ARSON CASE PROCEEDING

Trial of E. G. Bellicini Gets Under Way at Assizes

When the Supreme Court Assizes opened this morning with Mr. Justice Murphy presiding, the jury list was called and it was found that half the people whose names appeared on the list did not answer when called. The sheriff explained that many of the summonses had been returned through the post office, the letters not having been called for. H. H. Griffin, counsel for the defence in the E. G. Bellicini arson case, only criminal trial at the Assize, stated that 24 jurymen would not be enough and asked for a dozen more. The sheriff then sent out and summoned a number of citizens to fill up the list and the court adjourned meanwhile. The original list was as follows:

Robert Joseph Allen (Houston), W. John Ashcroft (Burns Lake), Albert B. Armstrong (Stewart), John Stewart Brown (Burns Lake), Albert Bach (Rose Lake), Harry Bell (South Bulkley), Fred A. Broadbent (Topley), John Berg (Burns Lake), Harvey Davies (Houston), James Dunbar (Premier), Gilbert Henry Gerow (Burns Lake), George Gilman (Telkwa), James Augustus Hodder (Hazelton), Thomas Hall (Topley), George Wm. Hoult (Terrace), Sylvia Mildred Hogan (Tye), Kenneth Elliott Houghton (Smithers), Edward Hodkin (Kitwanga), Jas. Stewart Irvine, James Kenneth Johnston (Copper River), John Herbert Joy, David Joinville (Stewart), Jas. Nicholas Killas, Wm. A. Kirkpatrick (Terrace), Arthur King, Clarence Bertrand Letnes (Port Essington), John Lips (Terrace), George Lawson, Chris Lyman, Jas. Ledingham Lee, Godfrey Philip Lyons, Frank Moise Mayer (Smithers), Frank Morris, John Meager (Skeena Crossing), Thos. Oliver Morgan, Nathaniel Raymond Moren (Smithers), Donald MacEneaney, Chas. Edwin McKeown, Muriel Winnifred McKay, Michael McCaffery, Malcolm McArthur, Mary McDonald, Murdoch McLean, Albert Sulegar, William Thain, Norman Trimmer, Walter D. Vance, James Weir.

After further jurors had been secured for the panel, the Bellicini trial started. It surrounds the destruction by fire of a building at Houston on August 22, 1929. Bellicini is accused of having had the building burned down by a man named Peter Salice, who died recently at Smithers.

The jury hearing the trial consists of Murdoch McLean, foreman, Harry Menzie, Malcolm McArthur, Mrs. Muriel M. McKay, David Joinville, George W. Hoult, Norman L. Freeman, Leonard Charles Griffiths, James A. Hodder, James L. Lee and W. A. Kirkpatrick.

After T. W. Brown, prosecutor, had outlined the crown's case, the court adjourned at 1:15 until 2:30 p.m.

BILBAO, May 14: (CP)—Eleven insurgent air raids within less than five hours blasted the outskirts of Bilbao Tuesday. The most densely inhabited sections of the centre of the Basque port were unscathed. The insurgents claim to have captured another important position which leaves Bilbao at their mercy. Twenty-five hundred loyalists have been killed in the failure to hold against the rebels.

Forty civilians were reported killed as insurgents continued their bombardment of Madrid Tuesday. Many were injured. Two hundred shells found their mark in the seven-hour bombardment.

Insurgent defenders of Toledo were reported yesterday to have been driven from front line trenches as government columns were steadily advancing in a major offensive, having entered the city itself. Insurgent reports from Toledo, however, said that the government land offensive had been shattered.

A Human Document

The address which King George VI read to the peoples of the Empire Wednesday was an intensely human document, different from anything that had ever before been given by a King to the people over which he reigned. It was full of rich sentiment and included several references to the Queen who will be doing a considerable part in the carrying on of the onerous duties of royalty.

The crown was forced upon the present incumbent of the office under peculiar circumstances. The prince that was at once rose to the occasion and has carried out the kingly office since then with dignity and humility. He commences his reign under happy auspices and the wish of the people of the Empire will be that he continue—not necessarily as his father did before him but that he adapt himself to the changing conditions and do his part in the delicate task of leading a number of free peoples.

Service to the World

We have mentioned once before that the great duty of the British Commonwealth is not only to provide the best possible conditions of life for those who live in British countries but also to be of service to the world by working out, so far as possible, the highest type of democracy. The British House of Commons has been looked upon for many years as an example to the rest of the world. It is, doubtless, far from perfect. The only way to reach perfection is for the members of the House and the people who elect them to be perfect, which they are not. In Canada we have followed the example set by London. As a rule the people are electing a fine type of men and women as members and the proceedings are conducted in a manner which is dignified and usually in the best interests of the country.

