JOHN BULL IS BOLSTERING DEFENCES

PRESERVING WATER ON PRAIRIE FARMS MEANS OF BENEFITTING CROPS

Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Committee Completes 1,450 Small Projects in Year—Drought Work Recounted by Chairman

SASKATOON, Feb. 17: (CP)—Five billion gallons of water which previously drained from western farms will be retained for crop growing as a result of drought-attack measures, according to John A. Vallance, chairman of the committee operating under the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act. Last year, he said, 1,450 small projects, dug-outs, small stock-watering dams and irrigation schemes were completed. He estimated these would impound 22,000 acre-feet of water or approximately 5,000,000,000 gallons which formerly trickled away into the Gulf of Mexico or Hudson Bay.

The committee have received so far 6,000 applications for assistance—sufficient to keep the committee busy for two years. The need for irrigating from eight to fifteen acres on most farms in drought areas was so evident that Mr. Vallance invited farmers to organize themselves into agricultural improvement associations so that they might receive the assistance the committee is prepared to give.

In 1936 the federal government granted $1,250,000 for prairie rehabilitation work. Of this amount $500,000 was from the department of labor, and it gave work to 1,815 men with wages totalling $120,000.

Security For Farmers
There is not a district in the drought area that is not in a drainage basin, Mr. Vallance said. That means that virtually every farmer can be benefitted by the water development work. He believes schemes of this kind will assure him a garden and shelter belt as well as several acres of irrigated feed crops.

Mr. Vallance foresees a time when all drainage areas in the west will be taken up and licensed. Those who have not taken advantage of the scheme early, he contended, may find themselves on the outside.

The chairman stressed provincial responsibility for water development work and said no action could be taken by his committee without the provincial governments agreeing to the undertaking. He suggested a provincial organization should be built up under the department of natural resources which would be prepared to carry on the work.

The Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act was passed by the federal government in 1935. Farmers whose schemes have been improved receive from the committee four and one-half cents a cubic yard for excavating earth with a maximum of $75.00 allowed for any small project such as a dug-out and up to $150 for small stock-watering dams. Further aid in the form of expert engineering advice is provided.

Last year the Val Marie dam project in Saskatchewan, one of the largest, was completed at a cost of $150,000. It will irrigate 6,000 acres. The East End project cost $85,000 and will irrigate 2,600 acres. Others were completed at Wild Horse at the southwest corner of Saskatchewan, in Southern Alberta the Canada Land and Irrigation Company project was reconstructed at a cost of $85,000. Altogether $750,000 will have been spent on such work by the end of the fiscal year.

RUSSIA RE-BORN

Has Become World Power on Stalin Plan, Like it or Not

Ruthless Chief But is Skillful Builder of National Structure

NEW YORK, Feb. 17: (AP)—Joseph Stalin, Soviet chief, who rose from a hovel, has marked his dozen years of supreme leadership with monumental works. Many other nations question the beauty and desirability of some of these works and bitterly condemn Stalin's methods of building. But the structures, good or bad, are great pyramids in Russian history and the Steel Man has in large measure accomplished the mighty tasks which he laid out for himself. Perhaps his outstanding achievement has been making a vitalized unit of 175,000,000 people of various creeds and races—largely illiterate, poverty-stricken, down-trodden peasants who were plodding aimlessly and hopelessly through life.

Stalin started from scratch in solving the great problem of educating and unifying the masses. He hasn't solved it yet, for that will take generations, but he has turned Russia into a world power—a world-m menace, Germany and other anti-communists call it.

One of Stalin's first moves when he assumed power was to start rebuilding the economic structure of the country. He ended private trading and instituted collectivized farming.

Then, in 1928, he launched his five-year plan for industrialization of Russia—and the outside world laughed. He began constructing and operating great steel plants, electric works, automobile and tractor factories. He built ships, railroads, canals and hydro-electric plants. He opened mines and established foundries and smelters.

Because all this was new to Russia, technical experts were called from America and other countries to teach the Russian workman his job. This program required immense expenditures abroad. The money could only come from exports, and Russia started to dump her products on the markets of the world, wheat being one of the large exports.

Stalin shortly encountered trouble from the kulaks, the larger and more prosperous farmers, who refused to co-operate and supply the government with produce. They slaughtered cattle for feasts and refused to plow their ground for grain.

