ETHIOPIAN CASUALTIES ARE HEAVY

Italy Claims Fifteen Thousand Blacks Have Been Killed, Wounded

Defenders, However, Deny it and Declare That Invaders Have Suffered Equally Heavy Losses in Recent Heavy Fighting

ROME, Jan. 27: (CP)—Marshal Badoglio reported to the Italian government today that Ethiopian casualties in fighting on the southern front were ten thousand. This raises the Italian count of recent Ethiopian casualties to fifteen thousand killed or wounded. These figures are challenged by the Ethiopians themselves who claim their losses have not been nearly as extensive as the Italians say and that the Italians have suffered equally heavy casualties themselves. Heavy fighting continues both in the north and south of the war zone.

ROYALTY GATHERS

Many Crowned Heads in London For King George's Funeral

LONDON, Jan. 27.—The greatest assemblage of crowned heads and royalty to gather in many years is converging upon London for the funeral on Tuesday of the late King George V. Among those here are the monarchs of Belgium, Sweden, Norway and Denmark. King Carol of Roumania is also on his way. These are only a few of those who will be here.

King Edward VIII will be host at a state dinner tonight for the royal visitors. It will be a quiet and solemn affair without toasts. A reception will follow.

The funeral service for the late King will be led by the Archbishops of Canterbury and York. Practically every nation in the world will be represented at the funeral by prominent personages to pay final tribute to the dead monarch who was so highly and widely esteemed.

Won High Regard

Rev. W. D. Grant Hollingworth Analyses Reasons For George V Winning Great Place In Hearts of People

"The sense of loss which is felt throughout the Empire is a very personal one," said Rev. W. D. Grant Hollingworth in his sermon during a special memorial service for the late King George V at First Presbyterian Church last night. "A King's crown came to him by inheritance. Praise came to him by custom. Even his place in history is assured without necessity for effort on his part. There was only one thing he had to earn by toil and merit—the heartfelt respect and affection of his people. The King earned nobly that noblest of rewards. It is the settled judgment of the people of the Empire that no King of England ever established a stronger claim upon the grateful and affectionate regard of his subjects. Throughout the twenty-five years of his reign he gathered around him a multitude whom no man can number, close to his person, close to his heart.

"Many factors entered into the situation to bring about this happy and auspicious condition. The first was the King's wisdom and vision. By his accessibility and adaptability a social evolution has taken place which might have been a staggering revolution. Over all that followed his accession to the throne—the surrender of the Lords, the gathering of the armies in Ireland, the Great War, the revolutions in Ireland, Egypt and India the general strike, the crisis of 1931, the coming of the National Government—the same quiet figure presided, representing in his person the traditions of a throne that goes back in majestic, if chequered, succession into the mists of antiquity, standing in a shaken world for dignity and faith in those enduring values which human society in its long history in Britain has learned to honor.

"Whatever we, as a people, may have suffered in the last twenty-five years was not due to his mis-handling. On the contrary, in such sufferings as have overtaken his people, he bore his full share.

"With unobtrusiveness, with perfect understanding, he met the requirements of new occasions. With profound knowledge and understanding of his people, his influence was more far-reaching than any statesman in our vast Empire.

"A second factor which helped to bring about the marvellous hold the King had upon the hearts of his people were the homely virtues and cherished simplicities which made the King's family circle an example to the Empire. The integrity of the home has been difficult to maintain in recent years amid the flux and change and disintegration of modern civilization but the head of our Empire was the head of a home and the father of a family. Those things which are treasured most in family life were securely entrenched in the home life of him

AND NOW THE DUKE IS KING OF POLAND

Dame rumor does herself proud when it comes to spreading gossip about the Duke of Kent. First, when he married Princess Marina of Greece, he was scheduled to become king of that troubled nation. Now, European reports say that, since there is a new monarchist movement in Poland since death of Pilsudski, Prince George is favored as logical candidate for the throne. The ancient palace of kings in Warsaw, and the Duke are shown above.

who was the nation's father and king.