If the British Empire is to be of real service to the world it must get away from the intensely selfish idea of exclusiveness and must be ready to give and take. Canada, being a newer country, is possibly more selfish than the mother land. Her people are all striving to make a living and find it no easy matter. As a result, competition is keen and this develops selfishness in a people. In the older countries there are more people with enough money to live comfortably without working very hard. That develops complacency and magnanimity.

Once we get the idea that intense selfishness does not pay in the long run we shall find it easier to deal equitably and reasonably with neighboring nations and thus develop the idea of service to the world rather than to Canada only.

AUTOS ON RAILWAYS

Interesting Innovation is Coming On Canadian National Railways

MONTREAL, May 14:—The first linking up of highway and railway in Canada by means of automotive vehicles adapted for use on either rail or road will be commenced by the Canadian National Railways early this summer, according to an announcement here today by S. J. Hungerford, chairman and president of the National system. Mr. Hungerford announced that three passenger "auto railers" have been ordered for branch line service on the Atlantic central and western regions. One auto rail freight car will be put in service in the western region.

In making the announcement Mr. Hungerford stated that the move was of an experimental nature and was intended to permit of tests being made in the various sections of the system as to the adaptability of this type of equipment for use in Canada. "These auto rail passenger cars and freight carriers have been employed successfully in service in a number of United States Railways," he said, "and we hope that they will enable us to cut down operating costs on light traffic branch lines as well as to give better service to the public dependent upon such lines."

The passenger cars are of a streamline design and are of metal construction. They have a seating capacity of twenty-six with the most modern type of seats and ample accommodation for luggage. They will permit of great flexibility of service, thus adding considerably to the convenience of travellers in the districts where they are employed. They can pick up passengers from communities near the railway but not actually situated on the line and carry them to the rail line and on to their destination. In cases where the business or residential centres of communities are not adjacent to the railway station, they can be used to pick up or debark passengers at the most convenient points in the town.

Details with regard to the branch lines in the three regions on which this trial will be established are now being worked out.

Carrying Capacity

The auto rail freight trucks have a carrying capacity of two and a half tons on the highway. Where used entirely in rail service the load will be five and a half tons. The doors are specially arranged for speedy loading and unloading from either rear or sides of the trucks. These vehicles have been developed to a high state of mechanical perfection.

The passenger cars have two pairs of inflated driving wheels and one pair of inflated wheels in front for road work. They can be transferred from road to rail in less than a minute by means of two pairs of flanged guide wheels which are let down to connect with the rails. While on the rails the car rides both on the inflated wheels and the flanged guide wheels so that the possibility of a blow-out is no hazard. Were a blow-out to occur the car would be held in its ordinary driving position by means of the guide wheels. The cars are equipped with electric bells as well as whistles for rail use. They have two headlights for road use and one railway type headlight for use while on the rails. Classification lamps and flags are used as in the case of ordinary railway equipment.

The transfer of the cars from the road to rail service, or vice versa, by letting down or drawing up the flanged guide wheels is made by means of a simple mechanism which is controlled from the driver's seat.

It is expected the first of the new cars will be delivered before the end of June and tests in all three regions of the system will be in progress this summer.

FINICKY APPETITES OFTEN ONE RESULT OF CONSTIPATION

When nothing tastes right, and you don't eat as you should, the trouble may be common constipation. Poor appetite is one of its symptoms. Others are headaches, listlessness and sallow complexions. Constipation is usually due to "low-bulk" meals. Serve your family Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—a generous source of "bulk."

Within the body, this food absorbs twice its weight in water, and gently exercises and sponges out the system. How much better than taking pills and drugs! ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B to tone up the intestines, and iron for the blood. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Three times daily, in severe cases. Serve as a cereal with milk or cream, or cook into appetizing muffins, breads, etc.

Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London.

Colorful Dance Held at Armory

Gyro Club's Coronation Party
Drew Four Hundred Persons
Several Features

The Gyro Club's Coronation night dance in the Armory drew a big crowd of about 400 persons. The colorful decorations upon which all the members of the club worked hard presented a gala scene. The ceiling was a mass of red, white and blue streamers while the whole thing was centred with a huge crown of gold and purple velvet. Large portraits of the King and Queen were draped with Union Jacks. The orchestra platform had also been specially decorated and was a bower of bright color appropriate to the occasion.