It was then the Steel Man showed the streak of ruthlessness which is in him. Soviet agents seized from the kulaks the amount of grain to which the government would have been entitled from a normal crop. Since there already was a scarcity of grain, millions faced dire want. Estimates of deaths from starvation went to more than a million.

"The kulak is the enemy of the government," said Stalin. "He is to be liquidated as a class."

Speeded Reconstruction
Under Stalin's driving power the five-year construction plan was completed in four years. The leader promptly embarked on another five-year construction drive, the object of which was to consolidate what had been done and to increase production and improve quality. The measure of success which Stalin achieved was recorded in a report of the international labor office at Geneva in 1936. This stated that the Soviet Union has attained a level equivalent to 300%

ROBLIN K.C. PASSES ON

Former Premier of Manitoba Was One of Picturesque Figures Of Canadian Prairies

Was 81 Years of Age Led Conservative Forces at Winnipeg For Many Years Opposing Thomas Greenway

WINNIPEG, Feb. 17: (CP)—Sir Rodmond P. Roblin, K.C., M.G., one of the outstanding Canadians of the last generation, passed away last evening in Hot Springs, Ark., aged 81 years, as the result of a heart attack.

One of the picturesque figures of Manitoba's eventful political history Sir Rodmond Roblin was associated with some of the province's greatest movements and controversies of the past 30 years. As premier from 1900 to 1915 he was at the helm during the great formative period in the development of Manitoba, and though the latter years of his life he lived in strict retirement, so far as political matters were concerned he is still vividly remembered as the powerful leader whose oratory, sagacity and personal magnetism were potent factors in the vitality shown by the Conservatives during that time.

Of United Empire Loyalist and Dutch stock Sir Rodmond was born in Sophiasburg, Prince Edward County, Ontario, in 1853. Two of his uncles, John P. Roblin and David Roblin, had sat in the legislature of Upper Canada. After completing his education at Albert College, Belleville, young Roblin in his twenty-fifth year went west and took up farming on a large scale near Carman, Man. Two years later he started a grain business in Carman. In 1881 he was elected reeve and country warden for North Dufferin.

The controversy arising out of the C. P. R. monopoly of the railway situation soon enveloped young Roblin, and in 1886 he campaigned North Dufferin as a Liberal candidate. His party was unsuccessful, and Roblin was one of the defeated candidates. Its failure to put an end to the C. P. R. monopoly resulted in the defeat of the Conservative government under Norquay, and Hon. Thomas Greenway came into power as Liberal premier of Manitoba. The retirement of Dr. Wilson from the Dufferin seat left it open and Mr. Roblin was elected at a by-election, March 10, 1888.

For five months he continued as a supporter of the Greenway government, but upon the question of the taking over by the Northern Pacific of the Red River Valley Railroad the new Dufferin member, along with several other prominent government supporters, split with the premier. Upon Mr. Greenway's adherence to the bargain with the Northern Pacific Mr. Roblin went over to the opposition, and was in 1889 elected Conservative leader in Manitoba.

For the next ten years Mr. Roblin was at the helm so far as the Conservatives were concerned. He displayed many leadership qualities, but was regarded as having played a rather negative part, particularly in connection with the separate school discussion. He retired as leader and was succeeded by Hon. Hugh John MacDonald, son of the former great Conservative premier of Canada. Under the latter's leadership the Conservatives came into power in Manitoba in the general elections of 1899. A year afterwards Mr. MacDonald resigned the leadership, and Mr. Roblin, then 47 years of age, became premier.

MOST SNOW ON RECORD

Thirty-Seven Inches Falls in Week At Terrace—Total Depth At Least Five Feet

TERRACE, Feb. 17:—There has been an unusually heavy fall of snow during the past week. In the seven days up to yesterday, there was no less than 37 inches, most of which still cumbers the ground.

A week ago the local meteorological observer recorded an accumulated depth of 18 inches. Now if he were asked how deep the snow is he would likely say "Step into the brush for a few yards and you will find it's up to 'the arm pits.'" Such a condition is without precedent. At any rate it has not been recorded for at least 20 years. The streets of Terrace village are being cleared by the public works snow plough and the snow banks thrown up are so high that passersby cannot see over them.

