Position of Canada in Empire Discussed by Dean Finlayson In Address Before Rotary Club

Only Half the Country is of British Origin and Part of Those Do Not Favor Participation in European Affairs

"Under the present constitution of Canada there is no doubt that if England is at war Canada is at war but the present Prime Minister, Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, has promised that, in the event of a threatened war, no active steps will be taken without calling Parliament together and it will decide to what extent, if any, Canada shall participate," stated Dean J. N. Finlayson, of the department of applied science at the University of British Columbia, in an address before the Prince Rupert Rotary Club at luncheon yesterday.

The Dean said that last year he travelled all over Canada and met and talked to people of all sorts and conditions and he found that the country was not at all a unit in regard to the position of the country in the Empire. There was a large nationalist group centred in Quebec; there were isolationists, who believed that the country should never look beyond its own borders; there was the Imperialist group that still believed in the League of Nations as the cure-all for international ills. Quebec was very largely nationalist.

In the whole of Canada the French nationalists numbered, it was estimated, about thirty percent of the population and there were about twenty percent more that were non-British originating, mostly from various European countries. Of the fifty percent British, there was a considerable section that was opposed to Canada participating in European affairs. He found that in the university, and throughout Canada more or less but especially in the maritime provinces, many pinned their faith to the Pan-American union, believing that their future lay with the rest of the continent.

Telling of the industrial prospects for the various provinces, Dean Finlayson said he travelled a good deal in British Columbia before deciding to accept his present position. He found the people everywhere intensely optimistic. The depression had caused a feeling almost of despair, especially in the lumber industry when the exporters, especially the lumbermen, found their markets entirely cut off. Not daunted they had gone out after other markets. A delegation had gone to Ottawa at the time of the Empire conference and persuaded Mr. Bennett that British Columbia could not exist without a new lumber market. The result was that the province had to a large extent captured the British market. They also went to other countries and secured new business. It was much to the credit of the British Columbia lumber industry that this had been done.

Prairies Apprehensive Travelling in Alberta, the speaker said he had found the people very apprehensive of what might happen. While he was in the province a delegation of financial and industrial men had been sent to Ottawa.

Debt Reduction Bill EDMONTON, April 9: (CP)—A new debt reduction bill has been introduced in the Alberta Legislature by Hon. Solon Low, Provincial Treasurer, as a substitute to the measure which was recently thrown out by the Alberta Supreme Court. Among other things it would provide for a reduction of fifty percent in the principal of all private debts contracted in the province before 1932. The Alberta government is also planning the redemption of the remaining Prosperity Certificates which were issued last year.

Further Details of Report on Affairs of Hedley Amalgamated Gold Mines

'Peculiar Position'

Activities of President of Company Commented on—Officials Under Fire

VICTORIA, April 9:—H. G. Garrett, superintendent of brokers, in a statement supplementing the report of G. L. Fraser of Vancouver on the affairs of the Hedley Amalgamated Gold Mines Ltd., said of the report: "It does not appear to disclose any actual offence or fraud in the trading unless there were 'wash' sales on the part of brokers who acted both as principals and brokers. The report does not seem to contain any evidence of deliberate manipulation by any particular broker or interest or any evidence of conspiracy to defraud."

The position of R. E. Barker, president of Hedley Amalgamated and also managing director of Burrard Stock and Bond Co., is referred to as "somewhat peculiar." Of Mr. Barker's transactions, Mr. Garrett said: "Of the 450,000 shares which went to him he now holds only 264,000 and of the shares he bought for cash only 4000. The report states that he has made a profit of approximately $50,000."

Mr. Fraser's report commented that "the president of the company did not show sufficient faith in the property to hold his escrow shares."

Mr. Fraser found that it was "not difficult to find the cause of the break in the market in Hedley Amalgamated," Frank Parsons, a director of the company, he said, had advised the Western City Company, brokers, that the Hedley Co.'s core samples had been "salted." Subsequently Western City brokers had advised their clients of reports that all was not well with the mine.

