Hitler Displays His Envy of Russia Five-Year Old Embargo Between Two Countries Lifted, It is Announced

GERMANY WOULD SWIM IN PROSPERITY IF IT HAD URAL MOUNTAIN RICHES

Nazis Would Triumph Over Soviet in Event of War, He Declares—How Reichsfuehrer is Trying to Bring About Internal Economic Improvement

NUREMBERG, Sept. 12: (CP)—Chancellor Adolf Hitler, with hundreds of war planes roaring overhead, declared today that Germany would be overwhelmingly prosperous "if we had the rich agricultural lands and ore-laden mountains of Russia." He asserted that Germany would triumph over Russia "if the hour ever comes when there is a war." If I had the Urals, if we possessed Siberia, the Ukraine, Germany would be swimming in surplus prosperity. I am not in the fortunate position of Soviet Jews. Germany's problem must be solved.

BERLIN, Sept. 12: (CP)—Regulation and control of farm prices has been intensified in Germany almost in inverse ratio to its abandonment in Canada. The government agency known as the Reich Estate of Nutrition, directed by Peasant Leader R. Walther Darre, is the institution which dictates the financial administration, its personnel, and the auditing of the various marketing organizations which have to do with farm products.

Speaking recently in Nuremberg, Darre declared the principle of price control to be founded on the necessity for establishing a balance between supply and demand "through a conscious economic direction of orderly marketing." Prior to the creation of the Reich Estate of Nutrition the condition of German agriculture had been desperate. Since the stabilization of the mark in 1924, up to 1933, the debt of the German farm industry had increased from roughly $900,000,000 to $2,750,000,000. Farm revenues had sunk to such an extent that in one year interest payments on capital account and mortgages totalled 13.7% of gross agricultural income.

