Governor Of Bank Of Canada None Too Optimistic About Outlook For First Of 1938

OTTAWA, February 23: (CP)—Business activity in Canada during the first half of 1938 should not be expected to compare favorably with the same period last year, Graham Towers, Governor of the Bank of Canada, told the third annual shareholders' meeting here. The prophecy was based on what happened during the last half of last year, Towers said.

A satisfactory crop in Western Canada would represent a distinct gain over 1937, the bank head said. "Had it not been for the disastrous drought, I believe the volume of business in Canada last year would have risen above the 1926-29 level. Nevertheless for the country as a whole, last year was a good year."
Towers urged continued caution in the use of credit.

KINGSTON, Ontario, Feb. 23: (CP) — Most Rev. Michael Joseph Spratt D.D., eighth archbishop of the Roman Catholic archdiocese of Kingston, died in Kingston Hospital last night after a long illness.

An indefatigable worker, particularly successful in organization, financing and development of extension enterprises of the church, Archbishop Spratt never desisted in his efforts to advance the interests of his people although frequently warned against over-work. Some years ago he suffered an illness which forced him to remain in hospital for a long period. In 1929 Most Rev. M. J. O'Brien, D.D. was named coadjutor archbishop. During his active archbishopric Dr. Spratt cleared the Kingston Cathedral of an immense debt and placed Kingston parish and many others in the archdiocese on a sound business basis. He started building up Regiopolis College to its present status. He encouraged religious vocations among young men of the diocese by establishing a seminary fund; improved the separate school system of the city and organized Catholic charities under one head. Dr. Spratt was described by a fellow archbishop as "a man of scholarly attainments and most successful in his various charges."

PAYMENT FOR SERVICES

In the War Cry, the weekly publication of the Salvation Army, is told this week the story of how it happened that two prominent British statesmen fathered the movement of Jews to the Holy Land toward the close of the war. Part of the story is taken from the war memoirs of Right Hon. David Lloyd George who says that in 1916 a crisis arose in connection with the carrying on the war. There was a shortage of acetone with which to make ammunition. To the then minister of munitions was recommended a young chemist at Manchester named Weizmann. The young university professor agreed to go to work on the problem and, within a few weeks, had solved the problem and the war was continued. When asked what the country could do to pay him for the service rendered, Dr. Weizmann said there was nothing it could do for him but it might be able to do something for his countrymen in connection with a proposed settlement in Palestine. Lloyd George interested Mr. Balfour with the result that the Jews are now in Palestine in large numbers, the great city of Tel-Aviv has been built on the shore of the Mediterranean Sea, Jerusalem has been restored and is being rebuilt and, so great has been the change in the land, that the Arabs have become dissatisfied and caused trouble.

It may also be mentioned that Palestine is one of the possessions taken from Germany as a result of the war. In view of the attitude of Chancellor Hitler to the Jews it is hardly likely this country will be returned to Germany under any consideration. Should it be proposed, there will be strong protests from Jews all over the world, including Canada and United States.

THE LATEST SETUP

Under the latest set-up most unexpected changes are taking place in Europe. An agreement is being proposed among Britain, France, Germany and Italy which, if it goes through, should have a very important bearing on the stabilization of Europe. With those four nations together, the peace of Europe would seem to be assured and steps could then be taken to bring about a more complete financial recovery than is at present evident in any of the countries concerned.

If Britain lends Italy money it will probably be taken out in goods manufactured in Britain and will improve British employment conditions. It will make it possible for Italy to buy in the British market needed iron and steel and other goods which she now finds it difficult to secure. It will give Britain an opportunity to more properly repair her fences which had been allowed to be trodden down for a number of years.

There would be no advantage in forcing either Italy or Germany into a position where they might have another revolution with a consequent general upheaval in Europe. While there is a very general fear in this country that neither of the dictators is to be trusted, Britain and France may well give them the opportunity to show their good faith. In the meantime, Britain will undoubtedly continue her preparations for any eventualities.

