REVOLUTION IN CHINA IS IN FULL SWING NOW

BRITISH INNISKILLINGS ARE ORDERED TO PEKIN

British Government Takes Precautions to Protect the Europeans in Peking—Report That Rebels Have Taken Imperial War-Chest With $1,000,000

(Canadian Press Despatch)
Peking, Oct. 26.—The British Inniskilling Dragoons which had started to leave for India have been ordered to return to Peking and are now on the march back. They will arrive here tomorrow from Tientsin, whither they had gone to embark for Calcutta.

Cities Join Rebels
Advices from revolutionary sources show that the rebels have captured the city of Hukow, and that the rebel forces have been augmented by large forces from Man Chang and Kwei Ling, which have gone over to the revolutionaries.

Rebels are Cautious
The reports all agree that the revolutionaries are taking precautions to prevent their followers from committing any excesses. It is realised however, that there is great danger of them breaking loose in the exultation of victory. Soldiers Leave Peking

Every train for the south is laden with soldiers. Five thousand soldiers started today for Sin Yang Chow to strengthen the Imperial forces there under General Tchang. Another battle with the rebels is sure to ensue. Capture $1,000,000 War Chest
London, Oct. 26.—A report has reached here by cable from Peking stating that the Chinese rebels have outflanked the Imperial troops near Hankow and seized the military war chest containing a million dollars.

CHICAGO SUFFRAGETTE HAS NOVEL MARRIAGE CONTRACT

Mrs. Gertrude Matt Agrees Not to Buy Her Husband Cigars, and He in Return Agrees to Divide His Bank Account and Not Grow Jealous of any Man Who Admires Her

Chicago, Oct. 26.—Chicago's first suffragist marriage has taken place between Edward Matt and Gertrude Ellis. Before the ceremony was performed they both visited the county recorder, with whom Mr. Matt officially filed the following affidavit to be sworn to before a notary: "To whom it may concern—I, Edward Matt, agree to allow my wife all the privileges of a free-born American woman. She may have her own way in everything (except in buying my cigars); she is free to go and come when she likes, to choose her own friends, and I agree not to be jealous. I agree not to go gunning for a fellow because she admires her beauty or because she smiles when he tips his hat. "I will not interfere in any of her plans. I will be good and kind to her. I promise to spill all my earnings into her lap, and it shall be her privilege to do with it as she likes so long as she feeds me well. When we have a surplus and it goes into the bank I agree that I will not hold the keys. Cheques may be signed by both to make them good. I promise not to be afraid to go home at night, and to be there at all proper times or to make valid excuses. I further agree not to talk about the pies my mother used to make, or to grumble because the buns are soggy. I further agree to let her get a Reno divorce right here in Chicago if I do not behave as a kind, loving, gentle and considerate husband."

WILL CALL FOR NAVAL INQUIRY

Defence Department at Ottawa Will Court Martial the Officers of the Niobe.

(Canadian Press Despatch)
Ottawa, Oct. 26.—The Department of Naval Defence have decided to hold a court martial on the officers of the Niobe in connection with the stranding of the ship off Cape Sable last July.

It will be remembered that the charge was freely made on Conservative platforms that the Niobe grounded while on her way to take part in a Liberal picnic.

PHILADELPHIA WINS

Philadelphia, Oct. 26.—Philadelphia Athletics today won the World's Baseball Championship by a victory over the New York Giants by 13 to 2. The score was: New York 2 runs, 4 hits, 3 errors. Philadelphia 13 runs, 14 hits, 5 errors. Bender and Ames started the game. This is the fourth win for Philadelphia out of six games and carries the World's Championship.

NOT TO OPPOSE THE MINISTERS

Quebec Liberals Decide to Allow New Ministers a Walk-over for Their Seats.

(Canadian Press Despatch)
Ottawa, Oct. 26.—The Liberal leaders have made an announcement that the return of the Cabinet Ministers from Quebec will not be opposed. The nominations take place on Friday. The original intention had been to concentrate an opposition against Hon. Mr. Pelletier. There is still some talk of opposition to the Ministers in Ontario, but principally from disgruntled Tories.

