VICTORIA, Feb. 27: (CP)—The province has reached a point in the development of its mineral wealth where it requires the full time services of a minister for that department, E. T. Kenney, member for Skeena, declared yesterday in seconding the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne. He suggested that Hon. G. S. Pearson be relieved of the portfolios of labor and fisheries and devote his entire attention to the mines department.

HAS STALIN BEEN SHOT?

Moscow Makes Deduction But There is no Confirmation

MOSCOW, Feb. 27:—There were unconfirmed reports last night that Joseph Stalin was suffering from a gunshot wound in the head. The statement that an eminent Stockholm brain specialist was on his way here by airplane to operate on "a high government official" together with the absence of Stalin during the last few days from functions which he usually attends were associated to make the deduction that it was the dictator who had been shot.

Final Date For Clearing Not Fishing is Approved; Halibut Matters at Seattle Meetings

George Anderson, secretary of the Deep Sea Fishermen's Union at Prince Rupert, following his return home from Seattle where he attended various halibut fisheries conferences, reported that the International Fisheries Commission had approved the principle of setting a final date for the year upon which vessels should be permitted to clear instead of fixing an arbitrary date upon which all fishing must cease. For three years the halibut fishing interests have been advocating this on the grounds that it would be fairer to the boats of the fleet in that it would permit them to complete their final trips of the year instead of, as is often the case, having to come in with a short trip and losing money because they were caught on the banks when the time for the ceasing of fishing came. The Commission has agreed to recommend the change to this effect to the two governments.

The International Fisheries Commission is also prepared to recommend, subject to approval of the fishing interests, that when boats go out in the fall to fish black cod after the halibut fishing has been closed in one area, they be permitted to bring in with the black cod a small percentage of halibut, the percentage limit to be agreed upon later, so long as any halibut fishing area on the coast is still open. In the ordinary course of black cod fishing a certain amount of halibut is bound to be taken and the change in the regulations as proposed by the Commission would permit of this being brought into port and sold legally.

Tie-ups Between Trips At conferences between representatives of the different halibut fleets of the coast, Mr. Anderson reports, it was agreed that there should be a ten day tie-up between trips for all halibut boats this season. There is still, however, a difference of opinion on the matter of boat quotas. The northern fleets favor a quota of 3000 pounds per man per trip whereas the Seattle fleet feels either this should be reduced to 2800 pounds or the Seattle quota raised from 2500 to 3000 pounds.

Parents and Others Visit Schools And Watch Class Work Many parents and a good smattering of the public generally took advantage of the Education Week "open day" yesterday afternoon to visit the schools of the city and see the pupils and teachers in action. Much interest was displayed and considerable appreciation expressed. There were upwards of two hundred visitors at Booth Memorial School while about twenty called at King Edward High School. There was also a goodly number of visitors at Borden Street School as well as a few at Seal Cove.

MR. JUSTICE MANSON COMING It is reported around the Court House, although not officially confirmed, that Mr. Justice A. M. Manson, recently appointed to the bench of the Supreme Court of British Columbia, will come here to conduct the spring assize session in May.

JAPAN IS IN ORDER

Atmosphere Still Tense Following Major Uprising But Emperor Hirohito Has Situation In Hand

Dictatorship Seen

Militarists Believed to Have Definitely Headed Off Movement Towards Liberalism

TOKYO, Feb. 27:—Japan was still struggling last night to restore order following the major militarist uprising yesterday when Premier Okada and prominent members of his administration including Minister of Finance Takahashi and Viscount Saito were assassinated. Emperor Hirohito appeared last night to be in complete control of the situation. The chief of police of Tokyo was reported to have been killed during the day.

With reinforced military detachments standing guard over Tokyo to prevent further uprisings, naval vessels had their guns trained on the ports of Osaka and Yokohama ready to cope with any emergency. High army and navy officials, called together by the Emperor, were meeting to consider the situation.

Rigid censorship, which had been clamped down after the outbreak, was somewhat relaxed last night. Observers assert that the uprising was a reprisal against opposition to complete army domination of the nation and that the outcome will probably be a military fascist dictatorship which would permit of the continuation without restraint of Imperialistic policies as against the liberal movement which has been much in evidence of late in high official circles.

Situation Easier Today After two days of grave crisis, Tokyo slept easier Friday as rebel soldiers who assassinated the Premier and the three other government officials capitulated to the government request that they evacuate police headquarters where they had barricaded themselves in defiance of loyal troops.

Minister of Finance Dunning Outspoken Against Any Such Move With Regard to Chartered Financial Institutions—Not in Interests of Country

OTTAWA, Feb. 27: (CP)—Hon. Charles A. Dunning, minister of finance, was outspoken yesterday in the House of Commons in opposition to nationalization of the chartered banks although he said the government had been considering ownership and control of the Bank of Canada. He did not believe it would be in the best interests of Canada to take over the chartered institutions.

