The men are thinking of calling him "Frozen Face," because of his expression and his appetite for frozen fish. And the gull grows tamer and fatter.

VANCOUVER'S EMPIRE

Evidently Vancouver people, politicians and newspapers seem to imagine that the whole of British Columbia is created solely to fill the coffers of Vancouver's plutocrats. In a recent issue of the Vancouver Sun is an article entitled "Vancouver's Empire," perusal of which indicates that Vancouver's Empire is the country northward including Prince George and the Peace River. These places, one would judge from the tone of the article, were created for the purpose of making Vancouver wealthy just as they claim Toronto was made wealthy from the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway bringing to them the products of the northern part of Ontario.

In the article no mention is made of the Empire of the northern coast district of British Columbia, doubtless this being something they feel they already have as part of their Empire. They have most of the business with the canneries, the logging camps and the mines so they are not worrying any more about that. What they want is the other bit of business that, apparently, is not coming their way.

The writer of the article in question seems to have had no thought for the welfare of the people of the Peace or of Prince George. That is of no moment. Vancouver is the only thing that counts. There was no suggestion that it might be better for the Peace River to connect up with its natural outlet, Prince Rupert. There was no proposal that the government might do well to connect up Prince Rupert with the Peace both by highway and by railway so as to develop Vancouver's "Northern Empire." That would not be sufficiently direct.

As a matter of fact Vancouver has little interest in "this northern country" except in so far as it benefits that city. Prince Rupert district has more wealth just now than any part of British Columbia outside of the big cities and Trail. There are many thousands of men today employed in the fisheries—it has been suggested that the number making a living directly and indirectly from the salmon, halibut and herring fisheries is ten thousand. At any rate the payroll is very large and Vancouver grabs a great deal of it.

May we suggest to Vancouver's public men and newspapers that they give at least a little consideration to the north country and its progress and prosperity. They sometimes forget that the people living in the outlying parts are just as important as the people of Vancouver and that their interests must be considered. Mr. Pattullo has often told them this but they do not seem to learn.

If you have something to sell, a classified advertisement in this paper will soon let you know if there is a buyer in the city.

Wooderson beat Jack Lovelock (shown), famous New Zealand miler, who once cleaned up the pick of the United States. It is logical to suppose that Wooderson will be the greatest threat to those with Olympic aspirations in the mile run. He has always been able to beat smiling Jack Lovelock—even though the New Zealand flash is conceded the faster runner.

GOES BACK TO FISHING

Sixty-Year Old Retired Master Mariner Has Faith in N. S. Fisheries

HALIFAX, Aug. 5: (CP)—Captain Dave Bachman doesn't care for the life of a retired master mariner—so he is going back to the sea with his own spike-sparred auxiliary vessel to be built at a cost of $25,000.

"Brighter days are in store for Nova Scotia fresh fishermen," says the veteran of 44 years sailing who as a gangling boy of nine hoisted himself over the rail of a Lunenburg banker for the first time.

He is now 60 with the reputation of having been one of the biggest fish killers ever to sail from a Nova Scotia port.

"Prospects right now are better than for 10 years," he maintains and to back up his assertion by action he has given orders for the construction of an 85-ton vessel on which he will take the helm.

The weather-beaten fisherman recalled the highlights of his adventurous days aboard the Lunenburg schooners. His big record, however, was not chalked up when he was master of a sailing craft during those 35 years but when he skipped the Halifax beam trawler Loubourne.

One trip he brought the big trawler back to port weighed down with 117,000 pounds of halibut and in two months he had stocked 285,000 pounds of the sea delicacy.

His new craft will be up-to-date in every detail. A 200 horsepower diesel engine will do away with dependency on the wind on her scheduled trips to the off-shore fisheries.

SALT WATER CONDITIONING

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Aug. 5: (CP)—"It's part of his training," Fred A. King told curious spectators after rowing a boat across Courtenay Bay. The head of a race horse had rested on a pillow at the stern while the animal swam. "Salt water is good for horses and there's no better exercise than swimming. It uses every muscle and it doesn't jar the legs. The only thing is a horse swims with its head very low in the water, and if they take in the water, and if they take in the water, they drown. That's why I keep his head on that pillow. Horses like swimming just as much as humans and salt water refreshes them just as much."

