However, one very important point was won in securing the aid of the federal government in expending considerable sums of money on highway construction and improvement. Then came the question of public works and again of lead for the first six months of there was a gain for the province and for Prince Rupert the year is slightly greater, and in particular. The Premier was able to co-operate with there are substantial value in-Olof Hanson to such an extent that a tentative arrangement was made for the transfer of property on which to erect the proposed new federal block.

Mr. Pattullo has changed in that he is unable to make those local contacts which he formerly did but he is now able to speak with authority and do things for the riding and the province which formerly he could not do. He is in good health only because he has cut off all unnecessary work, relegating this to others. He is cheerful and confident as ever, quite sure of his ground in every step he takes. To some of us it seems rather sad that we have lost the old "T. D." who has represented the riding for twenty years but, on the other hand, we have gained a Premier who is doing splendid work in the rehabilitation of a province which a few years ago was bankrupt. We have been able to give to the country something although we seem to have lost something ourselves.