CHINESE HOUSE DEMANDS DISMISSAL OF PREMIER

Federal Assembly Practically Goes Over to the Rebels—Imperial Family are Meditating Flight—Roads Lined With Refugees

SING HUAI
First Premier of China, whose dismissal has taken place.

(Canadian Press Despatch)
Peking, Oct. 26.—To add to the gravity of the Chinese situation, the assembly which met yesterday in small numbers has practically gone over to the rebels. They have given what is practically an ultimatum to the Manchus to leave the country, and have impeached Sing Huai, the President of the Chinese Ministry, demanding his instant dismissal and severe punishment.

Royal Family Prepare
It is commonly reported that the Imperial family has prepared for flight and will make for Jehol about 115 miles north of Peking. The road to Jehol is practically lined with troops. Others think that the linking of the Jehol road is only a ruse and the Imperial family will seek refuge in the foreign settlements at Tientsin or some of the other ports.

REBELLION SWEEPS OVER CHINA

City of Sian, One of Government's Strongholds, Surrenders Without a Blow---City of Hukow is Captured After a Fight
CHINESE GENERAL REFUSES TO FIGHT

General Yin Tchang of the Imperial Troops, Insists on Having More Guns and Wages for His Troops Before He Will Advance—Federal Assembly is Deserted—Foreign Residents in the Coast Cities Clamor for Protection from European Warships

(Canadian Press Despatch)
Peking, Oct. 25.—There is no longer any doubt as to the success of the Chinese rebels. The city of Sian which has been looked on as one of the strongholds of the Government has gone over to them without striking a blow. The whole of the southwest corner of the Chinese Empire is rapidly becoming inflamed, and the people are siding with the rebels.

GENERAL WON'T BUDGE
General Yin Tchang who is in command of the main body of the Imperial troops at Sin Yang Chow has declined to move upon the rebels there. He says they have four hundred guns with them, and he refuse to advance unless supplied with additional guns, and money wherewith to pay the Imperial troops their back pay.

NATIVE BANKERS REFUSE LOANS
The native bankers are alarmed at the success of the rebellion and refuse to lend any money to the Government. Their action is very significant of Chinese opinion on the rebellion.

MEMBERS ARE ABSENT
Even the members of the Federal Assembly which was to open its business sessions in Peking yesterday, show their indifference to the Government. In the face of the crisis, only ninety of the two hundred members attending the opening of the House yesterday. There was not a single representative from the provinces of Hupeh and Sze Chuen.

FOREIGNERS ARE ANXIOUS
The foreigners are becoming anxious at the state of affairs. At Sian and Hukow which has also fallen, British and foreign warships are protecting their own country people. At Foo Chow there are a large number of Americans, and they have asked that the warships arrange to protect them in case of an uprising there, as it is certain that the revolution is rapidly travelling eastwards.

MANY SPEAKERS FAVOR COMMISSION GOVT.

Presbyterian Club Discussion Last Night Aroused Considerable Interest and is Not the Last to be Held on This Great Subject

With the important subject "Municipal Government by Council or by Commission," for debate the Presbyterian Church Club met last night in their new hall or the first time for this season. The Mayor presided and several well known speakers led the debate which resulted indecisively the matter being really only broached for deeper discussion later. Speakers present, however, gave interesting views in favor of commission government which furnish the foundations of further thought on the subject which is to come up again.

Gave Historical Resume
G. R. T. Sawle opened the subject of the evening after a few complimentary remarks by the Mayor on the advantage of the church club. Mr. Sawle briefly summarized the history of the system of government by commission which, he said, dated back to the flood—the Galveston flood. Commission government instituted then by three strong citizens who had stepped into the breach when the existing council became demoralised by the disaster, was a great success, and lasted. Now city after city all over the States is adopting the system.

Almost inseparable from the idea of commission government, said Mr. Sawle, is the triple idea of initiative, referendum and recall. Canada's nearest approach to the commission form of government for cities as far as Mr. Sawle was aware was the Board of Control plan. This really resolved itself principally into an Advisory Board in most cases. One point Mr. Sawle brought out emphatically. That was the certainty that it will be necessary for Prince Rupert—if she desires commission government—to influence many other cities in B. C. to adopt the same system because Attorney General Bowser has announced himself insistent on a uniform system of municipal government throughout B. C.

