Gordon Fawcett Escapes From Okalla Prison

VANCOUVER, April 5:—Gordon Fawcett, notorious bandit and former accomplice of William Bagley, and another prisoner, Vernon Campbell, made their escape from Okalla prison yesterday. Fawcett was awaiting trial on a charge of hold-up and wounding while Campbell had pleaded guilty to robbery with violence and was awaiting sentence. Okalla Prison officials have begun an investigation of what Warden Walter Owen describes as "apparently an inside job" as the police comb the lower mainland for Fawcett and Campbell. The break occurred last night, the men escaping through three doors which are usually locked and after sawing through bars, sliding down with a blanket to the ground twenty feet below the execution room. The executed Bagley's one-time pal, Fawcett, was facing charges of wounding, possession of a revolver and retaining a stolen automobile.

DOUK TOWNS SPENT DAY IN OTTAWA

Damage Done by Simultaneous Blazes in Nelson District

NELSON, April 5:—Fires believed of incendiary origin broke out almost simultaneously in a number of Doukhobor settlements yesterday. Nearly all the fires occurred within an hour of each other in the early morning at widely separated points. At Ymir, south of here, a school building was destroyed. Near Castlegar, west of here, three community buildings were fired, two being completely destroyed. Appledale, Winlaw and Perry Siding also had fires. At Appledale the government school and a hall were damaged. This outbreak, in which the loss of the four government schools is estimated at $14,500 with $3,000 for the one Castlegar hall, the other damage being not yet estimated, is the first to occur since three halls and a saw-mill were burned last June following the firing of a bridge for which Paul Vatkin, Grand Forks Doukhobor, was sentenced to life imprisonment. The previous burnings and bombings in the district were blamed by the orthodox Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood on the expelled Sons of Freedom sect who in 1929 and 1932 staged nude parades, resulting in more than five hundred adults being sentenced to three years' imprisonment each at Piers Island in the Gulf of Georgia.

MADRID IS BOMBARDED

Spanish Civil War Fighting Again Around Capital City as Well As on Other Fronts

Loyalists Win Tide of Battle Seems to be Largely in Favor of Government

ITALY TO WITHDRAW ROME, April 5:—Charges of "flagrant violations" by France of the international "Hands off Spain" agreement, a government spokesman said tonight, may justify Italy's withdrawal from the 27 nation non-intervention accord.

MADRID, April 5:—There was fierce shelling of Madrid again Saturday and Sunday by rebel artillery, apparently seeking revenge for reverses on other fronts. Rebel airplanes also poured bombs into the city. The government forces replied with artillery and machine gun fire and both sides suffered. On several outside fronts the loyalists claimed continued advances yesterday. Ten thousand insurgent soldiers, including many Italian and German reinforcements, were declared to be in wild retreat. The insurgents claimed a further advance in the Bilbao area.

Today it was reported that the government's southern army had turned the insurgent left flank north of Cordoba, capturing the village of La Granjuela and opening the way for a direct attack on the Penarroya coal mines. The government army is making slow but steady progress on the Guadalajara front to the northwest.

On the far southern front the insurgents are reported being pressed back while in the north Basque miners are on the offensive in Asturias and a strong army is advancing against Burgos, one-time capital of the insurgent regime. Madrid's war-time police seized a store of bombs and arms in one of the capital's principal market places and announced that they had broken up a plot to convert a market and a nearby hotel into Fascist fortresses.

Seeing Northern British Columbia

People who sail up the ordinary steamship channels and who rave about the wonderful "inside passage" are, doubtless, seeing something which to them is wonderful scenery but they have not begun to see beautiful scenery. They have to get back from the coast up the streams that flow into the main channels in order to really enjoy scenery. The only point at which there is really enchanting scenery that can be reached by large coasting vessels is in Gardner Canal. The Prince Robert makes several trips there each summer taking tourists, mostly from the United States to scenery that most British Columbians have never even dreamed about.

