SCHEMES TO AID WHEAT INDUSTRY ADVANCED AT HEARING IN WINNIPEG

Varied Opinions on Marketing Methods Submitted Before Mr. Justice Turgeon as Inquiry Reaches The Half-Way Mark

WINNIPEG, Feb. 11: (CP)—Schemes to assist Canada's wheat industry, lend assistance to producers and develop foreign markets have been placed before the Turgeon royal grain commission which stands adjourned until its resumption in Vancouver about the end of this month. In the 1,200,000 words of evidence already written into the records during Winnipeg and Saskatoon sittings, the commission has heard arguments for and against various forms of marketing. Causes of declines of wheat and flour exports, and numerous views on various phases of the industry have been submitted.

Tariffs, embargoes and quotas by European countries and general contraction of world trade were blamed for reduction of wheat exports. Among contributing factors were cited Canada's textile tariffs which were declared to have reduced purchasing power in European countries which bought Canadian wheat.

Reciprocal trade treaties, stabilization of exchange and vigorous advertising and sales policies were advocated as steps to extend Canadian wheat sales. Open competition had to be met and quality standards had to be maintained, witnesses declared. Importance of foreign markets to the wheat and flour industry was generally recognized.

Marketing methods brought out wide discussion. Representations were made on behalf of various kinds of wheat boards, pools and the open market and futures method although submissions of the wheat pools themselves have still to be made. Guaranteed prices were proposed as an aid to farmers and opposed on the ground they offered nothing to farmers who had no crop to sell.

Crop insurance and classification of land for use, establishment of an agricultural bank to provide cheap money for farmers, control of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange and its protection, if found necessary, against foreign speculative raids were other proposals advocated appointment of a supervisor for the Winnipeg market found some support.

Open Market Advocated
The open market and futures method of trading was advocated on the grounds it reduced costs of marketing and in general did a better job than agencies based on control principles. Insurance features of the futures market to protect against price fluctuation were cited.

Wheat board proposals included a board paying a minimum, guaranteed price and directing sales. A wheat pool with the government guaranteeing the initial payment and operating in competition with the open market was suggested. Proposals also were made for a wheat board to give farmers a selling service based on initial and interim payments with the open market continuing in operation for those who desired to dispose of their own grain.

Criticism of wheat pools was made because, it was claimed, they were responsible for the belief Canadian wheat selling policies were directed at forcing prices upward. Canadian stabilization operations and the United States federal farm board program were cited as evidence a single agency, even through making large purchases, (Continued on Page Four)

WINTER ALL DOWN COAST

Mr. and Mrs. McCawley Arrived Last Night After Spending Holiday in South

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. McCawley, who have been on a trip south, arrived in the city from Vancouver on the Prince Charles last evening. Mr. and Mrs. McCawley, who were formerly residents of Prince Rupert but are now living at Prince George, are staying over here until the next train east.

They spent two months holidaying in California, Arizona and more northerly coast cities. Earlier in the winter the weather was pleasant but winter struck hard all down the coast recently. It was worse than it has been in Prince Rupert.

The farthest away point Mr. and Mrs. McCawley visited was Arizona where a brother of Mr. McCawley lives and where he had not seen snow until this year, except on the mountains. This year, however they had deep snow.

At Los Angeles rains were so heavy that the streets were flooded and it was difficult getting around. Orange groves in California have been frozen so badly that the whole crop is a total loss and many of the trees are killed. Smudges are kept going in the hope of saving trees but the crop is all gone.

Coming northward there was heavy snow which blocked the streets of Seattle and in Vancouver they were not much better off, except that the downtown streets had been cleared.

Mr. and Mrs. McCawley said there was rough weather coming north from Vancouver with rain nearly all the way until they reached the north end of Grenville Channel where the sun burst out and it was fine the rest of the way here.

Wage Increases And Collective Bargain Right Are Conceded

Costliest Tie-up in History of Industry Formally Concluded Today With Signing of Agreement Between General Motors and Union

DETROIT, Feb. 11: (CP)—The costliest strike in American automotive history ended formally today with the signing here of a peace agreement between the General Motors Corporation and the United Automobile Workers' Union. The signing occurred as the strike, estimated to have cost $1,000,000 per day in wages alone to employees, entered its forty-fourth day.

