Little Relief in Eastern Floods Up

Pittsburg Desolated

At Least Fifty Dead With Damage
Estimated at $150,000,000

NEW YORK, March 19: (CP)—In upstate New York, New England and in the eastern states from gulf to gulf there was no let-up today in the floods as bank-battering rivers continued their rampage which has already resulted in the loss of at least 94 lives in the east as well as doing a hundred and fifty million dollars damage.

Along the Ohio River near Wheeling, West Virginia, rivermen predicted thirty thousand persons would be homeless by today. Seven hundred persons are stranded on an island in the middle of the river there.

Suffering thousands in Johnstown, Pennsylvania, after a night of terror with vivid recollections of the great disaster of 1889 when the Conemaugh River swept 2,235 persons to their deaths, yesterday watched receding flood waters with joy. The floods had reached a depth of sixteen feet in city streets during Tuesday night. At least twenty lives were lost in Johnstown on account of the floods and 15,000 homeless were camped in the mud last night. The danger was apparently past at Johnstown today.

In Pittsburg

The great industrial city of Pittsburg, with its population of 700,000 persons, after a night of darkness and desolation with the flood waters of the Monongahela and Susquehanna Rivers, having risen 45 feet, swirling through its streets, took stock today of damage which is estimated to amount to $25,000,000 in the downtown area alone. It is the worst flood since 1791. All schools are closed and many stores are unable to open for business. The city's activities generally are crippled. The only illumination the city had last night was by candles. Owing to hydrants being immersed and impossible to reach, fires were presenting a menace in the upper floors of buildings and houses. While flood waters are everywhere, there is danger of a shortage of domestic water supply within twenty-four hours. Last night was one of terror in the completely darkened city, inundated and isolated from the outside world.

A drop in the temperature during the night added to the suffering of the people and in some cases food shortage is already developing although everything possible is being done to give emergency relief under most difficult circumstances.

The only means of transportation is by airplane and last night, as airports were in darkness, this too was tied up.

Wilkesbarre and other Pennsylvania cities also reported serious flood conditions as a result of torrential rains accentuating high waters caused by sudden melting of river ice and snows.

Emergency Relief

WASHINGTON, D.C., March 19: (CP)—President Franklin D. Roosevelt yesterday ordered Secretary of War Dern to set up special emergency relief organization to distribute food, shelter and relief to flood sufferers in Pennsylvania and other stricken areas. The American Red Cross Society is also taking active steps to provide relief.

Larsen and the three remaining members of the crew who are still here.

Military Re-occupation of Rhineland Unanimously Found Contrary to Spirit of Versailles—Hitler's Representative Declares Vote Will Not Be Maintained

LONDON, March 19: (CP)—The council of the League of Nations today unanimously found Germany guilty of a breach of the treaties of Versailles and Locarno in its military re-occupation of the Rhineland. Germany was the only country to vote against the motion but her vote does not count as being an interested party in the question.

Chile abstained from voting and the representative of Ecuador was absent. The votes of France and Belgium, like Germany, did not count. Voting against Germany were Argentina, Belgium, Great Britain, Denmark, France, Italy, Poland, Portugal, Roumania, Spain, Turkey and Russia.

Immediately after the vote, General Joachim von Ribbentrop, the German representative, rose and, in the name of the German people, declared:

"This resolution will not be maintained in the judgment of history. If the honorable members had had more time to consider my statement this morning, the vote would have been different."

The vote came only a few hours after von Ribbentrop had told the council that the German course of action in the Rhineland had been justified by France's alliance with Soviet Russia.

Plan For Peace

After sitting far into the night in preparation for the meeting of the council of the League of Nations today, diplomats were reported to have agreed upon a tentative plan for peace in Europe. The plan would provide, among other things, for demilitarization on both sides of the Rhine and a reference to the World Court at the Hague as to whether the Franco-Russian mutual assistance pact constituted a violation of the Locarno Pact as claimed by Germany.

It was reported last night that both Pierre Flandin and Capt. Anthony Eden, foreign ministers of France and Great Britain respectively, were in favor of removing sanction restraints from Italy in order to obtain her agreement in regard to the Rhineland situation.

General Joachim von Ribbentrop, in a statement last night, said that Germany was in the Rhineland to stay regardless of the League of Nations or other Locarno signatories. Capt. Eden urged General von Ribbentrop not to take too hostile an attitude at today's meeting.

In Berlin last night Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler unequivocally refused to consider the Franco-Russian mutual assistance pact as anything but incompatible with the Locarno Pact. He assured the world of his desire for peace with due regard to the rights of Germany as a free and equal nation. He refused to submit the question of the military re-occupation of the Rhineland to the World Court. No power in the world could divert him from the course he had started for Germany, he declared.

