G. K. Chesterton, Outstanding English Man of Letters, Is Dead

BEACONSFIELD, Eng., June 15. (CP)—Gilbert Keith Chesterton, aged 62, one of the greatest English men of letters of the present century, died on Sunday from dropsy.

For several years during the early part of his career, Chesterton was somewhat of a puzzle in the field of English literature but, with his admirers constantly growing in numbers and his work better understood, he eventually came to be known in England as the most lovable and boyish character among British authors.

His own idea of himself was that he was born to attain fame as an artist. He made a determined effort to reach that goal by leaving St. Paul's school, where he studied as a youth, to attend the art classes at the Slade School, London.

After filling the role of art critic for "The Bookman" for a time he discovered that his natural bent was toward literature and he again changed his course to devote himself to cultivating that means of expression, both in verse and prose.

Having done occasional reviewing and with some experience in a publisher's office, Chesterton in 1900 produced a volume of clever poems under the title, "The Wild Knight."

It was about that time he definitely took to journalism as a career and became a regular contributor of signed articles to the liberal journals, "The Speaker," and "The Daily News."

BIG CROWD AT PICNIC

Upwards of One Thousand Persons At Canadian Legion's Outing

Favored with ideal weather, the Canadian Legion picnic yesterday to Digby Island was an unqualified success, there being upwards of a thousand present. The Boys' Band played on the way to Cow Bay where a good boat service took the picnickers to the island. After refreshments an interesting program of sports was run off in quick time.

In some events there was such a big entry list that heats had to be run and in some races dead heats resulted so that an extra deciding run-off was necessary.

A softball game between mixed teams captained by Jock McGreish and Douglas Frizzell resulted in a win for Frizzell's team by 11 to 8. Many of the children took advantage of the ideal weather and water conditions to spend their time in the water. Others enjoyed baseball and football.

WIRES ARE RESTORED

Canadian National Gets Its Commercial Lines up Again After Flood Damage

"Wires are up again" was the welcome notification given by Canadian National Telegraphs to its customers Saturday evening. For two weeks the wires had been down on account of flood damage to lines in the lower Skeena Valley. On Saturday night repair crews working from the east and west met near Shames, thus ending the longest telegraphic tie-up Prince Rupert has experienced in a quarter of a century.

Communications for Prince Rupert with the outside world are now back to normal again even if it may be weeks before railway traffic is restored. According to reports from the south, railway officials are said to have intimated that it will probably be a couple of months before trains start running through on the local line again.

Superintendent W. H. Tobey authorized the announcement this morning that it would be August 1 at the earliest before through trains could start running again. Meantime repair work on the lines proceeds steadily and the flood waters continue to recede back toward normal levels.

Adult Education Key to Problems

Says Writer of Prize Essay At St. Dunstan's University

CHARLOTTETOWN, June 15. (CP)—Adult education, a movement in its infancy in Prince Edward Island, is the key to the present situation of the Canadian people who "are not able to wrestle with the problems that confront them," in the opinion of John A. MacDonald of Cardigan, P.E.I., 1936 Alumni prize essayist at St. Dunstan's University.

The trouble today, he suggests in his essay on Adult Education, is the lack of education of the adult population. Canadians are not illiterate but they do not know how to use their education, he believes.

In the island province the newborn adult education movement is being seized enthusiastically and with the help of the provincial library chain, the student says it is "assured of steady growth."

"Stagnation, complacency and unsound dogmatism must be overcome" before the movement makes any real progress, he thinks, and the task has only begun.

He hopes Islanders will be far-sighted, because although "practical results may be seen in our lifetime, the full harvest of our efforts will be reaped only by succeeding generations."

SPORT CHAT

Nothing short of 1936 Allan cup dividends will satisfy Lloyd Camy, manager of Moose Jaw Millers in Saskatchewan's southern hockey league. He has signed seven of the pick of Saskatchewan's senior and Junior stars in an effort to give the Mill city a winning team. Players signed include Pete Leswick and Pete Vogt, members of Saskatoon Wesleys, 1935 western junior champions, Les Bird of Saskatoon Standards and leading northern loop scorer; Tommy Dewar, runner-up, of Prince Albert Mintos, Gordie Hemming, ace net man, and Art Walker, defenceman of Moose Jaw Canucks, south Saskatchewan 1935 junior champions, and Pete Dewar of Regina Capitals.

