Nanking Horrified

NANKING, Aug. 28.—The Chinese Nationalist government expressed horror at the incident of the attack upon the British ambassador to China, Marshal Chiang Kai Shek telephoned the ambassador's hospital and ordered the Mayor of Shanghai to send flowers.

Not Out of Danger

SHANGHAI, Aug. 28.—Sir Hugh Knatchbull-Hugessen, British ambassador to China, continues to show improvement but is by no means out of danger as yet. More favorable reports on the ambassador's condition have eased considerably the strain felt here in the situation arising from the shooting of the British envoy by Japanese aviators.

Stand of Britain

LONDON, Aug. 28.—The British government has sent its official protest to the Tokyo government at the shooting of the ambassador, Sir Hugh Knatchbull-Hugessen. The contents were not revealed although it is known that full satisfaction is demanded—more concrete than vague promises to reach Tokyo over the week-end. Meantime, a statement from the Foreign office outlining the action taken by the government is anxiously awaited.

American Message

WASHINGTON, D.C., Aug. 28.—Cordell Hull, United States Secretary of State, dispatched notes to both the Japanese and Chinese governments yesterday demanding respect of United States shipping rights on the Chinese coast.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 28.—Fierce fighting continued unabated today in the Sino-Japanese conflict as the Japanese engaged in a "suicidal" wedge movement twelve miles northwest of here in an endeavor to break up the Chinese fighting forces.

More than six hundred Chinese non-combatants were killed or wounded and the whole of Shanghai plunged into fresh terror today when sixteen Japanese planes rained tons of explosives into the crowded Nantao quarter, adjoining the French concession on the southern side of the city. Attackers, in squadrons of four planes each, swept over the sector several times, leaving a field of death and destruction half a mile square. Many perished in widespread flames that followed.

Governor General Gets Hearty Welcome On His Arrival In This City

Will Spend Three Days Quietly Here Following Trip Through Tweedsmuir Park—Formalities Are Cut to Minimum

Prince Rupert citizens, turning out in large numbers, gave a warm reception last evening to Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor General of Canada, and the vice-regal party on its arrival for a three-day visit. His Excellency had expressly requested that there be no formalities and, accordingly, these were reduced to a minimum of the merest health, derived great delight.

The Governor General, Lady Tweedsmuir together with Mr. and Mrs. G. Pape, lady-in-waiting, Major A. S. Redfern, secretary, and Mrs. Redfern, and Lieut. Gordon Rivers-Smith R.N. and Capt. Campbell-Preston, aides-de-camp.

It was a few minutes after 8 o'clock that the steamer Cardena, which brought the party here from Bella Coola following the visit to Tweedsmuir Park, arrived, circling around H.M.C.S. Fraser to tie up at the Canadian National dock. A delegation of welcome headed by Premier T. D. Pattullo, City Commissioner W. J. Alder and civic representatives immediately boarded the ship to meet and extend courtesies to His Excellency. This was followed soon after by the appearance of the Governor General and his suite who disembarked after His Excellency had said good-byes, with a genial handshake for each, to Capt. John Boden, master of the Cardena, officers and crew and passengers whom he had met while coming north.

A guard of honor from the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve, with Sub-Lieutenant Orme Stuart in command, the 102nd Battery, Royal Canadian Artillery, under Captain A. G. Rix, and the Navy League's Sea Cadet Corps, Sub-Lieut. Joseph Landry in charge, were in attendance and were duly inspected immediately after disembarkation of His Excellency. The Prince Rupert Boys' Band under Bandmaster Robert Greenfield, and a pipe band, under Sam Leslie, also participated in the welcome. Following the inspection, the Governor General and his party proceeded to their special train in the railway yards where they will remain until 6 o'clock Monday evening when they will leave for the east.

This afternoon Lord Tweedsmuir will carry out the formality of laying a wreath on the local cenotaph in respect to the memory of the dead of the Great War. This will be followed immediately by a reception at headquarters of the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve when the public will be given the opportunity of meeting Their Excellencies. Tomorrow morning the Governor General will attend divine service at First Presbyterian Church and read the lesson. Such are the only scheduled public appearances of Lord Tweedsmuir whose visit here, it has been emphasized, is largely for the purpose of rest and relaxation.

This morning City Commissioner Alder took the Governor General and members of his party for a drive to points of interest around the city including the plant of the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co. Today Lady Tweedsmuir was the guest of honor at a luncheon for women held at the Commodore Cafe under the auspices of the Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire.