Mr. Dunning spoke during the debate on a motion proposed by M. J. Coldwell, Co-operative Commonwealth Federation member for Rosetown-Biggar, Sask., to nationalize the Bank of Canada and all chartered banks. The motion was defeated without recorded division.

Tom Reid Does Not Think They Should be Employed On Government Subsidized Vessels

OTTAWA, Feb. 27: (CP)—Employment of Oriental seamen on ships aided by the Dominion government was assailed in the House of Commons yesterday by Thomas Reid, Liberal member for New Westminster.

Mr. Reid presented a resolution reading "in the opinion of this House the government should take such steps as will provide for the employment of greater numbers of white Canadian citizens on all ships of British or Canadian ownership and registry, the owners of which receive sums of money from the public treasury of Canada."

Debate on the resolution will be continued at a later date.

Restoration Of Grants to High Schools Urged

VICTORIA, Feb. 27: (CP)—Amendments to the School Act whereby grants were restored to Junior High Schools throughout British Columbia will be brought down at the present session of the Legislature. Mrs. Paul Smith, Liberal member for Vancouver-Burrard, announced yesterday in moving the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

OPPOSING REPRIEVE

Attorney General Wilentz to Fight Any Move to Further Delay Execution of Hauptmann

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 27:—Attorney General David T. Wilentz announced yesterday that he would oppose any further reprieve for Bruno Richard Hauptmann, who is condemned to die in the electric chair during the week of March 30 for the kidnap-murder of Charles Augustus Lindbergh jr. If Governor Harold Hoffman grants any further reprieve it will be on his own responsibility, Wilentz says. The attorney general also added that he saw no necessity for any move to bring back Dr. J. F. (Jafsie) Condon, who is holidaying in Panama.

Governor Hoffman yesterday renewed his attack upon the credibility of Millard Whited, key witness of the prosecution, who testified at Hauptmann's trial that he had seen the Bronx carpenter around the Lindbergh estate at Hopewell shortly before the crime on March 1, 1932.

Railways to Provide Work For Ten Thousand Men Who Are Now In Camps, Minister Announces

OTTAWA, Feb. 27: (CP)—Arrangements have been made with both the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific Railways to employ ten thousand men on deferred maintenance work during the summer, Hon. Norman Rogers, minister of labor, announced yesterday in the House of Commons. The men will be from the relief camps and the basis will be "work and wages."

The railway work will be undertaken by the government, and the railways on a co-operative basis and an emergency supplementary estimate to cover the government's share of the work will be introduced in the House shortly. Closing of relief camps throughout Canada by Dominion Day was the object of the government, Mr. Rogers said. In connection with the announcement that no new men would be admitted to the camps and that the allowance of those already in them would be increased from 20¢ daily to 15¢ per month as from March 1, the minister said that all other allowances such as food, clothing, tobacco, etc. would remain the same as at present.

WHAT MR. BEATTY SAID

Objection has been taken on various occasions by different people to a statement of Sir Edward Beatty, in which he is said to have objected to communistic teaching in the institutions of learning in this country. Sir Edward, in an address to the Canadian Chamber of Commerce and the Kiwanis Club of Toronto, made certain charges against businessmen, the last of which follows:

"My last and gravest charge is that we have been careless in our duty to the young. Satisfied with the essential correctness of our form of society, we have failed to defend it. We have permitted young men to be taught, often by other young men with little experience of the world, theories concerning the functioning of our society which are logically incorrect. We have allowed free speech and free thought—and rightly so. We have, however, too often forgotten that the free teaching of those who are saying things which are not true is not protected by any sanctity. The system of society which we have inherited, and with all our faults, have improved, is not ours to dissipate. It is a trust from generation to generation, and with every willingness to permit and encourage attempts to improve it, it is our duty to pass on to those who replace us the liberty for which our fathers fought.

"I believe in the maintenance of the system of society which we have. I believe that a society of free men engaged in honorable competition to add to their wealth is the one best adapted to raise the general standards of our living and to improve the race. I believe that the functions of the state should not be increased, but limited"

His final charge to businessmen was: "It will be charged that this is all negative advice and that I should give you some definite plan which I recommend to guide our actions in the future. I can give you nothing better as a rule to follow in the reforms which businessmen must undertake than the old adage that 'if each before his own door sweeps, the village will be clean'."

