Another British Ship is Victim—Mediterranean Patrol Increased

IRUN, Spain, Sept. 2: (CP)—The loyalist government's northwest army has abandoned the last barrier between the insurgents and the provinces of the Asturias.

Searching For Sub

GIBRALTAR, Sept. 2: (CP)—The British flotilla leader Hardy and the destroyer Hyperion were dispatched from Gibraltar to the assistance of the destroyer Havock immediately after she had been attacked by a mysterious submarine. Two other destroyers were also ordered to join the search for the mysterious submarine.

Today Great Britain ordered the fleet reinforced in the western Mediterranean to combat with the strange, repeated assaults on British flag vessels.

This decision was announced after the cabinet had met in two sessions in London.

Meanwhile the crew of the British steamer Woodford reached Denicarlo, Spain, in open boats and told of an attack by a submarine which sank the vessel yesterday not long after the destroyer torpedo had been fired at the destroyer Havock.

A Spanish government news agency described the submarine as being of Italian type.

Eighteen ships of various nationalities were attacked by aircraft and submarines in the Mediterranean during the month of August.

MOUNTAIN OF SMOKELESS COAL

In his address to the Liberals of Peace River with Hon. Gardiner, Federal Minister of Agriculture present, Page Rideout quoted from a speech made years ago by Sir Donald Mann in which that well known railwayman said with emphasis in his voice:

