Is Significant Move Owing to Proximity to Source Of British Water Supply in Egyptian Sudan

GONDAR, Ethiopia, March 31: (CP)—This strategic city at the head of Lake Tana fell into the hands of the Italian invaders today in the course of a drive which is proving by far the most important move to date in the present war because of the significance to the British of the Lake Tana region. Gondar is only a few miles from the head of Lake Tana, source of the Blue Nile which gives the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan its water supply.

CROWN IS RELIEVED OF GIVING FINANCIAL AID TO HEALTH INSURANCE

This Portion of Bill Rejected by Legislature in Committee—Many Amendments Are Considered

VICTORIA, March 31: (CP)—The Legislature, in committee last night, defeated by a vote of 18 to 17 Section Thirteen of the Health Insurance Bill. The section contained provision for a $50,000 appropriation by the government to aid in setting up organization for operation of the bill, also limiting government liability under the same heading for any expenditure over and above that amount.

After the vote, Premier T. D. Pattullo shouted across the floor: "The Crown is now relieved from the responsibility of putting up any money."

It is not disclosed what effect the defeat of the section will have on the future of the bill but government supporters minimized it, stating that the $50,000 was already earmarked in the estimates. The action came after the bill had faced a barrage of proposed amendments, the majority of which were defeated.

Japanese Envoys in Outer Mongolia—Where is China Going To Stand?

TOKYO, March 31:—With Russia supporting Outer Mongolia, and Japan, Manchukuo, the situation in the Far East has become further intensified. A few days ago three Japanese officers were sent across the frontier from Manchukuo for a conference with Outer Mongolian authorities in regard to recent frontier clashes. They have failed to return and it is believed here are being held by Russo-Mongolian troops with a view to extracting from them information in regard to Japanese military strength in Manchukuo. The possibility of a major controversy developing as a result is feared.

CHINA IS CHAFING

NANKING, March 31: (AP)—China would gain little and possibly lose more than she has during the last five years should the never smooth course of events in northeastern Asia move toward the large-scale clash which many foresee as the inevitable climax of four decades of Russo-Japanese enmity and conflicting ambitions.

This is the mature Chinese official opinion which derides the popular Chinese belief that in a war between Russia and Japan lies China's hope of regaining what she has lost in territory and international prestige.

Nanking officialdom's fear that China would be the loser, no matter which way the fortunes of war turned, is based upon Japan's evident intention of setting the stage of war as far as possible from the Japanese islands and as near as possible to the heart of the great expanse which extends across Europe and Asia.

By taking Manchuria and Jehol, and extending her economic and military control westward across North China and Inner Mongolia, Japan is seen by Nanking as having commenced her attempts to stage manage the war drama which Tokyo's military actors have been preparing since the close of the curtain—raising Russo-Japanese conflict of 1904-05.

Exposing Coastline

Scouting persistent reports that Nanking has reached a mutual assistance agreement with Moscow in case of war with Japan, civil and military officials at the Chinese capital explain that, by joining hands with Russia, China would lay her long coastline and navigable rivers open to Japanese attack and occupation before a single shot would be fired along the Siberian border.

Some Chinese politico-military strategists are known to advocate open and active support of Japan against Russia. But Chinese statesmen cannot but picture China's sad lot as an ally of a defeated Japan.

Soviet Russia has repeatedly disavowed any territorial ambitions in east Asia, but China's experience as the vanquished party (Continued on Page Four)

GERMAN PULP MILL MEN COMING

Bruno Richard Hauptmann To Be Executed Tonight; Board Of Pardons Declines to Act

TRENTON, N.J., March 31:—Bruno Richard Hauptmann at 8:20 Eastern Standard Time tonight (5:20 Pacific Time) will tread the thirty or so steps from his cell in the death house to the execution chamber, there to expiate in the electric chair the crime of kidnapping and murdering Charles Augustus Lindbergh jr. over four years ago.

Hauptmann's last hope for commutation or delay of the imposition of the sentence definitely faded last night when the New Jersey State Board of Pardons rejected his final plea for commutation of the death sentence to life imprisonment after which Governor Harold Hoffman again announced that he would not grant a second reprieve to the condemned man.

