VICTORIA HOUSE SESSION IS OPENED

General Conditions Better But Problem Of Workless Present

Licence Fees of Individual Fishermen to be Abolished—“Useful and Necessary Public Undertakings” Are Contemplated

VICTORIA, Oct. 27: (CP)—Improved business conditions and increased government revenues were noted in the Speech from the Throne delivered by Hon. E. W. Hamber, Lieutenant Governor, at the opening today of the special fall session of the British Columbia Legislature. The speech referred to tourist traffic which, generally speaking, has been the heaviest in the history of the province; continued advance in the timber industry; expected increased activity in the pulp and paper industry; satisfactory increase in quantity and quality of agricultural production which, together with firming prices, was expected to bring the highest return to farmers since 1930, and mining production which continued to increase and, in view of general world demand, indicated continued activity.

Notwithstanding the general business revival, unemployment was still present, the Speech from the Throne said, and the government hoped that measures might be taken, in co-operation and collaboration with federal authorities, to relieve the situation.

Preliminary work relative to organization of health insurance was reported to be near completion and it was expected that the benefits of the act would be available early in 1937.

In regard to new legislation, the Speech forecast that measures would be submitted in aid of the municipalities. Licence fees now paid by individual fishermen in respect of commercial fishing would be abolished. Authority would be asked to enable the government to carry out a “useful and necessary program of public undertakings.”

Twelve Persons Are Injured After Giant New Ship Has Her Roughest Voyage

LONDON, Oct. 27: (CP)—After wallowing helplessly for twenty-four hours in a wild storm on the Irish Sea, the 7430-ton liner American Shipper, which had sent out “S.O.S.” calls on Sunday night to which two tugs responded, was safe in Dublin Bay last night. The vessel had suffered a broken rudder off the coast of Wicklow and lost steerage until the crew was able to effect temporary repairs which permitted her to come in here under her own steam. On the way in she encountered one of the most violent storms which has swept the British Isles in months.

The giant new Cunard-White Star Line steamer Queen Mary, speed queen of the Atlantic, docked at Southampton last night after the roughest voyage so far in her career. Eight passengers and four sailors were injured as a result of being thrown about in the violent seas. The battle with the storm delayed the ship for three and a half hours.

At Glasgow one person was killed when the storm blew over a trolley car.

May Pick Movie By Its Perfume

Old London Sees New Scheme To Dispense Sweet Odors With Talkies

LONDON, Oct. 27: (CP)—Talk of the “smellies” coming to the screen and ousting the “talkies” may not be such a joke after all. It may be the time is coming when the screen drama shall have its appropriate odors.

An apparatus for synchronizing smells with pictures has been among the exhibits at the International Exhibition of Inventions at the Central Hall, Westminster, and a description of the invention is interesting.

It is stated that when a scene of a field of violets is shown on the screen, violet perfume is released in the building. The device is particularly adaptable to short features, cartoons and general advertising.

YORK MAY OFFICIATE

Archbishop Canterbury's Position At Coronation—Scene to Be Preserved

LONDON, Oct. 27:—It was reported last night, although not confirmed, that the aged Archbishop of Canterbury had intimated that it might be impossible for him to officiate at the coronation of King Edward VIII next year. In the event he does not do so, the Archbishop of York will probably have charge of the rites.

As there will be many thousands including visitors from all parts of the world, who will be unable to see the actual coronation ceremonies in Westminster Abbey next year, the scene will be preserved for some time after the rites for the benefit of visitors who, it is expected, may be accommodated at the rate of about sixty thousand per day.

DROWNING IS FEARED

Two Japanese Believed to Have Lost Their Lives in Zenardi Rapids on Sunday

Two Japanese fishermen belonging to Sunnyside Cannery are believed to have lost their lives last Sunday in treacherous Zenardi Rapids where the Canadian National Railways line crosses from Kaien Island to the mainland near Prince Rupert. The provincial police boat P. M. L. 8 went out this morning to investigate the possibility of a double drowning in the upsetting of a small skiff.