Charlie Balagno's Orchestra and the Capitols, under Dr. H. N. Brocklesby, alternated in providing the music. A floor show presented by the dancing pupils of Mrs. H. Hodgson proved interesting and entertaining.

The proceedings were formally opened with a Grand March led by W. M. Brown, chairman of the Coronation Day celebration committee, and Mrs. H. N. Brocklesby, wife of the president of the Gyro Club, followed by Dr. Brocklesby and Mrs. Brown and Lieut. Col. and Mrs. S. D. Johnston. During the Grand March the National Anthem was sung.

D. G. Borland was master of ceremonies.

At midnight delicious buffet refreshments were served.

Saw Life In Many Phases

Hubert Ward Tells Rotary Club Of His Early Career Before Coming to Prince Rupert

An interesting story of a life of adventure was told to the Prince Rupert Rotary Club yesterday afternoon by Hubert Ward, a new member, who was called upon, as is the custom of the club, to tell something of his life history.

As a boy Mr. Ward was indentured for five years to a sailing vessel and made trips to West Australia, Honolulu, Vancouver, Peru, Chili and Newport, South Wales, where the ship was sold. He joined an Aberdeen ship and sailed to Australia and it was on this ship on one occasion he took 148 days to sail from London to San Francisco. He secured his second mate's papers and also became at the same time a lieutenant in the Naval Volunteers.

Leaving the sea in South Africa Mr. Ward planned to join the Pietermaritzburg mounted police but before joining he was induced to change his mind and took a position with a mining company. Then he went to Zululand where he had an interesting time. He described the people as a highly developed, fearless black race. On one occasion he had the honor of dining with Chief Denzulu who was a well known personage. There was good hunting in that country and the building of the telegraph line on which they were engaged gave them plenty of leisure as the blacks did all the hard work.

From South Africa Mr. Ward came to Canada and tried cattle ranching in Alberta. From there he went to the Kootenay and had two years in the electrical business in Vancouver, six months in Seattle and two more years in Vancouver. Then Prince Rupert was on every tongue and he went into partnership with A. T. Parkin until he eventually opened for himself at Cow Bay. Later he was appointed underwriters' representative at Prince Rupert.

SPOKE TO STUDENTS

Patriotic Address by Olof Hanson M.P. at King Edward High School on Tuesday

A special patriotic address was delivered to the pupils of King Edward High School on Tuesday by Olof Hanson, M.P. for Skeena, in connection with the presentation to the pupils of the Coronation Celebration Committee's souvenir mugs. Mr. Hanson received an enthusiastic reception from the students. Dr. E. E. Lucas, principal of the school, introduced the speaker, and there was a special program of appropriate music under the direction of Nelson Allen.

Mr. Hanson spoke as follows: "Most of us are aware that today in every corner of the British Empire, a Dominion upon which the sun never sets, the peoples making up this vast domain are preparing to acclaim on the morrow the accession to the Throne of His beloved and gracious Majesty, George VI.

"The throne is symbolical of all Godly principles, the pivot point of a widely scattered portion of this earth's surface peopled by millions of loyal subjects, speaking in hundreds of different tongues, worshipping at different shrines—a pivot indeed of magnetic qualities joining all to be of one purpose and of one effect, unity, a state of being one and at one, all loyal adherents of our Gracious Sovereign.

"In London, the great capital and the seat of Empire, although thousands of miles away materially but which is at this moment, I feel sure, very close to our hearts spiritually, the Coronation Day is at this moment dawning. I suggest there can be nothing more appropriate than that His Majesty's subjects of Prince Rupert be one of the very first in the whole of his Empire and the world at large to offer him a submissive expression of our joy and congratulations as our Sovereign King and to his beautiful lady, Elizabeth, our beloved Queen.

"Our joy tomorrow will be one of thanksgiving to the great and wise ruler and creator of the universe who in His goodness intends maintaining the stability of our Empire by ordaining that its rulers be of his own elected children.

"I have been honored this afternoon to perform a most pleasant function. I have been asked to distribute to each one of you a souvenir commemorative of this great occasion. It is as you see a Coronation mug. It is a corporeal emblem of tomorrow's great day, and it is hoped that it will be with every one of you boys and girls an embodiment of a spiritual meditation.

"In presenting to each of you this emblem you are earnestly asked to accept also the significance of what it means and what it stands for. In years to come when you yourselves will be assuming the dignity of an adult and sharing the heavier burdens of responsibilities of Empire, I hope this emblem will awake memories of this day of thanksgiving and rejoicing."