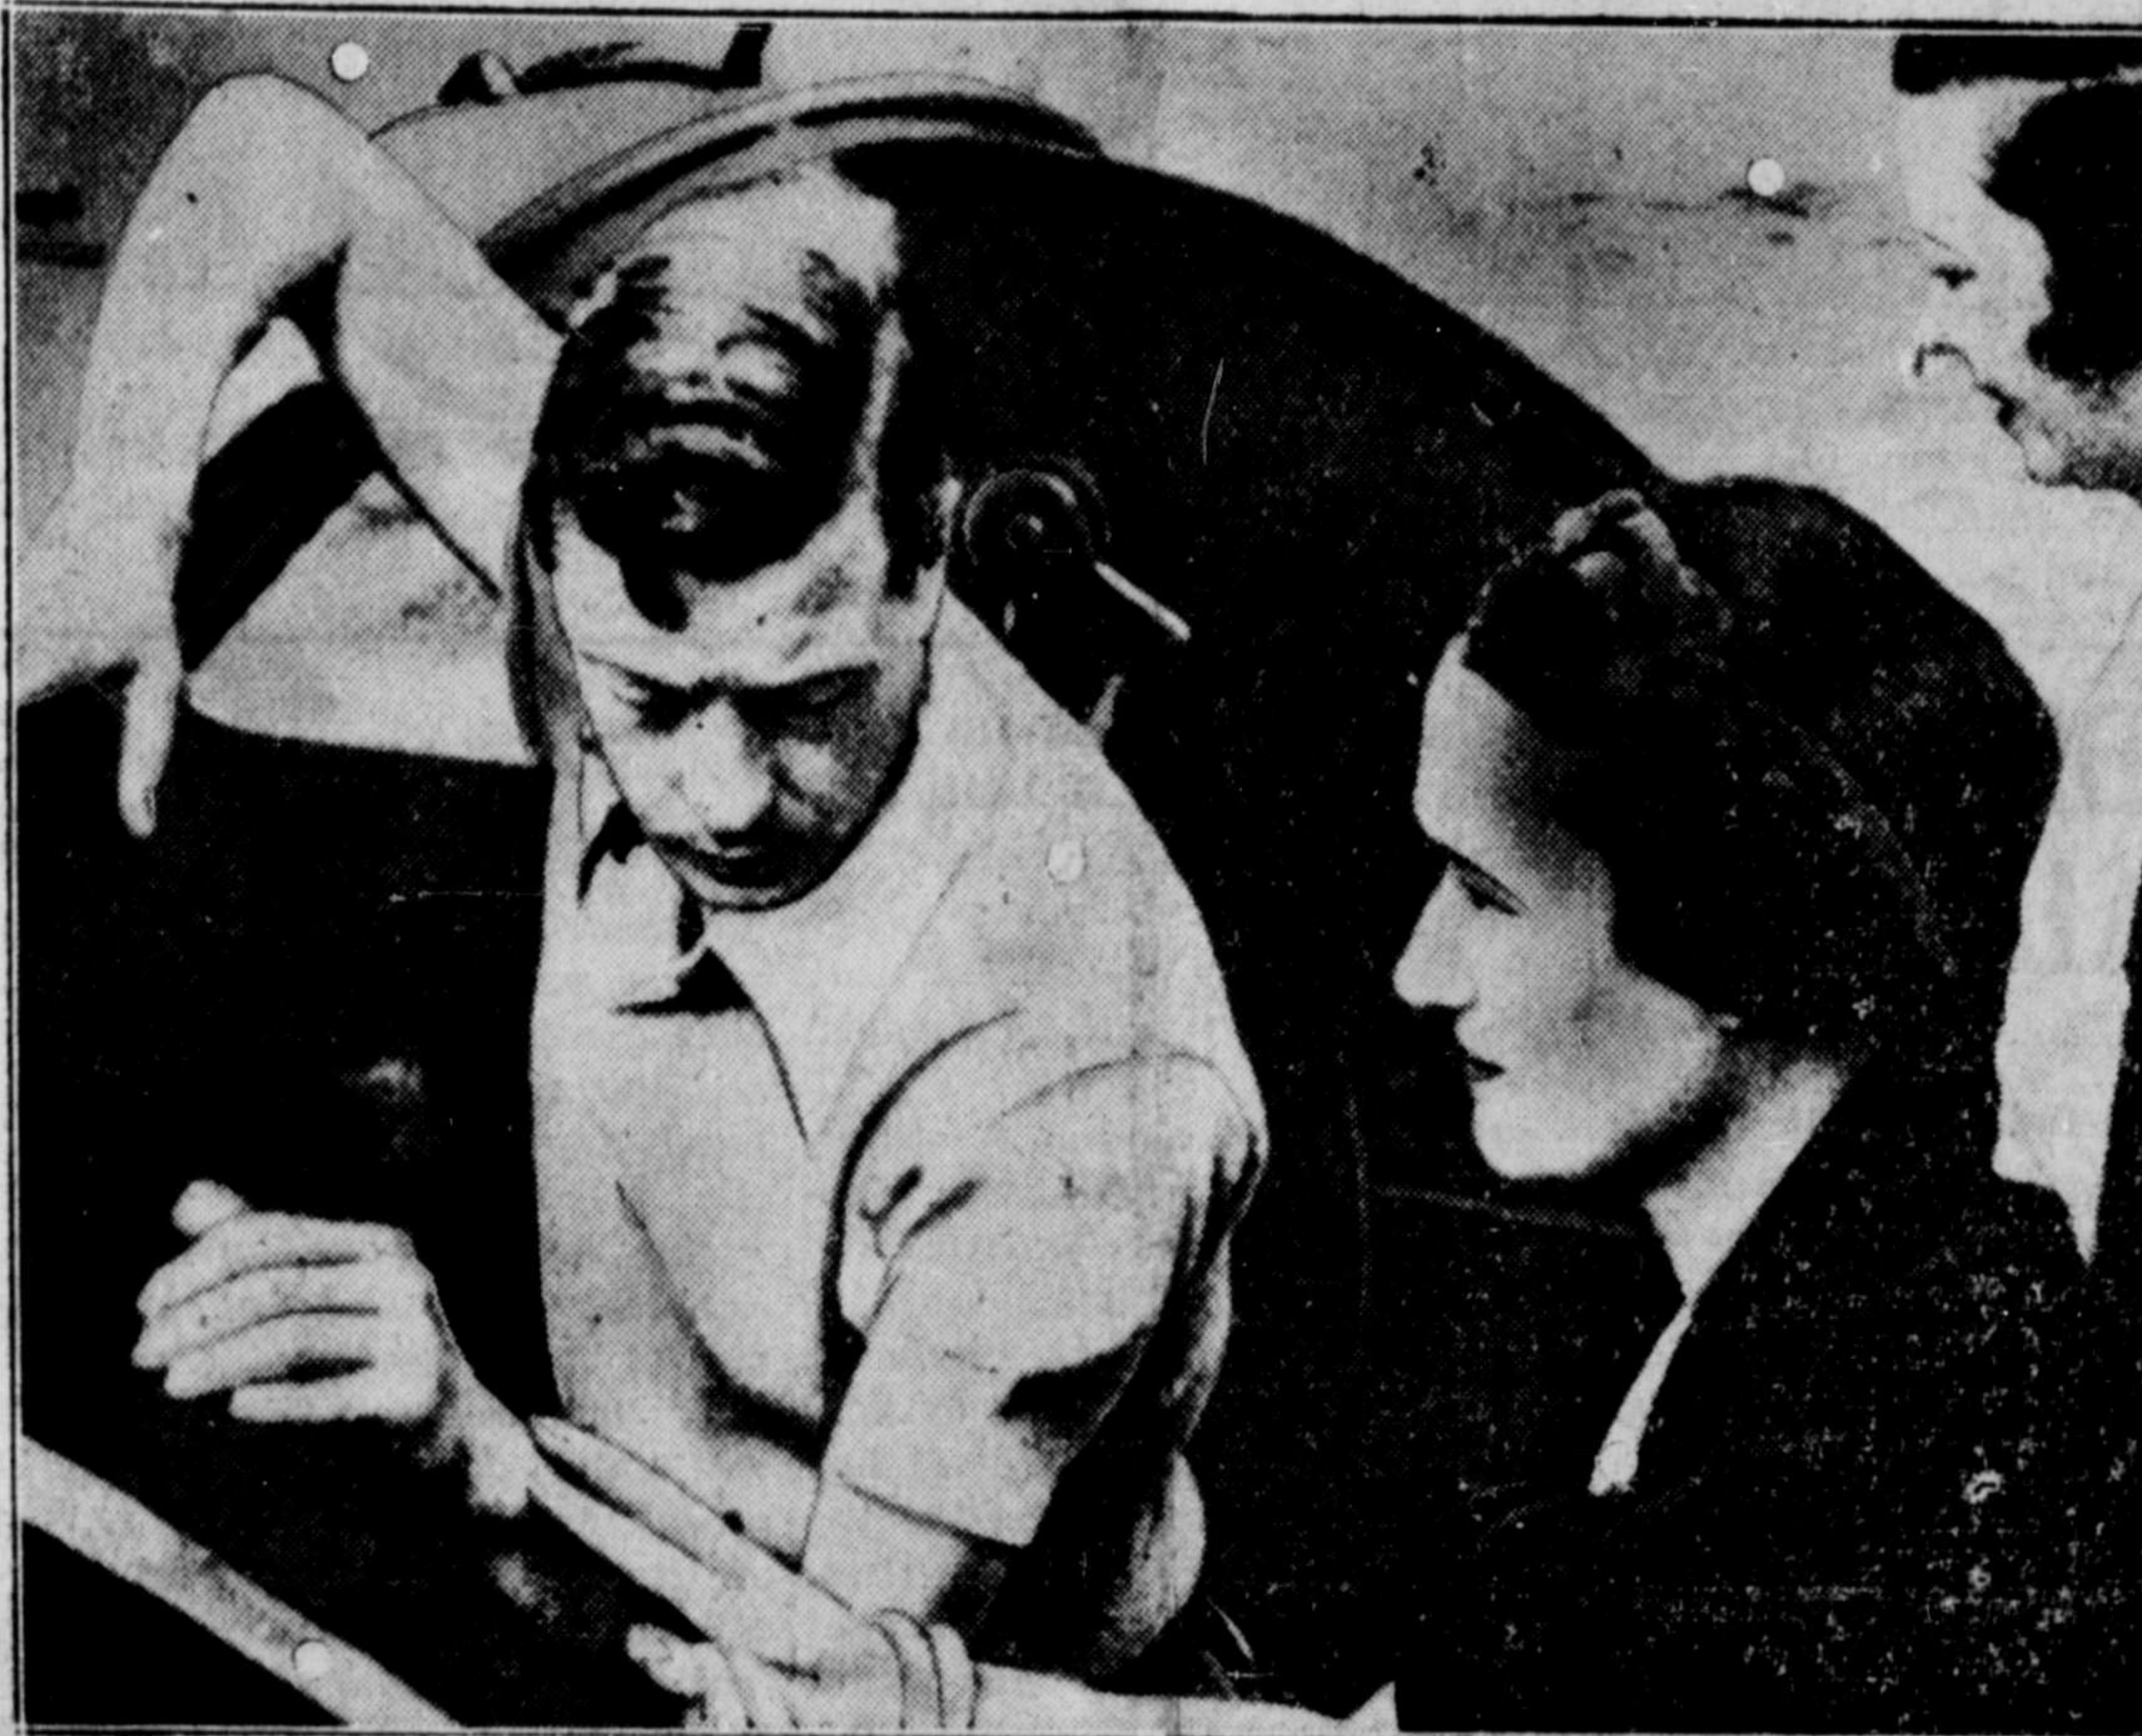

In January 1933 the index of farm prices was 19% lower than before the war, while the index of the manufacturing industries was 13% higher.

With the establishment of price regulation, however, the picture changed. In 1934 farm revenues rose from $1,450,000,000 to $1,800,000,000, while the payrolls of workers were boosted 25%, according to the Reich Peasant Leader.

Of interest to Canadians, occupied as they have been for several years in such matters as regulation of milk prices, is the method by which Germany has sought to control milk production and prices to the farmer. Its exponents claim this to have been achieved without hardship to the consumer.

Made Central Control Prior to government intervention taking Berlin, a city of 4,000,000 inhabitants as an example—an excess of more than 100,000 gallons beyond the city's requirements was delivered daily in the capital. The consequence was ruthless competition and price cutting not only by the producers but by distributors also. A further result was that large quantities of the milk was unsold, and had to be returned to the farms. Some of this product came from places as far as 400 miles away. The milk-distributors had no regular customers; the consumers not unnaturally held out from day to day in order to buy at the lowest price. At the same time dairymen and farmers occasionally fell into the hands of unscrupulous distributors operating (Continued on Page Two)

Informality For King on Vacation Cruise

DISORDER PREVAILS

San Sebastian in State of Chaos As Occupation by Insurgents Takes Place Today

MOUNT MORSE GETS FIRST SNOW EARLY; FROST HERE TODAY
First snow of the season was noticed around the top of Mount Morse yesterday morning. Old timers seemed generally agreed that it was the earliest date in their recollection that the snow had appeared there. Some of the higher mountains hereabouts had fresh snow a day or so previous. The snow on the mountain tops made itself felt around the city with a sharp drop in temperature generally, culminating during the night in a clearing of skies with a sharp, white frost—the first of the season—this morning.

