MAINE RETURNS TO REPUBLICAN FOLD IN ELECTION; DEMOCRATS SUFFER DEFEAT IN ALL OFFICES

PORTLAND, Maine, Sept. 15.—Maine turned in a record of over 300,000 votes in its polling yesterday and, apparently, went back solidly to the Republican fold. Two-thirds of the returns last night made it apparent that Republicans had swept the state in the contest for five offices—senator, governor and three congressional seats.

Senator Wallace H. White jr., Republican, was leading his Democratic opponent, 90,000 to 84,000 votes in the upper House contest.

Governor Louis J. Brann, Democratic, was down before his Republican opponent 97,500 to 71,000 and was certain of defeat.

The Democrats were trailing Republicans badly in the three congressional seats, two of which in 1932 went Democratic.

Support of Townsend Plan and third group movements was inconsequential.

Later returns today indicated an even more sweeping Republican victory. Observers are studying the result as a possible portent of the November poll.

Landon in New York
NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Governor Alfred M. Landon of Kansas, Republican candidate for President, was in New York, Roosevelt's home state, yesterday in the course of his rear platform speaking tour and was accorded a great reception, declared by party supporters to be comparable to that given former Governor Al Smith in the heyday of his career. Republican enthusiasm reached fever heat last night as returns from Maine started coming in, indicating a great victory for the G. O. P. in the key state.

Knox Critical
HELENA, Sept. 15.—Col. Frank Knox, Republican vice-presidential running mate for Governor Alfred M. Landon, was in Helena last night and, in the course of a speech of denunciation of the New Deal, declared that "no life insurance policy was safe and no bank deposit sure" under Rooseveltian policies. His profligate squandering has been the most unparadiseable of all the extravagances of the administration, declared Knox.

TO RESCUE OF FLIERS

Eddie Rickenbacker Making Flight To Newfoundland

NEW YORK, Sept. 15. (CP)—Accompanied by a party of five, Eddie Rickenbacker, general manager of the commercial air line which employs Dick Merrill, left last night at 5 o'clock to fly to Newfoundland to rescue Merrill and Harry Richman who were reported to have been forced down in the plane Lady Peace on a return flight across the Atlantic Ocean from England.

Merrill and Richman came down in a marsh three miles from Musgrave Harbor on the northeast coast of Newfoundland yesterday. They had taken off from Southport, England, Sunday night and had been in the air about sixteen hours. Their engine started sputtering and, visibility being poor, they resolved to come down in the first open spot. They narrowly averted complete disaster. The propeller was shattered and the wing was damaged as the machine tipped over.

The fliers escaped without injury other than scratches and bruises. It was announced today that they would try to dig the plane out of the swamp themselves preparatory to continuing the flight to New York.

Japanese Expecting Settlement For Mob Slaying Last Month

EMINENT PIANIST IS DEAD

Ossip Gabrilowitsch, Son-in-Law Of Mark Twain, Passes Away In Detroit

DETROIT, Sept. 15. (CP)—Ossip Gabrilowitsch, in the front rank of symphony orchestra conductors and pianists since the early part of the twentieth century, died here yesterday. Since 1917 the major portion of his artistic achievement was recorded in the United States. Orchestras responded to his skilled baton in Munich, Paris, Berlin, Vienna, Manchester, Philadelphia and Detroit. At the piano he won critical acclaim in all great cities of the world, beginning with a concert tour of Europe at the age of 18.

Although Gabrilowitsch achieved his highest triumphs as pianist and director of great orchestras he was celebrated also as a composer, lecturer, linguist and connoisseur of the seven arts.

Gabrilowitsch was born in St. Petersburg, now Leningrad, February 7, 1878. He was one of three sons of a lawyer and was reared in an environment of artistic culture. His first instruction at the piano was received from his mother and two older brothers, Gregor and Arthur, when he was only five years old.

Drawing and painting held equal interest with music in the affections of the boy until he was nine years old. At that time his parents took him to Anton Rubinstein, the famous musician, who declared that Gabrilowitsch possessed exceptional talent and it was decided to devote his career to music.