Commissioner Fraser further said that it seemed to be common knowledge that William Cox, mine superintendent, "is frequently intoxicated and thus unable to attend to his duties. It cannot be that his actions in this respect have escaped the notice of the directors or failed to put them on their guard as to the reliability of his progress reports."

The reports finds the case of W. S. Bacon "just as strange." It said: "Mr. Bacon admitted signing reports which he conceded to be false. He states that the company had at that time half a million tons of commercial ore. Such a statement was absolutely false." The Commissioner finds Mr. Bacon "deserving of censure."

The Commissioner also noted that a Hedley Amalgamated Syndicate account was established with D. A. Hamilton & Co. for the purpose of liquidating 98,400 shares which were "under call" by the company from Russell Barker. It was the intention, said the report, to create a public demand for the stock and thus liquidate the shares.

The Commissioner found that the practice of heavy trading by brokers for their own accounts "is of serious concern to the public."

France Adopts Cheap Franc

Dean Finlayson Theorizes on Fascinating Subject of Atom Smashing in Lecture

Envisions Future

Suggests Inventions Will Be So Rapid That Nothing Will Be Amazing

The discovery of fire's energy marked the rise of man above the level of the animal. Development of atomic energy may bring the superman. This was Dean J. N. Finlayson of the University of British Columbia in an extension lecture at the City Hall last night. Dean Finlayson's subject was "The Future Trend of Industry."

In the scientific field, Dean Finlayson predicted that inventions would succeed inventions in quick succession. "New discoveries will probably not amaze us for a very long time," he said.

Hanson's Representations For Halibut Industry Are Recognized by Government

(Special to the Daily News)

OTTAWA, April 9:—Olof Hanson's representations on behalf of the Pacific halibut fishing industry have been recognized by the government.

The Prime Minister piloted the bill respecting the convention between Canada and the United States and Mr. Hanson reminded the government again of his representations in this respect. He read a telegram from the Canadian Halibut Fishing Vessel Owners' Association as follows: "We recommend that a new halibut treaty and provision be included barring boats on non-treaty countries using our ports in case they fish halibut on our grounds. The Seattle fleet is advocating the same at Washington."

The Prime Minister replied to Mr. Hanson: "May I say to my honorable friend that I think he will see upon looking at the bill that Section 9 covers the matter which he has in mind and indicates that the government has considered the suggestion he has brought to our attention."

ROME, April 9: (CP)—Virginia Gayda, regarded as the most authoritative of Italian editors, yesterday charged Soviet Russia with violating the Spanish civil war non-intervention agreement by sending aid to the Madrid government.

Sitdown Strike Was Broken Up

Milk Farmers and Strikebreakers Bring Forcible End to Tie-up

HERSHEY, Pa., April 9:—Some 1500 infuriated milk farmers, market for whose product had been cut off by the strike, and strikebreakers stormed the plant of the Hershey Chocolate Co. here and forcibly evicted three hundred sit-down strikers. Work in the plant has been resumed.

Anti-Lynching Bill Rejected

"Camouflage" Says New York Representative of Measure Which House Has Voted Down

WASHINGTON, D.C., April 9:—The House of Representatives by a vote of 257 to 122 rejected an anti-lynching bill. Representative Hamilton Fish of New York described it as "mere camouflage." The bill would have provided five year terms of imprisonment for officials within whose jurisdictions lynching was allowed to occur.

Both Sides Adamant In Dispute Over Question Of Recognizing Lewis

Premier Hepburn Lines Up His Government Solidly Against Incursion of C. I. O. Into Canada—Charges "Professional Labor Profiteers"

TORONTO, April 9: (CP)—The strike of 3700 workers at the giant General Motors Corporation of Canada plant at Oshawa entered its second day today with the impasse over recognition of the Committee of Industrial Organization even more pronounced. Fresh pickets have moved into lines before the company's workshop and there is no indication that negotiations will be resumed. In Toronto three hundred police are ready to rush to Oshawa in the event of trouble.