We have no comment to make on Sir Edward's statement, which evidently referred to communistic teaching, except to say that his attitude is exactly the same as the attitude of the communistic administrators of the Soviet Republic of Russia. They will not allow the young people of their country to be taught anything which smacks of capitalism or religion because they wish them to grow up enthusiastic supporters of the system under which the country is governed under the dictatorship of the proletariat. Russia does not permit subversive doctrines to be taught to either young or old. It does not permit religion to be taught to the young. It is more than a man's life is worth to attempt to tell the people there that there is a better system of government than the one they have now and that the present system there leads to graft, injustice, inhumanity, wretchedness and in many cases absolute hopelessness. And yet in this country we allow people to revile our administrators, to attack our system of government and our social system, to charge the more successful members of the community with graft and selfishness and urge that our system be upset and another established to replace it.

Bobby Rowe's Crew Still Menace In Northwestern Hockey League

SEATTLE, Feb. 27: (CP)—Portland Buckaroos, playing on Seattle ice last night, defeated the Seattle Sea Hawks by a score of two to one and displaced the Vancouver Lions from second place, moving once again into striking distance of first place in the Northwestern Hockey League. The position of the Sea Hawks on top, which seemed almost cinched a few days ago, appears to be menaced again as a result of recent reverses.

2700 pounds. These figures apply only to Area No. 2, the quota for Area No. 3 being higher.

There appears to be nothing in the way of fishing opening generally on March 16, the date as set by the Commission for the starting of the year's fishing, Mr. Anderson states.

J. M. Morrison and Ole Stegavig, who represented Prince Rupert halibut boat owners at the Seattle conferences, are expected home on Wednesday of next week.

While in Seattle, the local delegates attended trials in which American halibut boats were charged with fishing in closed areas last fall. The Sitka and Aleutian were found guilty of such illegal fishing and the imposition of penalties was reserved. Other boats were also charged similarly but the local delegates did not hear their trials.

RADIO INTERFERENCE

Editor, Daily News: Recently a steady, apparently local interference has fairly succeeded in eliminating all radio reception in the western part of Westview. From 7 p.m. it has continued as a roar. From the sound of this roar one would get the impression that it originated from some machine, in that it had a revolving sound.

While it is generally admitted that mechanical appliances are now a necessity in every household, most of these are now made so that they do not affect the radio. However, it would in any case be a most courteous act if such appliances were used chiefly during the day when they would not to any great extent interfere with the radio, and thus give people a chance to enjoy the evening programs.

Should this interference continue, an effort will be made to have the source located, with a view of eliminating it.

TALKS OF SPORTSMEN

Ideals of Playing Field Might Well Be Transferred to Everyday Life, Says Dr. Warren

Naming as attributes of all good sportsmen humility, thoughtfulness of others and a sense of humor and proportion, Dr. Harry V. Warren of the faculty of the University of British Columbia and himself a well known track man, spoke before the Prince Rupert Gyro Club at its regular weekly luncheon yesterday and urged that the spirit of true sportsmanship as conceived on the playing field be carried into everyday life.

Dr. Warren's subject was "Sportsmanship" and, in discussing it, he gave a number of interesting anecdotes in his own experience. At the outset he recalled the words of an author who, some years ago, had said that the nations which were ruling the world were nations of sportsmen. Was Great Britain, in this respect, holding its position of twenty years ago, Dr. Warren wondered.

The speaker wondered how many office holders were good sportsmen in that they held the interests of their communities or societies before their own. Did they accept office with the idea of serving or with the idea of personal aggrandizement?

Dr. Warren had something to say about the lack of sportsmanship in political life today. The principle of "to the victors went the spoils" was as un sporting as it was inefficient. It was a tendency that should be fought against commencing on the lots where young boys played.

The effect of good sportsmanship in international affairs was also stressed and illustrated by the speaker who was tendered a vote of thanks on behalf of the Gyro Club by Dr. R. G. Large, the president.

Guests at the luncheon, besides Dr. Warren, were Stanley Bishop jr. of Portland, Ore., and J. M. Cave of Vancouver.

DR. WARREN WAS HEARD

Lecture Last Night Along Technical Lines But Interesting to Good Sized Audience

Although couched almost entirely along technical lines, the lecture by Dr. Harry V. Warren last night in the City Hall in connection with the University of British Columbia extension course proved of interest to a good sized audience. Dr. Warren's subject was "Minerals and the Search for Gold." It was illustrated by graphs, diagrams and headings projected by magic lantern which was operated by Leonard Cripps, T. J. Williams, secretary of the Junior Section of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce, was in the chair, introducing the speaker at the opening of the meeting and, at the conclusion, expressing appreciation of the discourse.

Stating that the world production of gold last year had been thirty million ounces of which South Africa had produced about fifty per cent with Russia, United States and Canada following in the order mentioned, Dr. Warren showed how war and economic depression affected the production of gold and other minerals.