Politicians Don't Want It
Announced to lead the debate on the side against commission government Orlando H. Nelson was non-committal. He declared himself, however, conservative enough to desire to stick to the present system until something better were shown him. Galveston might have recovered just as well from the flood under a council as under commission—it was a matter of men after all. Mr. Nelson was afraid that commission government offered better opportunities for graft. Three men could graft amongst themselves with city funds better than the same three could in a council of nine. His own experience at Victoria of politicians at Victoria had shown him that the idea of having any changes in the present municipal system of B. C. caused the said politicians to use language which he mildly described as "not strictly Presbyterian."

Success in Des Moines
"Prince Rupert more than any other city in Canada needs a stable form of government," declared George Angell. He went on to describe the success of commission government in Des Moines, Iowa, a city which he had himself lived in first under council and then under commission. To him there seemed no reason why a city should not be run as systematically as a department store. He suggested that a committee should be appointed in the city to follow up the question and that Prince Rupert should not rest until all the cities in B. C. wanted commission government.

"Make Prince Rupert the business end of a live wire extending all through the province to create commission government," he said.

Fire Hose Politicians
A new speaker, Mr. Donell, dealing with his own city of

MAYOR AND ALD. HILDITCH

Anxiety at City Hall Over News Editorial. Mayor Says Ald. Hilditch is Appointed to Help in Hydro-Electric Specifications Only.

Mayor Manson this morning was most anxious that the News should make a correction in reference to the editorial published yesterday regarding the appointment of Alderman Hilditch to the water committee.

"Alderman Hilditch is not chairman of the water committee," said the Mayor. "He is connected with the committee only to help with their specifications for Lake Woodworth waterworks, and has not to do with the spending of the money at all. Here are the minutes on the appointment."

The excerpt from the minutes reads as follows: "The Mayor appointed Alderman Hilditch to act with the water committee to confer with the City Engineer on the subject of specifications." The latter clause the Mayor desired emphasised as being the essence of the appointment of Alderman Hilditch.

The Mayor pointed out that Alderman Newton in his letter to the electors had got the matter of the appointment of Alderman Hilditch wrong also, and said it was not fair to Alderman Hilditch. He hoped the News would give the matter publicity in fairness to the alderman.

ITEMS OF SPORT

Before departing for England Earl Grey announced the appointment of Mr. W. K. George of Toronto, successor to Mr. P. D. Ross of Ottawa, as Minto Cup trustee. Mr. George has consented to officiate. The eastern and western leagues have been advised of the appointment. Sir Edward Clouston of Montreal, is now the only remaining member of the original board, which consisted, besides himself, of the late Sir Henri Joly de Lotbiniere and Mr. Ross. Premier McBride of British Columbia, succeeded the late Sir Henri Joly as a member of the board.

Comparisons sometimes are interesting. Take the salaries paid in baseball now and those paid twenty years ago for instance. The salaries paid the stars of 1881—stars who were real stars for at least ten years later: Mike "King" Kelley, $1300; Hardie Richardson, $1250; Ed. Williamson, $1400; Dan Brouthers, the slugger, $875; Jim O'Rourke, as player and manager, $2000; Deacon Jim White, $1600; Jack Rowe, $1250; Ned Hanlon, $1200; Geo. A. Wood, $875; Jimmy Galvin, $1200; Fred Pfeffer, undoubtedly the greatest second baseman of his time, $750—about Eddie Collins' gasoline bill for a year—Buck Ewing, the daddy of all the catchers, $1000; Time Keefe, $1500; and Big Roger Connor, $900. And even in the inflated period which marked the Brotherhood's brief existence, the highest salary paid any one of these stars was to Buck Ewing, who is said to have received $5000, with the others receiving varying salaries from that down to $2500. The 1881 salaries would be small now for class B leagues.

"In all probability arrangements will be made for a match between Gray, the Australian boy wonder, and myself immediately on my return." So remarked Mr. H. W. Stevenson, who holds the British billiard championship, the other day.