He was sent to the St. Petersburg conservatory, from which he was graduated at the age of 16 after he had won the Rubinstein prize, the highest honor open to him.

After his graduation Gabrilowitsch went to Vienna to study with Leschetizky for two years, finishing with highest honors. He became thoroughly grounded in all phases of musical art, studying in addition under Liedow, Glazounow and Rimsky-Korsakoff, all leading Russian composers.

Weds Mark Twain's Daughter

Gabrilowitsch gave his first public recital in 1896, appearing in all the principal cities of Europe. He then was 18 years old.

In 1900 he came to the United States, establishing himself so quickly and firmly that he was engaged for tours every other year until in 1914 he decided to reside here permanently and became a citizen.

In 1909 he married Clara Clemens, daughter of Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain) and herself a singer of distinction, a contralto who appeared frequently in joint recital with him. Their only child, Nina, was born in 1913.

TRADE WITH RUSSIA

One of Prince Rupert's neighboring ports is Vladivostok. It is across the Pacific about opposite us. In view of our proximity it is very desirable that we be able to trade with each other. That is one reason why the action of the federal government in raising the embargo is particularly interesting to us. It also should allow those who are always lauding Russia and running down Canada an opportunity to cross the Pacific and join the workers of that much favored land.

The News believes in trade. As the representative newspaper of an ambitious port, it could not do otherwise. We believe that no country can live unto itself and that it is just as reasonable to trade with Russia as with Japan or China or India. Especially desirable is it that trade with the Orient should be cultivated as long as it is properly hedged by such tariffs as will protect the Canadian workmen and manufacturers in a reasonable way.

AS MAINE GOES

"As Maine goes, so goes the nation," is an old saying in the United States. Yesterday the Republicans swept the state of Maine and this will be considered an augury of what will happen at the presidential election in November. Until now everything pointed to the return of Roosevelt, but now the outcome seems in doubt. Even if the president is given a second term it will probably be with a very greatly reduced majority and the possibility of a hostile Congress before the end of the term. The outlook for the "New Deal" program is anything but hopeful.

As a matter of fact the tendency today is away from radicalism. The depression is rapidly passing and in good times people have no use for extreme legislation. Only when there is another depression will people begin to look for a better way of administering the affairs of the nation. This is really the time when people should prepare for the next depression but they never do. They carry on as if it would always be like this and the hard days of five years ago are becoming only a dim memory. Evidently most Americans have forgotten the days when the banks were almost all closed or closing, when fear stalked through the nation and when nobody could be sure what would happen tomorrow. There seemed to be no money anywhere and even gilt-edged securities could not be sold except at bargain prices. Roosevelt brought the nation through a terrible time but now or soon a normal Republican administration will be chosen, an administration that is a reflex of the popular mind, which in that country is conservative.

SPORT CHAT

Helen Wills Moody, America's first lady of tennis, won't admit it, but it is evident that the greatest feminine net player the world has ever known is through with the game so far as big time competition is concerned. The San Francisco matron did not take part in the national championships at Forest Hills this fall. Helen said she was withdrawing for this year only that she might complete her duties as a designer for a national dress firm, a job that is satisfying her artistic talents.

But tennis experts who have watched her game since she began practice early in the spring with the avowed intention of returning to Wimbledon and Forest Hills say there are other reasons for her temporary retirement. They say that it is not art, but tennis, and very bad tennis so far as Mrs. Moody goes, that caused her to make last minute cancellation of her plans for both the British and American tournaments.

After many months of spasmodic practice that indicated her waning interest in competition, Mrs. Moody entered the mixed doubles of the California state championships with Edward ("Bud") Chandler as her partner. Her appearance in the state tourney proved that her drawing power has not passed, for the affair made money for the first time in many years, but tennis critics saw the decline of her once powerful and brilliant game.