"I'm an epicure and a dietitian rolled into one. I know how folks love tasty, full-flavoured meats and vegetables. And I know how good they are for them. So, I see to it that every last bit of goodness is retained in every dish I cook! YOU don't have to fuss about it. Just snap my switch and leave me to my work. My cooking heat is always ready, always right, always even: so you don't have to tie yourself down to the kitchen: nor do you have any soot or ashes to contend with. And, talking about savings, don't forget that the kind of meals I cook go much farther. They have more nourishment in them because juices don't evaporate and meats shrink very little in my oven."

TESTING OF OILS

Valuable Service Being Given By Federal Department of Mines

OTTAWA, Aug. 5:—Announcement is made by the Department of Mines, Ottawa, of its Mines Branch laboratory and field program for 1936. With the exceptionally heavy volume of work on gold ores a notable feature, the program reflects the steady and widespread improvement in mining throughout Canada. Within its four sections, ore dressing and metallurgy, fuel research, ceramics and road materials, and mineral resources, provision is made for tests and investigations on practically all the principal and many of the lesser known Canadian minerals.

John McLeish, Director of the Branch, reports that receipts of gold ore for testing during the first half of the year exceeded those of any period in past years. In the majority of cases the ores are from the many gold properties throughout Canada that are entering or nearing production. Full advantage is being taken by operators of the Department's modern equipment ore dressing and metallurgical laboratories, where the ores are being tested mainly to determine suitable mill treatment processes for the several enterprises.

Three research projects relating to the treatment of gold ores are under way. One is on refractory gold ores such as those that occur in the Bridge River area, British Columbia. The second is an investigation to determine the relationship of the mineralization and genesis of the ores to treatment problems; and the third is an examination of the modes of occurrences of gold in sulphides, and the effect on ore treatment of such associations.

A. H. A. Robinson will make a field survey of gold operations in British Columbia.

Base Metal Work

More test work is under way on base metal ores than in 1935, but the number of samples received is small in comparison with pre-depression years, when the high prices of the metals provided a stimulus for exploratory effort.

A notable feature is the sharp increase in the number of requests for test work on non-metalliferous ores. The increase is traceable mainly to the distinct revival of activities in the building construction industries. Tests are being carried out on the beneficiation and uses of such minerals as china clay, silica sands and sandstones, quartzite, calcite, garnet, and mica, and on the tailings from asbestos milling plants.

In ferrous metallurgy, the causes of failure of machine parts and of other manufactured metallurgical products are being investigated. Problems respecting the manufacture and use of higher grade products in industry are also under examination.

This year's work on Canadian fuels includes a series of tests being made to determine the suitability of a variety of coals and their tars for hydrogenation treatment for direct conversion into motor fuels. Test runs have been made on coals ranging from high grade bituminous to peat.

Small scale laboratory work includes the development of two coal friability methods for testing the relative handling qualities of coals, with the ultimate objective of determining a means whereby coals for any particular purpose may be readily selected.

A comprehensive field study is being made on the sizing and other preparation of Canadian coals to meet varying market conditions in different parts of the country. In this work the suitability of specially prepared and sized coals for use in large and small heating installations, in preference to imported coals, is being given particular attention.

SYDNEY, N.S., Aug. 5: (CP)—In memory of the British, French and American soldiers who fell in the several battles at Louisburg, a monument is to be erected at the historic fortress site by the American Society of Colonial Wars.

The suggestion came from Albert Almon, well known Cape Breton historian, and in a letter received last week he was informed by Major Howland Pell, Honorary Governor General of the society, that funds are now being collected for the undertaking.

The monument will be constructed of rugged granite of simple design and its erection will be handled by the North Sydney firm of John D. Steele and Sons, who have notified Mr. Almon that work will begin shortly.

The inscription will contain the following tribute:

Twenty-Five Years Ago

August 5, 1911

The city waterworks staff expresses resentment at remarks of fire Chief McInnes that the water pressure is not all that might be desired at times for fire fighting purposes. The officials of the department assert that pressure is at all times adequate. Recent outbreaks of fire in the downtown section have set people wondering about the fire protection system.

A contractor on city grading at the corner of First Avenue and Seventh Street has been fined for storing powder in a place which was not fireproof. The prosecution followed an explosion which occurred yesterday morning.