The two Japanese, whose names are so far not available at district headquarters of the provincial police here, started from Sunnyside cannery for Port Edward in a gasboat on Saturday. On Sunday they left Port Edward in a skiff for Wolf Creek to reach which it was necessary for them to pass under the railway bridge and through the dangerous tidal fall of Zenardi Rapids. They were supposed to return to Port Edward Sunday night but they have not been seen. The sighting of an overturned skiff in the neighborhood has given rise to the fear that the pair may have been drowned. Their gas boat is still at Port Edward.

LANDON IS ON ATTACK

Hits Hard at Roosevelt in Speaking At Philadelphia Last Night

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27:—Speaking here last night in Convention Hall before a huge gathering which accorded him a tremendous ovation, Governor Alfred M. Landon of Kansas, Republican candidate for President of the United States, continued his violent attack upon President Roosevelt and the New Deal. Landon directly charged Roosevelt with violation of the constitution and countenancing the use of public money by “the most sinister political machine in the history of the country.”

Earlier in the day Landon spoke before a crowd of five thousand at a noon meeting in Baltimore. The Republican candidate's next speeches will be in Pittsburg and New York.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Oct. 27:—President Franklin D. Roosevelt spent yesterday in Washington attending to official business and left last night for a campaign tour to New Jersey, New York, Delaware and Pennsylvania. He will cast his own vote at Hyde Park next Tuesday.

SPAIN HAS QUIET DAY

Rebels, However, Reported to Be Still Blasting Out Path To Spanish Capital

Almost Cut Off

Russia is, Apparently, Making No Secret of Open Assistance To Government

LONDON, Oct. 27: (CP)—Spanish insurgents blasted out a new path on their drive on Madrid today as the international situation continued tense with Portugal reiterating her charges that Soviet Russia was responsible for the bloody civil war on the Iberian Peninsula. Russia is now making little, if any, attempt to conceal its active assistance to the cause of the leftist government of Spain. As announced yesterday, Portugal, in replying to Russian charges that Lisbon had been sending military aid to the rebels, charged that Soviet agents had not only created the present situation in Spain but had attempted to sow seeds of a revolution in authoritarian Portugal. Not only were Russian troops sent to Barcelona, seat of the autonomous government of Catalonia, sympathetic with the Madrid Socialist administration, arms and ammunition as well as aircraft were also being sent to the defence of Madrid.

Three Russian steamers were reported to have passed through the Canal yesterday bound from Vladivostok to Spain with arms and ammunition for the Spanish government. These were in addition to ships reported passing through the Bosphorus from Black Sea ports.

There was little actual fighting in the civil war yesterday although rebel planes roared over Madrid throughout the day terrorizing the residents. Bombs were dropped and there was machine gun fire but little damage of importance was done.

The insurgents claimed last night that the last railway connection between Madrid and the sea coast had been severed and it was only a matter of a few days before the capital would fall. The only escape route is by airplane or motor road to the south towards the cutting of which the rebels are moving. Fifty thousand more men were sent to work by the government yesterday in the endeavor to neutralize a tank attack upon the outskirts of Madrid which is expected at any time.

Fierce Fighting Resumed

Insurgent aircraft again machine-gunned Madrid today, continuing the fire mostly to the objective of anti-aircraft batteries. Fighting again raged over the battlefield as a “human avalanche” of raw Madrid government troops was unleashed in a desperate counter-attack in an attempt to stem the Fascist sweep toward the capital. Caught by surprise, the Fascists rushed up artillery, tanks and armored cars to beat off wave after wave of Socialist militia rushing across the Castilian plains at dawn.

The Other Fellow's Side

In the Bridge River and Cariboo mining district wages and working conditions are so good that the employees have no complaint against the employers. There are no strikes and no talk of strikes. Indeed, at some of the mines there is competition to get the jobs. Having no quarrel with their employers, the miners have been having little disputes among themselves as to the question of affiliating with the American Federation of Labor.