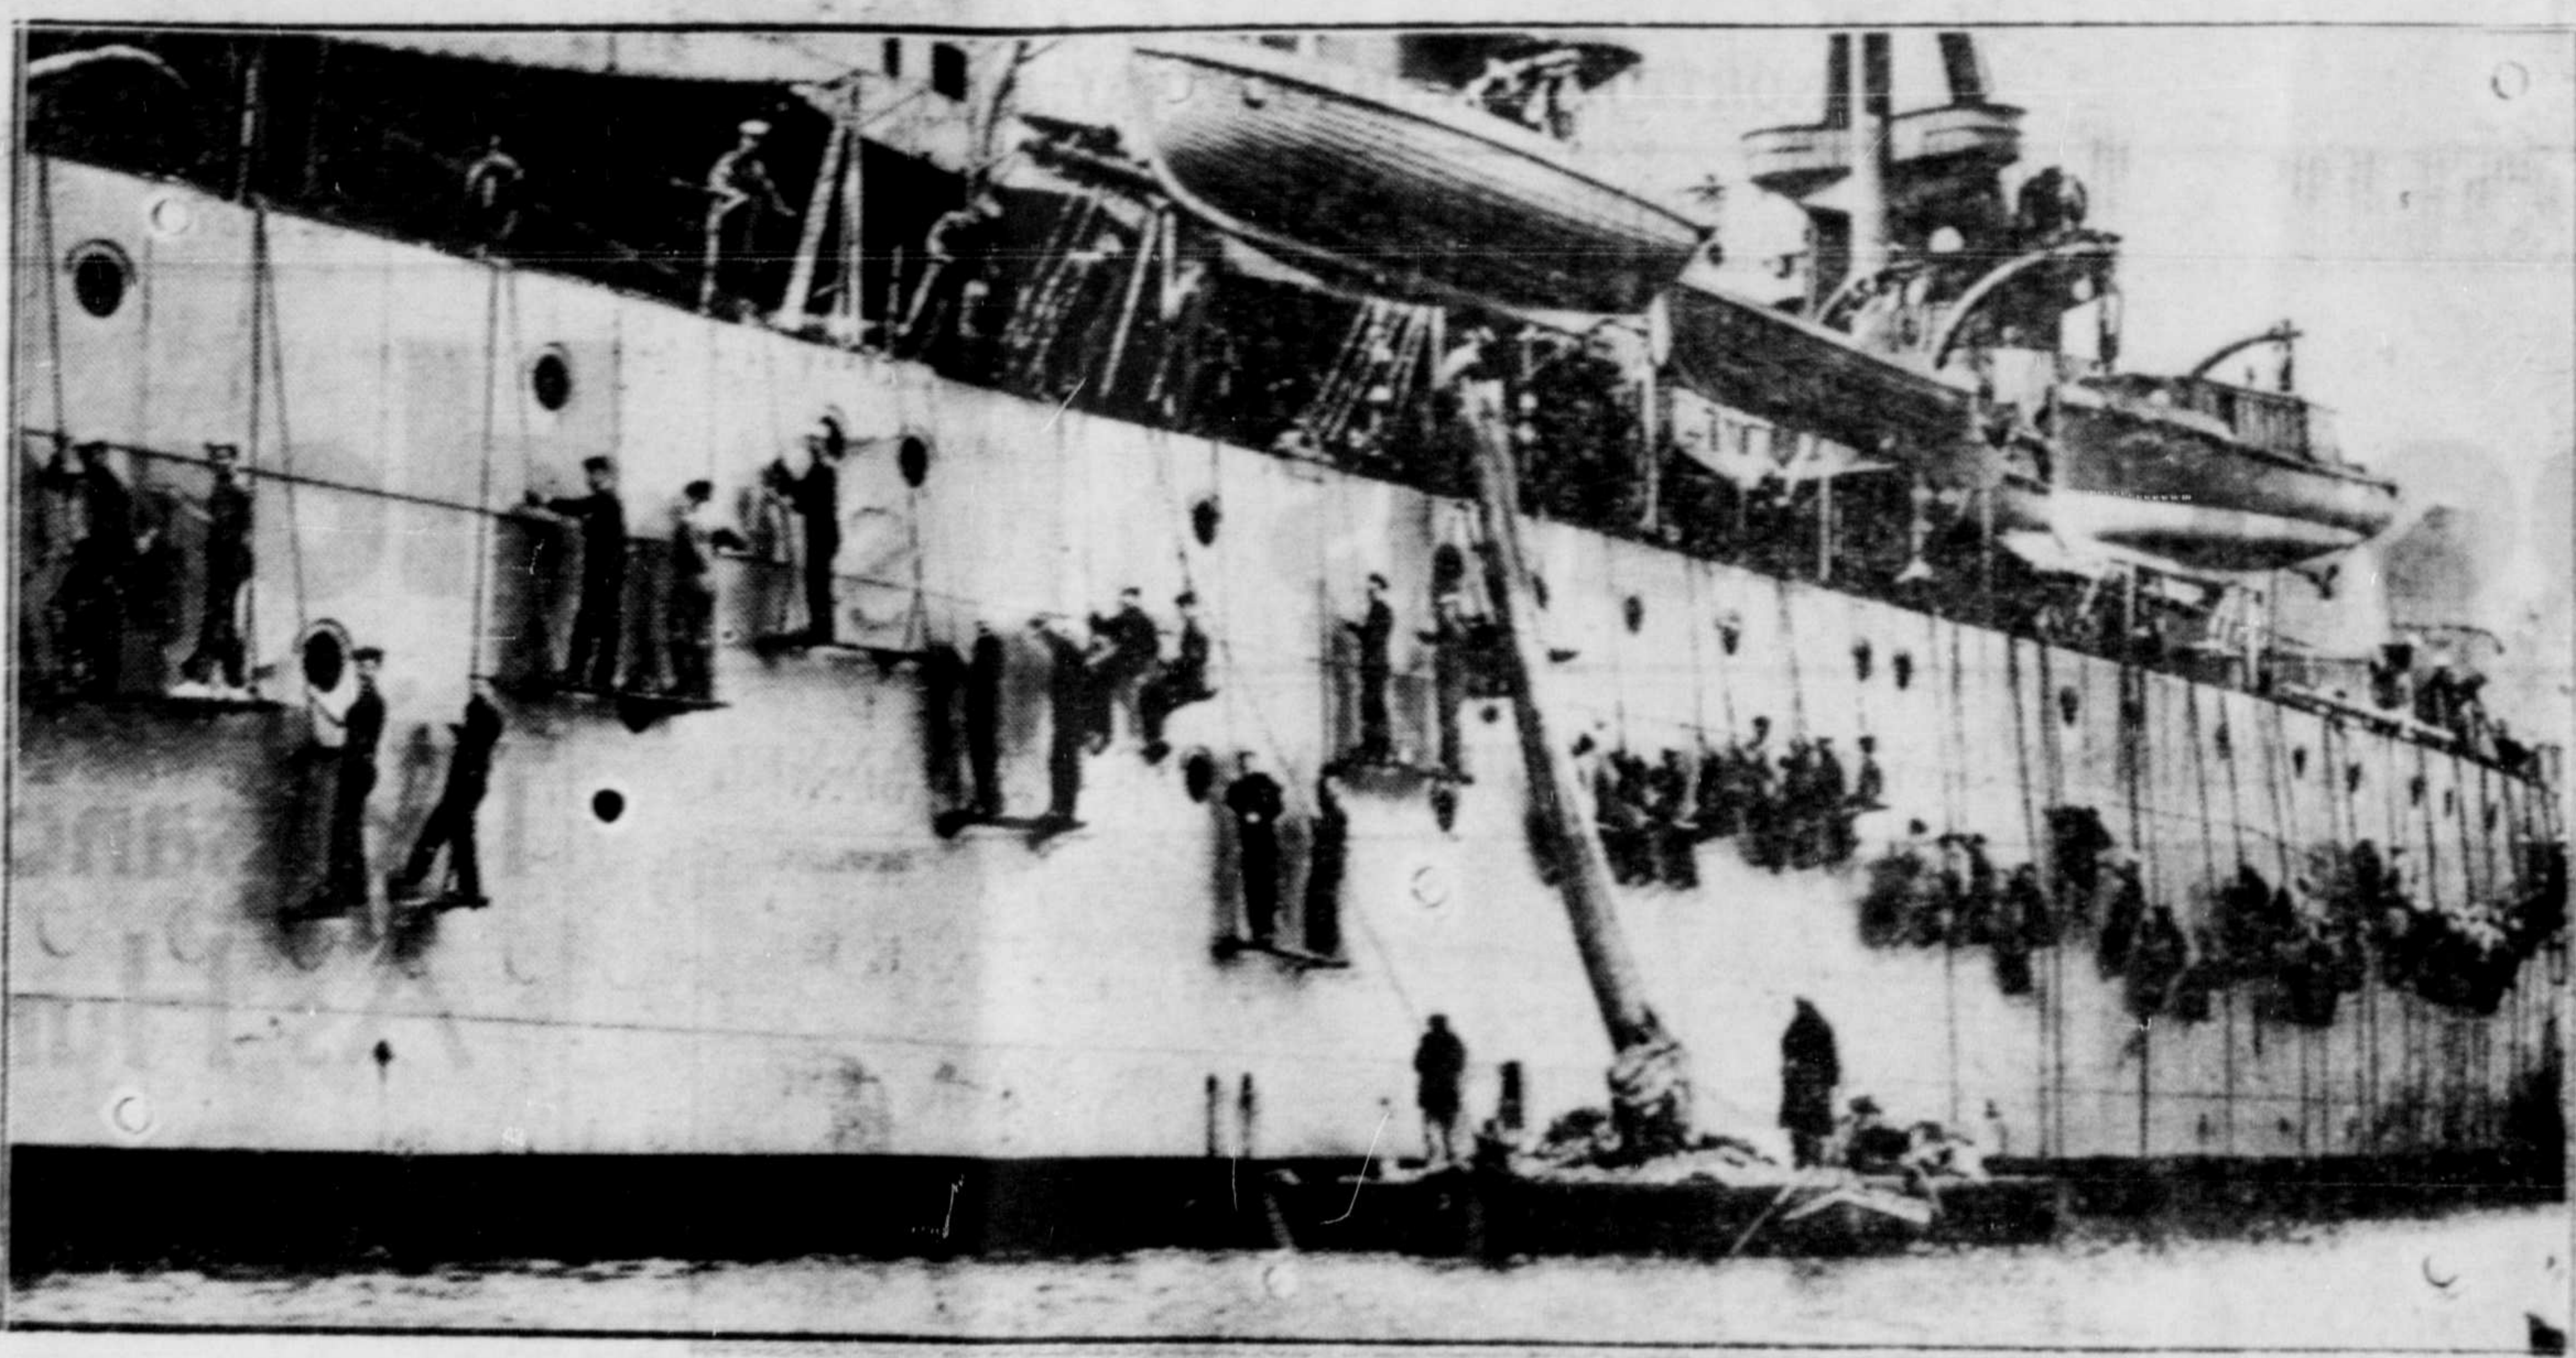

"There are greater possibilities and vaster resources lying dormant today in this last west than there are lying between the Red River and the Rockies," his reference being to the portion of the west between the Peace River and the Pacific. He referred to the million and a half horsepower running to waste at the Grand Canyon and to "a mountain of the richest smokeless coal ever discovered or mined, millions of tons of it above the rail site—this coal is far superior to Welsh smokeless coal as it has but two per cent ash and carries 76 per cent carbon. When this coal is pulverized and blown into the ship's furnace like oil it will prove better and cheaper than fuel oil and requires less bunker space. When this coal is put into a port on the Pacific it will have a fuel monopoly in all the cities and ports on the Pacific. Then, considering the many other minerals embedded in the Peace and its tributaries you understand my reason for saying I look for a larger mining centre than Pittsburgh and also a second Detroit to grow up near to Grand Canyon of the Peace."

WERE BADLY LET DOWN

The same speaker at the banquet continued: "You will observe that Sir Donald Mann was very anxious to get the coal of the Grand Canyon to a port on the Pacific, in fact he started to build a railway from the Portland Canal into this, the richest block of natural wealth in the world but was stopped by the world war. But we have the port of Prince Rupert and 180 miles of railway heading from that port towards this Peace River empire to Hazelton where it turns southeast to Prince George. It requires only 350 miles of railway to connect with Hines Creek, and every mile of that line would be in the real revenue producing country of which Sir Donald spoke. "And here let me say that if there is a people of Canada who have a real case for damages against our Federal Government, those people are the residents of Prince Rupert. When I was there last December they staged a fine dinner—there was a much larger crowd than is here tonight—and while I sat there and listened to grey-headed men tell how they were enticed to come to Prince Rupert and pay thousands of dollars for a pile of rock with an imaginary line around it—that when the second pier in the harbor was complete there would not be a yard of superfluous rock on the townsite—they had every reason to consider themselves partners with the Government of Canada in building up a new port on the Pacific. But they were let down cold, and have been holding the bag ever since. While listening to this I did not feel over proud of my Liberalism."

