Chinese Army Forced To Retreat

Withdraws To Second Line Of Defence At Shanghai; Appeals To League Of Nations To Act

Invokes Three Clauses of Covenant in Asking for Protection against aggression—Japanese Now Appear to be Getting Upper Hand

SHANGHAI, September 13: (CP)—Under fire from Japanese land and sea batteries, the Chinese army abandoned Kiangwan salient, north of Shanghai, today and withdrew to fortified second line defense trenches reaching from Shanghai twenty-five miles to the northwest. The Chinese retreat was orderly and strategic and had been expected when the full force of Japan's mechanized advance surged against them. The Japanese claimed a gain of one mile beyond Canghai.

Explains Delay

SIR EDWARD BEATTY

Fourteen major conflagrations raged in Shanghai Sunday as the city was rocked by a devastating bombardment from Japanese naval vessels in the Whangpoo River. There were enormous casualties on both sides as a result of one of the bloodiest days' fighting so far in the war. The Chinese were commencing to weaken in their defense against the fierce Japanese offensive and indications were that they were preparing to retire to their second defense line north of Shanghai. It was stated that Chinese airplanes had staged a raid on Japanese warships in the Yangtze River and had hit five. Meanwhile Japan claims to have completed conquest of Hopeli Province in North China, giving her control of two important railroads. Japan plans the dispatch of special envoys to France, Great Britain and the United States to explain her version of the Far Eastern trouble. It is emphasized that the envoys will not be official government emissaries but will be considered as representatives of the people. The feeling in Tokyo is that Japan is not getting a fair hearing in regard to its position in the Sino-Japanese conflict.

WHAT OF THE FUTURE?

Today many people are much concerned about the future. They fear there is going to be a great war in which practically the whole world will be destroyed. Some also fear a great contest between the workers and the employers. Others expect the war to be between the dictatorships and the democratic countries. Everywhere there are people who are worried over the future. Some have savings and there is no safe place to keep them. A feeling of insecurity pervades the world.

While we must all admit there is uncertainty as to what will happen in the future, worrying will not help much. Many of the things people are expecting will not happen and things that do happen will turn out differently from what we expect. That has been true in the past and will be true again. The best we can do is to carry on, doing the best we can in our respective spheres, knowing that there is an intelligence greater than ours working things out in the best way possible. The difficulty is that we lack perspective. We cannot see the whole show or we would know it is only part of what is to be a finished picture.

The world has many things to learn and one is to be more tolerant of the views and actions of others. We all think we are right but we may be wrong or, at any rate, others may be more nearly right than ourselves.

MAY LEARN LESSONS

Even though we cannot tell what may happen in the near future and, although nothing more terrible can happen than may happen to any person crossing a street or driving on the highway, yet we can all learn lessons from current history and rearrange our views to meet present conditions. All the most sublime theories in existence cannot work without the education and training of the individual in citizenship. The most perfect League of Nations cannot work as long as we have Hitlers and Mussolinis and other dictators or bureaucrats who refuse to co-operate or as long as we have a subservient population willing to be herded by ruthless men. People must learn tolerance, balance, consideration of others, and all the other Christian virtues before they can expect to be self-governing. They must learn to analyze and thus be able to separate the false from the true. Opportunities for the gratification of intensely selfish yearnings after wealth and power must be taken away so that men may exert independent judgments whether it be in Italy, Russia, Germany, Japan or even in the province of Alberta.

As a nation we must learn that under present conditions the weak are apt to be subjugated by the strong and that unity of nationalities and of classes is essential to success.

Mine Looks Very Good To Killas

James Killas Makes Trip Into Property Which He Has Held For Three Years But Only Seen This Year

"If my property does not make a mine, there will be no mines in British Columbia," declared James Killas of the Commodore Cafe who returned last week from the Chilcotin country where he had been making his first inspection of the property in which he is interested in that district. He gets to it by way of Williams Lake on the Pacific Great Eastern Railway and then drives something like eighty miles by stage and fifteen miles on horseback. He has been doing work on it for three years.

Two men have been working on the property all summer and more than two for the past few weeks. A number of mining men have heard about it and have been there to look at it but none so far have mentioned a cash payment that suits Mr. Killas. He feels sure he has a real mine and is not giving it away. Speaking of the Chilcotin country Mr. Killas says there is an abundance of game, fine scenery and plenty of trout in the lakes and streams.

REPORT IS FICTITIOUS

Pupils Not Sitting On Chairs at Booth Memorial School, Says Commissioner—Plenty Of Desks

"Absolute fiction," remarked City Commissioner W. J. Alder this morning in regard to a report emanating from the meeting of the Prince Rupert Trades and Labor Council last week to the effect that pupils at Booth Memorial School were sitting on chairs as no desks were available for them.