The members of the vice-regal party, besides Their Excellencies, are Hon. Alistair Buchan, their son, though not in the very best of health, derived great delight. The Governor General, Lady Tweedsmuir together with Mr. and Mrs. G. Pape, lady-in-waiting, Major A. S. Redfern, secretary, and Mrs. Redfern, and Lieut. Gordon Rivers-Smith R.N. and Capt. Campbell-Preston, aides-de-camp.

Representing the Province of British Columbia in connection with the vice-regal tour have been Premier T. D. Pattullo and Hon. A. Wells Gray, minister of lands; E. F. Kenney, M.L.A. for Skeena; M. M. Connelly, M.L.A. for Omineca, and Louis Lebourdais, M.L.A. for Cariboo; Major Thomas D. Trapp, Harry J. Sullivan K.C. and Dr. E. G. MacEwen of New Westminster; Col. H. W. H. Holmes, supervisor of camps; Assistant Commissioner T. W. S. Parsons of the provincial police; J. W. Smith, inspector of lands, and Charles Bennett, British Columbia police radio operator. Guy E. Rhodes of Toronto is also attached to the party as Canadian press representative.

Squadron Leaders E. L. MacLeod and F. J. Mawdesley of the Royal Canadian Air Force and Pilots E. J. W. Dobbin and Charles B. Elliott had been assigned to the party to give aerial transportation. Mr. Gray, the minister of lands, left by H.M.C.S. Fraser this morning on his return to Victoria. Premier Pattullo will remain with the party here and go east with it by train on Monday evening as far as Hazelton.

Messrs. Kenney and Connelly proceeded East from here to their homes in the interior. Mr. Lebourdais stayed aboard the Cardena last night to return to his home in Quesnel by way of Vancouver and the Pacific Great Eastern Railway. New Westminster members of the party also returned south on the Cardena last night. Col. Holmes and Constable Bennett will fly back from here to Intata Lake in Tweedsmuir Park to bring out the camp equipment. Assistant Commissioner Parsons, who had charge of the party during the stay in Tweedsmuir Park, and J. W. Smith, remained at Bella Coola and will make a saddle and pack horse trip back into the Rainbow Mountains and Anahim Lake to pay off the packers and check out the camp equipment.

PROMINENT IN FINANCE

Late Andrew Mellon Long Leader in Affairs of His Country

NEW YORK, August 28: (AP)—Eleven years as secretary of the treasury, the second longest term in the history of that office and the only one held under three successive presidents, made Andrew W. Mellon, who is dead here, an outstanding figure in world finance. He rounded out his public service as ambassador to the court of St. James, the highest diplomatic post in the gift of the government.

This public record crowned a lengthy career as a banker in which he built up one of the great fortunes of the world. But it brought him also into the whirl of politics, made him a shining mark for opposition critics. There was an abortive attempt to indict him in 1934 on charges of evading income taxes and, when this failed, he had to answer before the board of tax appeals in Washington a claim by the government for alleged shortages in his 1931 return, the claim including allegations of fraud and evasion.

But Mellon, a shy, imperturbable little man, given to slow speech, was a fighter, and he hit back lustily.

Post-War Finances
Mellon's treasury career was notable for its handling of difficult post-war financial problems, including refunding agreements with 33 debtor nations of Europe; tax reductions, a cut of 20 per cent in the American national debt and the fact that under his guidance the United States, of all the countries engaged in the world war, was the first to attain a balanced budget after the conflict.

He assumed the secretaryship when President Harding took office March 4, 1921, and held it under Presidents Coolidge and Hoover until February 5, 1932, when the senate confirmed his nomination as ambassador to Great Britain.

Only one other head of the department exceeded the length of this service, Albert Gallatin holding the post under Presidents Jefferson and Madison from 1801 until the spring of 1813.

Mellon stepped into the treasury when the government's financial affairs were in a gloomy state, resulting largely from a depression which followed the inflationary boom during and immediately after the war. Tax rates were the highest in history and the internal revenue laws, hurriedly drawn to bring in war funds, constantly were objects of litigation. The way he handled the task of financial reconstruction has been compared by numerous admirers to the administration of Alexander Hamilton, first secretary of the treasury, who was confronted with similar grave problems.