Mr. Stevenson is considered one of the most remarkable, if not the most remarkable, handler of a cue in the world. His skill in the English game is wonderful. Enthusiasts who follow the career of those who have risen to the top state that he probably hasn't a peer in the round the table game. If it were possible to bar the in off red into the side pocket after it had been made a specified number of times it is believed it is believed that Gray, the Australian, would fall before Stevenson. Of course this shot is that upon which Gray depends almost entirely. If it became a question of versatility it is thought that the Britisher would have the best of the argument. As it is, it is considered that the man who passed through Victoria yesterday will have a difficult time in overcoming the skilful lad from the Commonwealth.

The All-B. C. Rugby football team that will tour California will soon leave for the trip to California, and will be absent from two weeks and four days, during which time they will meet the teams of Stanford University and the University of California. A private car has been chartered for the trip, and the Victoria development league has made arrangements with the team whereby a large sign will be placed on each side of the car, and remain there until the return to this city. The signs are 30 feet in length and 3 feet high. On them will be inscribed in red letters on a white background, "B. C. Rugby Football Team's California Tour, 1911. Victoria, B. C., the Naples of the North." The Victoria members of the team have also kindly consented to take along with them several thousand books and guides of Victoria and Vancouver Island, which the league will furnish, and distribute these broadcast in the different places at which they will visit during their tour.

BRAVING THE AIR FOR HER BOY

Intrepid Young Widow of Ralph Johnstone, the Plucky Young Aviator Killed at Denver, Tells Her Story.

Mrs. Ralph Johnstone, the widow of the intrepid aviator who was killed at Denver last year, has taken up aviation to earn money with which to educate her boy. She is taking lessons daily on Long Island and will soon be an accomplished aviator.

Mrs. Johnstone has written her own view of the matter to the Sault Ste. Marie News and it makes one of the most remarkable modern human interest stories ever penned. From the woman's point of view it is intensely interesting.

"I know that I will be killed if I keep up flying long enough. None of us birdmen and birdswomen have a guaranteed lease on life, assuring us that we will not fall out of the clouds, get tangled in the wires of our aeroplanes and come back to mother earth with a thud that will shatter every bone in our bodies. And none of us think about that side of the 'flying game' any more than we have to.

"But we have to make our livings. I have to. Not only that, but I have the dearest, sweetest little fellow, just ten years old, and it is for his sake more than anything else that I have decided to follow the track of his father through the currents of the air far above the earth's surface.

"Maybe I could support him otherwise. I do not know. His father left us very little money and Ralph, Jr., must be clothed, and fed and educated. I couldn't do that at any of the professions usually followed by women. I doubt that I could do it were I to return to the stage, which I left when I married my little orphaned lad's father. So there is but one avenue left open for me—that is the air.

"Ralph always told me that flying was the most dangerous business a mortal could get into, and he expected it would mean the end of him sooner or later. With but one exception he steadily refused to allow me to go up with him. And he never would consent to our little boy's going with him. Oh, I wouldn't either; no, I am willing to take chances in this aeroplane game, but I would never let my little boy go up with me.

"Down in my heart I often question myself whether I did right in adopting this flying business as my own. That is not caused, however, by any fear that some horrible accident stares me in the face every time I ascend into the clouds, but it is when I wonder what my little boy would do when I meet the inevitable end of all aviators who cling to the game.

"Only the other day the little fellow looked up in my face and said: 'Mamma, what would become of me if you should get killed like papa?' I told him that God would take care of me, and that He would watch over me all the more if my little boy would say a prayer for me every time I fly. Bless his little heart, I know he prays all the time I am aloft that I may safely return to him.

"Some time, and soon, both of us hope, I will have saved enough money to retire from the dangerous business, and then not all the gold in the world would tempt me to continue taking chances of making my boy an orphan. It is enough that aviation claimed his father."

ALL MAN'S VANITY

Escaped Convict Traced by His Love of Show

Paris, Oct. 26.—Leon Cibion, an escaped convict from Guiana, paid for his vanity today by being arrested.

Cibion early took up crime as a profession. After numerous imprisonments he was condemned in 1907 to seven years' penal servitude. He managed to escape, however, and went to Hayti, where he stole another Frenchman's papers and returned to Paris two years ago.

Some months ago Cibion became engaged to a girl and before his marriage suggested to a party of his friends that they should all be photographed as bachelors for the last time.

The photograph was excellent. In fact, it was so good that it was the undoing of Leon.

