SEATTLE, Aug. 18:-As pickets patrol the streets and prevent who would from going' to work in the plant, the Seattle Post-Intelligencer continues to be tied up by the strike of newsmen and editors. The strike was called late last week, having resulted from the dismissal of a photographer and a dramatic critic whom the management declared were inefficient but whom guild members claim were let out for guild activities.

A four-page sheet, the Guild Daily, has made its appearance on the streets. It had one full sporting news page, the rest of the issue consisting largely of stories and editorials attacking William Randolph Hearst, owner of the Post-Intelligencer.

What seems to be true is that there has been plenty of cause for a political upheaval in Quebec and that the change is undoubtedly for the better. The National Union Government will, it is hoped, prove to be a progressive one.

WILL DEFEND CANADA

President Roosevelt, in a political speech in New York State last week, promised that the United States would not only defend herself against any attack but would also defend her neighbors. This reference was specifically to Canada, for it followed reference to the boundary which "united" the two countries rather than divided them.

OF MARINE

Moonfish and Turnicate Brought In by Halibut Boats-Identified At Fisheries Station

Two strange marine creatures caught in waters of this district were recently brought to the Prince Rupert Fisheries Experimental Station for identification.

The halibut boat Melville, Capt. John Ivarson, brought in at the week-end a fish which took bait in 130 fathoms of waters north of Langara Island. It was an unusual and exotic specimen which was identified by Dr. A. L. Pritchard of the Nanaimo Biological Station, who was in the city, as a moonfish Male. A beauty. $15.00.