Of course, the reason that the employers in that district are paying good wages and making conditions so good for their men is that they themselves are making good. Their operations are proving profitable and they are ready and willing to share those profits with the employees in the way of decent wages and good camps. Consequently, everybody is happy.

Possibly in many cases where comparatively low wages are paid and working conditions are not so good it is because the employers are not making a reasonable margin themselves and are compelled to keep their costs down to keep their enterprises going at all. It is not likely that many employers deliberately cut on their employees to make good profits better. Sometimes, possibly, when strikes are talked about and workers seem discontented, the position of the employer is not sufficiently considered. He, too, may be having a hard and discouraging time.

We do not suggest that improvements to the present economic set-up are not needed but we are inclined to believe that the employer's side of the case may often be more or less disregarded amid the volubility and complaint of the employees who are finding it hard to piece out their incomes.

If the mass of Canadian employers were having as easy a time as are the operators of some of the Bridge River and Cariboo district mines, they would probably be as willing as they would be able to provide happy conditions for their employees and the complaints and strife as between bosses and workers would generally disappear.

If the employers and the employees could get together and strive towards making business better by co-operating one with the other instead of viewing each other with prejudice and distrust, something concrete might be done in making conditions more liveable all around.

What is needed is an attitude of live and let live instead of a bitter feeling that one side must be killed off so that the other may survive. The unfortunate thing is that many of us, in thinking of the problems which face us individually and collectively, consciously or unconsciously, do not give the other fellow a break.

Too often the man who may be blessed with a comfortable measure of the world's goods can only think that the poor man is just looking for an opportunity to take it away from him. Too often the poor man thinks that the man who is rich in influence or material things could only have got his wealth as a result of unfairness or dishonesty. This, it seems to us, is not the proper attitude. It is the attitude which makes fanatics and despots rather than benefactors and helpers.

SPORT CHAT

Ching Johnson, one of the "originals" of Lester Patrick's New York Rangers in the National Hockey League, is through as a regular defense man with the Gothamites but will be used in the "pinches" this season if he accepts Patrick's terms. In announcing that all regular Ranger players have signed contracts three weeks before the squad faces the 1936-37 barrier, Manager Patrick said he no longer considers Johnson a regular. "It is a question whether or not Johnson will hang up his skates and call quits to hockey or accept Rangers' proposition to make him a lieutenant in the organization," Patrick said.

Johnson's contract would make him one of Patrick's righthand men, in a similar capacity to that held by Bill Cook, veteran right-winger and another original Ranger. Johnson would be called for playing duty only in certain spots and would coach and direct defencemen, acting also in an advisory capacity. Johnson was "very doubtful" if he would hang up his skates, but tentatively rejected Patrick's offer. "There's not much ice in New York and if you don't get in all forty-eight games it's hard to keep in shape," he said.

KEELING TURFMAN

Puck Player Figuring His Prospects for Rainy Day in Hockey Career

TORONTO, Oct. 27: (CP)—Butch Keeling, hard-shooting left-winger of New York Rangers, may have only a couple of more years of big-time hockey in his system. "I'll be lucky if I stay up that long," he says—but chances are you'll see his name decorating the sports pages for many years. Butch has settled down to make a living for life out of sport.

On the ice he's an exceptionally fast skater, fearless and occasionally rough, anyway rough enough that the league's more notorious bad boys leave him strictly alone. During the years Keeling has accomplished some noted pinch-hitting for Lester Patrick's Rangers. Perhaps the highlight of his career was in the fourth game of the 1933 Stanley Cup finals in Toronto. The game was in overtime, two Maple Leafs were penalized in succession. As the Rangers moved up on the attack, the puck came to Butch who sidestepped a checker and slipped a neat pass to Bill Cook. The series-winning goal flashed from Cook's stick.