SHUT DOWN HATCHERIES

This District Affected by New Policy of Fisheries
Department

VANCOUVER, March 19: (CP)—Nine sockeye salmon hatcheries operated in British Columbia by the federal Department of Fisheries will be closed during the next few months. Major J. A. Motherwell, chief supervisor of fisheries for British Columbia, announced yesterday. The operation of the hatcheries cost about $90,000 per year and some fifty employees are affected.

The hatcheries include Babine Lake and Lakelse in the Skeena River watershed and Rivers Inlet hatchery in Rivers Inlet.

A memorandum issued with the announcement gave as reason for the closing the fact that the advantages gained were not sufficient to justify the expenditure.

PATRIOTISM IS SUBJECT

Original Thought is Manifest In Address Before Gryo Club By
Prof. MacDonald

His remarks couched in a delightful originality of thought, Dr. W. L. MacDonald, professor of English at the University of British Columbia, spoke before the Prince Rupert Gryo Club at its regular weekly luncheon yesterday on the subject of patriotism as reflected in contemporary poetry.

The grandeur of the scenery and the enormous scope of the country, Dr. MacDonald said in opening, had caused him to reflect upon the subject of patriotism as far as Canada was concerned. He then proceeded to define and discuss the elements of patriotism.

Patriotism, in some cases, was inspired by loyalty to leaders and customs as traced from early history. Then there was the patriotism of nationalism and antagonism as reflected in the Great War and subsequent developments such as the Treaty of Versailles. Since the war, however, the spectacular type of patriotism appeared to be passing and the intense nationalistic patriotism was not so popular although it was much in evidence in some of the countries of Europe today.

True patriotism, Dr. MacDonald thought, found its inspiration in the soil—the real soil and not the soil symbolically. This was the type of patriotism which gave true inspiration to poetry. The flag waving type of patriotism was derided by the speaker. Since the depression, little true patriotism was to be found in poetry which seemed to be influenced by a spirit of delusion and economic trouble.

E. A. Thompson is one of the American principals in connection with the financing of the pulp mill in which Old Country people have, apparently, become now interested.

Mr. Stewart is also due home next week after having spent the winter in San Diego.

RADIO INVESTIGATION

It is to be hoped that whatever is done at Ottawa in regard to radio control that it will not drift into a condition similar to that at present obtaining in the United States. To listen to the American radio stations it would be imagined that the people of the United States are a people sorely afflicted with stomach troubles. It would also seem almost as if there were no doctors in that country but that the people were invited to cure themselves by means of various panaceas, the virtues of which are recited at length prior to the advent of the crooners. Radio fans often wonder which is worse, the crooners or the stomach cure. One gives the headache and the other the tummy ache. If the two dollar licence fee in Canada is devoted to the removal of offensive noises in reception and to provision of better programs we should see a great improvement in Canadian radio. The American system certainly should be avoided.

HARD NUT TO CRACK

Evidently Finance Minister Dunning is finding Premier Aberhart of Alberta a hard nut to crack. He refuses to submit to federal control of finances and he wants Ottawa to finance him.

Mr. Dunning holds the old-fashioned idea that the borrower should come hat in hand to the lender but Mr. Aberhart threatens to quit first and he also suggests he is considering a plan to convert the whole of Alberta's debt along the lines of a lower interest rate. He would make this compulsory on all bondholders. Mr. Dunning feels, doubtless, that he should have something to say about it, especially if Dominion credit is invoked. Other provinces including British Columbia are watching the Alberta situation, hoping possibly to benefit from the experience of Mr. Aberhart.

ARE WEDDED FIFTY YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Sherman To Celebrate Their Golden Anniversary Tomorrow

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Sherman, popular pioneer residents of Prince Rupert, who have lived in the city for twenty-seven years, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary tomorrow and will have the hearty congratulations and best wishes of many friends on the occasion. They were married on March 20, 1886, at Illogan Downs, Cornwall, England.

There are six children—Mrs. W. E. Morrish and Jack Sherman of Seattle; Leonard and Tom Sherman of Wells, B. C., and Mrs. W. B. Cornish and W. H. Sherman Jr. of Prince Rupert. There are also eight grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Mrs. Morrish and granddaughter, Betty Ann (Mr. and Mrs. Sherman's great granddaughter), arrived in the city on the Princess Norah this morning from Seattle for a surprise visit.

WHIFFLETS

From the Waterfront

As a means of raising funds to provide trophies for a model yacht racing meet which it is planned to hold shortly, officers and members of the crew of the steamer Prince George, at present in the local dry dock for annual overhaul, will put on a "radio auction" over station CFPR here in about three weeks' time. It will be the first time that such a form of entertainment has been staged here. The idea, as is well known, is for listeners to bid for certain numbers of turns to be put on the air, the performers, on this occasion, to be members of the Prince George's crew. It is expected it will prove popular and be productive of a tidy sum being raised.