Advised by his chief counsel, C. Lloyd Fisher of the rejection of his extreme plea, Hauptmann was stricken almost speechless but later remarked: "I can't believe it. It seems impossible. What has happened to the man who confessed the crime? Where is he?"

Mrs. Hauptmann was reported in collapse in her hotel here. She has seen her husband for the last time alive. Physicians said she was suffering from fatigue and nervous strain.

The murderer's mother, advised in Germany of the final efforts to save the life of her son, was reported grief-stricken. "Mein Gott! What will happen now?" she is reported to have exclaimed.

Solely Responsible

Finding that Hauptmann was solely responsible for the kidnapping, the Board of Pardons refused to take into consideration an alleged confession of Paul Wendon who was stated to have twice confessed under duress, later repudiating the confession. Wendon is said to have suffered once from a mental ailment. He may be taken before the courts but it is considered very unlikely that he will be indicted.

The Board of Pardons also threw out an alleged confession of Gaston B. Means, notorious extortionist already serving time, that he did the kidnapping.

Evidence of Robert Hickey, an investigator for Governor Hoffman, which would have tended to clear Hauptmann, was also rejected.

As Execution Approaches

The last move of the defence today was the making of an appeal to Justice Trenchard, trial judge at Flemington, to stay the execution of Hauptmann but this too was rejected. This was the last legal recourse of saving the convicted baby slayer from the chair and little was expected from it. Governor Hoffman repeated today that he would grant no further reprieve.

As the execution hour approached, Hauptmann broke down and wept, declaring that he was innocent and "I have absolutely no change to make in my story." He had been sitting up all night writing a letter to his mother in Germany who, while admitting that he was the "black sheep" of (Continued on Page Four)

Muller-Clemm, German paper manufacturers, left last night aboard the steamer Prince Rupert for Prince Rupert to investigate pulp possibilities with a view to the possible establishment of a pulp plant on the coast and the shipment of squared hemlock pulp logs from British Columbia to Germany. Drs. Schenk and Muller-Clemm are accompanied by E. A. Thompson of San Francisco and F. L. Buckley of Vancouver who are interested in the establishment of a pulp plant at Prince Rupert. The party will leave Prince Rupert Thursday night on its return south.

LOG SCALE DECREASED

Production So Far This Year is Not As High as Last

Log scaling in Prince Rupert forestry district so far this year is lagging in comparison with a year ago, the production as recorded by the Forest Branch for the first three months of 1935 being 4,312,694 board feet as compared with 5,069,834 board feet in the corresponding period last year. For March this year the log scale is 359,473 board feet as against 1,116,613 board feet in the same month last year.

Per species the scale this March is as follows in board feet: Cedar, 51,526. Spruce, 224,108. Hemlock, 47,931. Balsam, 4,092. Jackpine, 30,899. Miscellaneous, 917.

NEW PLAN OF HITLER

Proposes Armistice in Rhineland With No More Troops—Austria Is Worried

VIENNA, March 31:—Uneasiness is felt here at the report that Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler of Germany will make an early move to assemble troops on the Austrian frontier with a view to bringing about compulsory fusion of Austria with Germany. This, it is believed, will be one of Hitler's next steps following his endorsement at the sham election on Sunday.

ARMISTICE SUGGESTED

BERLIN, March 31: (CP)—A four-month armistice with a three-man international commission to control both German and French-Belgian sides of the Rhine frontier is reliably said tonight to be Hitler's counterproposal to the Locarno powers in the Rhineland crisis. During the armistice neither France nor Germany would increase Rhineland troops.

It was announced last night that a receipt had increased Der Fuehrer's mandate in Sunday's election to 99.44 percent.

WOULD HAVE CONFERENCE

LONDON, March 31:—It was reported here last night that Great Britain had proposed a conference with France and Belgium to discuss defensive measures in the event of attack upon any one of the three by a fourth nation.

HEALTH INSURANCE BILL

Evidently members of the Provincial Legislature have been given the widest latitude in discussing the Health Insurance Bill now before them. The Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce opposed the measure on the ground that the time was not ripe for adding any expenditures to businesses that were already burdened to the breaking point.

Most people favor health insurance and, doubtless, it will be a good thing. The chief doubt is as to its timeliness and its scope. A year from now the Prince Rupert advice in regard to it might have been quite different. Doctors opposed it because they thought it might reduce their incomes, while others opposed because they thought it might prove to be a collecting agency for the doctors. Within a few days the measure will be passed and then everyone will be asked to try to help it work out for the benefit of all.