LABOR DAY SUCCESSFUL

Trades and Labor Council Receive Preliminary Report at Regular Monthly Meeting

Incomplete reports presented at the regular monthly meeting of the Prince Rupert Trades and Labor Council on Thursday evening indicated that the recent annual Labor Day celebration had been successful in every way. President S. D. Macdonald was in the chair at the meeting and there was a good attendance of delegates. Business was largely of a routine nature.

A communication from the American Glass Workers' Union of Hamilton seeking financial support in their strike for better conditions was filed.

A letter was read from C. H. Orme expressing appreciation for a presentation which had been made by the council on the eve of his departure for Victoria and wishing the council every success.

A petition from the Noranda Miners' Defence League protesting the deportation of two miners to Jugo-Slavia was laid on the table for further information.

E. E. Winch, M.L.A. for Burnaby, drew attention in a letter to the approaching fall session of the Legislature and requested the council to forward to him any matters which it might desire to have taken up in the house. The request was referred to the legislative committee.

Complaints were made that certain business places in the city were not conforming to the Minimum Wage and Hours of Work Act.

HOSPITAL MEETING

Monthly Session of Board Deals With Routine Business—August Was Busy—Cambrai Chapter's Gift

Business at the regular monthly meeting last night of the board of directors of the Prince Rupert General Hospital was almost entirely of a routine nature. It was a brief session and the agenda consisted of little more than the presentation of routine reports. President W. M. Brown was in the chair and those in attendance besides were S. D. Macdonald, G. V. Wilkinson and F. S. Walton, directors; H. W. Birch, managing secretary, and Miss Jean Harrison R.N., lady superintendent.

Miss Jean Harrison R.N., lady superintendent, just back from a month's vacation, reported that the hospital had been quite busy during her absence. There had been over 1600 hospital days in August, making it one of the heaviest months in a long time. Miss Harrison suggested that the house committee should go into the matter of the possibility of an explosion in the operating room from static spark with an aesthetic. This will be looked into.

G. V. Wilkinson, chairman, reported that the house committee was still dealing with the possibility of widening door entrances of private rooms and a report on the subject might be expected at the next meeting.

The finance committee, S. D. Macdonald, chairman, reported disbursements of $4130.32 for the month of August, receipts for the month not being disclosed. There were 1607 hospital days at a cost per diem of $2.57.

A report from Fire Chief J. P. Morrison for the month of August intimated that the usual monthly inspections had been made and everything had been found to be in good order in the hospital and nurses' home.

Donation of a fine new overbed table of the latest type with marble surface by Cambrai Chapter, Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire, was reported. A letter of appreciation for the gift will be sent to the chapter.

NOISE INDICATES WEAKNESS

There are a number of noisy people in every community. They talk loud and sometimes snout. They cannot argue but instead they emphasize what they have to say by noisy declamation. Usually they are disagreeable people and should be avoided.

Noise usually indicates weakness and unfortunately we have noisy people in all walks of life. Unfortunately there are some of them in places where a quiet voice would be more desirable.

A GRIM STRUGGLE

It is doubtful if Canadian people realize just what this Spanish civil war means or how terrible a thing it is. Picture to yourself a military conflict between the French and English Canadians in this country, if it is possible to do so, and you may get some idea of what an awful thing this would be. Throughout the country there are French Canadians. Some of Prince Rupert's best citizens are of French extraction. For French and English to be shooting each other down in this country would be a terrible thing.

Let us again suppose that those who espoused the C. C. F. and Communist cause in Canada were to be set upon by the capitalists and an effort made to exterminate them by killing them off, in case they happened to get a majority of members in Parliament. That would be an even worse struggle than French versus English. In every community the hand of neighbors would be turned against each other and it would mean a fight to the finish. Yet that seems to be just what Communism or Fascism means. Either would seize the administration and establish a dictatorship. In Russia it is a dictatorship of the Communist party. Usually it comes down to a dictatorship by one man, the head of the movement. Then the terrible struggle may commence. Citizens in every town and village shoot each other down, kill each other on sight until one or the other obtain the upper hand and, no matter which wins, a dictator will rule the country for many years. Fascists would be equally drastic along different lines.

