AERIAL DISASTERS NOT FAR AWAY FROM HERE

SEARCH IS NARROWED

Flier and His Bride Feared Lost Last Sunday in Vicinity Of Ketchikan... Coastguard vessels are searching at present north and south of Ketchikan for an airplane with Albert Almosino of Seattle, experienced pilot, and his bride aboard.

SIGHTED BY SEVERAL

This would coincide with the reports that the plane had been sighted about 3 p.m. that day by the cannery tender near Lowe Inlet in Grenville Channel and about an hour later by people of the west end of Prince Rupert flying low over Digby Island in very poor visibility.

Tree Point is some thirty or forty miles north of Prince Rupert and is in Alaskan territory.

Later the search turned north of Ketchikan with the coastguard cutter Alert prowling around Revilla Gigedo Channel.

Weather conditions have been extremely unfavorable for flying and it is possible the ship has been forced to take shelter from the elements although, as time elapses, anxiety as to its safety increases. Mr. and Mrs. Lino were married in Spokane two weeks ago.

The steamer Cardena, arriving here this morning from various points along the coast, including Lowe Inlet, had no information regarding the missing plane. Nor did the Princess Adelaide, arriving yesterday afternoon from the south, have any word. If the plane is safe at all, it must be at some very isolated point.

In some quarters it is feared that the little boy may have fallen into the Columbia River and been drowned but the parents still cling to the hope that he might have strayed away and still be alive. It was on the basis of this hope that arrangements were made for a Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. plane to take off from Vancouver for Trail, bringing E. H. Cour-Barron and his Boberman-Pinscher dog to join in the search. The plane was, however, unable to make the trip from Vancouver on account of unfavorable weather so the master and dog made the trip by train to Penticton and thence here by plane. #### SAVING ON GOVERNORS

The government of Ontario decided to save money by refusing to allow lavish expenditures on its lieutenant governor. The official residence was abolished and the representative of the federal government had to live like other people with a nominal allowance.

There are some people who would like to see British Columbia follow in the footsteps of Ontario. It would be economy to do so but there is sentiment on the other side. In the first place Government House is one of the sights of Victoria and is useful for entertaining outstanding guests such as King Edward at the time he was Prince of Wales.

Another argument against closing it is that, as it stands, the upkeep employs a great many people both indoors and out. The gardens alone keep a number of families off relief. If it were closed these people would join the army of unemployed. It is also argued that usually the lieutenant governors spend a great deal more than the salary and living allowance.

The chief argument against Government House as an institution is that it encourages snobbishness. Its existence breeds class consciousness just as much as does communism. Also money is paid to a rich governor which should be used in keeping people who need the money.

We hate to see all the old landmarks abolished. While we abhor snobbishness and object to giving money to the rich which should go to the poor, we must admit that there will be snobbishness any way and suggest that, if the position is to be filled by rich people who presumably have paid considerable sums into the coffers of the political party, the people of the province should be excused from making any payment on upkeep but that it should be required that the appointee who enjoys the honors should be required to foot all bills and to keep the grounds in proper condition, entertain the cabinet annually, make provision for a certain number of I. O. D. E. teas and other social events and allow the public free access to the grounds at all reasonable hours.

If appointments are to be made by merit and not by wealth, the institution should remain as it is today. The small amount of money required in its upkeep hurts nobody.

The Port Simpson all-star senior basketball team under leadership of Paul Price, which arrived Thursday to play a series of games with the locals for the Northern British Columbia championship, has returned home without arrangements being made up to last night for the playing of games. Officials of the Prince Rupert Basketball Association are not, apparently, disposed to accede to the claim of the Port Simpson team to the Sun Life Cup by default in view of Prince Rupert's failure to floor a team. No definite arrangements were made for games here on April 9 and 10, local hoop officials declare.

AUDIENCE IMPRESSED

Biblical Story Portrayed Splendidly At First Baptist Church Last Evening

A very impressive Biblical story entitled "The Rich Young Ruler" was portrayed in splendid manner at First Baptist Church last night by a cast consisting of P. H. Linzey, Miss Cleo Mussahem, R.N., little Miss A. Armstrong, Miss Kay Watson, H. M. Daggelt, E. J. Smith, Alan Hale, J. C. Gilker, Miss Venetia Feero and Miss Vivian Wrathall. It was the story of a wealthy merchant of Jericho during the Passover and Crucifixion. The members of the cast availed themselves to full advantage of the dramatic possibilities. Settings had been arranged in appropriate and discriminating manner as were also the costumes.