Mr. Rideout made an eloquent plea for the building up of the port of Prince Rupert and its connection with the Peace River country. If he saw possibilities in this, surely it is time for Prince Rupert people to make themselves felt and try to help themselves in this railway outlet matter.

JOLLY JACK TARS GIVE H.M.S. RODNEY A NEW COAT OF PAINT

Like flies around a honey jar, seamen of His Majesty's ship Rodney are shown as they gave the big fighting craft a new coat of paint while she was anchored in the harbor at Algiers. The Rodney and other units of the British Home Fleet were on their annual spring cruise.

BEAUTIFUL OCEAN FALLS

Editor, Daily News:
On my visit to Ocean Falls with the Prince Rupert football team I was delighted with what I saw in the gardens. Every house has a lawn in front and flower garden and wonderful window boxes. Some had geraniums and lobelia. Others had schizanthus of great size and large petunias with lobelia. The dahlias were the largest I have ever seen. I saw a rock wall with fuschias trailing over it in full bloom. The gladioli I saw were easily five feet tall with large blooms. The main street had a large boulevard with a row of red hawthorn trees which must be very nice when in full bloom. I understand that the school children are put to work cutting the lawns of all houses in town, keeping everything in shape. From a garden standpoint Ocean Falls is a delightful community.

A PLAYER

APPRECIATION

Editor, Daily News:
The Gyro Club is to be congratulated upon its excellent work in continuing throughout the summer the recreational activities of the Department of Education.
On Monday night the citizens of Prince Rupert were treated to an exceptional and pleasing display, exhibiting the nature of the work carried on under the competent direction of Mr. Cooper and his able assistants. The City of Prince Rupert is fortunate in having such a service body as the Gyro Club—and in having such an excellent and energetic recreational director as Mr. Cooper.

The value of physical education is now above question. In the public school curriculum it is along with social studies and English, a compulsory course. The reasons are not hard to seek. Its value in maintaining and building health is obvious. In addition, it aids in mental development through the sharpening of the neuro-muscular system. Athletic games can profitably be diverted to the inculcating of habits of good sportsmanship and thus physical education has great value in building a body of sound citizens. Again, organized athletic recreation among the children and the youth is a powerful bulwark of family life—one of our oldest institutions. It keeps the youth off the streets and adds contentment to home life. The display on Monday was sufficient proof of this.

All in all, the Gyro Club, the recreational teachers, the children and citizens of our city can quite justly feel that the efforts spent on physical education, whether on the playgrounds or in the school are not in vain. Indeed, they are highly essential.

KITCHENER, Ont., Sept. 2. (CP)—The city hall bell is not so melodious now. When the pin holding the clapper was replaced the clapper struck a different spot, striking a harsher tone.

Prince Rupert Beauty Parlors Highly Praised

George R. Matthews, provincial secretary of the Retail Merchants' association, told the Daily News yesterday before leaving for Prince George that the citizens of Prince Rupert were very fortunate in having such a high standard of beauty parlors.

He referred to the inspector's report which had stated that the general appearance and excellent equipment was much above the average and those operating were most efficient.

An interesting part of the report he said was the fact that while Prince Rupert for its population did not have more operators than other cities engaged in the hairdressing profession, there were decidedly more parlors operating and as these were being managed by the proprietors themselves, doubtless this was the reason for such a high standard being maintained.

Mr. Matthews said his association had taken a very keen interest in securing the passage of the Hairdresser's Act. On account of the increase generally in materials and equipment, prices in hairdressing had advanced over the entire province.

Bernice Palmer says . . .

In reading over the Daily News, I cannot help but be struck by the fact that the usual run of advertisements has remained much the same in all these years. Very little changes have been made in the copy and they still read very much as they did when I left there nearly a dozen years ago!

With so much happening and new improvements being made all around, this surprises me. Billboards in California dot the country and it is almost a game watching what the next will hold and newspaper advertising has kept pace with the times. Advertisements of the different oil companies are particularly amusing. What is more, they are selling.

Drug stores have spectacular ads with an odd coupon tucked away somewhere in the copy and, in looking for the coupon, the eye can't help but scan the other goods offered for sale and perhaps be reminded of something needed. And it is the catchy description that sells the hats in the millinery—or the clever sketch—not the price. Even coal is made more interesting in its ads. It has to be to sell down here where gas furnaces are so popular.

It isn't always what you have to sell but how you go about presenting your goods that counts. People like to be sold. That is a human trait recognized by up and coming firms and they like a little blarney along with the merchandise. It is almost as effective as a free gift!