It may be long way from the kick-off time but Calgary Bronks, 1935 finalists with Winnipeg for the Western Canada rugby championship, are running ahead of the ball in great style this season. Jerry Seairight, ace centreman, and Ed. Rorvig, star halfback with North Dakota University, have already been signed. Club officials await word from Oran Dover, former Washington State end, and his running mate, Ed. Goddard of Earl Schranz of North Dakota University. Acquisition of either player would give Coach Carl Cronin the needed scoring threat when the first club workout is called in July.

Addition of Pete Somers of All-American ranking to their quarterback division has materially strengthened Winnipeg, Dominion rugby titleholders, for their conference season opened against Calgary Bronks, Sept. 5. Former Minnesota quarterback, Somers assisted Coach Bob Fritz in drilling Pegs for their western and Canadian finals last season. He is considered a passer and ball carrier of exceptional ability.

Encouraged by the success of its Pee-Wee hockey professionals, a seven-team Pee - Wee softball schedule will be played in Calgary this summer. The loop is fostered by the Citywide Softball League with an age limit of 15. The youngsters are required to fill out the same entry form as players in the senior section of the "A" league.

Soccer will receive its first baptism under the floodlights on the Pacific coast this season. Senior games will be played under artificial lights at Jones Park in Vancouver.

Sammy Gigliotti, one of two Port Arthur hockey stars who played with teams in the English National Hockey League last season, has arrived home uncertain whether he will return overseas. He was accompanied by "Scotty" Milne of Prince Albert, star hockey and soccer goalie who played for Wembley Canadians. Gigliotti teamed with Jimmy Haggerty for Wembley Lions.

TENNIS IS UNDER WAY

Many Games Played Yesterday in Prince Rupert Club's Tournament

In perfect weather the tournament of the Prince Rupert Tennis Club got away to a good start on Saturday with a number of well-contested events followed by a greater number on Sunday. While the scores in some cases appear one-sided, they do not in all cases fairly represent the play. In some cases younger players put up excellent games and engaged in strong rallies with more seasoned opponents but lacked the experience to follow up.

In men's events, the singles match between T. W. Brown and W. L. Stamford was probably the closest. It took Stamford three sets to beat Brown and there was a difference of only two games in thirty-four. In mixed doubles it took Mr. and Mrs. Willett three sets to eliminate Mr. and Mrs. Haworth and the same for Mr. and Mrs. Horton to defeat Young and Mrs. Currie. In ladies' singles Mrs. Haworth put up a strong game against Mrs. Jabour, taking the first set 8-6 but losing the next two.

Results were as follows:

Stamford beat Brown, 6-4, 6-8, 6-4.

Gregor beat Freeman, 6-1, 6-4.

Poole beat Bedford, 6-0, 6-3.

Young beat Poole, 6-0, 6-2.

Cruikshank beat Nicholls, 6-4, 6-3.

Haworth beat Jabour, 6-2, 6-1.

Norrington beat Edgumbe, 6-0, 6-4.

Horton beat Moore, 6-0, 6-0.

Fraser beat Barry, 6-1, 6-4.

McIntosh beat Willett, 2-6, 6-1, 6-3.

Mrs. Jabour beat Mrs. Haworth, 6 3, 6-2, 6-1.

Mrs. Horton beat Mrs. Barry, 6-2, 6-1.

Stamford and Young beat McIntosh and Fraser, 6-4, 7-5.

Edgumbe and Poole beat Cruikshank and Nicholls, 6-0, 11-9.

Currie and Robertson beat McAfee and Freeman, 6-4, 6-4.

Horton and Gregor beat Haworth and Johns, 6-1, 6-1.

Mr. and Mrs. Stamford beat Jabour and Mrs. Blackstock, 6-2, 6-4.

Poole and Miss Delaney beat Nicholls and Mrs. Parlow, 6-2, 6-3.

Mr. and Mrs. Willett beat Mr. and Mrs. Haworth, 8-6, 6-8, 6-1.

Mr. and Mrs. Horton beat Young and Mrs. Currie, 3-6, 6-2, 6-4.