Test of Policy

President Roosevelt in his recent inaugural address at Washington gave utterance to a statement which will rank politically among the words of America's great men. He said:

"The test of our progress is whether we provide enough for those who have too little."

This might well be the guiding motive of Canadian as well as United States statesmen. It is the first duty of every administrator. It may even be looked upon as the new gospel of political life and one that will find ready acceptance among the Canadian people.

Unfortunately, there are in this country still a good many people who are unable to obtain remunerative employment. Even in good times their wages are low and when out of employment they have no savings to carry them over until another job can be obtained. These are the men who need to be considered by those who administer our affairs. This paper has always tried to champion their cause and we hope to continue to do so.

Will They Ever Pay?

Governments all over the world continue to borrow and the habit has taken such a hold that even bankrupt institutions often look for loans when they wish to carry out big improvements.

The probability is that most of the smaller governmental bodies will have to get along in future without borrowing. It will be enforced upon them because people will not like to lend on such poor security.

It is possible that most of these large loans made will never be repaid. At any rate there is little effort being made to repay them and loans still pile one on another all over the world. In some cases the borrowers are not even keeping up their interest payments and there seems little likelihood that they will pay the principal.

Everywhere investors are looking for what they consider to be "safe investments" for their savings but in these changing times no one can tell what is a safe investment.

Three Teams Very Much in Running With Final Fixtures On Friday Night

With the final fixtures of the second half of the Prince Rupert Bridge League schedule set for this Friday night, an interesting situation exists in the standing with Musketeers, Grotto and Ramblers all very much in the running. At present the Musketeers, who won the first half, and Grotto are tied for first place while the Ramblers are but one point behind. On Friday night the Musketeers will play the Ramblers while the Grotto will meet Brackman & Ker. Whichever team gets the breaks will probably be the winner of the half.

In postponed games played since the week-end, Ramblers defeated Canadian Legion six to three while Grotto won over Ramblers 5 to 4.

PUCK PLAY INTRIGUES

Present Season Proving Big As Far as Attendance at Games Is Concerned

NEW YORK, Feb. 17: (CP)—President Frank Calder of the National Hockey League said last night that attendance at National Hockey League games was showing a great increase this winter and, for the club owners, it was proving one of the best seasons on record. If the present rate was kept up, at least two hundred thousand more spectators would have seen league games this winter than last when some two million fans passed the turnstiles.

SPORT CHAT

Chester's supporters are wondering if musical broadcasts heard by the players when they are being massaged have anything to do with the team's climb to the top of the third division of the English football league.

Walter Lindrum, famous English billiards player, suggests the game be played with four balls instead of three, with a red, pink and two whites, the colors to count three and whites two.

Hope that Leicestershire County Cricket Club will be able to surmount financial difficulties is revived by the appointment of W. E. Astill, veteran player, as coach.

The East high school wrestling team of Denver, Colorado, has four pairs of twins—Daniel and Davis Murphy, Jim and Ted Percival, Edward and Ernest Olson and Dick and Jack Hilyard.

Gilbert Reynolds, South African Swimming Union president, believes swimmers in the Union are improving and urges educational authorities to insist that every boy girl should learn.

Harold Mudge, young New South Wales bowler who recently accepted an invitation to play for Sir Julian Cann's eleven in England, will get $2,750 a year for three years.

Special supplies of oats, bran and hay have been sent from the United States for F. M. Gould's Grand National candidate, What Have You, who arrived in England recently.

Directors of Millwall Football Club have decided to grant a pension to Elijah Moor who has retired after serving as head groundsman for more than 40 years.

SMITHERS CURLING

Two Important Competitions—Prince George Visitors—Banquet is Held

Good Season

Annual Ski Carnival Next Week Expected to be Drawing Card

SMITHERS, Feb. 17:—One of the most enthusiastic seasons in curling ever seen in Smithers is drawing to a close.

On Saturday last two important tournaments were started and have been going on concurrently—these being the contest for the Shield with four prizes for the four leading teams and the Nabob contest with five-pound jars of coffee for the winning team and other prizes for the next three teams.

It was expected to have had several outside rinks in Smithers for this important tournament but illness in the shape of influenza seemed to be responsible for keeping away the teams which it was hoped that Prince Rupert and Telkwa would send while Billy Little of Woodcock failed to put in his appearance with his rink which has always been an annual fixture at the Smithers bonspiel.

