For the first time in the history of golf's Ryder cup matches, a visiting team captured the trophy. This year the United States' team defeated the English aggregation on a British course, by a score of eight points to four, thus retaining the cup they won last year in the U.S. Walter Hagen, non-playing captain of the U.S. Ryder cup team, is seen hereby receiving the trophy from Lord Wardington (right). The golf contest was played at Southport, Lancashire, England.