HOUSEWORK FOR GIRLS

Bill Making Domestic Arts Compulsory Considered—Even Princess Lilybet Bakes

(By Mollie McGee)

LONDON, Feb. 23: (CP)—No longer is British cookery to be the butt of facetious remarks from the other side of the Atlantic. Cooking in England is about to become an almost universal accomplishment.

Princess Elizabeth has domestic science on her curriculum and recently sent a cake made and baked by herself to a Welsh family. And every little girl in the United Kingdom may be compelled to learn to shop, cook, wash, sew and iron as she is now made to study how to read and write. A bill to be seriously discussed in parliament during this session provides for this. The reason behind the bill is that a shortage of good cooks in their own homes is inspiring poorly dignified members of the House of Commons to drastic effort.

Labor officials are still struggling with the problem of how a trades union of domestic servants could be organized and a charter effectively enforced so that more women could be persuaded to take up the work. Meanwhile other departments have investigated the cause of the house-keeping and maid-keeping troubles. The final report marked it down as definitely due to lack of training both among the maids and mistresses.

"That makes it a matter for the minister of education rather than the minister of labor," said members of the parliamentary committee. So a proposal will be made in parliament that domestic science should be a compulsory subject for girls in what corresponds to Canadian entrance and matriculation examinations and that every school should have a domestic science department under the direction of a qualified instructor.

Propose Courses

Parliamentary interest has not stopped there. They have mapped out the course of those young women who want to take up housework as a paid career. Three classes of certificates are to be granted for proficiency in domestic science and, should the holders go into service, they are to be paid according to their qualifications.

Class "C," or lowest type of diploma, is to be given to girls of school-leaving age who have taken their preliminary domestic science course during their years at school. Anyone employing them at a minimum salary of $2.50 per week with room, board, laundry and health and unemployment insurance would be asked to consent to their taking further training at the times set aside in the schools for classes for "B" certificate. The subjects would include personal hygiene and physical exercises; cooking and everything related to it; housework; nursery work; laundry work; needlework (mending, dressmaking and so on); practical housewifery (such as tap repairs); dietetics and catering.

Holders of "B" certificates should command a weekly wage of $4 plus room, board, laundry and insurance. Proud possessors of "A" certificates for high qualifications in the same subjects would be paid a minimum of $10 per week with the other considerations.

As for time off, the standard suggested for holders of diplomas is two weeks' holiday with pay alternate Sundays, one half-day per week, one "short evening" per week and two hours daily.

With such legislation in force the standing of domestic workers would be raised to the level of those in other fields. One of the features of their job they most resent at the moment is being "looked down on." One maid, who spoke at the Domestic Services Exhibition and suggested the lot of women in the kitchen was more fortunate than factory employees "who gave their men-folk badly-cooked food, was booed down and almost caused a hair-pulling riot.

CAMERON IN LEAD

Has 502 Points to 372 for Brown in City Billiard Championships

There was a good attendance at the Canadian Legion clubrooms last evening to see the first block of the City Billiards Championship which ended with Neil Cameron leading 502 points to Don Brown's 372.

Cameron got away to a good start with Brown finding the balls running very badly for him. Cameron was ninety when Brown was only 18. Then Brown staged a good recovery and actually led Cameron at 138 by seven points. At the half way mark Cameron had regained the lead and the score was Cameron, 254; Brown, 232.

There seemed every prospect of a close second half but the best Brown could do was a 20 break and Cameron steadily increased his lead until he finished 502 to 372.

It was one of Brown's off nights and Cameron had what luck there was. Two of his breaks were helped by lucky shots but he undoubtedly was the better player of the night. His breaks were a 34, a 31, a 28 (twice), a 27 and a 22. Brown only got the one break of 20.

The next block will be played on Thursday night instead of tonight and, knowing Brown's fighting spirit, billiards enthusiasts will not be surprised if he more than makes up the deficit.

Jack Allan was referee. C. L. Youngman scorer and G. J. Dawes marker.