The General Motors Corporation remains adamant against dealing with the Committee on Industrial Organization, parent body of the United Automobile Workers of America, recognition of which body is demanded by the strikers. The company insists on dealing direct with its employees and, in a statement, declares that it will never negotiate otherwise. A meeting of union officials and company executives was to have been held yesterday afternoon but the union representatives, on arriving at the company offices, were advised that the executives were not in town. No new appointment was made.

Madrid Has its Heaviest Fighting In Months — Government Forces in Ascendant

MADRID, April 9: (CP)—Government troops, laboriously trained for offensive warfare during five long defensive months, surged from trenches outside Madrid today in a sudden attack on stubborn insurgent besiegers. The result was the heaviest fighting that has been experienced in months in the immediate neighborhood of the capital, particularly in the University City area.

Hurling combined strength at insurgent positions near Cas de Campo Park to the west of the city, the government forces stormed and captured several important strongholds in a hail of fire.

Meanwhile a semi-circular trap of men and war machines almost closed in on General Francisco Franco's army of fifteen thousand in Cordoba Province, it was reported. The insurgents face possible mass slaughter, it is said. Seventy miles west of Seville two government columns were said last night to have joined together in an important military movement.

shut down during the depression it was promised that it would reopen this summer. In Ontario the mining boom had saved the financial situation. Quebec was in a disturbed political condition owing to the rise of the nationalist party which defeated Premier Taschereau. Nationalism had spread in that province and was today the dominating force. As a former resident of the maritime provinces, the Dean said he had watched with particular interest the improvement of conditions there. They had no booms in those provinces and consequently their recovery was more rapid than in other parts of Canada. He drove over a good deal of New Brunswick and found the roads much improved, crops good and everywhere people seemed to be prosperous. They had abundance of rain and the prospects were bright. He spent some time in Cape Breton, which he described as a most delightful place, peaceful and happy. The northern part had been taken over by the Dominion and converted into a national park which was destined to become the playground of the continent. Yet the people there had a feeling that if they were independent of the rest of Nova Scotia they would be better off, just as Vancouver Island was talking of forming a separate province. In an interview after the address, Dean Finlayson said he was sorry he had not time to further develop his theme. He felt that in spite of all the divisions and differences, the people were united in the ideal of justice to such an extent that, if Britain should become involved in a war, her cause would be so just that the Canadian people would respond as they had done in 1914. He had great faith in the Canadian people and in the future of the country.

FASHION DISPLAY

Interesting Affair by United Church Ladies' Aid Yesterday

The United Church Ladies' Aid tea and fashion show held by Annette's in the Boston Hall yesterday afternoon proved quite a social affair. The hall, which was tastefully decorated in colors of blue and gold set off with pot plants and spring flowers, was filled with a keenly interested and appreciative crowd of ladies.

During the serving of afternoon tea vocal solos were much enjoyed. Those contributing were Mrs. R. G. Large, Mrs. J. H. McLeod and Miss Wheatley, accompanied by Miss S. Olafson and Mrs. Riddell. This was followed by a fine display of the latest fashions as shown by Annette's—suits and coats, afternoon and evening dresses and wraps. Those acting as mannequins were Mrs. B. Windle, Mrs. A. E. Dickens, Mrs. Owens, Mrs. T. Fraser and the Misses E. Wilson, M. Miller, B. Jensen, R. Stromdahl, E. Davies and R. Krikevsky. Softly played piano selections by Miss V. Feero added much to the charm of the modelling.

"Annette" (Mrs. Stone) was presented with a lovely spray of tulips by the president of the Ladies' Aid, Mrs. J. Clavring, in appreciation of her efforts. Also daffodils were presented to Miss Feero.