Unfortunately, weather conditions were most unfavorable and the size of the audience was disappointing. However, all present were high in their praises of the effort.

The presentation of the play took up the second part of the evening's program. The first part consisted of organ selections by W. V. Vaughan Davies and the following program appropriate to the Easter season:

Vocal solos, "He Was Despised" and "Rock of Ages," Mrs. P. H. Linzey, accompanied by W. Vaughan Davies.
Recitation, "The Storm," Mrs. F. W. Dafeo.

Vocal solos, "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross" and "In Loving Kindness Jesus Came," Mrs. J. H. McLeod, accompanied by Mrs. J. C. Gilker.

Vocal solos, "The Old Rugged Cross" and "Softly and Tenderly Jesus is Calling," Hugo Kraupner accompanied by Mrs. J. C. Gilker. G. W. Johnston acted as chairman.

Now Science Explains Why So Many People Past 40

Feel That They're Slipping
Losing Their "Grip" on Things

Many people 'round 40 think they're "growing old." They feel tired a lot... "weak." Have headaches, dizziness, stomach upsets.

Well, scientists say the cause of all this, in a great many cases, is simply an acid condition of the stomach. Nothing more.

All you have to do is to neutralize the excess stomach acidity.

When you have one of these acid stomach upsets, take Phillips' Milk of Magnesia after meals and before going to bed. That's all!

Try this. Soon you'll feel like another person! Take either the familiar liquid "PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia Tablets," or the convenient new Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets. Made in Canada.

ALSO IN TABLET FORM: Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets are now on sale at all drug stores everywhere. Each tiny tablet is the equivalent of a teaspoonful of Genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

Halibut Landings Now Lightening Up—Yacht Race Postponed Until Tomorrow—Capt. St. James Light Out

Halibut landings at the port of Prince Rupert for the 1936 season up to yesterday had reached a total of 975,400 pounds of which 566,800 pounds was from Canadian vessels and 408,600 pounds from American. During the week landings amounted to 382,300 pounds including 112,000 pounds from Canadian boats and 270,300 pounds from American. There having been particularly heavy landings all along the coast during the preceding few days, no fish whatever was offered at Prince Rupert on either Thursday or Friday and dealers are not expecting much for a few days. Prices during the week were at rather a low level. The top bid of the week for Canadian fish was 5.6c and 5c received by the Morris H. and Mother II for catches of 8,000 and 9,000 pounds respectively and the low 5c straight which a number of boats were paid. For American fish the high price of the week was 6.6c and 5c received by several boats and the low 6c and 5c.

Having been delayed by extra calls and heavy freights on her way up the coast, Union steamer Cardena, Capt. J. E. Boden, arrived in port at 6 o'clock this morning from the south and sailed at 9 a.m. on her return to Vancouver and waypoints. Leaving Vancouver, the Cardena had one of the heaviest freight cargoes in a long time as well as a passenger list taking up all accommodation.

experiences was that of the Norwegian combined passenger and freight vessel Tricolor which took fire Sunday between Midway and Hawaiian Islands. Rescue vessels took off the passengers but the crew of forty-one stayed with the ship and latest reports were to the effect that, after a desperate fight with the flames, the fire had been extinguished in the ship's holds. She is now continuing her voyage to San Francisco, it having been unnecessary to put into Honolulu as had been at first contemplated. On the other side of the ocean, the Japanese steamer Scotland Maru, laden with salt, was abandoned during the week on a reef off the south of Japan, the crew being able to land safely through heavy seas.

The Bureau of Statistics values the wealth of Canada in the British Columbia fisheries at $8,900,000; with Nova Scotia second at $5,800,000 and New Brunswick third with fisheries valued at $3,200,000. Ontario and Quebec tie with $2,800,000.

C. P. R. steamer Princess Adelaide, Capt. S. K. Gray, arrived in port at 4:45 yesterday afternoon from the south and sailed at 10 p.m. on her return to Vancouver and waypoints.