Faith in God

"A third factor in the way in which the King held the respect and affection of his people was his sincere and simple faith in God. The King never regarded religion in the light of a mere state convention or good fashion. The note of faith and piety which he so often struck was never the mere convention of his office. He was a daily reader of Holy Scripture and careful in his observance of Sunday. Nor was he narrow in his religious loyalties but would quickly dissociate himself with those who would claim him as belonging to one church alone. He belonged to all of us. He lived not unto himself but unto God and unto that vast multitude of people under God and by God entrusted to his care.

"The homage which we pay to the dead monarch is not homage yielded to rank or wealth or genius but to one whose life was such that the affection of the Empire is deep, sincere and personal."

There was a large congregation at First Presbyterian Church including some fifty members of the Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire, who attended in a body under Mrs. D. Orchard McLeod, regent of Municipal Chapter, and accompanied by the standard bearers—Mrs. S. V. Cox, Municipal Chapter; Mrs. William Brass, Queen Mary Chapter; Mrs. Ernest Anderson, Hill Sixty Chapter, and Miss Lois McRae, Cambrai Chapter.

Special music included an anthem "The Love of God" (Longfellow); quartette, "Sunset and Evening Star." Mrs. H. N. Brocklesby, Mrs. James Simpson, J. A. Teng and John E. Davey, and solo, "Nearer My God to Thee" by J. E. Davey. Hymns included "Abide With Me," the late King's favorite. Mrs. E. J. Smith was organist.

In Other Churches

There were also special memorial services for the late King in other city churches yesterday. The memorial service in St. Andrew's Anglican Cathedral was held in the morning and there was a good attendance. There were special hymns and lessons. The hymns were "O What the Joy and the

JOHN NELSON

John Nelson, whose death was recorded on Saturday, was for many years an outstanding man in the life of British Columbia. Coming from Ontario to British Columbia, he started his newspaper career in this province under the late Hon. William Templeman, publisher of the Victoria Times. Before leaving Victoria he had taken over the management of that newspaper during the time when it developed into one of the leading newspapers of the west. It was under him that the managing editor of this newspaper got his first training in newspaper work and on the same staff was Mr. Nelson's brother Orlando, who also came to Prince Rupert and for several years published the Journal.

John Nelson was sent by the late Sam Matson of Victoria to take the management of the News-Advertiser in Vancouver. Later he picked up the Vancouver World when it was almost out of business and made it again prosperous. When the World was sold Mr. Nelson devoted most of his time to free lance writing until his talents were recognized by the Sun Life Assurance Co. and he went to Montreal and undertook the work of director of public relations for that company until the time of his death.

Mr. Nelson was closely allied with the prohibition campaign near the end of the war. He became president of the Rotary Club at Vancouver and after his removal to Montreal became president of Rotary International and prior to that was a delegate to the Pan-Pacific Conference. His sympathies were always with the advocates of peace and temperance. A Conservative in politics, a great deal of his life was spent in connection with Liberal newspapers and Liberal movements.

He was one of the organizers of the Canadian Press and served as a director of that Canadian news-gathering organization on several occasions. He was always an exponent of clean journalism, worked hard for the building up of the west and its institutions and even after moving to Montreal did not allow the big city to smother his talents. As a boy he delivered newspapers and he insisted that his sons start their commercial life in the same way. Always a Canadian, he had great visions of the future of his country and helped to build it on solid foundations.

WEDDED ON SATURDAY

Miss Grace Howe Becomes Bride Of William Richards

A charming wedding took place at Ahm Cottage, Overlook Street, on Saturday evening when Miss Grace Patricia Howe, youngest daughter of Joseph S. Howe, Ninth Avenue West, became the bride of William John Richards, also of this city. Rev. Canon W. F. Rushbrook officiated.

The bride looked lovely in a dress of rose pink taffeta and carried a bouquet of pink snapdragons and white carnations. Miss Doris E. Webster was a pretty bridesmaid wearing a dress of cascade blue and carrying a bouquet of pink and white snapdragons. F. T. Brooks-bank supported the groom.

Following the wedding ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Howe, Ninth Avenue West, about forty guests being present to offer their congratulations and best wishes to the young couple.

The house was daintily decorated with white bells and streamers and the bride and groom entered to the strains of the Wedding March from Lohengrin played by Mrs. J. S. Black.

Canon Rushbrook proposed the toast to the bride which was responded to suitably by the groom.