It is easy to find beautiful scenery near Prince Rupert but it must be viewed from a small boat or launch. Take a shallow draught launch at Prince Rupert and go up the Skeena River to Port Essington. Then turn up the Ecstall River, stopping briefly to view the falls at Brown's River and a brief time to look at the power plant at the mouth of Falls River. From there on the scenery improves and it is worth while to take a chance on hitting a snag in Muddy Creek which leads to a succession of falls with more lakes beyond. It is one of the prettiest bits of scenery in the province. The little stream is navigable for a mile or two winding back and forth between banks overhanging with alders and emerging at the foot of the first falls. There at the very end of navigation is a place to tie up the boat and step out on to a fine little camping site beneath a large tree.

Farther up the Ecstall are other beauties. There is Stillwater River flowing in from the south, a wonderful place at high tide and farther along is the Dunsmuir Mine and beyond again is Johnston Lake, rather difficult of access but well worth the effort of getting there. Many Prince Rupert people have not seen these places but, fortunately for them, they do not know what they miss or they would be constantly bemoaning their fate.

Mr. Justice Martin Appointed

Mr. Justice Archer Martin has been appointed chief justice of the Court of Appeal. It is a well earned promotion and he will fill it with dignity. In his younger days he was sometimes scoffed at for his insistence on all the rules of court decorum being carried out to the extreme limit. However, in these days when we are apt to go to the opposite extreme it is sometimes well to have a man in the highest judicial position who will insist upon proper decorum.

DISPLAY OF RECREATION

One Thousand Persons Attended Mass Demonstration In Exhibition Hall

Work Lauded

Instructor Dave Bell and Participants Congratulated Upon Fine Show

The second annual mass demonstration of the provincial government's local recreational and physical education centre drew a crowd of a thousand or so persons to the Exhibition Building Saturday night and the two hour display of upwards of 100 participants in the classes which have been conducted ably during the past winter by Instructor Dave Bell proved of much interest and entertainment to all. Those taking part ranged from quite young children to adults and many showed a fine standard of proficiency in a variety of useful and physique building activities. The program included demonstrations of games, drills, tumbling, gymnastics, exercises with various types of gymnasium equipment including rings, horses, vaulting box, parallel bars and high bars as well as a number of entertaining novelties such as torch swinging, comic goodminton game, golden statues and ladder pyramids. Special illumination effects were used to good advantage with several of the items. There were grand entrance and closing marches. Acceptable incidental music was furnished by the Prince Rupert Boys' Band under bandmaster Robert Greenfield.

Mr. Bell was assisted in connection with the putting on of the display by Miss Geraldine Cade and Miss Alice Gomez. Piano accompanists were the Misses Ethel Cousins, Maureen Kirkpatrick and Hazel Hill.

Opening Addresses

J. J. Little presided and, in a brief opening address, welcome, all present. He urged a high aim in spiritual, mental and physical ideals as an invaluable aid in the affairs of life. He commended the splendid work of Instructor Bell and also congratulated the Gyro Club for its activities in connection with the physical education of the children. Mr. Little made presentations to the Misses Ethel Cousins, Maureen Kirkpatrick and Hazel Hill in appreciation of their assistance as piano accompanists of the centre. For general proficiency in the activities of the centre the presentation of a medal was made to Miss Geraldine Cade.

Dr. R. G. Large, chairman of the playground committee of the Gyro Club, spoke briefly, outlining the plans of the club for the forthcoming season both in inside and outside physical and playground activities for the children. He, too, congratulated Mr. Bell for the excellent work he had been carrying on as instructor and expressed regret that he would soon be leaving the city.

Some of the outstanding numbers on Saturday night's program included the torch swinging by Instructor Dave Bell, the ladder pyramids by the senior girls and the golden statue display of various subjects by George Ferguson assisted by Rusty Bjornson, the last-mentioned being particularly novel and colorful.

Those taking a leading part in various features of the display included Geraldine Cade, in charge of apparatus work; Alice Gomez, exercises; George Ferguson, box horse work; Rusty Bjornson, rings, and May Bond and Cathie Carmichael, the goodminton game.

Scarcity of Boys

While numerous women and girls took part in the display, the young men and boys were noticeable by their scarcity. This was the subject of considerable comment in view of the fact that complaint has so often been made in the past of lack of opportunity for this kind of activity in Prince Rupert.

Those taking part in the dis-

A perusal of the San Francisco telephone book is like a "Whose Who" directory of former Prince Rupert people.

One name familiar to old timers is that of J. Aubrey Sweet. Aubrey is general manager of the Pacific Straw, Paper & Board Co. and is a regular Don Juan for looks. (member what a handsome youngster he used to be?) Yes, girls, he is married.