Headless Of Critics
His tax reduction program, involving a decrease of about 30 per cent in the maximum surtaxes on incomes, was assailed as favoring the rich, and his insistence on settlement of the war debts by foreign nations was criticized at home and abroad, but he saw most of his plans adopted. By 1926 he had cut the public debt a round $6,000,000,000 from a total of about 26,000,000,000.

Unschooling in practical politics, Mellon was the target for repeated attacks in congress, but he went about his work generally heedless of detractors and seldom took public notice of their charges. The differences arose on subjects ranging from taxation, prohibition enforcement, the soldiers' bonus, war debt settlements and farm relief, to charges that he was a representative.

tive of big business and was holding office in violation of a law prohibiting the secretary of the treasury from engaging in trade. Twice efforts were made to remove him, but his position proved unassailable.

His attitude on prohibition was a realistic one. Although devoting much thought to a reorganization of prohibition enforcement on a more efficient basis, he pointed out in his annual reports the great difficulties of attempting to make "wet" states "dry" against their wishes.

Mellon's first demand for reduction of heavy surtaxes failed to obtain congressional support, being opposed even by some of the administration leaders. Turning to the people, however, he won approval that meant passage of his revenue bill in 1926.

A mere tyro in political maneuvering when he entered the cabinet, his years of service as head of government finances made him astute in that phase of American life. At the 1928 republican national convention when the "stop-Hoover" movement was at its height, he was instrumental in swinging the Pennsylvania delegation to the Hoover column at a strategic moment, thus assuring the Californian's nomination.

Son Of Banker

Of Irish Protestant stock, he was born March 24, 1854, at Pittsburgh, the third of five sons of Judge Thomas and Sarah Jane Mellon. His father was judge in the Allegheny county court and retired from the bench in 1869 to establish the banking house of T. Mellon and Sons.

Andrew Mellon was educated in a private school and in the University of Pittsburgh, class of 1873, leaving college shortly before commencement. The next year he entered his father's banking house and was made a partner a year later. When his father retired from business in 1887, Andrew became senior of the firm.

The partnership, including his brother, Richard B. Mellon, entered the national banking system July, 1902, as the Mellon National Bank. With Andrew Mellon as president it grew into one of the most important banks in the country. He resigned the presidency of the institution three days before he entered the cabinet, and also gave up all his other business connections.

In 1889, the brothers and associates organized the Union Trust Company and the Union Savings Bank, of Pittsburgh. Three other banks and a trust company later came under Mellon control, the total resources being in excess of $500,000,000. The growth of the financial institutions was accompanied by extension of the Mellon industrial interests into many fields, including aluminum, coal, iron, oil and shipping, until some estimators put at nearly $8,000,000,000 the total worth of the enterprises in which Mellon and his brothers had a voice.

Tax Measures Wealth

How much of that total was the individual property of Andrew Mellon was problematical. One gauge of his personal fortune was furnished by the democratic administration's attacks on his income tax returns. The tax board case revealed that he had filed a return showing a gross income of $10,890,485 in 1931, but the government claimed this total should have been $13,482,660. He paid a tax of $647,559, the return showing a net income of $1,927,116 with capital losses on stock sales of more than $6,500,000 and gifts and charitable contributions of $3,821,178 as the chief deduction items. The government disputed both these items and claimed an additional tax of $2,050,068 plus 50 per cent of that amount as penalty.

The task of building up and managing the huge fortune which these figures mirrored gave Mellon little time for interests outside his office. He was 45 years old before he married and he was 67 when he entered the cabinet. He found relaxation in a little golf, an occasional horseback ride and by walking to and from his work. He took annual trips abroad to indulge his hobby for art and his collection of paintings was one of the best in America.

His marriage was contracted to Nora McMullen at Hartford, England, September 12, 1900. A daughter, Aisla, who married David K. E. Bruce, and a son, Paul, were born to them. The union ended in divorce in 1910, the children remaining with their father.

Owing to the consistently bad weather this summer, the gardens are nothing like as showy as they should be at this time of year. The gladioli are only just showing bloom except for a few favored positions and many of the dahlias are not yet out. Some may not bloom this year if the frosts should be early.

Looking back at the flower show, it seems that nothing would have been gained by postponement. There was a very good display considering the season and the quality of the flowers was excellent. Owing to the boats being late, there were fewer tourists present than usual and the general attendance was not as large as expected. A number of exhibitors turned their prizes back to the society, thus enabling all expenses to be met. Those who have not yet called at the Daily News for their prize money are asked to do so as soon as possible. Most of the prize money has already been paid out.

