nearly Four Hundred Believed To Have Perished During Tornado In Six Southern States

Immense Damage

Flood Waters in Ohio River Rising Again and City of Cincinnati Is Menaced

TUPELO, Miss., April 7:—The death list as a result of yesterday's tornado in six southern states had risen early this morning, according to official estimates, to nearly four hundred persons with the probability that it will be much larger. At least two thousand are injured, many thousands are homeless and property damage will amount to upwards of $15,000,000, it is believed. The path of the tornado was from South Carolina across to Arkansas.

In this city alone 187 are known dead. Two-fifths of the town, the centre of a prosperous Mississippi agricultural area, has been demolished. One family, including parents and eleven children, was wiped out in their home.

At least 158 are dead in Gainsville, Georgia. The county court house and many substantial buildings were blown down. Several persons were burned to death as buildings and residences caught fire after being virtually demolished by the sudden wind. The city was without light and domestic water supply last night, and there was danger of pestilence through contaminated drinking water.

In towns other than Tupelo and Gainsville at least 48 additional deaths are known.

Debris is being searched for bodies.

Many of the injured may die.

DEATH BY OWN HAND

Frank Aker, Seal Cove Fisherman, Victim of Powerful Ross Rifle

Frank Aker, local salmon troller, whose body was found yesterday afternoon in the cabin near Sourdough Bay at Seal Cove where he lived, evidently came to his death by a rifle in his own hands. The body, with the top of the head almost completely blown off, was lying on the floor of the cabin. Nearby on the floor was an old Ross army rifle. A .303 bullet had gone through the head and passed out of the single wall of the cabin to the outside.

Aker had suffered from stomach trouble for years and had had several operations. He had been unwell of late and Mike Anderson, a neighbor, had been calling at his cabin to give assistance. He had been there yesterday morning and again at 1 p.m. when Aker seemed to be all right. At 2 o'clock he went back to discover the tragedy. Time of death was, therefore, established at between 1 and 2 p.m. The police were called at 2:14 p.m. and with doctor and coroner, proceeded to the scene.

The body was fully dressed. There was no message nor, as far as can be learned, had deceased given any indication of contemplating a rash act. He owned a fishing boat but had not fished this season as yet. He was of quiet and agreeable disposition.

Fifty years of age and a native of Nova Scotia, Aker had lived here since 1922. He was unmarried. There is a brother, Ben Aker, at South Wellington, Vancouver Island.

An inquiry is being conducted by Coroner A. J. Lancaster but, in view of the obvious circumstances of the nature of death, no inquest is deemed necessary. The remains are at the parlors of B. C. Undertakers.

Jackie Coogan, the sole survivor of the crash, swore that his father was not drunk when the accident occurred.

PROBE IS GOING ON

Execution of Bruno Hauptmann Does Not Halt Investigation

Parker Under Fire

"G" Men Take a Hand—Impeachment of Governor Unlikely

NEW YORK, April 7: (CP)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann is dead but the Lindbergh kidnap-murder investigation is by no means closed. Department of Justice agents have entered the case for the purpose of investigating the activities of Detective Ellis Parker who is said to have been instrumental in obtaining the "confession" of Paul Wendel, Newark lawyer, which was later repudiated. Wendel alleges that he was kidnapped in New York and taken to New Jersey where he was held prisoner and the "confession" wrung out of him by intimidation. The removal of Wendel from New York to New Jersey it is suggested, might constitute violation of the Lindbergh anti-kidnaping law. The "G" men are questioning Parker in this connection.

From Newark came reports that a legislative investigation might be made of the whole Lindbergh case including the participation of Governor Harold Hoffman, especially in regard to his efforts to have Hauptmann from execution. In some quarters impeachment of Hoffman is again being suggested. However, the latest view of political observers is that there will be neither legislative investigation or impeachment of the governor.

Meantime there is speculation as to who is entitled to receive the $25,000 which was posted for the party or parties giving information which would lead to the conviction of the kidnap-murderer. Undoubtedly the gas station attendant who detected the "hot money" which Hauptmann passed has a strong claim. Witnesses at the trial as well as police officers may also have a claim.

Hauptmann's body was removed from the death house at Trenton and taken to Newark where the remains have been cremated. The ashes, it is said, may be taken to Germany. The funeral service consisted only of a few prayers in German, there being restrictions in the state of New Jersey in regard to funerals of murderers.