The speaker discussed the association of gold with other minerals, going into the subject of host rocks, geological associations, types of deposits, enrichments, etc. The principal types of gold deposits were: gold quartz, the most important in British Columbia such as Pioneer and Bralorne; telluride ores, such as in Western Australia and Colorado; auriferous sulphides such as Reno; auriferous conglomerates as in South Africa and of which there should be some in British Columbia, and alluvial and superficial deposits (placer).

Deposits and Zones

Dr. Warren continued to outline the geological conception of the reasons for gold existence and how it got to certain places. It had been found that certain types of rock seemed to bring gold from the molten mass under the crust of the earth to the surface. Quartz diorite was the most common host metal in British Columbia. Types of deposits included limestones and granites, fissure veins and saddle reefs. Zones of magma were classified as follows:
Pigmatite, with tin, tungsten and molybdenum.
Free gold, auriferous pyrite, zones.
Cupriferos pyrite zones (Britannia).
Galena blende zones.
Zones of silver and much gold with antimony, arsenic, bismuth, selenium and tellurium. (Surf Point, Porcher Island, might be one of these. Minto in Bridge River was a striking example of this class of zone).

The zone of earthy gangues, barren of valuable metals.
Speaking of enrichments, Dr. Warren warned against placing too much confidence on valuable surface showings continuing at depth. Usually, lower values might be expected at depth.

Proceeding to discuss key minerals in the field which indicated the existence of gold, Dr. Warren showed how, on the eastern slope of the coast batholith of British Columbia, arsenic was a good indication that gold was nearby. Hedley was an example of this. In the Cariboo, at Hudson Bay Mountain and in the Boundary country, gold was found with bismuth. On the west side of the coast batholith, gold was generally associated with pyrites and tellurides.

Dr. Warren closed with reference to the assistance that the laboratory facilities of the University of British Columbia might be to the actual operators of mines.

Tonight Dr. Warren's discourse will be of more popular appeal, being along economic lines, the subject being "Minerals and the World Crisis." Following tonight's lecture, he will sail aboard the Prince George on his return to Vancouver, stopping off at Ocean Falls enroute.

Planning to Send Product of Telkwa Mine to Market Despite Loss of Bridge Last Fall

John M. Wilson of Telkwa, one of the operators of the Aveling mine in that district, was here yesterday on his way back to the interior after having spent the past couple of months in the south. It was Mr. Wilson and his associates who had the misfortune in the big floods of last fall to have a bridge which they had thrown across the Telkwa River in order to bring out their coal washed out just when they had the bunker at the mine filled with coal and orders on hand for the product. This put them entirely out of business as far as shipping was concerned and deprived them of the possibility of taking advantage of the good coal market of the past winter.

Mr. Wilson's intention now is, if possible, to bring coal out across the ice on the Telkwa River and ship the fuel that is in the bunkers. The hope is that the government will replace the necessary bridge. Mr. Wilson arrived from the south on the Prince George yesterday and proceeded to the interior on last night's train. While in Victoria, he interviewed the public works department with a view to having the bridge replaced.

Sellereite was a native of Norway and was in his fifties. His home was in Seattle where he is survived by a widow and family including one son who is attending the University of Washington.

It was in order to handle these loggers that the Prince Charles, which had been tied up at the local dry dock for the winter, was placed on commission for the present voyage. She is now to be withdrawn again from service, the Prince John going back on the run with the sailing from here tomorrow night.

Another Double Bill Offered At Capitol Theatre This Mid-Week

"If You Could Only Cook," a romantic comedy featuring Herbert Marshall and Jean Arthur, and "Splendor," a big city drama, with Miriam Hopkins and Joel McCrea in the leading roles, comprise another double bill program showing at the Capitol Theatre here at the middle of this week.

In "If You Could Only Cook" Marshall is seen as a disgruntled millionaire who encounters an unemployed girl who believes in being also jobless. They accept a job together and find themselves working for a big shot racketeer in the person of Leo Carrillo. The tale is filled with complications that produce much merriment and lead to a conclusion that is satisfactory to all concerned.

"Splendor" is the story of a girl who marries into an impoverished "400" family of New York. By marrying the young man, the girl wins the hatred of his domineering mother who manoeuvres her into an affair which leads to her husband leaving. He, however, comes to his senses and the picture has a happy ending.

I'LL STOP that COUGH! says Dr. Mustard with a good old mustard bath

Take a pail of water, good and hot, and put in a tablespoonful of Colman's mustard. Wrap up well and soak your feet for 15 minutes. Then slip into bed, pull the covers up well and sweat out the poisons while you have a good night's sleep. You'll feel different in the morning. It is a simple, old-time remedy but there is nothing better. Whenever you feel a cold coming on, nip it in the bud with a mustard bath. 741C