We can hardly think of such conditions in Canada, but that is what is going on in Spain. Members of the same family are fighting against each other, members of the present ruling party known as loyalists fighting against attacks from the party that ruled previously, known as rebels. No war can be so terrible as this and any attempt to create such a condition in any country should be promptly nipped in the bud.

on a shoestring, with consequent loss all round.

With the introduction of orderly marketing a definite zone of supply for the city was marked out, the circumference being only 90 miles away; and to all producers and dairies in this area a definite weekly quota was allotted. If any former or dairyman exceeded the quantity assigned to him, then, for the surplus he had to accept a price equal to the low figure paid for buttermilk. Simultaneously with the establishment of quotas, minimum prices were fixed by the Reich Estate of Nutrition, as was also the spread allowed to the distributors.

In Berlin there are about 350 wholesale dealers, 7,500 smaller distributors and 12 farmer organizations, all of them handling approximately 300,000 gallons of milk daily. Control and supervision over the operation of these are concentrated in one central organization—the Milk Importation Co-operative. This organization is vested with the task of regulating the city's supply, keeping all accounts as between producers and distributors, and testing the milk against adulteration.

In the zone of supply are 204 dairies, excluding the 12 farmer societies in Berlin itself, and 312 milk delivery companies. To every dairy certain villages and localities are assigned, so that farmers know where to send their product. No dairy is permitted to "steal" customers from another district.

The claim is made that this milk regulation policy has resulted in the enlargement of many dairies and the construction of new ones. In 1934 a total of 45 building projects had increased to 73, while for 1936 the new construction totals 15, with 15 more extensions. In the past the farmers suffered from wildly fluctuating milk prices and, due to surpluses, from astounding differences between the price of household milk and that destined for butter. In 1932 the former was no less than 130 per cent greater than the latter. The solution for this is said to have been found in the regulation of the Reich Estate of Nutrition which exacted one pfennig, or two-fifths of one cent, approximately, for every third of a gallon sold. The money thus acquired was employed to bring the price of processing milk into line with that of the household commodity. Today household milk is delivered in Berlin wholesale for about 18 cents a gallon, and milk for butter at approximately 15 cents.

Butter and cheese come also within the scope of the Reich Estate of Nutrition, but the situation respecting those commodities is different from that of milk. Only one percent of Berlin's needs is supplied from the milk-zone; the remaining 99 percent comes from outside, chiefly from Pomerania, East Prussia, Mecklenburg, Eastmark, Lower Saxony and Schleswig-Holstein.

The city consumes 3,000 hundred-weight daily, handled by about 300 wholesalers and 18,000 individual dealers. The quantity to be delivered is set by agreement between the wholesalers and the country dairies, and it is delivered at the fixed official price. Necessarily a spread is allowed to the retailers, who sell within the seal of the maximum and the minimum dictated by the governmental body in control.

F. S. Walton, C.N.R. roadmaster, who had the misfortune to sustain a severe leg injury on the line during the early summer, is now able to be out with the aid of crutches but it will probably be a month yet before it will be possible for him to resume duty at his office.

Rev. F. A. ## Man in the Moon

Every day that passes sees the demand for a highway becoming more insistent.

This is lamb week and those who like it will eat plenty of that kind of meat if they have the price.

Mary had a little lamb
Her appetite was good,
She ate it all and asked for more
And said it was good food.

When the umpire was leaving the grounds after a game between two rival baseball teams, he was approached by an irate fan.
"Where is your dog?" demanded the fan.
"Dog?" ejaculated the umpire.
"I haven't any dog."
"You're the only blind man I ever saw who didn't have a dog."

Suppose there was a Russian Jew living in England with an Italian wife, sitting at a French window in a room with a Turkish carpet on the floor. If this man drank American cream soda while listening to a German band playing "Come Back to Erin" after a supper of Dutch cheese made up as a Welsh rarebit, then begorra, you're safe in calling that guy a cosmopolitan.