REHEARSAL OF OPERA

Prince Rupert Operatic Society Making Splendid Progress With "Pirates of Penzance"

The Prince Rupert Operatic Society is making splendid progress in rehearsal for the presentation after Easter under Rotary Club auspices of the Gilbert & Sullivan light opera "Pirates of Penzance" and it is evident already that the people of Prince Rupert have in store a musical entertainment that has seldom been surpassed here. Under the direction of Len Cripps the ground work has been well laid, leaving ample time for dressing up purposes. Last night the final "sit down" rehearsal was held at St. Andrew's Anglican Cathedral. From now on, practice will be without script as the popular comic opera is whipped into shape. The cast, although it has been practising since last October, is still as enthusiastic as ever and this, undoubtedly, has been an important factor in the progress that has been made.

The dramatic personae includes a number of new and promising recruits in local vocal talent. As Mabel, the leading lady, it looks as if Mrs. Bernard Lundahl is going to prove a real "find." She has a fine lyric soprano which is being put to good use, meeting fully the demands of her role as the general's youngest daughter, Mrs. Garfield McKinley, as the pirate maid of all work, is also admirably cast for her excellent contralto voice. The other lady soloists are Miss Maisie Macdonald and Miss Irene Hodgson.

Among the men, Len Cripps, in addition to being musical and dramatic director, is taking the important part of Richard, the Pirate King. He made a fine showing last year in "H. M. S. Pinafore" and can be counted upon again. Hugo Kraupner has the role of Major General Stanley and is fully competent for the part which is a heavy one. S. L. Peachey, as a sergeant of police, has a comic part which is one of the lively spots of the production. Harold Ponder and J. A. Teng have the other leading male roles.

The Choruses
The choruses are as follows:
Ladies (General Stanley's daughters)—Mrs. Gordon Daniels, Mrs. T. A. McWaters, Mrs. D. V. Smith, Mrs. George Rorie, Mrs. J. A. Teng, Mrs. W. M. Watts, Mrs. L. I. Pussley, Mrs. Tommy Fraser, Miss Delphine Balagno, Miss Frances Cross

The Letter Box

Editor, Daily News:

Your editorial of February 15 quotes Dr. Moulton of the Brookings Institute as saying there are no short cuts to prosperity. During these times people look for some revolutionary change that will usher in a return of prosperity. Only co-operative effort of capital, labor, business, etc. can do this.

That's what the Doctor says. It seems to me he forgets that the "depression" has come even though these factors in our economic life have been functioning all the time. Capital, labor and business management are old timers who have been on the job throughout and yet they brought depression and the leaders seem powerless to show the way out of it.

Italy and Germany went in for a revolutionary change and both have improved conditions for their people in a short time.

It always seems to be common sense to me that, if it's the buyers side of the market that is lacking why not boost that side? The usual procedure is to stimulate the productive end of our economic system which means that there are brought into the markets still more goods and services and that in a world that is short on buying power. Thus, President Roosevelt has just made available a huge total of cash for producers by ordering the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to resume lending. I think, if the government can stimulate one side of the market, it could with a little effort do the same for the other side, and that the effect would be much bigger and better.

Gardening

One of the interesting occupations on fine days just now is to look over the garden to find out what the losses have been in perennial plants. In my garden all the wallflowers seem to have been killed as well as the few Canterbury bells and most of the violas. The violas, if they are gone, will be a very serious loss. They wintered well last year and usually they manage to get through safely. One or two pansies seem as if they would live. The saponaria seem to be gone and a few other rock plants but sometimes the tops may be frozen and yet the plants not be dead. A few of the aubretia are certainly gone and the others are badly hit.

I have a little saxifrage that is rather popular in some gardens here. Of one group of four plants two seem to be dead but two are undoubtedly alive. They are not more than a yard apart. This plant is Saxifrage Longifolia.