The Horticultural Society was fortunate in having excellent judges, Dr. Barsz, who was sent by the provincial government to do the work, called in as his aid Mrs. Delap, wife of the clergyman on the Northern Cross. She obtained her training at the Dublin Botanical Gardens in Ireland. The judges, in one case where there was one too many sweet peas in a bowl, refused to disqualify the exhibit on that account and gave it the first prize.

In connection with the garden judging, Dr. Barsz was very helpful. He offered constructive criticism and discussed problems as far as was possible in the limited time at his disposal. Most of the owners of gardens who met him were much pleased with the visit.

The address given by the Professor at the dinner given for him at the week-end prior to the show was the subject of a great deal of favorable comment. One of the oldest of our local gardeners characterized it as the best address on horticulture he had yet heard.

In spite of unfortunate conditions, local gardeners have been well kept this year and a number of local people are laying plans for improvements and new flower next year. It takes more than one wet summer to daunt the Prince Rupert people.—H.F.P.

SPORT CHAT

Seven members of the local baseball team which will journey to Ketchikan with the Labor Day excursion for a series of two games at the "First City" turned out for practice on Thursday night and made a showing of batting and fielding with which their manager, Dido Gurvich, said he was well satisfied. Asked what was the idea of having only seven players out, Dido expressed confidence that, if necessary, he could take the Ketchikan crowd with only five players. That may be all right for Dido to say but we are just going to wait until Labor Day to endorse any such attitude of optimism.

The lovely St. Louis Browns trimmed the wings of the American League leading New York Yankees Thursday by defeating them nine to five. The Detroit Tigers had a close six to five victory over Boston Red Sox and crept up to within nine-and-a-half games of the Yanks. By virtue of their victory, the Browns moved out of the cellar, the Philadelphia Athletics losing to Cleveland Indians 10 to 5 to drop into the bottom of the class. Rain on the Atlantic Coast caused the postponement of all National League games but one on Thursday.

SMITHERS CREAMERY

New Industrial Plant for Interior Town is Contemplated

SMITHERS, Aug. 28:—A creamery for the Bulkley Valley is a prospect for the immediate future as a result of a largely attended meeting held in the Municipal Hall at Smithers Wednesday evening.

Mr. Whittaker of Saskatoon has been in the district for several days looking over the situation and is satisfied that a creamery is not only a feasible proposition for the district but he was very pleased with the prospects of building up a fine business along that line. He was greatly impressed with the amount of feed in the Bulkley Valley and the abundance of good water and the opportunities for farming successfully. He is a man of great experience from the manufacturing and from the management point of view and no doubt will be able to turn out a good local product that will meet with a good acceptance along the line.

Over 40 farmers and business men attended the meeting and, while some were naturally skeptical of the undertaking, the majority were enthusiastic in support of the movement and voted to assist in getting it started. A committee was appointed to take charge of the matter temporarily and Mr. Whittaker left this morning to return to Saskatoon.

Bernice Palmer says . . .

Why can't typing be done to music as so many other things are these days? Have you ever tried to think out any really serious subject to the tune of half a dozen machines, each on a different note and tuned to a different tempo? Well I have, and right here and now I register my disapproval. They seem to have the same effect on me as harmonizing has on my small daughter.

Listening to a program on the radio the other night, her daddy and I were quite pleased to note the rapt expression on our small daughter's face. At last, we thought, she was beginning to absorb some of the finer points of music we had been so diligently trying to instil in her young soul. Quite religiously we had sat through the "better" programs for a long time now. After all, now is the time to mold the mind and develop that love of the masters. Something had to be done to offset the influence of jazz—or so we thought.

The harmonizing was particularly beautiful. Lights and shadows flashed across her face, and her small hands were clenched at her sides and her breath came in short panting gasps. Yes, she was absorbing the music. We were taking consolation from the thought.

Finally, unable to stand the strain any longer, she jumped to her feet. "Mother," she said, "Why won't that man wait for the lady? Aren't they singing the same song?"

And that is just how I feel about the typewriter situation. It is awful. The keys are all the same, and the letters match, but the harmonizing!

GOVERNOR GENERAL

Mrs. Redfern, Lieut. Rivers-Smith, Mrs. Pape, Alistair Buchan and Commissioner Parsons were flown from Point Susan on Intata Lake Monday to Bella Coola. The next day Capt. Campbell-Preston, Dr. MacEwen, Guy Rhodes and E. T. Kenney were taken out and on Wednesday the remaining members of the party.