Norman A. McLean, purser of the steamer Prince Rupert, which was in port Thursday evening southbound from Anyox and Stewart to Vancouver, received advice that day of the death in Seattle of his father-in-law, H. Johnston. Mr. McLean will proceed from Vancouver to Seattle at the end of this week to attend the funeral.

John Dybhavn, member of the Biological Board of Canada, and Dr. Neal Carter, director of the Prince Rupert Fisheries Experimental Station, have received notification to attend a meeting of the Pacific Coast sub-executive of the Biological Board of Canada to be held in Vancouver on May 8.

Race Is Postponed
On account of rain, the model yacht race for the steamer Prince

George's Cup was postponed from yesterday afternoon until Sunday after all arrangements had been made earlier in the day for it to be held.

The boats Welcome and Mary Eleanor were in port yesterday from New Metlakatla, Alaska, on their way to Kitkatla where they will attend the dedication of the new Anglican Church on Sunday. Native delegations from all parts of the district are converging upon Kitkatla for the dedication ceremonies. Bishop Rix and local delegation will be in attendance, making the trip on the mission boat Northern Cross.

The Department of Marine advises mariners that the light at Cape St. James Light Station is not revolving but will be put in operation at earliest opportunity.

The only boat selling at Seattle yesterday was the Woodrow, disposing of 7000 pounds at 8 3/4c, 8c and 3c.

Capt. Anton Ness, who was on the Spray last year, has assumed command this season of the Seattle halibut schooner Yakutat in place of the late Capt. Iver Sellereite who lost his life early this year as a result of injuries sustained in a fall into the hold of the Yakutat at Seattle.

The lighthouse tender Estevan made a business trip to Queen Charlotte City on Tuesday last, arriving about 5:30 p.m. The young people got busy, and soon a dance was arranged for 8:30 p.m. in Miller's Hall. All who attended expressed themselves as having had a good time.

R. M. Winslow, who is at present in Seattle on his way back to Prince Rupert after a trip east in connection with his duties as assistant manager of the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co., bases his forecast for better fish prices this year on improved general conditions, particularly in the building industry, which he found in the east. Recent floods in the east, Mr. Winslow found, had not affected the movement of halibut much except around Pittsburg.

The Glasgow Post tells of a new industry which is being started on the western coast and islands of Scotland in manufacturing of cellophane from seaweed. No fewer than three factories are already said to be under contemplation. As a result, employment will be found for a large number of islanders. If this new industry can be carried on successfully on the coast of Scotland, there is believed to be a possibility for it on this part of the British Columbia coast where there is plenty of kelp and other seaweed.

The American halibut boat Urania, which was here yesterday with a catch, set out this morning for her home port of Petersburg but later returned owing to the rough weather outside.

Harry's In Town

There was a minor boom for the local retail stores with Harry Scott, he of Grenville Channel logging fame, in town this morning. Cash registers of several lucky merchants were bulging as a result. Harry, however, says it was not altogether to buy up the place that he came to town. In fact, he has been working on an invention during the past winter, details of which he hesitated to reveal, and it was partly in connection with this that he is here. Harry also disclosed a secret involving his old friend and neighbor, Oscar Haveroy. Many had been wondering why Oscar cut his recent trip to his native Norway so short. Now it is out. Harry explains that it was not because it was Leap Year nor because the ladies outnumber the men so greatly in Norway that Oscar hastened home but because he (Oscar), Harry Scott, Tom Watts and some others have an undertaking up their sleeve to take the sailing schooner Maid of Orleans, now tied up here on a salvage claim, to Tahiti this fall, taking out a load of paper and returning with fish. This sounds to us like a tall one but Harry guarantees its authenticity so that let's us out, dear readers. Harry, who plans on moving the scene of his logging operations from Grenville Channel to Douglas Channel this summer, will return down the coast tomorrow.

Two Frank Waterhouse freighters have been in this week-end. The Southholm, Capt. R. B. Bennett, arrived from the north yesterday and proceeded south. The Northholm, Capt. A. W. Ogden, arrived this morning from the south to discharge local cargo before returning to Vancouver.