Shortly before the termination of the strike, General Motors announced wage increases of five cents an hour in all plants effective February 15. The increase is declared to amount to $25,000,000 annually.

Under the terms of the agreement the Corporation recognizes the union as a collective bargaining agency for employees belonging to the union and the union agrees to end the present strike and evacuate all plants now occupied by strikers. The union agrees there will be no further strikes or interference with production pending negotiation of all points still unsettled. Employees return to work without discrimination against strikers.

INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC PASSING PEAK HERE

The peak of the influenza epidemic which has been felt in Prince Rupert as well as elsewhere throughout the country appears now to have been reached and, probably, passed. Precautions are still, however, necessary in view of the fact that the form of the malady, while possibly not so severe, is highly infectious and, with other complications, might well prove quite dangerous. It is a lucky family, indeed, that so far has not been visited by the complaint.

Unemployment

Unemployment is the outstanding problem of the generation, says Donald M. Marvin, economist for the Royal Bank. In Canada, although it is still serious, there is excellent basis for the belief that within a relatively short time any abnormal volume of unemployment will disappear. In many countries, however, where large scale government works, huge expenditures upon armaments, large armies and various types of concentration camps serve to disguise the importance of the problem, many seriously question whether the economic system will ever absorb a satisfactory proportion of those who are able to work.

For this situation there are a number of explanations ranging from the Marxist doctrine, through various statements concerning technological advances in industry, or theories like Social Credit involving a belief in the net inadequacy of purchasing power, to clear-cut economic descriptions of the effect of deflation upon consumption and hence upon employment. In a general way it may not be untrue that even the weakest of these explanations contains some elements of true description of what has taken place. Lack of perspective in relation to the problem as a whole and lack of knowledge of affairs results in such bias as to make it seem possible that a single relatively simple cure such as that offered by Social Credit will constitute a remedy for most of our social and economic ills. In thinking about the problem it should not be forgotten that it is not entirely new to this generation. Plans as deceptively attractive as Social Credit have been tried out in the past; they have proved to be forms of inflation and the conditions thus created have been worse than those they sought to cure. In the light of subsequent experience, the outcome of the French experiment with assignats would appear inevitable, but at the time they seemed to offer full employment and a general increase in purchasing power—a higher standard of living for the country. It would almost seem as though it were in the economic field alone that mankind is incapable of profiting by the experience of the past.

In almost every country there are at the present moment unemployed workers, non-utilized resources and idle money which should be put to productive use. Many conventionally minded business men and old-school economists hold the opinion that the fact that this labor, land and capital are not in use proves that they cannot be effectively utilized and for them this ends the matter. Nationalistic doctrine goes a step further and attempts to restrict the home market to products produced within the country, with the half-stated hope that the relative ineffectiveness of some of the types of work which will result from failing to take advantage of the cheapest market, will produce full employment at home. Work on armaments or the expansion of armies are other forms of restriction of production and should be recognized as such. Plans for the five or six-hour day and other devices to limit the worker's daily output fall in this same class. It is remarkable how many devices are available for limitation of output. By such methods the world dissipates its great economic surplus and prevents that almost inevitable rise in the standard of living which became probable when the world passed over from a deficit economy to one where an increasing supply of economic goods could be made available to every member of society.

Before modern means of production, transportation and storage, a man's work frequently failed to produce a sufficient volume of goods to give him a decent standard of living. There was a time when it seemed normal for a certain proportion of the world's population to starve to death each year. Out of such conditions came the Malthusian theory that population would always increase to the point where starvation was the necessary check upon expansion. At the time of greatest advances in methods of production, however, population ceased to increase rapidly and the extra volume of production produced so great a surplus, as compared with previous experience, that in most parts of the world the last four generations have witnessed a remarkable rise in the standard of living. This rise, however, has been accompanied by increasingly severe depressions, during which expansion in production has been brought to a standstill.