A little more variety in the local ads might prove profitable. At any rate, it would be worth trying.

GYROS ARE INSPIRED

Not Dreams or Dogmas But Better Men is World's Need Today. Declares Dr. J. S. Henderson

"What the world needs today to make the dreams of many men come true and usher in the golden day are not creeds or dogmas but better men with lofty ideals of loyalty and integrity who honor truth and treasure liberty," declared Rev. Dr. J. S. Henderson of Vancouver in an inspiring address before the Prince Rupert Gyro Club at luncheon yesterday.

Dr. Henderson spoke on the subject of "Purpose and Power." Sustained purpose was essential if power was to be attained either individually or nationally, declared the speaker who urged integrity and truth, love of God, loyalty to one another and to the community as attributes to be possessed by individuals and organizations which professed to serve their communities.

"We hear of gardens," said Dr. Henderson "but there is no garden like that of the soul of man which it is our prerogative to cultivate, rooting up the weeds and nurturing the flowers."

A more creative impulse in the organizations was urged by the speaker. Thereby could be obtained more virile institutions, better communities, a finer country and a more glorious world.

Soul Greatest Power

"The greatest undeveloped power in the world today," said Dr. Henderson, "is the soul of humanity. Most men were only about ten percent alive. There were vast powers lying dormant in every individual. What was needed was to harness up the great spiritual powers with personalities. That done there was little that could not be achieved locally, nationally and internationally. What use were ideals if they were not incarnated in character and life? There was no transformation and no growth like that which came when, through divine co-operation, man was developed into high and spiritual moods. Then perfection dwelt in man as ripeness dwelt in the fruit of the harvest. Brotherhood, vision and service were advocated by the speaker in bringing about the "Golden Day" which must come from overhead.

Cup is Presented

Another of the features of yesterday's luncheon was the presentation of the international second prize bulletin cup to George L. Rorie, the club's bulletin editor. The presentation was made by W. H. Tobey, district lieutenant governor, with appropriate remarks.

Dr. H. N. Brocklesby was in the chair and guests at the luncheon, besides Dr. Henderson, were S. W. Taylor of Vancouver, a past president of the local club, Frank Eccles of Vancouver, W. O. Fulton, Olof Hanson M.P., H. F. Wearmouth and Arthur Sutton of Prince Rupert.

This double-rich milk, with cream in every drop, adds smoothness, flavour, food-value. And this applies to all cooking where milk is used. Because Carnation is just pure milk with part of the water taken out, made much more digestible by homogenization, made safe by sterilization, it is a splendid food for bottle-fed babies and growing children. Boom McLaglen For Stage Play

Public Have Other Names, Too, For Part in "Of Mice and Men"

NEW YORK, Sept. 2: (CP) — Not since Broadway audiences went in enthusiastically for suggesting who should play Lorelei in "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," has the public revelled in such mass casting as they are doing now that John Steinbeck's novel, "Of Mice and Men," seems certain of stage production.

Ever since George S. Kaufman detected the makings of a play in the Steinbeck book, and expressed a wish to direct it, there has been considerable pressure brought on him to give the part of Lennie to Victor McLaglen. But, since this was announced a few weeks ago, producer Sam Harris' office has been swamped with mail demanding any one of half a hundred stage and screen actors be given the role.

Many actors, too, have been proposed for the role of George, the sympathetic field hand who guides Lennie through his troubles. James Cagney is a popular choice, but it is felt Cagney prefers to clean up his litigation Meets Girl," also has his chance in Hollywood before deserting pions for the George role, the movie lots. Jerome Cowan, Charles Bickford has been seen on Broadway in "Boy gested and so has Lee Tracy.

Seeks Big Game From B. C. Hills

American Museum Man and Wife To Hunt in Northern Cassiar Range

NEW YORK, Sept. 2: (CP) — Michael Lerner, director of the American Museum of Natural History and noted big-game hunter, is preparing a hunting trip to the Cassiar Mountains of northeastern British Columbia. Lerner will be accompanied by his wife and hopes to bag specimens of stone or blue sheep, caribou and grizzlies. He is making the trip for his own amusement and not in the interests of the museum.

The couple will go by rail to Edmonton and will fly from there to the mountains, where they will meet their guide. The latter left Jasper National Park in advance with pack and saddle horses.

AUSTRALIAN TENNIS STAR IN ACTION

The Australian Davis Cup team decisively defeated the Mexican team in the zone eliminations. The surprise player on the Aussie's team was Vivian McGrath who was expected to be out of action with an old hand ailment. The hand recovered slightly and McGrath was matched against Mexico's No. 1 player, Dr. Ricardo Tapia, defeating him in three straight sets in Mexico. Australia now meets the United States team for the right to advance in the play-downs.