The discussion in the Legislature Saturday when Hon. George Pearson voted against a government suggestion seems to have been a very trivial affair, just an indication that the members of the administration and its supporters are not a bunch of rubber stamps. Evidently they think for themselves and vote and act as normal human beings rather than as thorough-going party men. It seems that the Legislature has entered on a new phase in which widest latitude is given individual members in the carrying out of their duties. It is something that has been asked by Liberals, Conservatives and Independents and especially by members of the late Tolmie administration although never allowed by them.

MUCH TO LIVE DOWN

Canada has much to live down including the stories of frontier days when in the east the wild Indians went on the warpath in paint and feathers, killing all and sundry and torturing their prisoners. Evidently a young reporter of the Glasgow Sunday Post must have read some of those stories and tried to build up a yarn about Mr. and Mrs. McColl of Port Simpson based upon those stories. To us the story published Saturday was a very funny effort and one not doing much credit to Scottish journalism.

Players and spectators appeared to be suffering from unquenchable thirsts at a cricket match at Capetown. But it was all for a good cause, each cup of tea ordered meant another contribution to the H. Second Prize—Jock Watt.
Third Prize—Terrence Parsons.

Six boys, excelling in various departments, were tied for third prize, Terrence Parsons winning on a draw.

Skiiing There Will be Enjoyed For At Least a Month Yet—Conditions Never Better

Local skiiers, who visited Mount Oldfield skiiing grounds over the week-end, found snow conditions for the sport to be ideal. With four or five feet of snow on the ground, skiiing for at least another month is assured. At no time since the sport of skiiing was instituted in Prince Rupert have conditions for its enjoyment been better than they are today and, with Easter holidays approaching, local enthusiasts are looking forward to some glorious days. Tobogganing is also enjoying much popularity.

LAUNDRIES NOT BAD

Home Cures Worse Than Disease In Some Cases Institute Find After Reviewing Disputes

OTTAWA, March 31. (CP)—In the last year 550 disputes over damaged laundry have been settled by the Canadian Research Institute of Launderers and Cleaners in the National Research Council Laboratories in Ottawa.

In its first annual report the Institute, founded a year ago to act as court of appeal in laundry and cleaning matters, said out of the 550 spoiled articles, mostly linen, 70 per cent were damaged outside the laundry, usually in the home and frequently by misuse of household bleaches; 20 percent of the damage was due to faults in manufacture and 10 percent was actually to blame on the laundry or cleaner.

The Canadian Institute of Launderers and Cleaners was founded to carry out helpful experimentation in the Research Laboratories on efficacious methods of washing and cleaning and to obtain technical information of benefit to the laundry and cleaner. It is sustained by fees based on the volume of business of members from coast to coast, undertakes specific services and give unbiased scientific opinion on damage claims.

With microscope, photography, and other such aids, the reason for disintegration of textiles, shrinkage, loss of color in prints, holes and tears are ferreted out.

Sunlight on Curtains

Sunlight concentrated for a period of time on rayon curtains for instance, was found to result in damage that does not appear until the curtains are being laundered. Threads of selvage pulled too tightly when the linen is woven were discovered to be the cause of frayed edges and holes that come when even the better grades of linen are dried after being washed for the first time.

One of the most difficult problems solved by the Institute last year was the reason for a number of small irregular holes in the centre of a fine linen table cloth. After much puzzling it was found the material had been awakened by acid created when the heat of the room caused moisture to collect on the outside of a silver fern vase having traces of an acid silver polish on its surface.

The water absorbed some of the silver polish left on the bowl, then dropped on the table cloth. The owner had placed a damage claim against the laundry as the holes did not appear until after the cloth had been washed.

Deodorants are the cause of much damage and, with household bleach, are indirectly the reason for many damage claims, the Institute experts state.

Regarding home laundry, the Institute stresses the use of bleaches only in the ways recommended by the manufacturers and also warns housewives to pay strict attention to mechanical action of wheels of their washing machine and to avoid overloading.

The wife was reported today to be deeply depressed but was still hopeful that the execution might be stayed.

Hauptmann ate no breakfast today and refused a request menu for his last meal. He said: "I'd like that last meal sent to Condon."