British Press Critical

LONDON, April 7:—Sharp criticisms of the long delay in solving the Lindbergh kidnap-murder case and the execution of Bruno Richard Hauptmann characterized the comments of the British press on the case. One paper described it as "exquisite torture." The conservative London Times devoted only ten lines to the execution.

CONFIDENCE VOTE GIVEN

Parliament Endorses Foreign Policy of Baldwin Government By Substantial Margin

LONDON, April 7: (CP)—The House of Commons last night voted confidence in the Baldwin government after a sharp debate which embraced the whole range of foreign policy. The vote was 361 to 145, giving the government a majority of 216.

Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, wound up the debate for the government with a vigorous denial that Great Britain contemplated turning over any of her colonies to Germany. The vote of confidence had been asked by the government following a minor reverse on government policy in the House of Lords last week.

Wheat Storage Plan Advanced

Grain Merchant Says Saving Effected if Wheat Stored In Government Elevators

SASKATOON, April 7: (CP)—A saving to Saskatchewan farmers of from $20,000 to $40,000 monthly would be made in wheat purchased by the Canadian Grain Board was stored in government-owned elevators at Moose Jaw and Saskatoon instead of in line elevators of private companies, George A. Forrester, local grain merchant, stated here.

Appearing before the agricultural committee of the Saskatchewan Board of Trade, he claimed government elevators at Moose Jaw and Saskatoon were almost empty, while country elevators were bulging with 46,000,000 bushels of wheat, 70% of which was property of the Grain Board. Storage charges were being paid on these holdings.

The two government-owned elevators had combined capacity of 10,000,000 bushels, he added, and estimated at present not more than 32,000 bushels of wheat were stored in both elevators.

MAGNIFICENT TRIUMPH

Writing in the Victoria Times, Bruce Hutchison declares passing of the Health Insurance Act was a magnificent triumph for Hon. Dr. Weir, Provincial Secretary, whose child it was. The article written last week says:

"This Eighteenth Legislature is going home. The going out was a somewhat spectacular performance. After twenty-five hours and fifty-four minutes of argument, the health insurance bill was finally crowned and consummated at twenty minutes to ten with a series of divisions, marches and counter-marches, splits and counter-splits which bewildered the beholder. No less than four separate votes were required to make the bill into law, and even though the division bell—an essential feature of our rules—failed to ring when Mr. Speaker went solemnly through the motion of ringing it, health insurance was never in danger after surviving the real crisis of Monday.

"Whatever else it may be—and if you want to hear some breath-taking adjectives, talk to the Liberal insurgents—the health insurance bill is a magnificent triumph for Dr. Weir. As a matter of practical politics it has split the Liberal party, but as a product of one man's patience, perseverance and sheer determination, it is a monument to its maker. He probably doesn't think it is perfect but it is something where anyone but Dr. Weir might have got nothing; it is a hundred times what seemed possible a year ago; and, even if it turns out as badly as its enemies allege, it is the most remarkable personal achievement witnessed in this establishment in modern times.

"The government's latter hours in labor were much easier than the early stages. After Monday's test, which saved the bill, though only with the support of the C.C.F., the spirit seeped out of the fight against it. From then on, hopeless of killing the scheme, the opposition conscientiously went through the motions of opposing, but not much more. Where hours had been spent before on one small sentence, large clauses went through without a murmur."

PROSPECTOR IN LUXURY

Strange Story of Ambrose Cyrette, Fort William, Recalled by Old-Timer. Squandered $40,000 in A Year

FORT WILLIAM, April 7: (CP)—Ambrose Cyrette, half-breed prospector, one day realized his dreams of sudden wealth and lived on the fat of the land—for almost a year.

Harry Harkness, Fort William old-timer, recalls that Cyrette received $40,000 for his interest in Black Bay mine, 45 miles southwest of here, back in 1874. Dazed by his good fortune, the prospector immediately set out to see the world.

In Port Arthur he bought a team of horses for $400, arranging with the seller to drive him to Duluth. Arriving there Cyrette presented the team to their former owner as a gift.

His eccentric journey to Chicago was marked by costly whims and lavish gifts. Chartering trains as a means of putting money into circulation was to occur to Death Valley Scotty some years later, but Cyrette acted on the idea first. On sudden impulse he left Chicago one day on a special train chartered for Toronto.

A Fashion Plate

Idling at the Toronto station with some other boys, Harkness was astonished to see two lone passengers step grandly from the train. One was Cyrette, handsome six feet tall, dressed in the height of fashion; the other was a man he had engaged as secretary to assist in handling his wealth.

