WARRING CANUCKS FIND LIGHT SIDE IN SPANISH WAR; FIGHTING REBELS

Baseball and Other Games Played by Members of Mackenzie-Papineau Battalion on Jarama Front—Insurgents Not Worse Menace

FRANCE ABANDONS NEUTRALITY

PARIS, July 14:—France is now abandoning the non-intervention patrol along the Franco-Spanish frontier. Observers stationed there by the French government are now leaving.

According to reports reaching here last night, the Spanish government has renewed energetic operations along three fronts with air and land attacks.

MADRID, July 13: (CP)—Except for lice and dysentery, which veterans have come to regard as more of a menace than the insurgents in the opposing trenches, the 300 Canadians of the Mackenzie-Papineau Battalion, just moved up to the Jarama Front, should find life there rather like that in a summer camp for boys.

Behind a protecting ridge, only a few rods from the front line trench, are three ping-pong tables, a baseball diamond, an area for pitching horseshoes, a library and a canteen that sells everything from cigarettes to hair oil. These are some of the benefits they share with the Lincoln Battalion of Americans.

Soldiers of the Mackenzie-Papineau Battalion work a four-and-a-half-hour day. There is a two-hour day shift and a night watch of two-and-a-half hours, during which they look out for surprise raids. To make things more pleasant, the boys on the night shift get sandwiches and coffee.

Radio receiving sets operate day and night, bringing in BBC news-casts and musical programs. In addition to the library, a daily newspaper is mimeographed and a weekly is printed in Madrid and brought out to the line.

The daily carries war news, articles by experienced soldiers on army life, information on hygiene, a daily lesson in Spanish and poems and songs written by the volunteers. The weekly is political.

Rations of cigarettes are distributed free four times a week and on Sundays chocolate and cakes are served to all. The brigade developed the best kitchen of any fighting unit in Spain, and many of the soldiers never ate so well, even at home.

Now, sometimes, while the snipers are potting away from the rebel trenches about 300 yards distant, from behind the protecting hill comes the answering crack of a baseball bat on rawhide, the light thud of boxing gloves as soldiers keep in condition by sparring, and the shouts of young men at play. Pay is 12½ peseta, or about 65 cents a day Canadian. The ghost walks every 10 days.

Defend Vital Artery

The Canadian unit on the Jarama front began with a nucleus of about 20 men who, with other members of the Lincoln Battalion and Spanish militiamen, successfully defended the Madrid-Valencia highway against a major insurgent attack last Feb. 27. The highway is a vital artery through which besieged Madrid receives virtually all its supplies, reinforcements and evacuates civilians.

Shortly after that engagement, in which many English-speaking volunteers were killed and wounded, replacements brought the number of Canadians up to 40. They remained in the front line for four months, with only one break of three days when they were relieved

Eight Million Dollar Project To Employ 2500 White People Is Secured for Prince Rupert

British Ship Is Captured By Spanish Insurgents On Entering Santander Today

LONDON, July 14: (Canadian Press)—Alfred Duff Cooper, First Lord of the Admiralty, announced in the British House of Commons today that a British ship had been captured while entering the Spanish government port of Santander, current objective of the insurgent northern campaign.

Cooper made the announcement as Opposition members criticized the government for warning British merchantmen from entering Santander, claiming that the warnings were unnecessary.

Later the Admiralty said that the British steamer Molton from London had been stopped outside of Spanish territorial waters by an insurgent cruiser which fired two warning shots.

WORK TO START AS SOON AS ENGINEERS HAVE COMPLETED SURVEYS—SITE WILL BE WITHIN CITY LIMITS EITHER AT DRY DOCK OR SEAL COVE

Official Statement Made By Buckley On Big Undertaking

PLANT TO BE IN PRODUCTION BY END OF 1938—CONTRACTS MADE FOR ENTIRE OUTPUT OF RAYON PULP—DEFINITE ARRANGEMENTS CONCLUDED

Definite arrangements have been concluded for the building of a 250-ton daily capacity bleached sulphite mill at Prince Rupert for the manufacture of rayon pulp, it was announced here today by Frank L. Buckley on his arrival this morning on the Prince Rupert from Vancouver after a trip to New York and Eastern Canada. The total amount of capital involved in the undertaking, Mr. Buckley states is $8,000,000, the greater portion of the capital being Canadian with New York, San Francisco and British Columbia capitalists also interested. Work on the project will be started soon as the engineers have completed surveys which they are now undertaking. Plans for the mill are well advanced and it is expected it will be brought into production by the end of 1938. Contracts for the entire output of the mill have been made. The mill will be established either on the dry dock site or at Seal Cove. The undertaking will result in the employment in mill and woods of some 2500 men. It is proposed to use all white labor.