After discussing the question of depressions, Mr. Marvin says: "The financial world should be able to reduce the severity of depression. Of this we have little doubt. Wise, far-sighted monetary control can prevent severe depressions. There will continue to be readjustments after over-expansion, and there will also be far-reaching adjustments in economic life as the result of new inventions, but these need not bring our economy to such a standstill as we have recently witnessed."

The Letter Box

TREATMENT OF INDIANS

Editor, Daily News:—
Lend me your ears. I'll return them when the depression is over. Why are so many losing faith in the various governments of our fair country? The following are some of the reasons: When an Indian proves that he hasn't got a cent, and if he is married, he will receive from four to nine dollars per month in relief, but if he or she is single, relief cannot be granted. A blind Indian person, or an Indian too old to work, with no relatives, receives four dollars per month in pension.

Civilization was forced upon the Indians. We are even forbidden by law to practice the ways of our ancestors. So successful have our governments been in teaching us a new mode of living that we, the present generation, can't prepare or even eat the foods of our forefathers. Alas! We have also recently learned that depressions (too) come with the luxuries of civilization. Now how are we going to live on four dollars per month, even if we get it?

In the year 1927 the Allied Tribes of British Columbia were informed by the special joint committee that the Indian Agents are all instructed to take care of the Indian destitutes. Yet the Indian Agents deny that they have received such instructions. Who are the liars, the honorable members of Parliament, or the Indian Agents of British Columbia? I am personally acquainted with two Indian Agents who have the welfare of Indians at heart; one of them is so disappointed with the Indian Department that he said he would resign if no changes are made to ease the deplorable conditions forced upon the Indians. Hooray for the Indian Agents! Now who do you suspect of lying?

"Darling," she cooed, "I've just read that a man upon the north end of the world has exchanged his wife for a horse. You wouldn't exchange me for a horse, would you?"

"Never," he dutifully replied, "but I would hate to have anyone tempt me with a good car."

Prince Rupert badminton players are planning an excursion to Stewart and Premier in the near future for a series of games. Arrangements are already being made in the north for their entertainment. Two or three local teams are expected to make the trip.

Fire destroyed the main grandstand and dressing rooms at Nanaimo Park, home of Cardiff City football club, necessitating postponement of a match with Millwall until the end of the season.

Mrs. Eliza Bamford, wife of Joseph Bamford, better known as Jock McAvoy, light-heavyweight boxer, was granted a decree nisi in an undefended suit for divorce in London and was given custody of their three children.

Feminine inspiration helps win college football games, says Floyd Maxham, St. Mary's College full-back of the last two years, who advocates a co-educational policy for his alma mater.

J. W. Hearne, retiring Middlesex cricket pro, "fully upheld the traditions of a famous name both on and off the field," it was stated in the annual report of the county club.

During a practice run at East London, South Africa, a racing car travelling 200 miles an hour leaped 60 feet through the air, landing askew, but slewed back onto the track undamaged.

M. W. Sievers, Australian cricketer, was "up the pole" when he received notification that he had been chosen to play for his country against England. He is a telegraph linesman at Melbourne.

Exeter City, giant-killing third division soccer club that plays Preston North End in the fifth round of the English Cup, February 20, hopes to go further in the competition than five years ago when it reached the sixth barrier before losing.

Jim London, well-known Greek wrestler who has been touring South Africa, is to fill a number of engagements in Cairo.

Although an appeal was made recently, the financial difficulties of Leicestershire County Cricket Club have not been overcome, and a final effort will be made to raise funds.

The referee signalled the end of a soccer game between Dorchester and Sherborne in England but, when the players were changing, discovered he had blown his whistle too soon. Routed from the showers the teams resumed play but no goals were scored.

Three of the Road Racing Club meetings for 1937 to be held on the Crystal Palace motor racing circuit, have been given international status by the various bodies controlling the sport.

Tom Collin, popular Warwickshire County Cricket Club pro since 1933, will take up an appointment this summer as coach at Durham School.

Swollen veins may become dangerous and sometimes break. Before resorting to operations or injections sufferers are advised to get an original bottle of Emerald Oil at Ormes Ltd. or any pharmacist and start to reduce the veins and bunches at once with this healing oil. A small bottle will last a long time because it is very concentrated and a little goes a very long way. Apply night and morning with a soft brush or finger tips as directed until the swelling is reduced. So effective is Emerald Oil that it is highly useful in reducing troublesome simple swelling due to strain and hastens their disappearance.