The serve that equaled that of most men had lost its zip, and her usual accuracy and scorching drives were lacking. And Mrs. Moody, as sensitive to her own game as the critics, soon told the world of her temporary retirement. Mrs. Moody is too young and too active to be regarded as a "has been," and so she indicates that she may be back again next year. But critics say that she has passed her prime, and logically point out that she will find it harder to regain her form next year than she did this season. After all, Queen Helen has been the top ranking tennis player of the world since she first won the national title in 1923, with pig-tails hanging down her back.

Mrs. Moody's retirement will be followed shortly by that of "Helen II." Miss Jacobs, who followed the champion up the same ladder step by step at the Berkeley Tennis Club, at the University of California and in the same tournaments, and who lost the United States open title to Alice Marble at Forest Hills on Saturday. Miss Jacobs' father, a San Francisco advertising man, says that his daughter is not likely to play more than another year. She has been troubled with a physical ailment for some time, and pictures of her after she won the recent Wimbledon tournament from Frau Sperling showed her to be almost completely exhausted, something that has never happened before.

Like Mrs. Moody, Miss Jacobs has her artistic interest. Her recent book on tennis has been well received everywhere. Her goal is fiction, and literary critics believe she has the touch. The passing of Mrs. Moody and Miss Jacobs will rob tennis of its best names in the last ten years and marks the end of America's great era on the courts that began with Bill Tilden and "Little Bill" Johnson.

No men players have risen to take the places of these stars but now Alice Marble, also of San Francisco, gives promise of stepping into the shoes of the Two Helens. Miss Marble was regarded as America's most promising young player until she collapsed on an eastern court three years ago. Since that time she has been confined in California sanitariums. Now she has recovered and on Saturday, in defeating Miss Jacobs, showed that she may be expected to rise to the heights of Mrs. Moody and Miss Jacobs.

Be wise. Read the want ads.

NEAR CINCH FOR GIANTS

Cardinals Lose Crucial Game to New York and Terry Men Should Now Capture Pennant

NEW YORK, Sept. 15: (CP)—With only 12 games still scheduled, the New York Giants all but nailed the 1936 National League pennant to the mast yesterday by defeating the St. Louis Cardinals by a score of 7 to 5 in the last game of a crucial series. Both clubs used their pitching aces, Carl Hubbell doing mound duty for the Giants and Dizzy Dean for the Cardinals. Both were freely hit. The victory gave the Giants a four and a half game lead over the Cardinals and six games over the third place Chicago Cubs who lost a close decision to the Dodgers at Brooklyn.

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox, playing at home, took both ends of a double-header from Washington Senators and pretty well confirmed themselves in second place with three and a half games of margin over the Washington Senators and Detroit Tigers, the latter winning a one-run shut-out over the Boston Red Sox, to tie with Washington for third place.

Yesterday's scores:
National League
St. Louis 5, New York 7.
Cincinnati 6, Boston 0.
Chicago 1, Brooklyn 2.
Pittsburg 11-6, Philadelphia 4-5.
American League
Boston 0, Detroit 1.
Washington 4-3, Chicago 5-11.

Curves Healthy For Some Women

Real Damage Has Been Done By Reducing, Declares Montreal Expert

MONTREAL, Sept. 15: (CP)—Evidence of a return to curves in present-day fashions would be beneficial to many women, Dr. Annie E. Reynolds, health supervisor of the Women's Benefit Association, told members of that group here. Real damage to health had resulted from the slimming "craze," Dr. Reynolds said. "Some women are not intended to be boyishly slim," she pointed out. "A perfect 38 or even a perfect 40, with good health, energy and no excess weight, is much more to be desired than extra slimmness that may result in an irritable disposition, lack of strength from under nourishment and danger from disease."

Man in the Moon

Jake was worrying all day Sunday trying to solve a question. You see, he was trying to find out the difference between a nudist and a stripling.

They say Babe Ruth is about to return to Big League baseball but not as a slugger. At present he is said to be arguing with the owners of one of the clubs as to the price he is to be paid.

In Russia the barter system is still used to a considerable extent. Sometimes, for instance, the employees of some establishments are paid in meat. Jake says they have nothing on us. In this country we get chops in our salaries.

There was a frost this week but that's nothing to the frost there is in the office when the boss is asked for an advance.