UNUSUAL ROMANCE

Robert Taylor and Loretta Young in "Private Number"

Filled with youthful love-making, gay romancing, vivid drama and hilarious comedy, "Private Number," with Robert Taylor and Loretta Young co-starred, comes to the screen of the Capitol Theatre here this week-end heralded as one of the season's outstanding romantic hits.

Taylor, only son of a wealthy family, returns home from college and mistakes Loretta Young, his mother's maid, for a house guest. He refuses to permit her to explain her situation and the romance culminates when the family goes to Maine for the summer. The couple are thrown together constantly and decide to get married. They keep the marriage secret and unusual complications ensue. There is a romantic climax in a crowded courtroom.

The irrepressible Patsy Kelly is featured in the principal comedy role and her performance is a highlight. Basil Rathbone plays an important part as a butler who rules the household as a virtual dictator, being incidentally in love himself with Miss Young.

Bootleg Saltery Charge is Laid

Prince Rupert and the Halibut Fishing— All Salmon Fishing to Close Hereabouts September 25—Landings For Week on Light Side

Prince Rupert halibut fishermen and some of the business interests of the port are becoming definitely concerned over the present condition of the halibut fishing industry and the seeming passing of supremacy as far as the volume of the business is concerned from Prince Rupert to Seattle, despite the northern port's strategic Inlet area and on the Queen Charlotte Islands, all commercial salmon fishing in Prince Rupert district will be closed on September 25. For the first time in the history of the industry, such a general order includes trolling, in compliance with a request of the trollers themselves as made direct to Dr. W. A. Found, deputy minister of fisheries, on the occasion of a visit to Prince Rupert last winter. Gill netters also agreed at that time to such an order, the closure being designed to protect fall varieties of salmon. The closing down of the fishing is effective for an indefinite period but arrangements will probably be made for the trollers to go out for spring salmon later when they desire to do so. Mid-September sees the salmon fishing and canning industry continuing to draw gradually to a close. Some chum salmon are running at the south end of the Queen Charlotte Islands. Seiners are doing fairly well in Lowe Inlet and Butedale areas. Coho nets are not doing much on the Naas or Skeena Rivers but it is expected will show an improvement with the arrival of cloudy weather.

National Fish Week

National Fish Week, it is expected, will be observed in the usual way at Prince Rupert between September 28 and October 3. Stores and business houses will feature fishery products and the service clubs will stage fish luncheons with appropriate speeches. The Daily News will be prepared to handle an inevitable flood of special advertising.

H. W. Harris, manager of B. A. Cannery at Port Essington, and C. E. Salter, manager of the Canadian Fishing Co.'s cannery at Haysport, left the Skeena River last night on the Cardena following the closing down of canneries for the season. Mrs. Harris accompanied her husband. Mrs. Salter had gone south previously. All are going to Vancouver for the winter.

Word received privately from T. H. Johnson, who retired last winter as general manager of the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co. at Prince Rupert, indicates that he and Mrs. Johnson are doing a good deal of travelling in England these days. Almost weekly Mr. Johnson, who is an assiduous Rotarian, reports to his "mother club" in Prince Rupert that he has attended some where in the Old Country. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson intended on leaving Prince Rupert to return eventually to Victoria, B.C., to make their permanent future home but there is no indication as yet as to when they may be coming back to the Pacific Coast.

John Dybhavn, member of the board, and Dr. Neal M. Carter, director of the Prince Rupert Fisheries Experimental Station, will be in attendance at sessions of the Pacific sub-executive of the Biological Board of Canada in Vancouver next week. The former left last night on the Princess Adelaide for Vancouver and the latter Tuesday evening on the Catala.

Except in the Rivers and Smith's

6.5c paid the Portlock for 35,000 pounds. Only five American boats landed catches at Prince Rupert during the week.