The other Butch Keeling, the dapper, youthful-looking big fellow who owns a string of race horses, is a familiar figure on Canadian tracks. He's been watching his steeds go to town for several years.

More in Racing
"It seems funny, doesn't it," he remarked the other day, just before leaving for the Winnipeg training camp of the Rangers, "but I've made more money in the last few years out of racing than from hockey? I've been lucky, I guess, but it's been great fun and I'm going to keep at it."

Butch, 31 years old, is the proud owner of six racers just now. He estimated 25 have passed through his hands since he became interested in the sport seven years ago. "I have six today," Butch said, "but I might have three or four tomorrow, then again I might have seven or eight. That's the way it goes."

His interest in racing came through his father's association in the trotting game in Owen Sound, Ont., and through his wife, whose parents were horse owners in England for years. His pretty, auburn-haired wife is, outwardly at least, more interested in his string of horses than Butch. "I didn't know a thing about horse racing when I first started," he said, "and I give all the credit for whatever success I've had to my trainer, C. S. Mitchell."

"Circulet was the first horse I bought and perhaps that's why he is my favorite. That was seven years ago and the gelding gave me my first trophy by winning the Mount Royal Handicap easily in 1932."

"I've had a swell time and a lot of success. I was eighth leading money winner in Canada last year although we haven't been doing so well this year."

When his hockey-playing days are over Keeling, unlike so many big-league performers who take up managerial or coaching positions in the ice game, isn't going to do that.

"I'll devote my time to racing," he said, "either as an owner or in some other capacity."

She Dreaded Going Upstairs

Woman's Fear of Rheumatic Pains

One of the many troubles that afflict rheumatic sufferers is the difficulty of getting up and down stairs. Such was the case with this woman, but now she finds it no trouble. Read what she says:— "I have been taking Kruschen now for over 12 months, a half-teaspoonful in hot water first thing in the morning, and I feel a new woman. I had very painful rheumatism in my knees and back and also my head was getting very bad. I used to dread walking upstairs, now I am very thankful to say it is no trouble at all and I scarcely have any pains. I feel better in health than I have done for years." —(Mrs.) G.M.

Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts are notable for their work in dissolving uric acid. Other ingredients of Kruschen assist Nature to expel the dissolved acid from the system.

Smithers Man Has Narrow Escape In Falling Rock

SMITHERS, Oct. 27: —William Duff of Smithers narrowly escaped death Friday afternoon when engaged in his occupation as brakeman on the Canadian National Railway near Cedarvale. While standing on a car load of rock on the edge of the Skeena River the car was suddenly dumped, precipitating him down the railway embankment to the river amid tons of broken and jagged rock.

He was immediately extricated from the rock and rushed to the Hazelton Hospital where it was found that he had suffered serious cuts and bruises about the head and ears.

He had his injuries attended to at Hazelton and came on to his home at Smithers on Saturday morning's train. His many friends in Smithers are very pleased to know that his injuries are no worse than what they now appear to be and are congratulating him upon escaping alive.

TRIBUTE IS PAID

All Detroit Seems to Mourn For Senator Couzens as His Funeral is Held

DETROIT, Oct. 27.—All of Detroit seemed to pay tribute yesterday to the memory of the late Senator James Couzens on the occasion of his funeral. Henry Ford, with whom Couzens had been associated in business and industry, was a pallbearer. Vice-President John N. Garner was in attendance.

A career that is found more often in story book than in actual life was that of James Couzens who died at the end of last week. It was a career that took him from train butcher and $40 a month car checker to success in the automotive industry and the distinction of being one of the wealthiest men in the United States Senate.

It frequently was said that Mr. Couzens was one of the several millionaires created by the Ford Motor Company; that he put $2,500 into the company and took out $30,000,000. The statements are not exactly correct. It would be more nearly correct to say that Couzens was one of the creators of the Ford Motor Company, for certainly he put more than his money into the company when he joined hands with Henry Ford and a few others in 1903 to organize what was destined to become an industrial colossus.