CIGARETTES MAY LOOK ALIKE
but how different in QUALITY!
its the same with
BEER

Some three years ago a song took the world by storm. It was called "Two Cigarettes in the Dark". The chorus ended with the words, "Gone is the Flame and the Spark, Leaving Just Regrets".
How often could this be said about the indiscriminate purchase of lager beer. People who just order beer are often disappointed. They find too late that there is a difference in beer—just as there is in cigarettes. Some are delightful and worthwhile—others let you down.
Most British Columbians have learned that Lucky Lager is a better beer. It is good to the last drop because it's made that way.

LUCKY LAGER

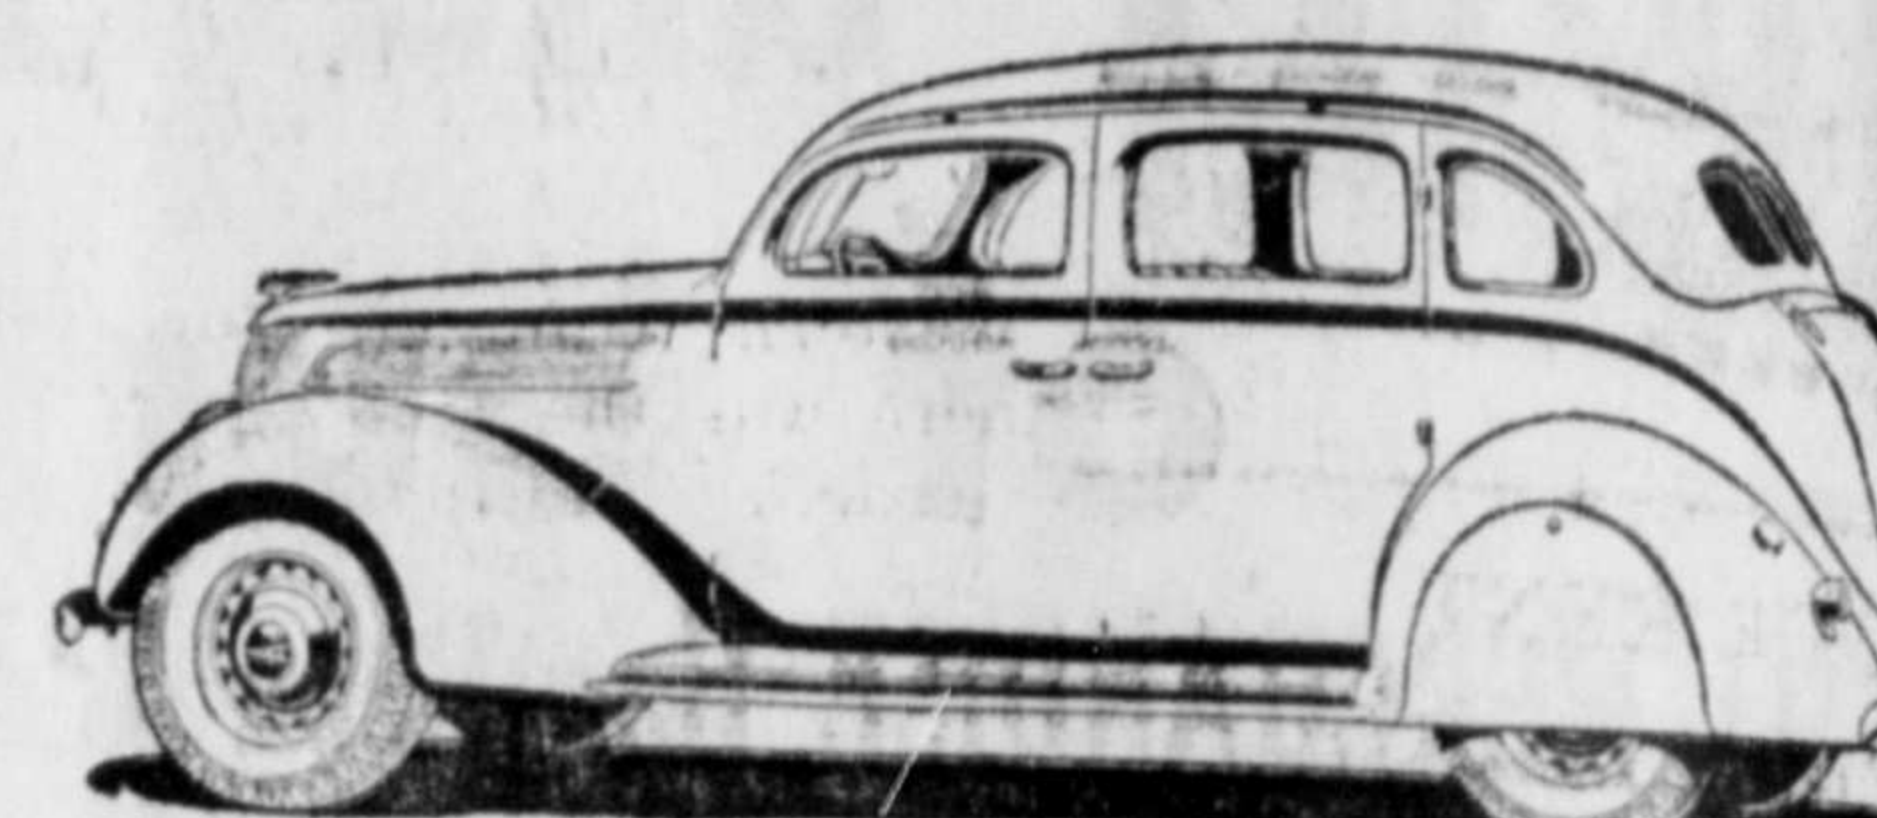

Lucky Lager is made in a model pure food establishment in the most expensive fashion. The hops, the malt and every ingredient is the very best that money can buy. But, remember—Lucky Lager costs no more than ordinary beer.

"A man learns a lot, building 25 million cars!"

"Seems to me, nothing ever takes the place of experience. You learn to do a good job by doing it. The more you do it, the more you learn about it."
"Take cars for instance. They tell me Henry Ford has built more than 25 million. Nobody else ever had near that much experience. So, the way I figure, Henry Ford's the man I want to build my car."
"Besides, all those cars weren't sold—most of them were bought. Bought because folks got more for their money—because Henry Ford's a better job every year."
"This year's Ford is the best yet. Handles easy, rides smooth and smooth and smooth. One day after 12 hours sitting here watching Ford's go by, I says to myself, 'Jud, you go buy one, did!'"

WHIFFLETS
From the Waterfront

All forms of salmon fishing in this district will be closed on September 24. Later, at the discretion of the department, certain types of fishing may be reopened. Meantime, a fair run of cohoes is continuing. A number of the Skeena River canneries will be continuing in operation as long as the fishing continues. There has been an appreciable run of chums as yet.

Inaugurating the company's schedule of ten-day sailings to Alaska, C.P.R. steamer Princess Louise, Capt. S. K. Gray, arrived in port at 9 o'clock this morning from Vancouver and sailed a couple of hours later for Skagway and other northern points whence she will return here next Tuesday afternoon southbound. The Louise had 51 passengers on board including fourteen round-trippers and a number of Ketchikan, Juneau and Wrangell school teachers returning north after spending the summer vacation in the south. None disembarked here while four boarded the vessel at this port for the north.

Many People Visited Museum