The draw for Monday and Tuesday:

Capt. Colthurst Is Standing By

Watching Omnica By-election On Behalf of Social Credit Interests

Capt. J. B. Colthurst writes to the Daily News from Vanderhoof that he is remaining in Omnica riding as Social Credit observer during the provincial by-election campaign and expects to return shortly to Terrace. Social Credit has no candidate in the Omnica election. When a general election is held, he explains, Social Credit candidates might be run in constituencies where all candidates rejected Social Credit policies. However, Major Douglas has advised that Social Credit proposals be brought to the notice of old established parties and that separate candidates not be run where avoidable.

As King Edward Distributed Maundy Money to Aged Poor

King Edward of the British Empire carries a bunch of spring flowers as, walking between the Dean of Westminster, Rev. Foxley Norris (left) and the Archbishop of Canterbury (right) he attends the Maundy Thursday services at Westminster Abbey. This is the second time in 200 years that a reigning king has attended the services, King George, the present King's late father, having attended in 1932. The feature of the ceremony is the distribution of money from the King to the poor. Two of the 42 recipients are shown right. They are Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Porter, 81 and 75 years old. Each of the recipients of the Maundy benefaction received about $20, which the King presented in red and white purses.

From the Waterfront

The provincial police power cruiser P. M. L. 8 returned to port late Saturday afternoon from an emergency trip to Queen Charlotte City to bring in William Campbell, an elderly pensioner of Queen Charlotte, who soon underwent an operation in the Prince Rupert General Hospital for acute appendicitis, dying yesterday morning. Dr. G. A. Charter of Queen Charlotte City accompanied the patient to town.

The Massett Cannery tender Jedway arrived in port at noon Saturday, bringing back Peter Lorenzen who has been at the Old Massett cannery for the past few weeks getting the plant in readiness for the coming season's operations.

There was some delay in allowing passengers ashore from the steamer Princess Louise Saturday afternoon on the arrival of the vessel from Skagway until Dr. J. P. Cade, immigration doctor, had gone on board to examine one of the members of the crew who was found to be suffering merely from a sore throat. Dr. Cade gave the vessel a clean bill of health after which the passengers were released. There were 113 passengers aboard the Louise including six who disembarked here. Five boarded her here for the south—C. H. Orme, G. V. Wilkinson, W. M. Watts, Hugo Kraupner and Mrs. M. P. McCaffery.

Making her first voyage of the season on the Alaska tourist service, C. P. R. steamer Princess Charlotte, Capt. William Palmer, arrived in port at 9 o'clock this morning from Vancouver, sailing a couple of hours later for Skagway. The vessel brought north a large party of passengers consisting largely of round trippers. She is due back Saturday afternoon southbound. There were 189 passengers in all aboard the Princess Charlotte including seven who disembarked here. Eight boarded the vessel at this port for the north.

New England, Whiz, Washington and Sebastian followed in the order mentioned.

The Whiz Fish Co. is building a 60-foot addition to its fish dock at Seattle, according to word received here. There will be a re-arrangement of office quarters.

SPY PLAY INTERESTS

"House of a Thousand Candles" At Capitol Theatre With "It Had to Happen"

"The House of a Thousand Candles," screen adaptation of the popular novel and stage play, and "It Had to Happen," a dynamic comedy romance, are presented as a double bill offering on the screen of the Capitol Theatre here at the first of this week.

The vivid and tense original story of international spies has been retained with modern embellishments in "The House of a Thousand Candles." It is the type of picture that reveals some of the inside workings by which great nations maintain their political prestige and position. It also delineates some of the human frailties of the idealistic young men and women who pledge their lives to hazardous pursuits for the safety of their nation. Mae Clarke and Phillips Holmes have the leading roles, the former as an English spy on an important mission and the latter as his admirer. Irving Pichel plays the dominant character as a master spy with Rosita Moreno as his dancer-entertainer accomplice. It is thrilling screen entertainment with a surprise climax.

Starring George Raft and Rosalind Russell with Leo Carrillo and Arline Judge in the principal supporting roles, "It Had to Happen" is the story of a man who rose from the slums to the top in politics for the love of an alluring lady and then threw away everything he had won for the same lady.