Preparations Complete

Preparations for the execution were all completed last night including the laying out of the $10 suit in which Hauptmann's body will be dressed by the state after he has been put to death. It is likely his wife will take over the remains to make family arrangements for burial.

Always Dolorous--Even After Winning 12 Prizes

These two champion bulldogs remain the "deadpans of dogdom," despite the fact that they have won 12 first prizes at Cruft's show at Agricultural Hall in London. At the left is grandfather "Dimlo of Din" with his granddaughter, "Boo Boo of Din." You'd think they'd be happier with all the honors heaped upon them. But the English were ever modest.

Died in Docks; Buried at Sea

British Captain Asked To Have Chance to Pass Like a Sailor

PLYMOUTH, Eng., March 31: (CP)—"Let me die at sea, where I have lived most of my life—then I shall be happy," was a request made by Captain Thomas J. Henderson, master of the British India steamer Arankola, when in hospital at Calcutta he was warned that probably he would never again see his home at South Shields, England.

At the point of death Captain Henderson was carried on board the liner Modasa, bound for Plymouth, England. He died while the Modasa was calling at Madras. The body was transferred to a tug which steamed out to sea, where the coffin was consigned to the deep with the usual ritual of ocean burial.

WHIFFLETS From the Waterfront

Fred Goodey, well known as a relieving steward on the steamers Catala and Cardena on the northern runs, died in Vancouver last week at the age of fifty years. He is survived by a widow and daughter. Mr. Goodey was here on several occasions during the past winter and showed no signs of ill health at that time.

Union steamer Catala, Capt. James Findlay, returned to port at 9:30 this morning from Stewart, Anyox and other northern points, and sailed at 1:30 p.m. for Vancouver and waypoints.

Armour Salvage Co.'s power tug Algic, Capt. Reg Green, south-bound from Billmor Spruce Mill to Vancouver with a Davis raft of high grade spruce logs in tow was reported off Bella Bella at 9 o'clock last night. The vessel had left here last Friday night.

Capt. Larry Thomson sailed by the Catala this afternoon on his return to Vancouver after having come north with the Imperial Oil Co.'s tanker Albertolite which left here at noon yesterday for San Pedro. The Armour Salvage Co.'s service boat Daly, Capt. Paul Armour, went out yesterday to Triple Island to pick up Capt. Thomson after he had piloted the Albertolite that far.

The American boat Hazel H., with 14,000 pounds, and the Canadian, Bum, with 2,000 pounds, are in port today with halibut. Both are holding over until tomorrow.

AIR PLANS FOR ITALY

Il Duce Arranges to Spend $96,000,000 for Flying Fighters

ROME, March 31: (CP)—A six-year, billion lire aviation program squeezed into three years is giving Italy one of Europe's foremost air forces, supported by a revolutionized industrial organization. In May, 1934, Mussolini announced he would spend a billion lire in six years to make over the national air force. Later he added 200,000,000 lire, bringing the total to about $96,000,000, and ordered the job done by June 30, 1937. The air force already had been getting 90,000,000 lire a year, equivalent to about $72,000,000. At the time Il Duce announced his air program the Italian force consisted of 25,830 men, 1,380 of them pilots. There are now 1,750 commissioned officer pilots and 41,900 men, including 1,400 student officers in training. Mussolini's expansion program also comprehends the training of 10,000 reserve pilots. This means there are 3,000 actual or potential pilots already flying or in training.

Informed sources place the present Italian air strength at about 1,900 planes, of which between 450 and 500 are in East Africa. This number is being augmented constantly, however, with new planes produced by four big aviation trusts, six independent companies and four firms manufacturing motors only. Air force plans call for substitution of 80 percent of the old planes with new types. New bombers have a speed of 215 miles an hour, contrasted with the 100 and 110 miles of the old ones, and a cruising range of 950 miles, with a carrying capacity of 6,600 pounds. For the present Italy continues to use the hydro-plane bombers of the type used by General Balbo in his flight to America. But the 1930 and 1931 land bombers were sent to Africa, leaving the more up-to-date planes at home for the sterner eventualities of possible European war.

JATH, India, March 31: (CP)—A panther measuring more than even feet was shot recently by the Raja Saheb of Jath. The animal had been preying upon cattle in nearby villages.