WOLF AND DOG FORM HUNTING ALLIANCE

KEDGWICK, N.B., Aug. 5: (CP)—A huge gray wolf, accompanied by a half-wolf dog, is roaming the wilds of northern New Brunswick and Quebec, woodsman claim. Edmond Pinault, a registered guide declared he saw the animals near the Restigouche river. David Ogilvy, sportsman, guide and veteran trapper, expressed the opinion the wolf had become separated from its kind north of the St. Lawrence by the early break-up of ice last spring and had sought seclusion in the New Brunswick game reserve north of the Restigouche. Doubtless the wolf had formed a hunting comradeship with the wild dog, he thought.

From the Waterfront

Late all around on account of having had extra heavy freights to handle, Union steamer Catala, Capt. James Findlay, did not return until 1 o'clock this morning from Stewart, Anyox and other northern points, sailing a couple of hours later for Vancouver and waypoints.

Delayed by fog and heavy freights from Powell River and Ocean Falls, C. N. R. steamer Prince Rupert, Capt. Neil McLean, was late today and did not get in from the south until 1:30 p.m. The vessel, which has a capacity list of passengers, most of whom are round trippers for Alaska, is sailing later in the afternoon for Skagway and other northern points.

The Armour Salvage Co.'s power tug Erne returned to port yesterday afternoon from Massett, bringing in on a scow a caterpillar tractor outfit which is to be consigned later to the Prince George district for use in connection with mining operations.

Dr. W. T. Kergin and party left at 5 o'clock last evening for a cruise to Butedale, Gardner Canal and other points of interest in that vicinity. The trip is being made on the Full Moon and will be of a week or ten days' duration.