Prince Rupert people have been noted as good cooks since the founding of the city.

But that does not mean all Prince Rupert people. There are other kinds.

Jake says some of the Prince Rupert cooks can cook if they want to, but they never seem to want to.

I wish that I could get a wife Who could roast and boil and bake, And when she'd nothing else to do She could make me jelly cake.

If you can tell a story to a speed cop and make him believe it and account for your action to your wife without making a scene, you are a genius.

If all the world were happy, And all the people kind, There'd still be things to fight about

If you'd an Irish mind.

Mrs. Sweeney: "That couple next door seem very devoted. He kisses her every time they meet. Why don't you do that?" Mr. Sweeney: "I don't know her well enough yet."

Dr. Dafoe Speaks Before British-Israel Meeting

The regular meeting of the British Israel Association was held last evening in the Toc H rooms with the president, P. H. Linzey, in the chair. The speaker for the evening was Rev. Dr. F. W. Dafoe, pastor of First Baptist Church, who gave an inspirational address encouraging the members to more earnest devotion to Bible study and Christian living. The world is divided into two camps, declared the speaker, politically and religiously, and there is a great need for Christians everywhere to witness with clearness and boldness for the truth of the Bible. God can only work through human beings and, if we as professed followers of Christ fail in our witness in these dark days we are unworthy servants, declared the speaker, who told of the visit of Dr. Goard to Vancouver recently and gave some impressions of his meetings and of the deep spiritual messages which he conveyed to his large audiences.

PASSING OF R. BLANCE

Former Marine Superintendent For Cold Storage Died This Morning

Robert Blance, for years marine superintendent here for the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co., passed away at 9:30 this morning in the Prince Rupert General Hospital after a lengthy illness. He had retired from active work several months ago.