"The company has extensive timber holdings on the Queen Charlotte Islands and the mainland," Mr. Buckley states. "The reason for locating at Prince Rupert is that it is an ideal situation on account of the surrounding district being heavily wooded with spruce, hemlock and balsam—woods especially suitable for the manufacture of high grade bleached sulphite pulp. An abundance of iron-free water is in close proximity to the mill.

"Hydro-electric power will be secured in large quantities from the Northern British Columbia Power Co.

"The mill, being built within the city limits of Prince Rupert, will eliminate the necessity of a housing program by the company. This will greatly benefit the city in view of the large number of men employed, the 2500 men supporting more or less that many families. Allied industries will follow this."

LARGEST PROJECT SINCE 1929

Mr. Buckley states that this is the largest project for the development of the natural resources of this province that has been accomplished since 1929. It will be the first pulp mill on the American continent designed and built from the start for the exclusive manufacture of high grade bleached sulphite (rayon) pulp.

The mill and plans, Mr. Buckley announces, are being so laid out by the engineers with a view to doubling the capacity within the next three years or sooner if the market so demands.

Mr. Buckley has been a prominent timber operator in British Columbia for a number of years, having had with the Imperial Munitions Board during the Great War the largest contract for the delivery of airplane spruce for the British and French governments awarded on this continent. He has been interested in the local pulp mill project for some years and is receiving hearty congratulations locally on bringing it to a successful fruition. He expects to be here for several days.

VARYING REPORTS

Plane Sighted in Central Interior Evidently Not Russian—Was Further East

Reports were received yesterday of a plane flying very high passing over Usk on the local line of the Canadian National Railways shortly before noon, a similar report coming from Priestly just east of Burns Lake about mid-afternoon. Some thought that this might have been the Russian trans-Polar plane bound from Moscow to United States but a check-up showed this to be hardly likely.

Shortly before noon the Russian fliers had wirelessed that they were 150 miles south of Fort St. John in the Peace River Block and east of the Rocky Mountains. The message at that time said: "Everything is all right." The pilots said, however, that they had not received an answer to a previous message asking which direction to turn. They had been told to turn east to avoid storms over the Canadian Rockies and it was thought they might make Chicago instead of San Francisco their destination. However, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon they were heard from again, definitely heading for California, being over Northern California at 10 p.m. with "all going well." They were believed to have passed over Quesnel at 4 p.m.

Conferees are said to be the Chinese Hopeh-Charar political council and Japanese military authorities.

The Japanese say that no further demands will be made upon the Chinese over fighting in the Peiping area. The Japanese high command, however, has sent two thousand reinforcements from Tientsin to Peiping where Japanese troops were turned back in fighting yesterday.

IMMIGRATION TO CANADA

During the past year there has been a certain amount of immigration into Canada, chiefly of people with money who have purchased farms. Some Swiss people bought farms at or near Smithers and are said to be very desirable settlers.

While these people from Central Europe are coming to Canada, British people are not encouraged to come. Yet there are sections of Britain where the local people are prepared to aid farmers to go to Canada and there is a strong feeling in some sections of Canada that the government should take the initial step toward encouraging British people who wish to farm to come to Canada and take up or purchase land.

While we have not, as a general principle, any use for settlement schemes which dump people from any country into Canada, we do think there could be a gradual absorption of British residents who have money or farming experience to help develop the unoccupied lands in this country. We do not think we should confine our efforts to the British but we think Britain would be the place to make a first move toward securing settlers.

WAR IN ORIENT

It looks as if there might be a serious war in the Orient unless something happens to stop it immediately. The situation is a difficult one because both nations concerned seem to be spoiling for a fight. China has been concentrating her forces of late and, doubtless, Japan thinks the present is the best time to try to smash her army before it gets too strong.

We have all become so used to China being beaten that we can hardly realize that she might hold her own against any enemy, even against the ferocious little Japanese soldiers. The fatalism of the Japanese is strongly in favor of Japan. They do not know when they are beaten and have never yet had to retreat from an enemy. On the other hand China is fighting against an invader and a new spirit has come over the people of that country. Evidently she has been holding back until she might concentrate her forces and make a strenuous effort to drive the Japanese out of her country. If fighting continues, it will be very interesting to watch the outcome of the war.

There is also a possibility that Russia might think this an opportune time to press her western enemy just at a time when they are occupied with the Chinese. There have been skirmishes on the frontier and it would not be surprising if she should cross the border and harry the Japanese on that front.

WARRING CANUCKS

by a unit of Frenchmen. This is an all-time record for front-line service, according to military men.

Then, recently, the Lincoln battalion which included the 40 Canadians was moved back to a rest camp for three weeks' leave. During the rest, Canadians were withdrawn from scattered fighting units in Spain and 300 were organized into the Mackenzie-Papineau Battalion. A check-up at the rest camp showed that, as nearly as could be calculated, 17 Canadians have been killed in fighting since the beginning of the war. It was estimated too that there are 500 Canadians in Loyalist Spain. Many are in medical and transport services. Now that the three-week rest period is up the Mackenzie-Papineau Battalion is on the front about 26 miles southeast of Madrid, protecting the highway to Valencia.