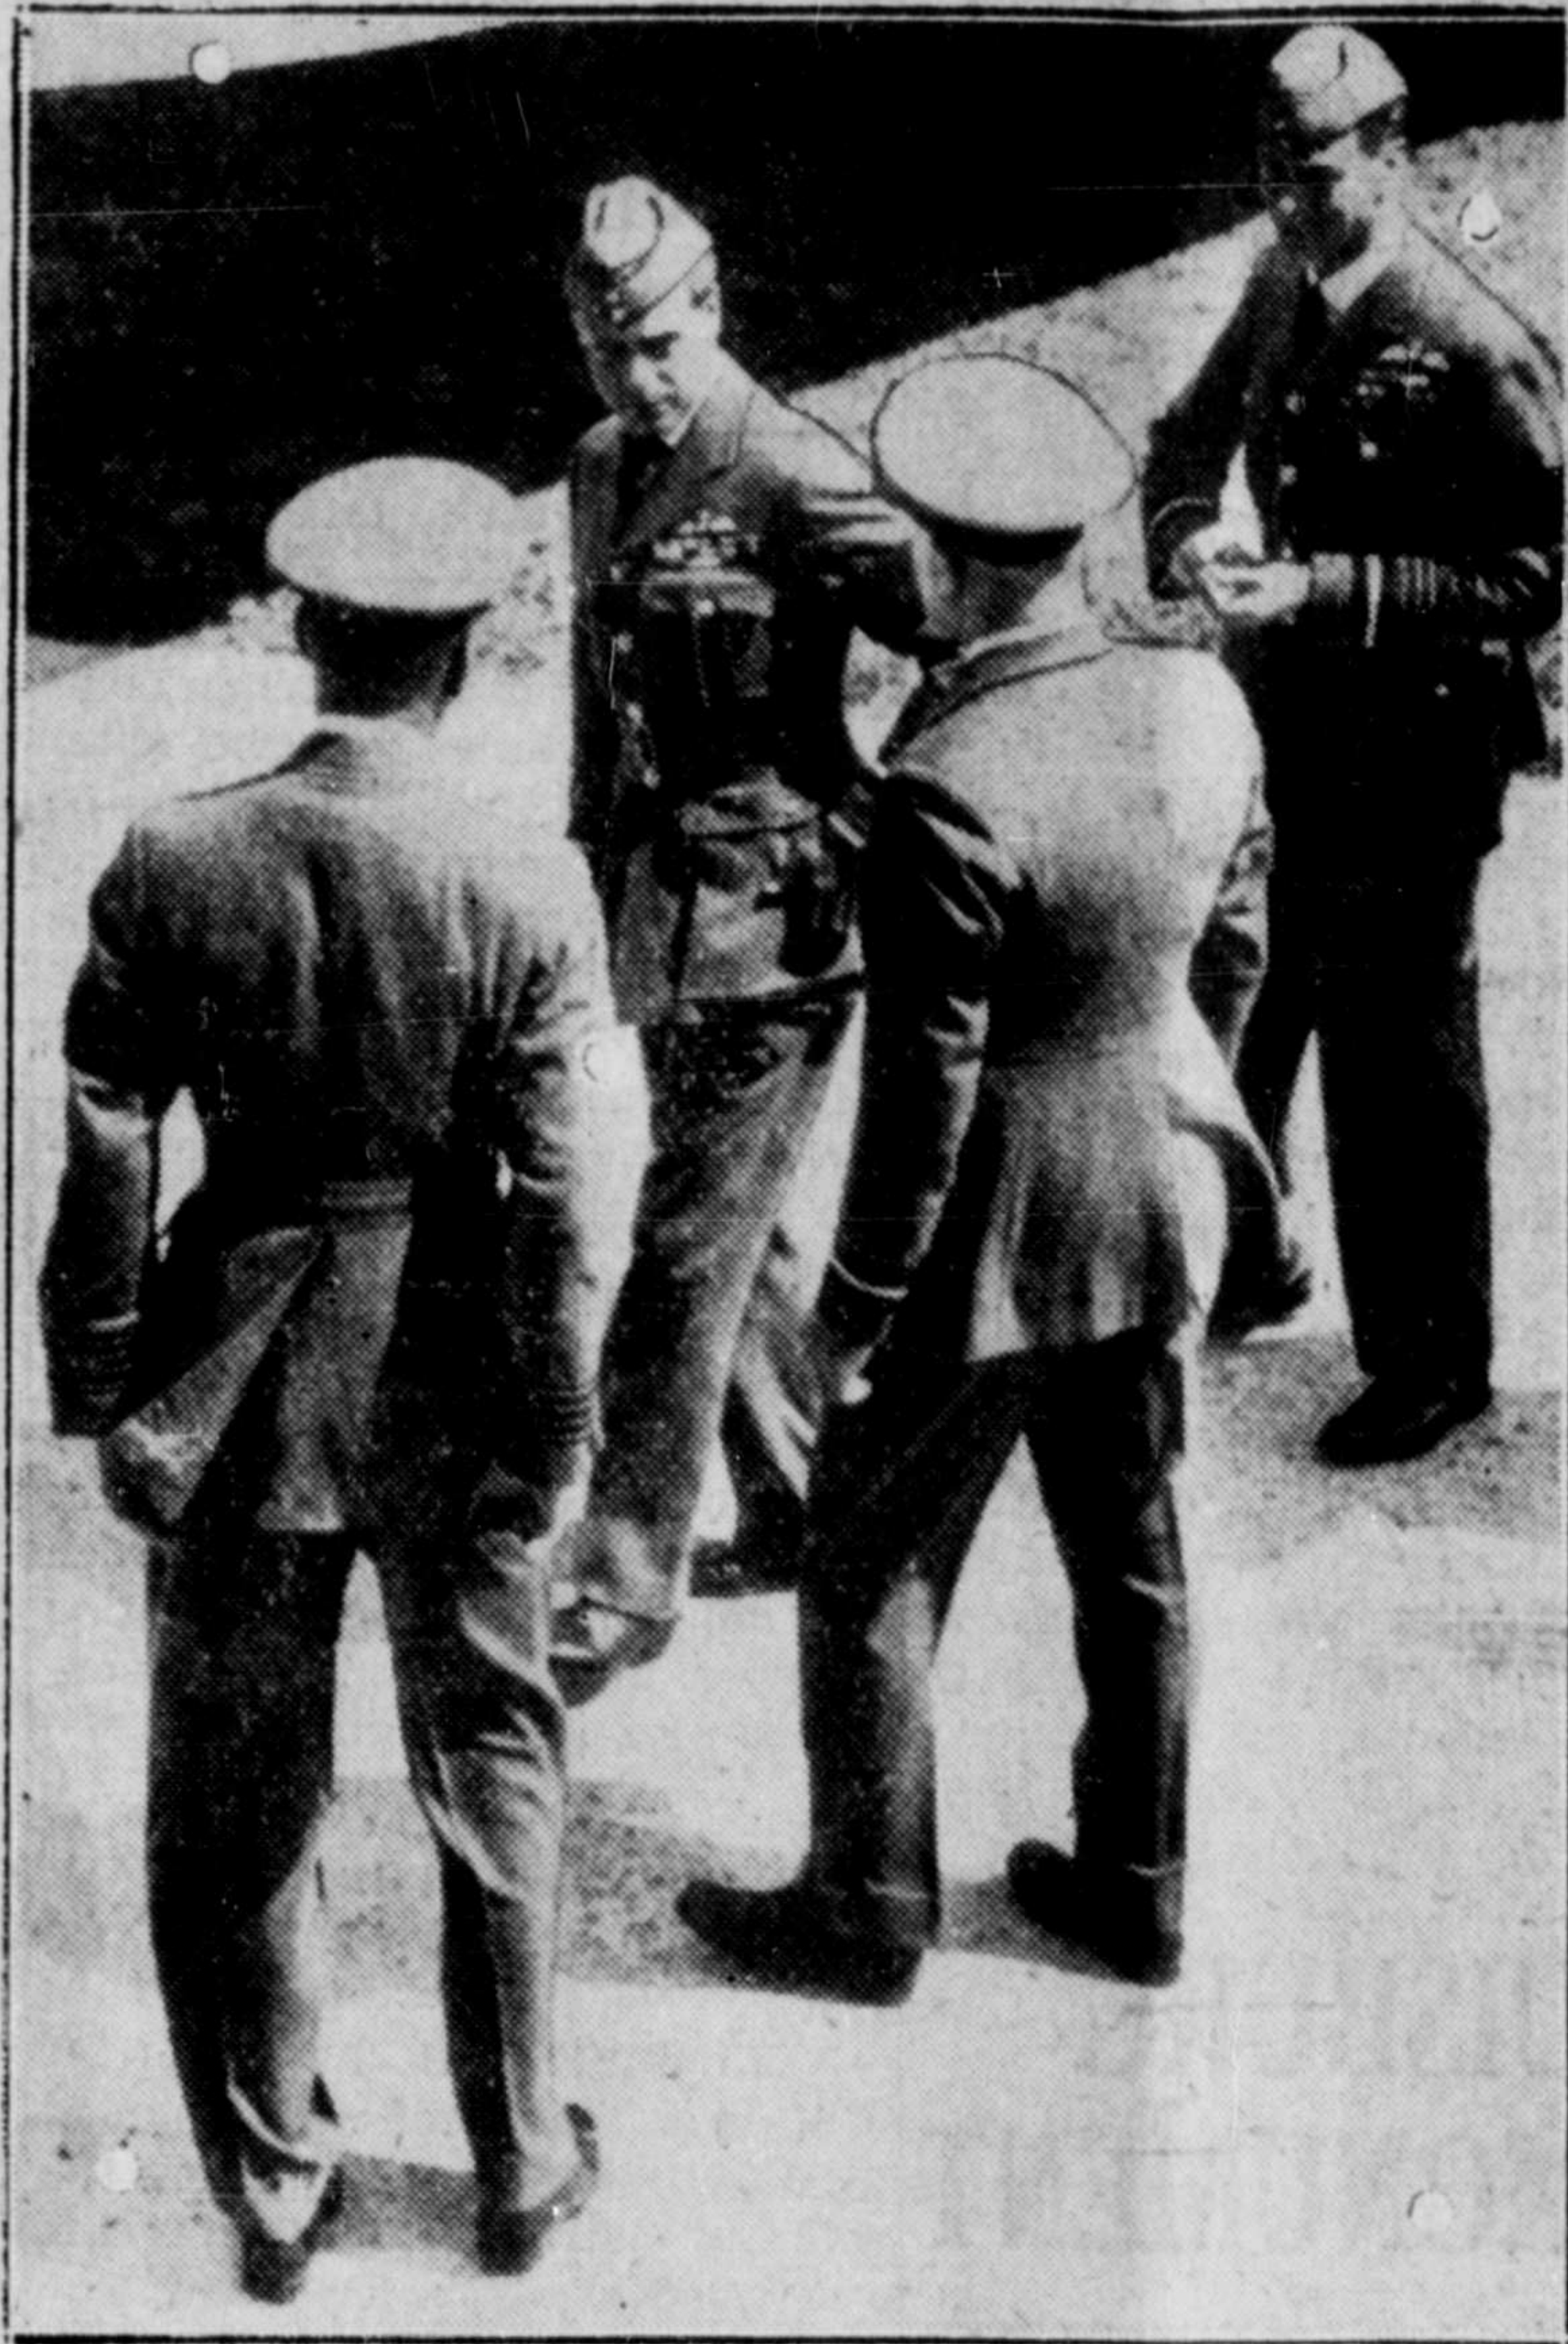

Bill Watts has again joined the ranks of the local gasboat owners having purchased Charlie Minns' cruiser Vixen. The Vixen is twenty-two feet long and is equipped with a 15 h.p. Universal engine. It will continue to moor at the floats of the Prince Rupert Rowing & Yacht Club. All and sundry will take warning that the prominent local grocer is on the high seas again and that it will be a case of everybody watch out for himself.

The Seattle yacht Averilla arrived in port about noon, bringing a Tacoma party consisting of F. N. Averill, the owner of the vessel, and Mrs. Averill and their son F. N. Averill Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Dodson also of Tacoma. Captain Tony Jensen is navigator in charge. The party has been north as far as Glacier Bay and is now southbound with plans to leave tomorrow morning. The yacht, which makes a speed of about eight knots left Seattle four weeks ago and the party expect to be home a week from now.

RELICS OF BIRD LIFE

College Students Find Skeletons Of Great Auks on Newfoundland Island

NORTH SYDNEY, N.S., Aug. 5: (CP)—Five skeletons of the great Auk, species of bird life in northern Newfoundland which has been extinct since 1844, will be placed in the National Museum, New York, by two daring college students.

E. T. Gillard of New York and S. K. George of Rexton, Md., passed through North Sydney with their prized exhibits discovered on Funk Islands, off Newfoundland. They were travelling by automobile.

