of more than a quarter of a century's standing. Coming here first in 1909 from Montreal, Mr. Munro purchased Prince Rupert property and the next spring was back with Mrs. Munro to take up permanent residence. During his long residence in Prince Rupert, Mr. Munro took a prominent part in community affairs. He was a member of the city coun-

Joe Slaggard of This City Inherits Fortune as Result Of Wealthy Brother's Death

Joseph Slaggard of this city is richer by thousands of dollars in cash as well as valuable real estate as a result of the settlement of the will of his brother, Morris Slaggard, who died some three months ago in Detroit.

It was more than forty years ago since Mr. Slaggard had seen or heard of his brother. They had lost touch with each other entirely. When it came to settling the estate, there was considerable difficulty in locating the local man who had been last heard of in the Yukon. Finally, through the medium of the Royal Mounted Police, he was found and advised of his windfall. Mr. Slaggard, contrary to rumors, said this morning that he had no intention of leaving Prince Rupert or retiring from his taxi and confectionery business here.

POLITICAL SPASMS

It is wonderful how in democratic countries the people water polo contests four years ago are led away now and then in a sort of political spasm. tomorrow, a riot broke out when Ten Players Off on This Evening's New parties arise and for a brief period seem likely to the Brazilian team, protesting sweep the country. In the United States there was the Bull Moose party fall. Their great pitching brigade is led by Roosevelt and more recently the Townsend move-still the best in the big-time, but say ment. In this province the C. C. It has within itself all the seeds of discord and disintegration and the wonder is it has not broken up ere this. The possibility is that the extremists will take the low road and join the Communists and that the moderates will take the high road and be absorbed by one of the older parties.

POWER OF MIND

The power of mind over matter is universally recognized today. The leader of men is a person with a strong mind who is able to inspire his followers and give them the will to do things.

It is well known in medical science that the mind influences the body and that to effect a cure it is necessary to keep the patient cheerful and hopeful. It is also known that many people have power to heal by virtue of their mental efficiency. Doctors use mental healing or suggestion as part of their art. Many religions have healing as one of their main features. We have all seen how one man through his eloquence can sway a multitude. The powerful speaker is one who allows his mind to play upon the audience and influence it while he is speaking. Students of Indian lore tell how the native medicine man could kill or cure a person by the power of the mind.

The moral of this is that the mind is given us for use and that if it is properly directed it can become a great benefit to the individual and the community.