Income Tax Suit
 Testifying in the greatest income tax suit the government ever instituted—a suit to enforce collection of $30,851,659.52 from Couzens and other former minority stockholders of the Ford Motor Company—an early associate declared: "It was due to his efforts that the company became a success. The team work of him and Mr. Ford contributed to make a bigger success than would have been possible had either gone on alone. Mr. Couzens gave the best part of his life to the company."

Couzens' connection with the Ford enterprise was more or less accidental in its inception. He was chosen by an earlier investor in the Ford undertaking to "protect" the investor's funds.

The partnership between Henry Ford and James Couzens terminated in 1915, the result of a sharp disagreement as to business policies. Mr. Couzens resigned as an officer of the company but retained his stock holdings. The breach later was healed, but not until after Couzens had publicly denounced the Ford presidential boom in 1923 as "ridiculous."

Another associate said that fifty percent of the success of the Ford Motor Company was due to the efforts of Mr. Couzens. "He was a hard-headed financial manager and his integrity and ability were never questioned," the associate said.

Considerable work has been done this year on the Homestake mine, a gold property at the foot of the glacier. The Toric, owned by the Britannia, is all ready for operation and may reopen at any time when regular transportation is assured. Assessment work has been done this year on eighty claims near Alice Arm and 47 miner's licences have been issued since June, so it is evident that Alice Arm holds promise of yet becoming a real mining camp.

LONDON, Oct. 27. (CP)—More than half of the accidents in mines are due to carelessness and neglect, it was asserted in evidence submitted before the Royal Commission on safety in coal mines

Going to the senate late in 1922 as successor to Truman H. Newberry, who had resigned, Mr. Couzens soon brought criticism from several sources for his habit of plain speaking. The first was a renewed break with his old friend, Henry Ford.

FUTURE OF ALICE ARM

qualified man and the general expectation seems to be that the mine should very soon be on a paying basis.

There are at present nearly 20 men employed on the Esperanza. Returns from shipments of concentrates have given 25 ounces of silver and one eighth of an ounce of gold to the ton of ore. Small amounts of zinc and copper bring no revenue. A shipment of concentrates amounting to about 25 tons is being made this week and it is planned to speed up production very materially. Arrangements are being made to operate all winter with the possible exception of extreme cold spells.

Although the mill has been operating since the first of the year it has been operated by the Esperanza company only since the first of September and with the present expert management it should pay well. The Esperanza is the hope of Alice Arm. Its present payroll is over $20,000 a month and this will be increased soon as it is operated to capacity. The mine is close to the town of Alice Arm and only a little more than a mile from the dock with good transportation facilities.

The Dolly Varden is a very different proposition. The ore carries higher values and the quantities are larger but transportation is more difficult. It is under lease for five years to T. W. Falconer, merchant of Alice Arm, who with his two sons, Lorne and Kirk and Gordon Brown, a mining engineer, are operating it in a small way with prospects of very considerable development. They have been severely handicapped by the washing out of the Dolly Varden railway this year, which has made it necessary to pack in all supplies and has prevented the shipment of any ore. However, the government road gangs, under Ole Evindsen, have been doing excellent work and it is probable that before the deep snows come a shipment of thirty tons of high grade will be made, winter supplies will be taken in and work will be continued in the mine all winter. The lessees are hoping to steadily increase production and so put in a mill next year. Should their efforts come to fruition, there will be two producing mines at Alice Arm, both operating profitably.

Considerable work has been done this year on the Homestake mine, a gold property at the foot of the glacier. The Toric, owned by the Britannia, is all ready for operation and may reopen at any time when regular transportation is assured. Assessment work has been done this year on eighty claims near Alice Arm and 47 miner's licences have been issued since June, so it is evident that Alice Arm holds promise of yet becoming a real mining camp.