The youthful scientists spent several months exploring about Funk Islands and discovered a variety of valuable material for the museum including a snow owl, white murr, buffins, ticks, black back gull, black cap tern, seven breeding pairs of gannets, and a razor bill auk.

The two students decided to invade the loneliness of the remote islands three years ago and have made annual excursions each summer since for further evidence of the great auk to augment the seven already in possession of American museums.

Maritime Fish Catch Smaller

Landed Value Down $93,003 Divisional Report Shows—Lobsters Scarce

HALIFAX, Aug. 5: (CP)—Fishermen of the Maritime Provinces caught 11,050,000 pounds less fish during June of this year than during the same month of 1935, and the landed value dropped $93,003, according to the Eastern Fisheries Division report.

The total catch was 51,911,700 pounds, with a landed value of $1,388,741, compared with 62,961,700 pounds with a landed value of $1,482,744 taken in June, 1935. A heavy decrease of 2,912,500 pounds was noted in the lobster catch as Nova Scotia and the Magdalen Islands both recorded decreases in landed value and total catch. While New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island had decreases in the catches, there were favorable increases in the landed values in these two provinces. Cod fishermen landed 3,233,700 pounds less than during the same period of last year and the mackerel landings decreased 1,706,100 pounds.

DRAMA WITH COMEDY TOO

"The Petrified Forest" and "The Widow From Monte Carlo" At Capitol Theatre

"The Petrified Forest," a gripping tale of love and heroism laid in the colorful Arizona Desert with Leslie Howard and Bette Davis in the leading roles, and "The Widow From Monte Carlo," a rollicking comedy drama, starring Warren William and Dolores Del Rio, come on a mid-week double bill to the screen of the Capitol Theatre.

The scenes of "The Petrified Forest" take place in and about a wayside gas station and eating house a few miles from the real petrified forest of Arizona. Here a group of misfits are held by a band of killers who are hiding from a posse and awaiting a chance to escape across the Mexican border. Howard has the role of an unsuccessful author and Miss Davis is an erotic discontented girl. Genevieve Tobin, Dick Foran and Charley Grapewin also have important parts.

The story of "The Widow From Monte Carlo" centres around the unusual adventures of a debonaire major, played by Warren William, and a South American beauty who is the widow of an English duke, this part being played by Dolores Del Rio. The cast also includes Louise Fazenda, Herbert Mundin, Colin Clive and Warren Hymer.

Miss Edith Kergin, who arrived in the city a few days ago, visiting Dr. and Mrs. L. W. Kergin, is in the hospital receiving treatment for a slight infection of the cheek.