Delicious refreshments were served, the bride cutting the beautiful three-tier wedding cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Richards will make their home in the city.

Mrs. C. Lindseth, who has been on a trip to Vancouver, returned to the city from the south on the Princess Norah yesterday morning.

From the Waterfront

Work of rebuilding the end nearest the station of the pedestrian overhead crossing into the Canadian National Railways station is proceeding. It is being almost entirely renewed. The ramp is at present closed off and the one section is out.

Motorship Bellingham arrived in port at 7:10 yesterday morning from Ketchikan and, after discharging seven carloads of frozen fish and one carload of mild cured, left at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon on her return north.

On a regularly scheduled fortnightly voyage to Alaska, C. P. R. steamer Princess Norah, Capt. William Palmer, arrived in port at 9 o'clock yesterday morning from Vancouver and sailed at 10:30 a.m. for Skagway and other northern points whence she is due back here on Thursday afternoon southbound. The vessel had thirty-eight passengers aboard on arrival here. Seven disembarked at this point while seven went aboard here for the north.

Union steamer Catala, Capt. James Findlay, arrived in port at 6 o'clock last evening from the south and sailed at 8 p.m. for Stewart, Anyox and other northern points whence she will return here Tuesday morning, sailing at 1:30 that afternoon for Vancouver and waypoints.

Enroute from Ketchikan to Seattle, Northland Transportation Co.'s motorship Norco is due in port tomorrow. She is bringing two carloads of frozen fish for transshipment East over Canadian National Railways.

TRIBUTE TO KING

Glory Must Be." "Hark, Hark, My Soul, Angelic Songs Are Swelling," "The Strife is O'er, the Battle Done" and "For All the Saints That From Their Labors Rest." Very Rev. J. B. Gibson, dean of the Cathedral, delivered a memorial sermon, speaking of the highlights of the reign of the late King and of his characteristics.

In First United Church last evening, Rev. C. D. Clarke took the Shakespearean saying "All the World's a stage and all the men and women merely players" as his text in a sermon on the life and reign of the late King. The choir sang as an anthem "What Are These?" At morning service in the United Church members of the Women's Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion, under the president, Mrs. Hugh Killin, attended in a body.

The subject of Rev. Dr. F. W. Daffoe in First Baptist Church was "What is Death?" He also paid suitable tribute to the memory of the late King. Mrs. William Adams of Vancouver sang sweetly "The City Foursquare." The church was decorated in mourning colors and there was a large congregation.

The following was part of an announcement which was read at the Christian Science Church: "The love of every Christian Scientist goes out to the Queen, to the Royal Family and to the whole British people. They pray that divine wisdom and love will pilgrimage King Edward VIII and support him throughout all the years of his reign."

The paid circulation of this newspaper is guaranteed to be greater than that of any other published in Prince Rupert—both city and country circulation.

GAY VIENNA FILM HERE

William Powell Heads Notable Cast In "Escapade" at Capitol Theatre

Viennese gaiety and melody, whimsical comedy and luring musical sequences mark "Escapade," a continental romance, coming to the Capitol Theatre here at the first of this week. William Powell is introduced in an entirely new type of role and the picture has many interesting surprises. It brings to the screen the voice of the great Enrico Caruso amplified from existing records into a very realistic replica of his actual voice. It introduces to the screen of this country, as Powell's leading lady, Luise Rainer, Viennese stage star. The cast also includes Frank Morgan and Virginia Bruce, popular American screen stars.

A great Vienna state ball, a luring evening in a Viennese music hall and a Caruso premiere at the Imperial opera are among the spectacular musical highlights.

A doctor's race to save a man's life is drama contrasted to an hilarious comedy of errors surrounding the mysterious model of a picture that arouses suspicions of a jealous husband. The action shifts from drama to laughter in a lightning-like plot action.

High School Teachers In Regular Meet

A meeting of the Northern High School Teachers' Association was held at the home of Roth Gordon last week. The president, Mr. Gordon, was in the chair and gave a summary of the "Draft Bill" for compulsory membership in the B. C. Teachers' Federation. A discussion followed the summary.

After the meeting adjourned, refreshments were served. Jack Wrathall showed some excellent moving pictures of local views, and two short comedies.