Union steamer Cardena, Capt. John Boden, arrived in port at 3:15 yesterday afternoon from the south and sailed at 10:30 p.m. on her return to Vancouver and waypoints. This was the earliest time at which the vessel had arrived for weeks and indicated that the rush in connection with salmon cannery traffic along the coast is on the wane. She had finished her calls in the slough on arrival here and was in the main river during the night after leaving here. The Cardena's passengers included thirty round-trippers.

An interesting visitor to port this week has been the fine new seineboat Jocelyn of New Metlakatla, Alaska, with her owner, Henry Benson, and party on board. The Jocelyn was built last winter and has just completed her first successful fishing season. Of unusually fine construction and embodying all the most up-to-date features in vessels of her type, the Jocelyn is 55 feet long and is equipped with a Cooper-Bessemer full diesel engine. She has been moored at the Cow Bay floats.

Pilot Charles Elliott returned last evening about 7 o'clock from a flight to Vancouver with the Pacific Airways Junkers seaplane, bringing north two California big game hunters who are bound for the Iskut mining country north of Stewart. The plane left at 9 o'clock this morning in continuation of the trip to Stewart enroute to the Iskut. The passengers were R. E. Harenstrite and Carl H. Beal of Los Angeles.

Under general conditions which would appear to be quite favorable to the hunters, the deer shooting season opens today in this district and will continue until December 15. Arrival of snow on the mountain tops hereabouts this week should have the effect of bringing the deer down to the lower slopes. The clear, cool weather today will, no doubt, intrigue some early season hunting parties forth this week-end.

Chapter of Bad Luck

Roy Nichols had a chapter of ill luck while boating in the harbor at the first of the week. On Monday Mr. and Mrs. Nichols and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Blackstock set out in a borrowed gasboat for the camp at the Salt Lake. On the way back in the evening a large dinghy which they had in tow was lost so Messrs. Nichols and Blackstock started out early Tuesday morning to search for it. About half way across the harbor they lost the rudder of the gasboat and, as a result, were delayed for several hours. That evening Nick went forth again in his own boat on another search for the skiff but the jinx was still dogging him for he sheered a pin in the propeller shaft of his boat and had another late night. The skiff was never found and Nick has just about come to the conclusion that he has had enough small motor boating for the year.

Cases of two vessels of the Prince Rupert halibut fleet—Margalice, Capt. Jack Christiansen, and Cape Race, Capt. R. B. Morgan—charged with illegal fishing of halibut in Area No. 2 after the area had been closed by international treaty, opened in provincial police court this morning before Stipendiary Magistrate Andrew Thompson, and, after being formally called, were adjourned. September 17 was set for the hearing of the Margalice case and September 18 for the Cape Race case. T. W. Brown is acting as prosecutor for the department. L. W. Patmore is counsel for the Margalice.

The Armour Salvage Co. has acquired the Ketchum waterfront lease between the Imperial Oil Co. and Prince Rupert Feed Co. docks and announces that a gravel bunker will be erected there. The construction work will commence as soon as the company has completed a dredging job at the fishermen's floats in which it is now engaged.

In tow of the power tug Algie, the large pile driver outfit formerly owned by the Granby Co. and acquired with the rest of the Anox plant by the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. arrived here from Anox on Tuesday. It will be added to the equipment of the Armour Salvage Co. here.

The Algie returned to port Thursday night from North Island, having in tow the Union Oil Co.'s tank barge which will be taken on from here to Vancouver. The tank barge is at present moored at the local Union dock.

Armour Salvage Co.'s service boat Algie left at 2 o'clock this afternoon for a bird hunting trip to Winter Harbor in the northern district. Return to port will be made tomorrow night. Those making the trip are Capt. W. P. Armour, Don Crerar, Alex McRae, F. A. MacCallum, F. N. Good, W. O. Fulton, C. V. Evitt, A. Iverson and W. M. Blackstock.

The Sea Maid, Capt. Henry Dorrin, is in port today with 24,000 pounds of halibut and is holding over until Monday.