With a full list of passengers, C. P. R. steamer Princess Norah, Capt. William Palmer, arrived in port at 9 o'clock this morning from Vancouver and sailed a couple of hours later for Skagway and other northern points. She is scheduled to call here next Monday afternoon southbound. The vessel had on board 103 passengers of whom four disembarked here while six boarded her here for the north. Those going through consisted chiefly of Yukon and White Pass Route shipyard crews going north for the season.

Armour Salvage Co.'s power tug Algie, Capt. Reg Green, left on Tuesday of this week for Ocean Falls where she has the job of towing 2,500,000 feet of logs from a point on Dean Channel sixteen miles to the paper town. The work will last about five days and the Algie is expected back at the end of this week or the first of next.

Regiment Given Full Inspection

A full inspection of the First Northern B. C. Regiment, 102nd Battalion C. E. F., lasting for about three hours, was conducted last night by Major E. M. MacBrayne M.C. of Victoria. The regiment turned out under Lieut. Col. S. D. Johnston M.C., V.D., officer commanding.

SITUATION STILL BAD

more are believed lost in the eastern states.

The unrelenting floods, which were swirling furiously on today, had, in addition to the death toll and the huge property loss, left up to 200,000 persons homeless in 11 states, it was estimated here. The Ohio and Potomac River valleys are chiefly affected.

With the flood waters receding in the Ittsburg area, the rampage of the Monongahela and Alleghany Rivers surged on down the Ohio, striking at Wellsburg, West Virginia, Wheeling and numerous Ohio cities, endangering or cutting off water supplies and spreading danger of pestilence.

Local Organization is Taking On New Lease of Life

A reorganization meeting of the Women's Labor League was held in the C. C. F. They were addressed by Mrs. Annie Stewart of Vancouver who suggested that a public meeting be called Sunday. This is being done and Mrs. Stewart will address that meeting.

A cold should not be neglected. Even a slight cold, cough or chill may mean serious trouble. Drive it out quickly with the good old-fashioned cold remedy—a mustard bath! A mother writes: "Colds never get very far in our house, thanks to Colman's Mustard. At the very first sign of trouble comes the hot mustard bath, then to bed and the cold is usually gone in the morning! 'Doctor Mustard' is certainly a friend to our family." With Colman's D.S.F. UNIVERSITY LECTURE IN CITY HALL

Professor W. L. MacDonald Gives Interesting Address On Biographies

Developments of modern biographical style with comparisons between the new and the old were interestingly developed in a lecture given by Professor W. L. MacDonald in the City Council Chamber last evening, the subject being "Contemporary Biography." The lecture was one of a series given here under the University of British Columbia extension plan.

Professor MacDonald, who is a member of the faculty of the University of British Columbia, dealt briefly with early biographies such as Boswell's life of Johnson, showing that these tended to idealize the person about whom they were written. They featured the great and noble qualities and left out the other, more human phases of the subject.

Thomas Carlyle had overstressed the good points in Oliver Cromwell but his book had changed public opinion as to that great man. Since the war had sprung up a number of biographies whose aim it was to "debunk" outstanding personages. Strachey's book on Queen Victoria was a revaluation of the Victorian age which was very valuable but the same author had written a number of other biographies in which the word picture seemed to be badly "out of focus." Usually in these biographies the truth was somewhere in the middle between the views of the modern biographers and the old.

In artistic qualities, the speaker said, the modern biography was much improved over the old and was in many cases almost art. The writer seemed to first get the impression and then by emphasizing certain facts and characteristics, tried to convey the same impression to the reader. It was something like a painter, who trying to make a picture illustrating gloom, overlooked all the bright points in the landscape and emphasized the dark, dull features.

Interesting But Poisonous

Professor MacDonald illustrated his points by special reference to Strachey's book on Cardinal Manning in which the writer set out to show that the man who later became Archbishop of Westminster showed a certain "dexterity of conduct" throughout his life and that the writer had dealt with the subject in a manner that was "interesting but poisonous." To show this certain facts were suppressed and others magnified out of all proportion to their real significance.

Gibbon, the historian, was also mentioned, the lecturer showing that everything conspired to make him a great historian. As a boy Gibbon was an invalid and very studious. At Oxford he did not attend lectures and, before leaving, he became a Catholic. His father intervened, took him away from the university and induced him to give up his Catholic views. Later Gibbon fell in love and again his father intervened and Gibbon says he "sighed as a lover but obeyed as a son." He served under his father as a captain of militia for a few years and had a short experience in politics as a member of Parliament. All these experiences conspired to turn him from other interesting careers and yet gave him an insight into matters which were useful in the making of a great historian.

Trevor Williams presided at the meeting, representing the Junior Chamber of Commerce, under whose auspices the course is being carried out, and H. F. Pullen moved a vote of thanks to the speaker.