"There is an ample supply of desks at Booth School," said Mr. Alder "and there is no overcrowding in any of the city schools."

GARDEN 'NOTEBOOK

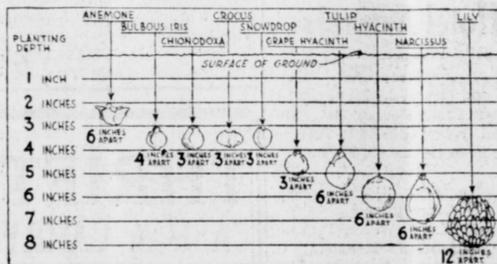

Everyone admits that this has been a poor garden season but, in spite of all that, we must also admit that there have been some very fine displays of flowers in a good many gardens and that the effort was worth while. The chief drawback has been that some of the flowers have not been tied up when they needed it and the result has been disastrous. In a wet season the growth is apt to be very heavy and, unless the plants are looked after, the loss is proportionately heavy.

The season has also shown that in a wet summer Coltness dahlias are a sure bet, that begonias started early will show color all summer in spite of the weather that large heavy roses often do not open well whereas the semi-double varieties defy weather conditions. Sweet peas need plenty of sun and so do zinnias, geraniums, poppies and a number deners who live in the interior as most of my notes are written particularly for Prince Rupert people. Conditions at Hazelton or Smithers or Burns Lake or Vanderhoof are quite different and flowers which grow well there may not succeed here.

This year I had very good results with regal lilies. The main thing is to give them good drainage. Some people say they will not succeed without rubble but a mixture of coal and wood ashes with the soil seems to answer the purpose almost as well. Next year I plan to use rubble but I do not expect any better results than I am now getting. Under no circumstances must they be in a place where the water cannot get away from them such as in rotting muskeg without ashes or sand mixed with it.—H. F. P.

HOW TO PLANT BULBS

This is a useful chart to keep. Cut it out and paste it in the scrap book along with other items of garden lore.

of other plants which are sometimes grown here.

May we remind local people that this is the time to start next year's garden. Most of the spring bulbs should be bought now and planted next month or as soon as they arrive. English, Dutch and Spanish irises should go into the ground soon so that they may become established for next season. They may also be planted in the spring but best results are obtained by fall planting. If they are put into well drained soil six inches deep they will usually come through the winter quite well. The books say four inches but in this climate if the soil is dry six inches has been found to be quite correct.

Other bulbs to plant soon are daffodils, narcissi, hyacinths, tulips, grape hyacinths, snowdrops, crocuses, chionodoxas and scillas.

When ordering tulips be sure to decide whether you want the early low growing varieties or the later Darwins. The long stemmed Darwins often have to be staked as they grow taller here than in most places. When the book tells you that a plant grows eighteen inches high, count on two feet in Prince Rupert.

I have to ask pardon of gar-

TWO GOOD COMEDIES

Joe E. Brown and Jones Family Pictures Here on First of Week Double Bill

Joe E. Brown's latest picture "Riding on Air" and another of the series of Jones Family comedies "Off to the Races" comprise an entertaining double bill program coming to the Capitol Theatre here at the first of this week.

Mysterious aerial smugglers, a high speed romance, rivalry between two small town newspaper correspondents and a device for controlling of airplanes in flight by radio beam are all woven into the exciting basis of "Riding on Air." Brown portrays one of the correspondents whose interest in the radio beam invention and whose determination to catch the smugglers involve him in hilarious complications. Guy Kibbee plays the part of an oily stock swindler while Florence Roice is the lovely blonde for whom Brown and his rival, Vin-ton Haworth, battle.

"Off to the Races" has to do with country fair horse racing and it is said to be a real mirth producer. The players of former pictures of the series are retained in the persons of Jed Prouty, Shirley Deane, Spring Byington, Kenneth Howell, George Ernest, June Carlson, Florence Roberts and Billy Mahan with the addition of Russell Gleason and Slim Summerville.

Having left a raft of logs from the Queen Charlotte Islands which she is towing to mainland pulp mills at Captain's Cove, J. R. Morgan Logging Co.'s towboat J. R. Morgan was in port this morning taking on fuel.

Northland Transportation Co.'s motorship liner Northland, Capt. Len Williams, arrived in port at 9:20 this morning from Ketchikan and, after discharging one carload of fresh halibut for transshipment East over Canadian National Railways, sailed later in the morning for Seattle. The Northland had on board sixty-three passengers of whom five disembarked here.