The veterans who were there in February and March didn't have much fun. The earth was bare. It rained and the temperature was chilly or worse. They slept on ground sheets in damp dugouts.

In April the countryside became green, and sweet-smelling lilacs adorned No-Man's Land. When spring gave way to summer, the lilacs disappeared and poppies spread their carpets of fire over the fields. Olives grew on the bullet-scarred trees between the opposing trenches.

Games Offer Diversion

The insurgents behaved themselves, and the Loyalist volunteers were able to rig up their recreation centre and also to strengthen fortifications. In the evenings, the boys played poker and listened to the radio.

"On rainy days they had 'Indian tangos' with the insurgents, affairs in which both lines blazed away like Derivishes for an hour or so, but no one saw anything.

The volunteers on night watch frequently engaged in verbal skirmishes with the insurgent trenches. Voices carry well in the quiet of the night, and if the insurgents were mellowed by a good supply of cognac and began singing they could be heard in the government trenches.

The boys would poke their heads above the sandbags and yell at the insurgent trench some of the lusty Spanish expressions they had picked up. The insurgents would stop singing and yell back. It would become quite a session until someone, instead of shouting, would start shooting a machine gun. Then, everyone would fall back into the trench, out of sight.

This is the sort of thing the 300 Canadians of the Mackenzie-Papineau Battalion will find in their new position on the Jarama front, unless Generalissimo Franco really is concentrating his forces about Madrid with an eye to throwing all his weight against the old capital's defenses. If he does, it won't be like a summer camp on the Jarama front. But it will be plenty hot.

WHIFFLETS From the Waterfront

The sockeye gillnet average on the Skeena and Naas Rivers remains about the same at fifteen or so fish per boat. It was reported at the Dominion Fisheries office this morning. Weather conditions might be more favorable for gillnetting than they have been since the season opened. Clear, sunny weather might bring in improvement in the run, it is thought. However, a heavy sockeye run was not anticipated this year.

Imperial Oil Co.'s small tanker Maryolite, after spending a couple of days in port, sailed yesterday for Vancouver.

The troller Takla O., Capt. Sam Olson, delivered 1100 pounds of coho salmon and 400 pounds of spring salmon and the troller Jenney, Capt. Chris Berg, delivered 5,500 pounds of coho salmon and 400 pounds spring salmon to the Prince Rupert Co-operative at the advanced prices of 9c and 6c for spring and 6c for coho.

RAILWAY MAN DIES

"Shorty" Stafford, Well Known Engineer, Victim of Heart Attack

SMITHERS, July 14:—T. L. Stafford, well known locomotive engineer of Smithers, popularly known along the line as "Shorty" Stafford, died Tuesday evening while enroute to Smithers to enter hospital.

Mr. Stafford was working on the ditcher at Woodcock on the Skeena River and had not been feeling well for several days although continuing with his work.

Tuesday afternoon he decided that he would have to have medical attention and he was being brought to Smithers for that purpose.

The doctor was called at Hazelton and gave him attention there but decided that he could not be moved to hospital at Hazelton. He died on the train about fifteen minutes after leaving Hazelton for Smithers. Heart trouble was the cause of his death.

Mr. Stafford was well known throughout the district and had made his home in Smithers for a number of years.

With Pilot Kutzer at the controls, an airplane, carrying three passengers, arrived here early yesterday afternoon from Seattle and, after refuelling, hopped off in continuation of a flight to Ketchikan.

IS VIVID ROMANCE

"Garden of Allah" Mid-week Feature Offering on Capitol Theatre Screen

The famous desert romance, "Garden of Allah" with Marlene Dietrich and Charles Boyer in the stellar roles, comes to the screen of the Capitol Theatre as an outstanding feature for the middle of this week. Produced entirely in technicolor, the immortal story is heralded as a glorious feast of color and romance.

Marlene Dietrich is cast as the lovely Domini Enfield who goes to the parish of the kindly Father Roubier in the Algerian desert to find a new life and falls madly in love with the strange, brooding, mysterious Boris Androvsky who, unknown to her is really a trappist monk who has fled from the monastery after taking the eternal vows. Boyer portrays the terrible conflict in the soul of a man who is torn between the love for a woman and his duty to God. The glorious but ill-starred romance between the man and woman from widely separated worlds provides one of the most thrilling stories that has ever come to the screen.

The desert backgrounds adapt themselves well to color as do also the vivid bazaar and dancing girl scenes. Basil Rathbone and C. Aubrey Smith are important members of the supporting cast.
