A special session of the Alberta Legislature will be convened probably within a short time to pass legislation in substitution for the three disallowed banking acts, it is reported on the highest authority in Edmonton. Premier Aberhart's cabinet is meeting this afternoon to prepare what is expected to be complete reply to the federal telegram notifying Alberta of the disallowance.

In London Major C. H. Douglas, founder of the Social Credit movement, said that Premier William Aberhart was following the logical course and was bound to be ultimately successful.

NEW HOMES FOR PRAIRIE FARMERS

There are many districts in the drought areas of Saskatchewan and Alberta where the innabitants are going to be obliged to move out. There are many districts in British Columbia where the government owns good land that is not occupied and will not be occupied for many years under ordinary conditions. It should be the duty of the governments concerned to get together on some kind of an arrangement whereby these people can be transpianted to locations where they have some hope for the tuture. It is by no fault of their own that they are obliged to leave their lands and buildings and move into a new country without enough means to get improved lands. Even if they had some funds, it would be considered hardship for them in getting started in a new land. They should, therefore, be given new land in their new location and also given some assistance in getting started. The country will be repaid many fold in a few years by the result of the business that will come from having these experienced and industrious people in a happy and satisfied frame of mind and in prosperous circumstances. It is suggested that it might even be a good idea for the government to gather up a lot of the discontents of this province and plant them in Saskatchewan and Alberta until they have time to figure out what complaints they really have in living in the best province in the Dominion of Canada. Some of the dried out farmers have been investigating conditions in Central British Columbia. Possibly this would be the best available location for re-settlement of these people who have been unfortunate enough to choose wrong locations in the arid southern section of the Canadian prairies.

GOOD WORK OF YOUNG RANGERS

One of the chief features of the welcome to Lord Tweedsmuir at Burns Lake was his initiation into honorary membership in the Young Rangers, an organization of young people banded together to prevent and fight fires in the forest sections of the country. It is a secret organization with all the usual paraphernalia connected therewith but with the one definite object above all others. In a country which is dry during much of the summer and where fires are a distinct danger to the whole community, such an organization can prove very useful and the idea might well be adopted at other similar localities.

Boys and girls who love aeroplanes will take delight in assembling these 3-dimension models of advanced British sky craft! They're dashing, rakish models, in full color. They slip from the book and set up in a jiffy . . . no scissors or paste are needed. The book is packed with information children want, on what makes an aeroplane fly, and how to fly. There's also an aeroplane game to liven dull hours or rainy afternoons . . . and all absolutely free at your grocer's with the purchase of two packages of Kellogg's Bran Flakes ... the energy-food that 'children really enjoy! Get your free copy of Kellogg's Model Planes while the supply lasts.

Eat to feel fit . . . serve big bowls of Kellogg's Bran Flakes with milk or cream for breakfast! They're crisp-toasted, crunchy flakes of choice whole wheat. Rich in nourishment and easy to digest. Mildly laxative too, having just enough extra bran. Good for the whole family, they're always delicious and ready to serve without bother or fuss. Your grocer has Kellogg's Bran Flakes ... oven-fresh. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

"The eight 3-dimension models of modern British aircraft in Kellogg's book of Model Planes accurately reproduce the appearance of these speedy new aeroplanes. Every youngster who is keen about aviation will want a copy of this book, not only for the fun of assembling the models and playing the aeroplane game, but also for the exciting instructions on aeronautics and how to fly." says Air Commodore H. Hollick Kenyon, operations superintendent of Skylines Express, the famous Canadian flyer who piloted Lincoln Ellsworth on his epie Antarctic flight.
