It felt it necessary to point out that it was a mistake to assume, as was apparently done in certain quarters, that the 330,000 employable unemployed were for the most part industrial workers and should be re-absorbed by industry. Only a comparatively small proportion (probably not more than 20%) were industrial workers, the responsibility for re-absorbing the remainder belonging to other forms of employment.

CHANCE FOR FARMERS

The farmers of the prairies, it is to be hoped, will have a good season. Wheat is still the chief article of food in DATES OF most countries and will continue to be. It will have to be sold on the world market in spite of high tariffs. What is impossible is for any wheat board or other organization to try to hold the price higher than the world price. It may be held temporarily during a sudden slump but as a Reserve. consistent policy, wheat will have to be sold at market prices just as are other commodities.