Making a delivery at a shoe-shop later in the day, Harkness saw Cyrette and his secretary in the act of buying the place for $400. "I'll be around in a day or two," he replied when the owner asked when he would take possession.

That evening Cyrette gave a dinner to officers of the 10th Royals, Toronto volunteer unit, in the Queen's Hotel. "About 50 officers, some of whom brought their wives, were present," Harkness said.

"The Indian looked fine, for he had on a black suit. But he also wore long-legged boots with red tops and his pants were on the inside. I was told his bill for wine alone was almost $500."

The next day Cyrette bought dozens of does in the city, for shipment to Fort William. He suddenly abandoned his purchases however and chartered a special train to New York.

Cleant Out

Eleven years later Harkness met the once-wealthy prospector in Fort William. His money was gone. New York had stripped him in a year. "He told me he had to sell his big diamond pin to get home," says Harkness.

"When I asked him about the shoe-shop he just laughed and said he thought the old fellow needed the money." Cyrette had also lost his good looks, as a result of a tussle with police during which his nose was broken by a billiard cue.

Cyrette returned home to Port Arthur shortly after, almost penniless. His experience made him morose. He shunned his old friends and died in poverty some ten years later.

Sanctuary Planned For Native Bears

Australian Government Will Move To Prevent Extinction of Tiny Animals

VICTORIA, N.S.W., April 7: (CP)—Sanctuary for Australia's koala bears will be established on the Sir Colin Mackenzie reserve near here, as a result of fears the tiny "teddy bears" are nearing extinction.

The colony will be founded with 15 female and 5 male koalas from government-protected animals on French Island, Westmoreland Bay. A survey revealed the majority of native bears in Victoria state are now confined to two islands off the coast. Officials state an epidemic among the tiny animals is more feared than depredations of humans or animals.

Because of the bear's susceptibility to disease efforts to keep them in Melbourne have not been successful. It is planned to remove some of the animals from the new sanctuary to the zoo for periods of not more than two years.

Northern Farms Produce Heavy Alfalfa Crops

NIPAWIN, Sask., April 7: (CP)—Farmers of the Nipawan area in northern Saskatchewan are devoting attention to producing alfalfa with excellent results.

A $4,000 crop from 40 acres of land is the record of Dan Wolfe. His harvest last year averaged 400 pounds to the acre. Alfalfa seed is worth almost 26c a pound. Wolfe's harvest totalled 16,000 pounds of seed. Cost of threshing averaged about two cents per pound. Other farmers in the area, comprising about 400 square miles, have done almost as well.

Experiments have shown the land peculiarly suited to the plant. Alfalfa is a perennial plant and the only work required is land cultivation and breaking up roots to prevent matting. It is grown at many points in Saskatchewan as a hay crop.

Nipawan district shipped out more than 60,000 pounds of seed last year. The Dominion government encourages growing crops for seed, and demand exceeds production.

Farmers are also finding a new market in the British Isles, where a meal for stock feed is made from the seed.

BULKLEY VALLEY GETS SUNSHINE

Snow is rapidly disappearing and roads are drying up.

SMITHERS, April 7:—The Bulkley Valley has been bathed in sunshine for the last two weeks and under this influence the snow has been fast disappearing and the roads gradually drying up until they have become dry and hard in the immediate vicinity of Smithers.

The nights have been frosty and fairly cold but the days are perfect for this time of year.

Rev. Evan Baker, United Church pastor for Anyox and Stewart, made the trip from Stewart to Anyox on the steamer Catala yesterday.

Three Boats Bring Halibut From Ketchikan—Co-op Charters Pachena—Heavy Landings At Seattle.

Each with a carload of fresh halibut from Ketchikan for transshipment east over Canadian National Railways, the Alaskan motor vessels New Zora, Beloit and Rio Grande arrived in port this morning from the north. They were all due here yesterday but stormy weather prevented them from getting in. The fish will be shipped east on an extra train which is being dispatched this evening.

C. N. R. steamer Prince John, Capt. Neil McLean, coming north from Vancouver via the Queen Charlotte Islands, left Queen Charlotte City at 3 o'clock this morning for Massett Inlet and is expected to arrive here early tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. Halliday, with ticket No. 62, was the winner last night in a drawing conducted at the Canadian Legion rooms for a new model yacht which had been raffled. The new boat, built by A. J. Croxford and as yet unnamed, will be entered in the forthcoming Prince George Cup race. A meeting will be held tomorrow night to make final arrangements for the race. Prizes are being put up by a number of local merchants.