Prince George alone sent in a rink consisting of W. J. Peckham (skip) Charlie Gow, Harry Bowman and James Graham. Unfortunately for this rink its members had not altogether escaped the flu epidemic and were not in very good shape for the contest and did not get any higher than second place in the consolation awards.

Starting in with thirteen rinks on Saturday the contest waged for eighteen hours a day until Monday afternoon when the Frank Johnson rink defeated the George Wall rink for possession of the shield and the first prize.

The Wall rink got away to a poor start in the final game and was on the tail end of a 9-0 score when the game was half over. They then proceeded to pick up and had the score tied at 10-all in the tenth frame but the Johnson rink took the next two ends to win the series.

Many close scores featured the contest and several games had to go an extra end to decide the winners. The James Laurie rink took the consolation.

In the Nabob series there are three teams still in the running as this contest has not yet been finished.

The rink skipped by L. C. Calder defeated the Wall rink Monday morning and will now play with the Stephens rink to decide who will enter the finals with the James Downey rink for the first prize.

Banquet is Held

A banquet was held in the Hudson Hotel Monday evening to entertain the men from Prince George who were returning to their homes by next morning's train.

Thirty curlers sat down to this dinner which was presided over by President L. G. Calder of the Smithers Curling Club. Songs, recitations and stories as after-dinner entertainment made up a very enjoyable occasion and Mr. Calder presented the prizes that had already been won to the various skips who acknowledged and received the awards for their rinks with short but happy speeches.

The weather conditions were ideal and the ice was in excellent shape throughout the bonspiel. Curling will continue as long as the ice remains good.

The Nabob series will be completed and the tournament which was interrupted to make way for the bonspiel will be continued.

In addition, the rink skipped by Tommy Campbell, the Anthracite Coal Co. rink, has challenged the Wall rink, who were the winners of the Hanson Challenge Cup, to a contest for a crab dinner and this will take place very soon as Mr. Wallis is very fond of crabs.

At the banquet Monday evening it was generally conceded that the present season had been one of the most interesting and enthusiastic that had ever been enjoyed by the

THEY BELIEVE THE BEAR

BRANTFORD, Ont., Feb. 17: (CP)—Not because a groundhog said so, but Bill Campbell's pet bear, "Teddy" saw his shadow on Candlemas Day. Brantford folks expect six weeks of "hard winter." "Teddy" blinked in bright sunlight, yawned, refused to eat and went back to his den for another sleep.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—
And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to go
The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest, your stomach gets constipated, harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sick and the world looks pink.
A more bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Slightly relax anything else. 25c. (Small)

Edmonton Police Get New Clothes

More Comfortable Attire for Constables and Officers of Alberta Capital

EDMONTON, Feb. 17. (CP)—Designed to give greater comfort to constables and officers, new uniforms have been ordered for Edmonton police. They will be ready for the first sunny spring day.

For the first time in this city constables will wear revolver belts. These, Chief A. G. Shute, explained, will lessen the strain on pockets previously burdened with the following articles:

A revolver, extra ammunition, a flashlight, a pair of handcuffs, a whistle, a wrist-chain and a baton.

Main change for officers, inspectors and sergeants will be the open-neck tunic to replace the high-buttoned uniform they have been wearing many years.

RUSSIA RE-BORN

of its 1929 output.

While Stalin was remodelling the economic and industrial structures, he also was creating a great, modernized army and air force. Russia today is said to have one of the most powerful military machines in existence. Some 11,500,000 trained soldiers reportedly are available for action. Munitions and instruments of war have been provided.

The Union has a veritable armada of airplanes, but the total is not known. Moscow has said that there are more than 7,000, but unofficial figures run as high as 10,000.

Stalin closed 1936 by giving his people a new constitution, providing for "soviet democracy!" It granted universal suffrage and permitted any citizen to be a candidate for membership in a two-chamber parliament. This document was said to prepare the way for pure communism when there should no longer be need for a government which would be an organ of compulsion.

The congress of soviets in Moscow unanimously adopted the constitution which Stalin characterized as "the most democratic constitution of those existing in the world." In presenting this historic document to the congress the leader made the second speech in the more than 12 years of his regime.

Stalin has wandered far since his lowly beginning in Tiflis, December 21, 1879 and his 57 years have been filled with hardships, dangers and vicissitudes. His mother, who is now 76, was a Caucasian beauty who inspired her shoe-maker husband to find the hard-earned pennies to start young Joseph on the road to education.