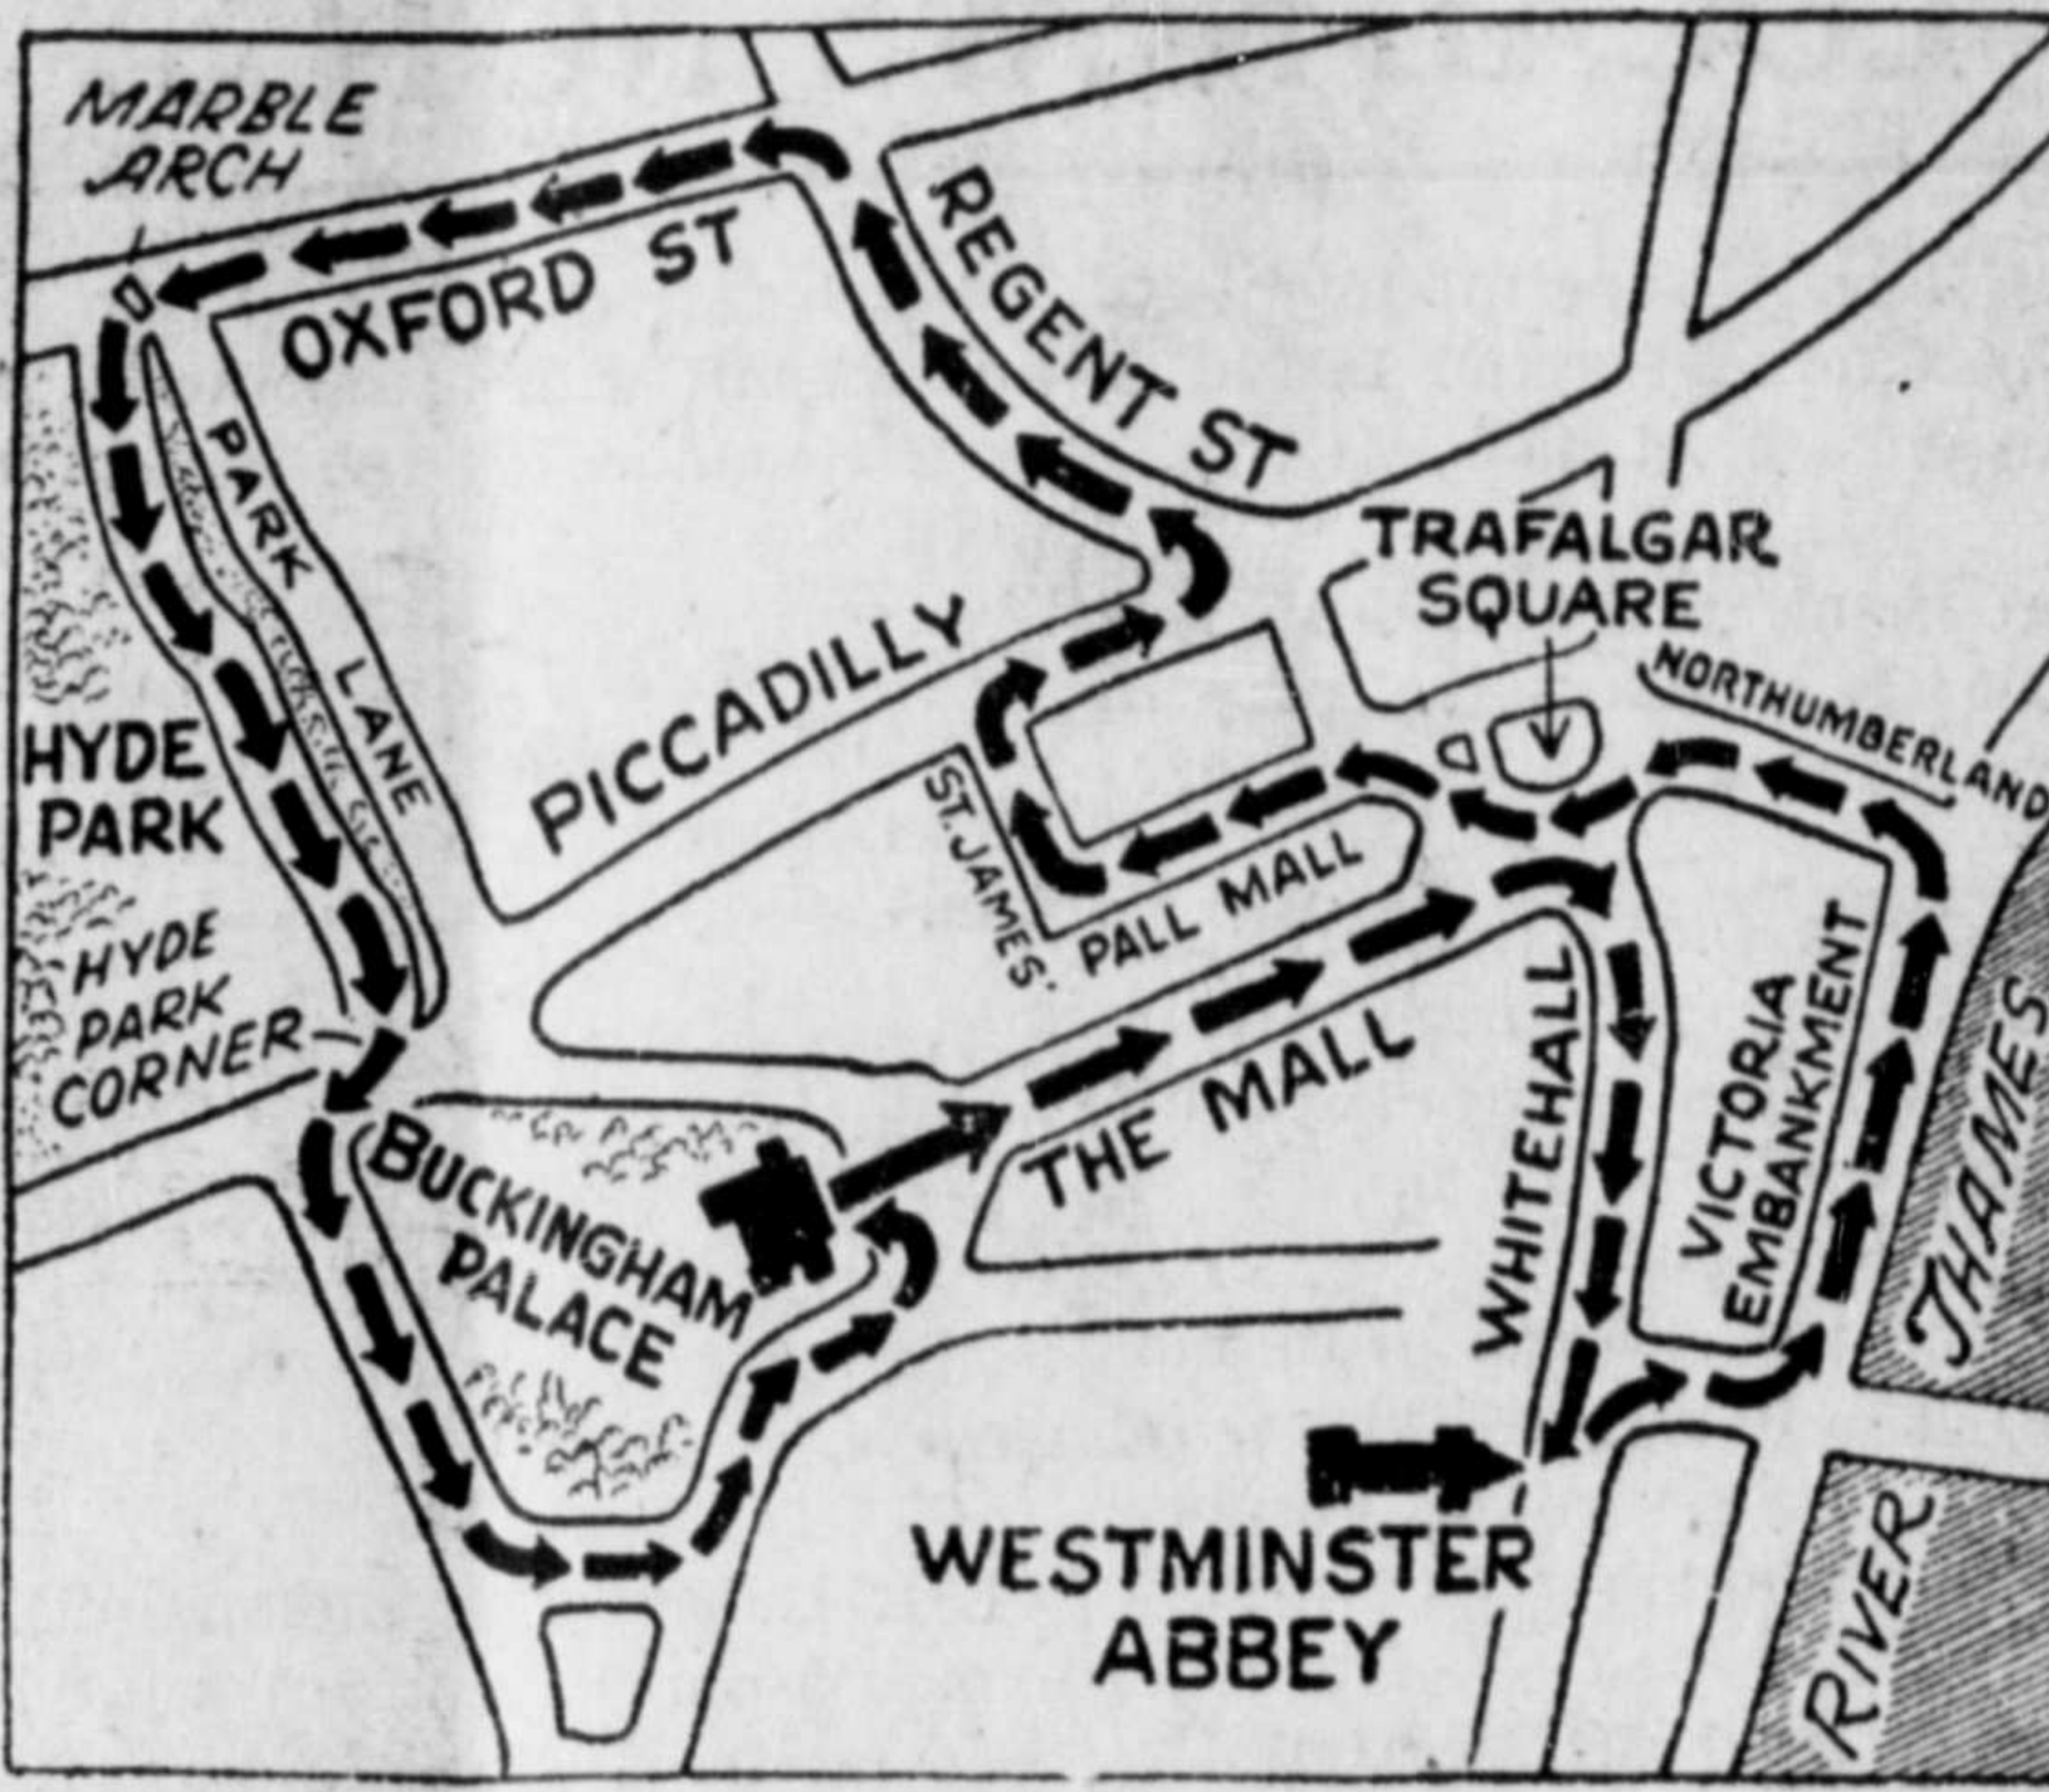

Fifty-two years of age and a native of South Shields, Northumberland, England, he came here some twenty-two years ago when the Cold Storage Co. brought a fleet of steam trawlers from Grimsby to this coast, bringing out one of the vessels as chief engineer.

Mr. Blance is survived by a widow and one daughter, Marjorie. The surviving relatives also include a brother, William Blance, in the Old Country. The bereaved will have the sincere sympathy of their numerous friends.

A prominent member of the Masonic craft, the late Mr. Blance was a past master of Tye Lodge. He was also active in the work of the local Navy League's Sea Cadets, being lieutenant in charge of the corps.

The funeral, it is expected, will take place Thursday afternoon with Masonic rites. Rev. Canon W. F. Rushbrook will officiate.

Route of King's Coronation