Rip Boyd, another old timer, now living across the bay, recently flew to Chicago and back on company business—he is city salesman for the Alemitte Lubricating Co. . . . There is an old saying that if you stand on Market Street, San Francisco, long enough you will eventually meet every one you ever knew and I am beginning to believe this is true.

Last week we met Barney and Arthur Quinn, two real old timers, and Stan and Marie Wilson. Stan is still with the bank and they have a very charming home in Burlingame.

Timely Recipes

Maple Oatmeal Cookies

In view of the fact that the harvesting of Canadian maple syrup and the making of maple sugar are about to commence for 1937, the recipe for maple oatmeal cookies should interest.

Two and one-half cups fine oatmeal, 1 cup maple syrup, 1/2 cup water, 2 1/2 cups flour, 1 cup shortening, 1 teaspoon soda.

Boil water and syrup together add soda, then the shortening. Cool slightly. Add to dry ingredients and allow the mixture to cool thoroughly before rolling out.

"I had a pale, delicate baby from her second week of life. She had to be bottle fed and I tried different kinds of milk, including goat's milk but the baby never seemed satisfied, was listless, colorless and did not gain weight. Finally I started her on Pacific Milk. She got well and grew strong."

DR. MANDY IS HEARD

"The History of a Pebble" Subject of Interesting Discourse On Saturday Afternoon

About twenty-five members of the Women's Canadian Club heard an interesting illustrated lecture at the Commodore Cafe Saturday afternoon by Dr. Joseph T. Mandy, resident mining engineer, on the subject of "The History of a Pebble." Miss Lillian Halliwell, the president of the club, was in the chair.

Dr. Mandy, in opening, told how stones had been worshipped by savages. Scientific study had made men appreciate the tremendousness of the spiritual force known as God. Stones had their personalities and distinctions just as had the atom or a grain of sand if studied. The age of the stones was almost beyond reckoning. It seemed there had always been rocks or nebula. From rocks could be obtained much historical data.

Dr. Mandy described the effects of water and glacial action on the earth down through the ages. During the ice age the North American continent had been covered a depth of two miles from the north to the Ohio and Missouri River regions. Fertile valleys and lakes had been left in the depressions. Rocks indicated that the Niagara River gorge was comparatively recent. Its age was estimated at 8000 years.

Oldfield Under Ocean
The speaker showed some interesting fossils. A fossilized shell found on the top of Mount Oldfield indicated that the ocean at one time had covered even that mountain. A fossilized crab found on the Queen Charlotte Islands was another interesting exhibit.

There was evidence that Great Britain, Denmark, Sweden and Norway had been at one time 1700 feet under sea level. The Andes Mountains in the last seventy years had sunk 200 feet.

Some thirty or forty lantern slides depicted the results of glacial action, chasms and rock formations being shown.

The president extended to Dr. Mandy a vote of thanks.

GREAT STAR HERE AGAIN

Grace Moore in "When You're In Love" at Capitol Theatre

Grace Moore's newest picture "When You're in Love," which is said to compare very favorably with her highly popular "One Night of Love," comes to the screen of the Capitol Theatre here as the feature offering for the first of this week. Cary Grant is the leading man. Others featured in support of Miss Moore as well as Grant include Aline McMahon, Henry Stephenson, Thomas Mitchell, Catharine Doucet and Luis Alberni.

The story is that of an Australian opera star who is forced to leave the United States because of immigration laws. Unwilling to leave, the diva goes to Mexico in an effort to obtain a quota number but is unsuccessful. In order to get back into the States she has to buy herself an American husband who turns out to be a hard-drinking young painter with an utter contempt for the star. Complications follow with the climax of a happy ending.

Miss Moore sings a widely divergent list of songs ranging from grand operatic to current popular. There are some elaborate and beautiful settings.

Visiting Pastor Is Heard Sunday

Rev. T. Hind of Point Grey Baptist Church, Vancouver, was the preacher at both morning and evening services yesterday in First Baptist Church. There were good-sized congregations and much interest was taken in the services which were conducted by the pastor, Rev. Dr. F. W. Dafoe. Mr. Hind will be conducting special services here for the next ten days.