The parents wanted Joseph to be a priest, and when he was about 15 he was sent to a seminary. But the ferment of revolt already was in him. He joined an underground Marxian group and although a mere boy he soon became a teacher of the revolutionary doctrines. For this he was expelled from the school, whereupon he started out as a full-fledged rebel against Czarism.

Between 1902 and 1913 he was arrested, jailed or exiled sixteen times. On five occasions he was consigned to prison in Siberia, and just as often he escaped. Stalin fought through the civil wars which gave birth to the Soviet government, and became a trusted lieutenant of Lenin. The steel man's defence of the city of Tsaritsin (now called Stalingrad in his honor) was one of the mile-posts in the October revolution of 1917.

When Lenin died in 1924 Stalin stepped into the place of his leader. The obscure Georgian had had in 30 years struggle, climbed to control an empire.

FILM FARE AND MUSIC

"Give Me Your Heart," "The Golden Arrow" and Capitoliens at Capitol Theatre

"Give Me Your Heart," a dynamic drama revealing the human emotions of love, passion, hate and sacrifice, comes as the feature offering to the screen of the Capitol Theatre this mid-week with Kay Francis in the stellar role and an exceptionally strong supporting cast which includes George Brent, Roland Young, Henry Stephenson and Halliwell Hobbes. The plot, concerning the romance of a young English girl with a nobleman who is married to a semi-invalid wife, is ultra-modern and daring and, although frank in treatment, is said to be handled with good taste.

The second picture on the double bill is a comedy drama, "The Golden Arrow," with Bette Davis and George Brent. Both Miss Davis and Brent give comedy portrayals with a romantic twist involving some dramatic moments. There are a number of entanglements which almost break the course of true love. Also on the mid-week program are presented on the stage the Capitoliens, continuing their series of international music, this time featuring American gems.

The Letter Box

KEEPING ROADS CLEAR

Editor, Daily News:

I would like to draw your attention to the splendid work being done by the local provincial authorities in the matter of keeping the roads of this district clear of snow, this proving a blessing to pedestrians and a boon to vehicular traffic.

We have had several heavy falls of snow this winter and the very efficient manner with which it has been cleared is worthy of the highest commendation.

A. ATTREE,
Terrace, B.C.

The main significance of the Coronation ceremony is that by it the King is consecrated; is made "sacred," according to the old phraseology.

In the matter of foreign delegates at the Coronation the Order of Precedence established by the Congress of Vienna in 1815 still prevails. Thus the United States which has become a major power in the past century, will be out-ranked by smaller countries.

WHIFFLETS From the Waterfront

Owing to having encountered heavy snow on the way up the coast, both the steamers Prince George and Princess Norah were late today in arriving from Vancouver. Both came in about 1 o'clock this afternoon. The Prince George will leave at 4 p.m. for Anxox and Stewart whence she is due back here southbound tomorrow evening. The Princess Norah left at 2 p.m. for Skagway and other Alaska points whence she is scheduled to call here on Sunday afternoon southbound.

Following the installation of a new 95 h.p. Deutsch full diesel engine, the Armour Salvage Co.'s service boat Pachena is expected to be ready for trial runs tomorrow or the day after. The vessel has been out of commission for the past few months during which time extensive renovation was carried out at the dry dock including hull work. A new propeller has also been installed.

BUCKLEY'S ALKALINE COUGH MIXTURE

Quickly Neutralizes Harmful Acids

You don't have to wait days or weeks for results with this famous cough mixture—You get the effect instantly. Medical research has conclusively shown that an acid condition almost always accompanies the common cold and coughs resulting therefrom. To combat this condition alkaline in various forms are often prescribed more or less as a preventive measure. But never before have you been able to obtain a powerful expectorant cough mixture combined with an active stimulating alkalizer. And that is why Buckley's is so effective for coughs, colds, bronchitis, asthma, grippe, and whooping cough. Buckley's Mixture is based on medical fact-finding. It's no ordinary cough mixture; it goes three times as far as the old-fashioned cough syrups. Buckley's not only fights the cough—it gets right at the cause and quickly puts an end to days and nights of racking, hacking misery. You must get results with Buckley's or money back.