The group was exhibited in the photographer's window, where it was seen by a detective, who recognized the escaped convict. Cibion was traced to his house in Paris and promptly taken into custody.

SUNNY OLD AGE

Out West There are Few Grandmothers Yet, but Those Here are Valued.

There is soothing comfort in the companionship of a dear old lady. Harassed by no mean anxieties for the morrow, her selfishness has fallen from her like a worn-out garment. Not competing with the younger people for the prizes of life, she can offer disinterested criticism and counsel without offense to our egotism. She is the connecting link between us and the shadowy past, that seems too unreal for our recognition of the shapes which haunt it, but which are actual, breathing presences to her fading sight.

The hearthstone is barren and prosaic where the grandmother does not reside, evoking with her precious wand of memory the glories of her generation, until the sad imperfect tense becomes eloquent with romance. We can hardly forgive her if the fashions and pleasures of today seem tarnished beside the bright similitudes that scintillate across her yesterdays—if they seem travesties upon the customs and ceremonies of her heyday.

The conversation of old people kindles the imagination and puts us on familiar terms with the heroes of a dead and gone period, until we know their very tread, the trick of their speech. It abridges that mysterious distance between us and our ancestors and establishes a bond of human sympathy.

PERCHED ON VENUS DE MILO

Louvre Watchman Seeks Safety From Police Dogs

Paris, Oct. 25.—A rumor flashed through the city tonight that thieves had been discovered in the Louvre.

The police hearing an uproar in the museum dashed in. They found the vicious police dogs that guarded the treasures since the "Mona Lisa" disappeared barking at a watchman, who was seeking safety on the shoulders of the Venus de Milo.

The only thing that saved the watchman was the fact that the dogs were muzzled. Parisians have been assured that there was no theft this time.

FIRST: "CATCH YOUR PRINTER"
DIRECTIONS FOR COOKING A HARE:
FIRST—"CATCH YOUR HARE"
To produce good printing you must "first catch your printer." You can't get good printing from a poor printer, even if he works with never so good an equipment. If he lacks the "knack," the trained taste, the single-minded fondness for his work which real printers have, he will do poor printing for you. If he has all of these, and in addition to them adequate modern equipment, your printing will have distinction, salesmanship, the lure of type-beauty.
As this office produces good printing you may infer the presence of a good printer—who is "catchable."

SPEAKERS FAVOR COMMISSION GOV.

Cambridge, U. S. A., remarked that there politics in municipal affairs had a bad effect. "Our firemen and policemen," he said, "are amongst the best politicians we have," (laughter). "An alderman," he said later, "is a man who goes down to the city hall, and sits around and passes on things in a general sort of way," (Laughter and cheers).

"Do away with party designations," said another new speaker. "They have nothing to do with municipal government. The people want a city run for them so they can have a chance to get around and hustle." (Cheers).

Asked a Question

Rev. F. W. Kerr asked what guarantee there was that under commission government any better men would hold office than under council. A speaker suggested the decision of the majority in a community for any particular commissioner ensured his being the right man.

Alex Manson maintained that the commission system did mean that better men were put in charge of the city's affairs. He roundly condemned the introduction of party politics into municipal affairs saying that the criminal code should be framed so as to impose a penalty of six months' imprisonment without the option—on any man introducing party politics into municipal affairs.

Some Repartee

A little later in the discussion W. H. Montgomery boldly declared that he believed "the speaker who would have six months' penalty imposed on party politicians coming into municipal affairs would be the first to deserve that penalty along with many others of like profession."

A young Scotchman from Glasgow aroused considerable attention and applause by his enthusiasm over the good government of Glasgow. "Educate your people," he said. "Then they will be able to insist on good government."

Others Spoke

Other speakers during the evening who contributed to the discussion were W. P. Lynch whose reply to the idea that Canadian municipal commissioners would be like Canadian judges, above suspicion, was that Canadian judges don't have to face the polls; and Alderman Clayton who came in late and gave an eloquent resume of the origin of commission government with remarks in a general way bearing on the subject, and some criticism of the young speakers from the States.

At the end of the discussion the Mayor hoped that other meetings under the same auspices would be held on the same subject. A programme of songs by some of the well known talent of the Presbyterian church came in well at the opening and close of the discussion, and songs were given during the intervals.

St. Andrew's Society