Questions of Financing and Other Matters Discussed by Board at Meeting Last Night

During the month of August 630 people visited the museum of Northern British Columbia at Prince Rupert and the total takings for the month amounted to $61.20, according to the report of the custodian, N. L. Jones, made to the board at its meeting last night.

As the appreciable income comes only for the months when the tourists are visiting the city, the question of financing was discussed at some length and it was decided to adopt a budget system, the secretary to prepare a tentative budget for submission to the board at its next meeting.
Rev. W. H. Pierce addressed the gathering at some length telling of the numbers present when the big boats were in port and of the reactions of the people to what they saw and heard. He considered the museum one of the greatest attractions to the city and one that should be carefully fostered. A new building was badly needed.
Those present at the meeting included Dr. Neal Carter, Rev. W. E. Collison, City Commissioner W. J. Alder, A. E. Parlow, C. G. Ham, H. F. Pullen, Rev. W. H. Pierce and the custodian, N. L. Jones.

Drain Mediterranean and Make Homes for Europe's Surplus,
 Says Expert

BERLIN, Sept. 2: (CP) — A plan to provide the crowded populations of Europe with room for expansion and food production by draining the Mediterranean has been advanced by Herman Suerzel, a German engineer.

Suerzel claims the Mediterranean, which was once dry land could be reclaimed by building two huge dams at each end of it — one at the Straits of Gibraltar and the other at Bosphorus. Waterpower, generated by these dams, he says, could be used to irrigate the Sahara and desert lands of North Africa.

Reduction of the sea, Suerzel said, could be effected by regulating the dams so that the inflow of water from the Atlantic and Black Sea was less than the evaporation from the Mediterranean. His figures indicated that even a 500-foot reduction in the sea's level would uncover fertile land capable of bearing $5,000,000,000 of crops annually.

Though almost impossible in the face of present political difficulties, the engineer estimated construction of the project could be completed in about 250 years. If the scheme were carried out he believes it would solve Europe's problems of space and food for all time, besides opening up vast new possibilities of development.

An overland railway from Berlin to Cape Town would be possible, he suggested, while ships could still navigate on what was left of the Mediterranean. Power from the two dams would pump water from Lake Chad and the Congo Basin to the Sahara which, he claimed, only needs water to become a fertile plain.