The route out was by way of Kimsquit Pass, a two-hour and twenty-minute flight during which there are thirty minutes of fairly dangerous air travel through the narrow Dean River Valley.

The vice-regal party remained at Stue Lodge, forty miles up the Bella Coola Valley, until Thursday when they boarded the steamer Cardena for Prince Rupert. That day Bella Coola staged a celebration in honor of Lord Tweedsmuir. The steamer trip here was spent quietly. Their Excellencies mingling informally among the other passengers.

Heavy Canadian Halibut Landings During Past Week—Several Salmon Canneries Still Open

Despite the fact that Area No. 2, in which the large majority of the Canadian vessels usually operate, has long since been closed to fishing, halibut landings at the port of Prince Rupert by the home boats during the past week rolled up one of the heaviest totals for any one week this year, aggregating 402,100 pounds from thirty-three boats.

This was due to the fact that the fleet was bunched pretty much together. Some of the fish was taken incidental to cod fishing as is now permissible to a certain extent under the new regulations of the International Fisheries Commission. This brought the grand total of Canadian landings for the season to date up to 5,820,350 pounds as compared with 4,656,500 pounds at a corresponding date last year. American landings for the week amounted to a total of 216,000 pounds, making the season's American aggregate to date 4,828,000 pounds as compared with 3,588,700 pounds a year ago. The grand total of all landings at Prince Rupert so far this year is 10,648,350 pounds as against 8,244,200 pounds in 1936. Prices during the week continued at a good level. The top bid of the week for Canadian fish was 9.2c and 6c paid the Capella and P.G.W. for catches of 17,000 and 9000 pounds respectively while the low was 8c and 6c which a number of vessels received. For American fish the top price of the week was 10c and 7c paid the Tacoma for 25,000 pounds and the low 9c and 7c which a few boats received.

The pink salmon run in Prince Rupert district this year has been one of the lightest on record. Only in the Bella Coola district was there any substantial appearance of this variety. The chum run is now awaited by such canneries as are still remaining open. Gill-nets are not doing much with cohoes although some of the trollers are getting fairly good quantities outside. Canneries still open in the district are Claxton, Inverness, Cassiar and Carlisle on the Skeena River, Wales Island on the Naas, Butedale, Klemtu, Namu and Tallheo down the coast and Lagoon Bay on the Queen Charlotte Islands. Lagoon Bay started up late to pack chums which are just beginning to make their appearance around Moresby Island.

R. G. Johnston, dean of Skeena River salmon cannery operators, was in town yesterday from Inverness on business, leaving in the afternoon for the river after having been in since Thursday and will sail at 5:30 p.m. for Vancouver.

Having come in here first with the Governor General, Lord Tweedsmuir, and his party, Union steamer Cardena, Capt. John Boden, arrived in port at 8 o'clock last evening and sailed at midnight to make her regular calls in the Skeena Slough and on the main river. She finished at Carlisle at 8 o'clock this morning and then proceeded south.

H. M. C. S. Fraser, after having been here since Thursday afternoon making her initial visit to this port, left early this morning for Vancouver. Hon. A. Wells Gray, minister of lands, who has been here in connection with the visit to the district of the Governor General, went south on the vessel.

Squadron Leaders E. L. MacLeod and F. J. Mawdesley, who have been in the district in connection with the visit of the Governor General's party, arrived yesterday with their planes and were today awaiting favorable weather conditions to proceed south.

Three halibut vessels sold catches at Sattle yesterday. The prevailing price was 11 1/4c and 9c.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Shenton are planning to leave in about a week's time for Victoria where they will take up future residence. The change has been made necessary on account of the condition of Mrs. Shenton's health.

night. Bob, as usual, appears to be satisfied with the season's operations but, of course, he has never been known to be anything else but satisfied.

On the way south after a leisurely cruise as far up the coast as Ketchikan, the Seattle power yacht Lazy Lou, with Mr. and Mrs. Don E. Preston and son, Buddy, on board, was at the floats of the Prince Rupert Rowing & Yacht Club from Thursday evening until this morning.

C. P. R. steamer Princess Adelaide, Capt. Henry Anderson, arrived in port at 4:30 yesterday afternoon from the south and sailed at 10 p.m. on her return to Vancouver and waypoints.

C.P.R. steamer Princess Louise, Capt. S. K. Gray, is due in port at 3:45 this afternoon from Skagway and other northern points