Mrs. Clavring was general convener of the affair and those in charge of the afternoon tea were Mrs. J. Krikevsky, Mrs. F. M. Davis, Mrs. N. Thomas and Mrs. J. S. Irvine. Serviteurs were Mrs. M. Solow, Mrs. R. G. Macaulay, Mrs. D. R. Barclay, Mrs. Sid Elkins, Mrs. W. A. Riddell, Mrs. Otto Young, Mrs. W. B. Cornish and the Misses T. Davis, D. Styles and E. Wilkinson.

Cashiers were Mrs. G. V. Wilkinson and Mrs. George Ciccone. The home cooking table was in charge of Mrs. L. Styles, Mrs. G. Davey and Miss Sharp. Decorations were arranged by Mrs. Styles and Dorothy Styles.

Bernice Palmer says . . .

Remember Pearl White, the daring gal in movie's infancy who week after week escaped the villain in "The Perils of Pauline"? This week she came over from Paris for her first visit in nine years. She's still blonde, still devil-may-care, but her face is fuller and she doesn't like pictures taken—"they make me look too fat!" Wonder how many of the old crowd who used to pack the two front rows in the Westholme Theatre every Friday night and cheer the heroine on and hiss and boo the villain are still in Prince Rupert? I can remember Mrs. Tremayne once remarking that Friday nights to her were just one row of elephants after another—that was during the thrilling serial of "The Adventures of Kathleen" and she had chaperoned about a dozen of us for a few Fridays running. And do you know to this day I often wonder how "The Million Dollar Mystery" ended.

Serials are still being shown in our little neighborhood theatres here and my own youngsters wait just as impatiently as I used to for the next chapter. I went with them one Saturday afternoon and somehow didn't get quite the same kick out of the picture as they did! Wonder if I am getting too old for such thrills! And listening to a show full of excited youngsters, I can now understand why any grown-ups who were "in the know" in those days preferred the pictures any night except Friday.

How many remember the first movie we ever had up there when we all brought boxes to sit on? And some of the film was shown upside down! I'll be weeping too if I don't stop so, so!

Tells Why He Is Opposed To Cash Allowance

OTTAWA, April 9:—In announcing to the House of Commons that he could not approve the proposal of giving special cash allowances over and above ordinary relief to unemployed war veterans, Hon. C. G. Power, minister of pensions, told Parliament that care of war veterans and their dependents was already costing the government $60,000,000 per year. Major Power said that he would not be opposed to a grant being made to help in providing employment for war veterans but he could not approve the cash allowance idea as it would open the way for general pensions for all Canadians who had been in uniform during the last war.

Howard Green, Conservative member for Vancouver South, and Grant McNeill, C. C. F. member for Vancouver North, were among those who criticized the stand of Major Power. A. W. Neill, Independent member for Comox-Alberni, however, supported Major Power, pointing out that he had been very active during the past fifteen years in fighting for the interests of ex-service men.

"A few cents a day is all it costs to run my electric refrigerator"

It's easy to say that a modern electric refrigerator pays for itself — and it's just as easy to prove. You can do it in your own home.

From the moment you install it, your Electric Refrigerator starts saving. It saves three ways. First, by elimination of food waste. Second, by letting you buy in larger quantities knowing the food will keep. And third, because its operating costs are lower than ever — far less over the year than you could spend for ice. Ask about our convenient payment plan.

Anglican Young People Meeting

Japanese Missionary Tells of Experiences in Orient

The regular meeting of the Anglican Young People's Association was held on Wednesday evening at the Japanese Mission. The president, Robert Yerburgh, was in the chair. The program consisted of an extremely interesting address by Miss K. Lang the superintendent of the mission, on her experiences in Japan. She described very vividly the spread of Christianity among the Japanese and its uplifting effect on the lives of the people. Later she discussed costumes, houses and daily life of the inhabitants. This was illustrated with a large selection of curios.

During the evening a business meeting was held in the course of which several items of importance were discussed.

Final arrangements were made for the tea on April 10, at which the guests will be entertained by Miss Eleanor Tite's dancing class and the pupils of Miss Nellie Lawrence. Plans were made for a banquet on May 7 which will formally close the weekly meetings of the season, which meetings of the season.