Suerzel urged development of the waste spaces of Africa as the logical solution to a crowded Europe if the white races are to survive against the teeming peoples of the Orient, and further:

"Creation of this continent would sublimate the pleasure in war and destruction of the European nations in constructive work for centuries to come."

PEACE RIVER

Dawson Creek in the Peace River Block held its first fall fair on Friday and Saturday last. The town was, as a result, the drawing card for residents from all parts of the surrounding district.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brandt have returned from a honeymoon tour to take up residence in the Peace River Block. Mrs. Brandt was formerly Miss Sofie Budick of Buffalo Lakes.

A Masonic Lodge has been instituted at Dawson Creek in the Peace River Block. W. M. Grant, district deputy grand master, represented the Grand Lodge of British Columbia at the institution. R. L. Boal is worshipful master of the new lodge.

Dr. S. E. Greenwood of Horse-shoe, North Carolina, a well known big game hunter, arrived at Dawson Creek enroute to the middle fork of the Pine River where he plans to spend the next thirty days hunting.

Harry Giles, while on a fishing trip to Carbon River in the Peace River district, caught what was said to be a three-inch halibut. This is said to be the first fish of that variety ever caught in those inland waters.

Mrs. G. M. Dudley was hostess at dinner recently in honor of Rt. Rev. G. A. Rix D.D., the Bishop of Caledonia.

SONS STOLE CROWN

Wearing one of his two 18-carat crowns, Sir Ofori Atta, ruler of one of Britain's Gold Coast (Africa) colonies, is pictured here on an occasion when he visited London. Sir Ofori is now in the spotlight as a spartan father who sent his two sons to jail after they had been found guilty of pinching their dad's scintillating millinery. The boys, R. J. Birikorang and J. W. Bosumprah, were given sentences of one-year and nine months hard labor, respectively, by the district magistrate at Suhrum.

 Tammany and Others in Civic Campaign

NEW YORK, Sept. 2: (CP) — Jeremiah T. Mahoney, chosen by the "New Deal" rebels of Tammany Hall as their candidate for the Democratic nomination for mayor of New York, calls himself "a fighting Mick."

In 38 years at the bar and in politics, the 62-year old lawyer and president of the United States Amateur Athletic Union has seen many a stout scrap but the fight of his life begins when he clashes with the aroused nabobs of Tammany and their candidate, Senator Royal S. Copeland, for the support of New York City's Democrats.

And if he wins the Democratic primary September 16, that will only be half the battle. Tougher still will be the campaign against Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia, expected to run for his second term on either the Republican ticket or an independent. New York voters will decide the mayoralty itself November 2.

Mahoney's substitution for Grover A. Whalen, former police commissioner as New Deal candidate came as yet another surprise move in a campaign remarkable for the number of last-minute shifts. He is expected to command stronger support than Whalen, especially in the ranks of organized labor, and his selection makes questionable the ability of Tammany to regain control of the city government.

Proposals for enlisting labor support for the anti-Tammany Mahoney include the formation of a "Labor-for-Mahoney" committee. If Mahoney wins the primary, this would be expanded into a new party, the United Labor Party, and used to entice labor votes away from LaGuardia, who is backed by the American Labor Party.

NEW MUSEUM IS SUGGESTED

Committee Appointed to Investigate
 Possibility of Building
 in Totem Park, Fraser St.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Museum Board held in the City Hall last evening with Dr. Neal Carter presiding, the question of securing a larger and more suitable building in which to house the museum collection was discussed at some length, it being the consensus of opinion that an attempt should be made to secure a new building this year and that if possible it should be located on the new Alder Totem Park on Fraser St.

The discussion did not arise until after City Commissioner Alder had withdrawn to attend another meeting, but a committee consisting of Dr. Carter and Rev. W. E. Collison was appointed to investigate the possibilities and interview the commissioner and report back to the board at the next meeting.

It was pointed out at the meeting that the present building was nothing like large enough to accommodate the crowds who visited the museum at the time when the large tourist boats were in port. Forty people was the largest number that could be squeezed into the building at one time and then they were packed like sardines in a can, sometimes with as many as twenty in the lobby trying to get in. Older people found climbing the stairs difficult and it was decided that a ground floor location was much to be preferred. The attendance this year was much larger than last owing to the fact that people were getting to know that the museum was here and that the collection of exhibits was worth seeing. Visitors told their friends and gradually the information spread that there was a museum at Prince Rupert and that it was something to be seen.

It was further pointed out that practically all the tourists went to see the totems on Fraser Street and that the little park there was the natural setting for the museum. It would be particularly attractive if it had a front resembling an old native community house.

The suggestion was made that the basement of the new federal building might be used for the museum but that did not seem feasible. The committee will first go into the possibility of a separate building on the grounds of the new totem park.
