CAPTURE OF SHIP

Mystery Vessel Taken After Fight by Government Boat Off British Guinea

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana, June 19: (CP)-The government steamship Pomeroon today forcibly captured a strange vessel believed to be the "Girl Pat" which has been hovering outside the three-mile limit.

Without fuel the fishing vessel was almost helpless against the trim government boat but her hardy crew put up a two and a half hour fight before they lowered sail. While the trawler attempted to get away with power from her lone emergency sail, the Pomeroon, with armed men, circled about. Once she rammed the trawler, sinking a tender which was being towed astern and crushing her bulwarks above the waterline.

Finally, the battered little boat. which is believed to have crossed the Atlantic and been at sea almort three months, gave up the fight and allowed a towline to be nassed ahoard. The crew was placed under arrest and taken to police station at Georgetown.

ROMANTIC QUEST ENDS Surrender of the "Girl Pat" brought to an end a romantic quest for legendary hidden treasure of Captain Kidd and one of the largest chases in modern marine history. Down the west coast of Africa, across the South Atlantic and up the east coast of South America the little trawler was followed by requests from Lloyds for shipping to keep a watch for her.

The "Girl Pat" left Grimsby, England, early in April, apparently on a routine fishing trip, but, when she appeared in Corcubian, Spain, ten days later, the owners laid charges of barratry or marine theft against Capt. George Osborne and handed the case over to Lloyds.

Grimsby citizens told tales of how the crew had been prepar-

*Avenue just east of Fulton Street has been declared unsuitable for such a building. It is known that the possibility of the new federal building being placed on the old Court House square is being actively considered and that there has already been negotiation between the federal and provincial governments for a transfer of property. This site, it is believed, would meet with general approval. Engineers are expected here before long in connection with preliminaries leading to construction. It is presumed that the usual course of calling for tenders, etc. will be followed. However, there has been no official announcement as yet on any of these points.

MONTREAL, June 19: (CP)-Paul Gouin, leader of the insurgent Liberal group, "l'Action Liberale Nationale," which united with the Conservative party in November's general election, announced yesterday that the pact was ended and that the two parties will work "separately and against each other" in the coming provincial general election. This will complicate the political situation and observers believe it will give the government a better chance for being returned to power.

NEW POST OFFICE

The announcement that money has been voted for the erection of a new federal building will come as good news to Prince Rupert people, not only because the new building is required but also because its construction will employ a lot of people and help to make more prosperous conditions in the city.

The lead given by the government will be encouraging to other people who may be thinking of investing money in Prince Rupert. It is an indication that the government is interested in this section of the country and is of the opinion that Prince Rupert will become an important of eight firsts in succession when port.

A good deal of credit is given Olof Hanson M.P. for the excellent work he has done for the city and district. He has brought before the government in a friendly way the people is to be erected at Flemneeds of this part of the country and the result has been ington racetrack, Melbourne, Ausmost satisfactory.

THE NEW BUILDING

It has been stated locally that the new federal building will be erected on the provincial government block in the centre of the city which is admirably suited for the purpose. If this is done it will necessitate the removal of the buildings now on the site including the public library, the museum and the government agent's residence. It is known that tentative negotiations had been entered into with a view to transfer of the land to the federal auth-

The erection of the building, which it is understood is to be a substantial one, fireproof and large enough to house the Post Office, customs, Indian office, harbor master and marine and fisheries departments, will take! probably two years and in the meantime the present post office will be utilized. Everything points to the making of a thorough job that will be a credit to the government and to the city of Prince Rupert.

Another vote passed by the House of Commons was that of $30,000 to the Northern Fishermen's Cold Storage for the purpose of making it a public cold storage plant which will be available for the keeping of meats, fruit and other district produce at the port. This will be of great advantage to the people of the interior who have been asking for some such convenience for a long time.
