RAILWAY TO COAST

Prince Rupert has never opposed the building of a railway inland from Stewart because it is felt in this city that to a very large extent the interests of Prince Rupert and Stewart are one. This city has, however, strongly urged the building of a railway to connect the Peace River country with Prince Rupert and that is still being urged. It is up to Stewart to show, if it can, that Stewart is the logical outlet for the line.

Hon. W. J. Asselstine, minister of mines and industries, who is also the member for Atlin, is advocating the building of a railway from the Peace River country through the Groundhog Valley to Stewart. As member for Atlin it would be difficult for Mr. Asselstine to do anythink else. By routing through the Groundhog Valley, it is inferred that the coal fields of the district would be tapped and the coal shipped to the coast.

Another way to tap the Groundhog coal fields would be by bringing the coal to Hazelton or some other point on the Canadian National Railway and into Prince Rupert. This was a route originally planned when local people were interested in a scheme to develop the Groundhog coalfields. At that time the argument was that Prince Rupert already had a fully developed port and that the shipping of anthracite coal would go well with the shipping of grain.

Mr. Asselstine, as member for Atlin, is bound to look after the interests of his consituents but, as minister of industries, he is bound to represent every part of the country, including Prince Rupert and Skeena. Every possibility of development should be explored and the best possible means of development be adopted, irrespective of what districts may or may not be served.

As a member of the provincial government, we hope we shall have an opportunity of placing before Mr. Asselstine the views of Prince Rupert on the Peace River outlet and the desirability of connecting Prince Rupert with Terrace by highway at the earliest possible date.

It's interesting to know when reading the Daily News that the people of the whole district are doing the same.

Henry White gave a banquet here in honor of the memory of his late uncle, Thomas Natcomb. The entire town attended the event in the community hall. It was recalled in the course of the evening that Thomas Natcomb was brother of Chief Harry Brooks of Port Simpson by adoption. Chief Brooks made the banquet possible.

Two outstanding weddings took place here at the beginning of the month when Miss Rose Hill became the bride of Alfred Davidson and Miss- Ivy Edenshaw. daughter of the late Chief Henry Edenshaw, was married to Wilfrid Bennett, Rev. A. Abrahams officiating in each case. Two wedding banquet were given and fifty lor and Eleanor Powell in "Broadguests from Skidegate attended.

The two Haida towns of Skidegate and Massett celebrated here at the beginning of the year. The visitors were welcomed on arrival at the home of Henry White by Chief Councillor William Matthews | Sonja Henie in "Thin Ice." and Alfred Adams, chairmen of the reception committee. Ivan Ad ams and his assistant, Moses Parnell, then led them to the Community Hall where a banquet of welcome had been prepared for them. All the visitors were entertained daily with banquets and feasts. On the Sunday there were special services in the church among the anthems sung being "King All Glorious" dedicated to evidently with a hacksaw. the memory of the late Rev. Edward Marsden of Metlakatla, Alaska. On the last day of the visit the Skidegate band dedicated their music to the memory of the late Chiefs Weah, Henry Edenshaw and Thomas Nutcomb, The New Year was welcomed here with a successful dance.

Grand President Alfred Adams and the local president William Matthews of the Native Brotherhood returned from a visit to Skidegate where they met the Skidegate Council and discussed Brotherhood affairs with them. As a result of the visit it is expected that Skidegate will soon join the Brotherhood.

The Massett Band have elected the following officers for the year. President, Henry White; vicepresident, Ivan Adams; manager, Dan Helmer; leader, Gearge Price; Secretary, Oliver Adams, Treasurer, Elija Jones.