In Bed For Weeks With Backache

Quick Relief With Kruschen

It was advice from her mother that led this woman to take Kruschen Salts for her backache, and before she had finished the first bottle she was feeling better. This is the letter she writes:

"About this time last year I had severe pains in my back and was prostrate for three weeks. I could not even rise in bed. I tried several well-known remedies, but to no avail. Then I wrote to my mother telling her of my trouble. She wrote to me by return of post urging me to try Kruschen Salts. I immediately bought a bottle and I can truthfully say before I had taken the fifth dose I could sit up. I kept on taking them and in less than two weeks I was about again. I am never without Kruschen now."

Unless the kidneys function properly, certain acid wastes, instead of being expelled, are allowed to pollute the blood-stream and produce troublesome symptoms; backache, rheumatism, and excessive fatigue. Kruschen Salts is an excellent diuretic or kidney aperient, valuable in assisting the kidneys to excrete acid impurities.

CANADIAN LEGION MEETING

BAR SILVER

NEW YORK, (CP)—Bar silver was unchanged at 44 3/4¢ per ounce on the New York metal market today.

Miss Brenda Allen is sailing tonight on the Prince George for a trip to Vancouver.

"The liner, she's a lady.
"But if she wasn't made,
"There still would be the cargo boats
"For 'ome and foreign trade."

It's cargo boats that make a port and it's cargo boats that tie up at Albert & McCaffery's wharf, bringing cargoes of coal, and lumber and lime and cement and brick and plaster and all the things that go into a house.

Today there are two cargo boats tied up unloading coal for Albert & McCaffery: the best coal available for the last twenty years and the best today. If better coal were available Albert & McCaffery would have it. It gives you the most heat for the least money—and that's what you want. And besides giving you the most heat, it's the most economical because—it lasts! Next time you need coal, just phone 116 or 117 to Albert & McCaffery and order Nanaimo-Wellington for furnace and heater. For the kitchen range, ask for Egg size Balkan Minehead—Alberta sootless. It's trade name is "Inferno"—it's hot! And it lasts, too.

You deserve the best!

There was a large congregation of friends from various villages in attendance at the rites.

The evening following the ceremony, there was a wedding feast at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Hale. All the leading chiefs were in attendance and the principal speakers were Chief James White, Chief Frank Clark and William Hale. Church Army officers offered prayer. could not significantly affect the trend of world prices.

The inquiry also heard several views on conditions existing in the United Kingdom and European wheat importing and flour industries. When Canadian wheat was too high in price, United Kingdom millers turned to other wheat although they recognized the superior milling quality of the Dominion's grain.

The commission has yet to hold sessions at Edmonton, Calgary and Regina as well as Vancouver and a further session at Winnipeg will be necessary. There is a possibility a session may be held in Eastern Canada—probably Montreal or Ottawa—although no definite arrangement has yet been made.

COMEDIES FEATURED

"Pigskin Parade" and "Nobody's Fool" Mid-Week Features On Capitol Screen

Two outstanding comedy features comprise the middle of the week double bill program on the screen of the Capitol Theatre here. One is the gridiron musical "Pigskin Parade" and the other a breezy farce "Nobody's Fool" with popular Edward Everett Horton in the leading role.

"Pigskin Parade" turns loose a legion of dancing girls and their singing friends in an uproarious yarn of a fresh water college that plays the big game of the season with a powerful rival. The picture works up to a rib-wracking climax of mad mirth in one of the craziest football games that could be conceived the wildest nightmares of a harried coach. The cast features Stuart Erwin, Johnny Downs, Arline Judge, Betty Grable, Patsy Kelly, Jack Haley and Dixie Dunbar in a procession of swiny songs and wise-cracking dialogue.

In "Nobody's Fool" Edward Everett Horton appears as a waiter who is transplanted into big business in New York and is mistaken for a noted economist. His adventures make a fast-moving story which travels along at a swift tempo and provides an abundance of good fun.