Contrary to forecast, the official announcement of the route to be taken by the King's coronation procession on May 12, 1937, showed the drives to and from Westminster Abbey would be the longest on record, covering nearly twice the distance of the coronation route taken by the late King George. The route will traverse no street twice, thus giving the enormous crowds expected from home and overseas ample opportunity to see the pageantry. The route from Buckingham Palace to the west entrance of Westminster Abbey will be by way of the Mall, Trafalgar Square, Whitehall and Parliament St. The return journey will be via Victoria Embankment, Northumberland Avenue, Cockspur St., Pall Mall, St. James St., Piccadilly Circus, Regent St., the Marble Arch and Hyde Park corner.

Babes Longer And Broader

More of Them, Too, at Annual Baby Show, Where Doctors Say Knowledge Does It

TORONTO, Sept. 15: (CP)—The babies of today are broader, heavier and longer than babies of the same age used to be, according to Dr. W. H. Nelson. Both he and Dr. J. A. McCollum, chief of the Canadian National Exhibition hospital, agree this was because babies were born healthier and fed and clothed better.

"The comparative heights and weights will all have to be changed," Dr. Nelson announced. "Why, if we had judged the young babies last year entirely to schedule, everything would have been askew. Those 'six months and under babies', for example, are very much larger for their age than they used to be. You remember they had to lengthen the beds for the boys at Upper Canada College recently," he recalled. "It's all due to the better knowledge of food values and vitamins and proper clothing."

A total of 853 babies were entered in the exhibition baby show. Last year there were 700.

OPELIKA, Ala., Sept. 15: (CP)—Going out to purchase a safe, M. E. Gilmore, a local business man, came back to find his cash drawer rifled of $200.