Attention of the members was drawn to the Coronation Service on the evening of May 9 in the Cathedral at which members of the A. Y. P. A. will assist.

At the close of the meeting members partook of Japanese delicacies served by Miss Lang and Miss Withers.

CRAWFORD FEATURED

Favorite Screen Star Has Title Role in Well Known "Last Of Mrs. Cheyne"

"The Last of Mrs. Cheyne," in which several years ago Norma Shearer scored such a notable success, comes again to the screen of the Capitol Theatre here this week-end, title role on this occasion being taken by Joan Crawford. Jointly starred with Miss Crawford are William Powell and Robert Montgomery with the supporting cast including such favorites as Frank Morgan, Jessie Ralph, Nigel Bruce, Benita Hume and Ralph Forbes.

The story, as is well known, is that of an American shopgirl with social ambitions who, a thief in disguise, takes London society by storm and is the recipient of proposals of marriage from millionaires and peers, ultimately plunging herself and her associates into dramatic complications when she is discovered in the act of stealing a valuable pearl necklace. A variety of stunning gowns are worn by Miss Crawford.

William Powell appears as Mrs. Cheyne's butler and the brains of the group of international thieves, Montgomery is the romantic young peer who uncovers the plot to fleece his British friends.

FORESEES SUPERMAN

long time, one will be followed so quickly by another."

Dean Finlayson referred to the reconstruction of home life and entertainment which had been brought about through recent scientific discoveries. He mentioned radio, talking pictures, telephony, bloodless surgery and numerous other "miracles." Far more sweeping inventions would probably come in a comparatively short space of time. Automatically driven airplanes might become as common as automobiles and far safer. The sun may be compelled to give up some of its energy. Power might become so cheap that it would not pay to instal meters. Television would probably soon be as commonplace as radio. Seated in the comfort of his up-to-date home, man would be able to turn a button and see a football game, a coronation, the inauguration of a president. He would be able to see and talk to his friends thousands of miles away. His letters would be transmitted by air and delivery would be made in South Africa within two hours.

Scientific invention would relieve man of all back breaking labor and he would have all the leisure he wanted. Indeed, the problem of how to occupy leisure was already receiving serious consideration.

With the possibility of present supplies of oil giving out in 100 years and certain types of coal becoming exhausted in 500 years, other sources of power would be sought. Some of these possible sources of power, Dean Finlayson proceeded to discuss. One was the cosmic ray originating outside the earth's atmosphere. Millikan and Compton agreed that the cosmic ray carried the mightiest energy known to science. Its power potentiality was many times greater than any other known source of energy. In the solution of the riddle of the cosmic ray might be revealed mysteries of the universe and creation.

Atomic Theory

Dean Finlayson then turned to the fascinating subject of the atomic theory. Formerly it had been thought that the atom was the smallest particle of matter. Now scientists were inclined to the belief that the atom had an inside. One theory was that the atom might contain a universe of its own, similar to that which was known to mankind as the solar universe. The smashing of the atom might open up a fabulous field of energy. If science could find a way to smash the atom and use its energy, startling indeed might be the possibilities. The field of science and mechanics might be entirely revolutionized. Even lead might be changed to gold. Already things which had been considered elements had been broken up. Present sources and methods of power production would become antiquated and entirely worthless. Unless regulated and controlled, a great socialistic disaster might ensue.

"When man discovered the energy of fire, he rose above the level of the animal. Atomic energy may bring the superman," suggested the speaker.

Dean Finlayson concluded his intriguing discourse with the showing of several lantern slides depicting experiments in connection with development of power from the sun's rays, photoelectric cells, etc. J. J. Little, president of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce, presided over last night's meeting on invitation of the Junior Chamber of Commerce under auspices of which the extension lectures are being held. The course will conclude tonight when Dean Finlayson will give an illustrated lecture on the subject of the St. Lawrence Waterway after which he will sail by the Princess Adelaide on his return to Vancouver.