The Armour Salvage Co.'s general service boat Pachena has been chartered for six months by the Northern Fishermen's Co-operative Association to pack salmon from Squadaree to Prince Rupert. The charter commenced as from Saturday last. Capt. Henry Hansen will continue in charge of the vessel.

Twenty-one vessels disposed of halibut catches totalling 437,000 pounds at Seattle yesterday, it being the largest market day so far this season at the Puget Sound port. Prices averaged 6 1/4c and 6 1/2c for western fish and 7 1/2c for local which was considered satisfactory considering the heavy offerings. Cod price dropped from 4c to 2c per pound.

"BRITAIN'S MOST BEAUTIFUL BRIDE"

One of the most beautiful British brides of the year was Miss Amie de Burgh Whyte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William de Burgh Whyte of London. She married Mr. Roderick Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Walker. Here the bride, accompanied by the groom, leaves St. Peter's Cathedral following the ceremony. The bride certainly is every inch a "queen" in this picture with her unusual and attractive headdress.

Plenty of fresh herring bait for the halibut fleet is reported available at Butler's Cove, Stephens Island, near Prince Rupert. The price is $2 per barrel.

Following her next trip to the halibut grounds, the Seattle halibut boat Pioneer III is to have a 75 h.p. Atlas Imperial diesel engine installed in place of the present 50 h.p. gasoline engine. The Ivanhoe, Capt. Helmer Johnson, is to have a 110 h.p. diesel installed in place of the present 60 h.p. diesel, giving her an extra knot's speed per hour.

The provincial police cruiser P. M.L. 8, which was called a few days ago to the mouth of the Naas River to investigate the disappearance of a Japanese fisherman named G. Kishiyama of Arandale, who was missing after his boat in which he had been fishing for halibut was found adrift, is due back tonight from the north. As far as can be learned, no trace has been found of Kishiyama.

The only halibut boat in today is the American Wabash which is holding over until tomorrow with a catch of 6000 pounds.

B. C. PIONEER DIES

NANAIMO, B.C., April 7: (CP)—Mrs. Jane Ellen Roberts, 84, who arrived in Nanaimo in 1854 with the first party of coal miners sent from England on the barque Princess Royal, has died in Oakland, California, according to word received by a brother here.

Died Last Night Following Stroke

Alfred James, Former Madine Foreman for Cold Storage Co., Passes at Age of Sixty-eight

Alfred James, who was removed at the end of the week from a cabin at Seal Cove to the Prince Rupert General Hospital after having suffered a stroke, expired in the hospital at 6:30 last evening. He was a native of England and sixty-eight years of age. He had lived in Canada for forty years and was at one time employed by the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co. as a marine fireman. He was a widower.

Funeral arrangements are in the hands of Haynor Bros., undertakers, and interment will take place on Thursday afternoon.

Former Premier Lauds Pioneers Of Western Canada

SASKATOON, April 7: (CP)—An inspiration and example for the youth of today is found in lives and efforts of pioneers of the west, Sir Frederick Haultain, Chief Justice of Saskatchewan and first premier of the Northwest Territories, said in addressing an old-timers' banquet here.

Things were done on a small scale then, he said, but a solid foundation was laid for the future. He was proud to have played a part in the early building of the west.

The speaker paid special tribute to men who made first agricultural experiments on the plains. Years of drought, hail and grasshopper plagues had been faced with courage and through bitter winters settlers held firm to their faith in the new country.

The British Empire was founded on the sacrifices of its pioneer women, Sir Frederick declared. With strong hands and stout hearts early women endured drudgery and crushing loneliness.

Canada's future lay with its youth, he said, and if young people would bring their enthusiasm and qualities of pioneers to bear on problems of today Canada's position would be secure.

Canada Imports Half Flax Seeds Says Cerealist

NORTH BOTTLEFORD, Sask., April 7: (CP)—Canada imports more than one half of the annual flax seed requirements of this country, Dr. J. B. Harrington, University of Saskatchewan cerealist, stated in an address here. Canada annually requires 2,000,000 bushels of flax and only produces around 660,000 bushels.

Flax growing was "misunderstood," he said, and had been unjustly labelled "in the past. In the United States North Dakota alone produces 20,000,000 bushels annually. The yearly requirement for the United States is placed at 40,000,000 bushels.

Flax can be grown on clear land, he said, but requires more careful handling than other grains. Shallow tillage is recommended as the safest and cheapest wood control.

In combatting weeds this method enables production of a uniform stand and aids effectively in smothering summer weeds.

Black summerfallow methods were recommended for control of perennial weeds.