Tonight's train, due from the East at 10:20, was reported this morning to be on time.

NORWAY IS DESCRIBED

John Dybhavn Interesting Speaker At Parent-Teachers Association Meeting

An instructive and interesting descriptive address on Norway was given by John Dybhavn before the Prince Rupert Parent-Teachers' Association. Bounded on three sides by the ocean, Norway had a very extensive coastline indented with long, narrow fjords, and fringed with islands which, if added to the 2200 miles of coastline, would give a total length of coast of 12,500 miles or one-half the distance around the world at the equator. Mr. Dybhavn stated.

In area Norway was about 125,000 square miles, about one-third the area of British Columbia. The high broken plateau which extended from one end of the peninsula to the other and the narrow coastal plain with its deeply indented coastline had much to do in determining the character and occupation of the people. Since less than one-fourth of the land was capable of cultivation there were very many small farms and, where possible, as along the coast, fishing was combined with farming.

Moderate Climate

Mr. Dybhavn made it clear that, although Norway was far north, it was not a land of ice and snow. The westerly winds and the Gulf Stream combined to make its summers cool and its winters so mild that none of its harbors even in the extreme north were icebound.

The contour of the country and its coastline provided that wonderful scenery for which Norway was justly famous and which drew to it every year tourists from all parts of the world. Splendid tourist routes had been developed and modern hotels had been built to cater to this extending tourist trade.

Forest products made up the most important of the exports accounting for thirty-four percent. Fishing and whaling accounted for thirty-two percent, mining, eight percent; agriculture, five percent, and other sundry industries twenty-one percent of the exports. About 900,000 tons of fish was caught yearly. Herring were caught all along the coast, and lobster and cod fishing were also very important.

The population was less than three million people, less than one percent being of non-Norwegian origin. In the north were 30,000 people of Mongolian origin who are very skilled in the rearing of reindeer herds.

Since the year 1536 when the Lutheran religion was introduced into Norway, education had made steady progress. There were splendid primary, secondary and technical schools, as well as various institutions of higher learning and a university.

A vivid picture of Norway and its people was left in the minds of all those who were privileged to hear the address.

Excellent Program

The musical program rendered during the evening was characteristically Norwegian. Mrs. H. O. Johnsen, with capably rendered piano solo, and the Varden Singers, directed by Peter Lien, with Norwegian choruses and folk songs provided a most entertaining program. Hearty votes of thanks were accorded the speaker and artists.

The meeting ended with the singing of the National Anthem, after which refreshments were served and a pleasant social hour spent.

It was the regular monthly meeting of the Prince Rupert Parent-Teachers' Association and was held in the Booth Memorial School, the president, Mrs. D. C. Stuart, presiding.

A letter was read from Mrs. K. G. Kern, secretary of the British Columbia Parent-Teachers' Federation, congratulating the local association upon the splendid work it is doing.

Arrangements were made for the Easter candy sale and the following members were appointed conveners:

High School—Mrs. M. McLachlan and Mrs. George Wilson.

Borden Street School—Mrs. William Brown and Mrs. E. Clapp.

Booth Memorial School—Mrs. R. Wood and Mrs. Perkins.

Seal Cove School—Mrs. J. G. Viereck and Mrs. D. Scott.

The secretary was instructed to thank City Commissioner W. J. Alder for a donation of $20 to augment the fund for the purchase of library books and supplementary reading and reference books.

or the Cash!

A TOTAL OF $15,501 IN 3,114 CASH AWARDS!

Just for supposing an answer to this simple question...

Which of the Dionne Quins would I adopt?

A fortune for day dreaming! Just suppose the Government of Ontario had not provided a wonderful future for the Dionne Quins. Just suppose YOU instead, had been called on to adopt one of these heaven-sent children. Which one would have appealed to you most? Your answer may win a marvelous $10,000 home.

YVONNE is always full of mischief. She can't resist the temptation to get her hands on your hair and then pull with all her might. Maybe it's because she's proud of her own hair which is a little thicker and longer than her sister's.

ANNETTE is a little rogue who can't resist the temptation to get her hands on your hair and then pull with all her might. Maybe it's because she's proud of her own hair which is a little thicker and longer than her sister's.

CECILE is a little coquette. She rolls her big blue-black eyes to attract your attention, and then dreamily half closes them so you can get the full effect of her long, dusky lashes. She likes to put her arms around your neck and "hold on tight."

EMILIE promises to be a star athlete. She's getting off to an early start by being champion water splasher and kicker. She's a firm believer in knee action and perpetual motion, and is the most individualistic of them all.

MARIE is the most serious. She has an intriguing Mona Lisa smile, and even when she laughs she seems to be miles away deciding some weighty problem. She's not quite as active as the others, but she's certainly a thinker.