A number of local people have purchased or ordered seeds of the new Russell lupin. It is said to be much finer than the lupins we have known so far and comes in a number of colors including red and yellow. I see it advertised by most seedsmen in Canada, United States and Great Britain. As the lupin is quite hardy the new plants should prove very useful here. If the seeds grow the plants would be due to bloom in 1939 but there is a possibility of having a few small blooms this next fall.

Once before I mentioned the value of day lilies (hemerocallis) as a perennial suitable for Prince Rupert gardens. It has been difficult to get plants of these in the past because a number of florists and seedsmen do not carry them. I notice one of the Montreal catalogues now has five different varieties listed, prices varying from 25 to 50 cents each.

This seems to be a good time to order perennial plants and when doing so, do not forget rhododendrons and hardy azaleas. There are a number of very fine ones in Prince Rupert and they seem to do well. The only thing against them is the cost. Rose lists should also be made out soon. I hear that the roses have wintered well this year in most parts of the city.—H. F. P.

Man in the Moon

Did you hear Mr. Hitler and his vocal gymnastics on Sunday? Jake says he was a "wow," whatever that may mean.

Now that Hitler has made his speech, Eden has been fired and Mussolini has been promised a loan everything should be lovely.

Jake says it hurts his dignity to have Mussolini and Hitler giving orders to England. He says it used to be that the Irish were the only ones who were privileged to give those sort of orders.

England stole the show at the beginning of the week so the Japanese and Francoites had to carry on without a newspaper audience.

A tourist was on a walking tour in Scotland. Snow had fallen and he was struggling along a narrow road when he met a Highlander. "Friend, I sure am lost!" he said plaintively.

Scott: "Is there a reward out for ye?"
 American: "None."
 Scott: "Weel, ye're still lost."

The bright young pupil looked long and thoughtfully at the second examination question, which read: "State the number of tons of coal shipped out of the United States in any given year." Then his brow cleared and he wrote: "1492—none."

Husband: "I've insured my life for $15,000 so that if anything happens to me you will be provided for."
 Wife: "How nice and thoughtful. Now you won't have to see a doctor every time you feel sick, will you?"

WHIFFLETS From the Waterfront

A run of herring has just developed in Surf Inlet and the sein-boats W. No. 9 and Zenardi are now taking fish there for the B. C. Packers with the Bertha G. Jedway, Daly and Margaret I packing them to the Port Edward reduction plant. The Western Monarch and Port Es-sington, which have been prospecting outside for herring since the harbor of Prince Rupert was closed to fishing last week, are probably also at Surf Inlet by now catching fish for the Tucks Inlet reduction plant with the Western Star and Western Princess on hand to pack them in.

Indian Agent W. E. Collison, who went to Vancouver with the Naskeena, is expected back this week.

Bringing in a party of passengers from Ketchikan, Pilot Bob Ellis, well-known Alaska commercial flier, was in last evening with his seaplane.

Having met with favorable weather conditions which enabled her to make good time throughout the voyage, C.N.R. steamer Prince John, Capt. Neil McLean, arrived in port at 8:45 this morning from Vancouver via the Queen Charlotte Islands and will remain here until Friday night when she will sail on her return south over the same route.

BIG BILL OF FILMS

Arthur Treacher in Wodehouse Comedy, Jones Family and Farr-Braddock Fight Pictures at Capitol Theatre

Two comedy features — "Thank You, Jeeves!" starring droll Arthur Treacher, and "Big Business," another of the popular Jones Family series—as well as the Farr-Braddock fight pictures make a full double bill at the Capitol Theatre here tonight.

"Thank You, Jeeves!" is a typical Wodehouse tale. The riotous adventures of the valet, played by Treacher, in extricating his blundering butter-fingered master, Bertie, from a peek of trouble and helping him to win the lady of his heart are the burden of the tale. David Niven has the part of Bertie while Virginia Field is the lady in distress.

"Big Business" shows Dad Jones fired with the great rich-quick fever and investing in a wildcat oil well boom that soon blows up. It is one of the most human adventures, in happiness which the loveable household has brought to the screen. The climax involves a thrilling auto ride which gets the boys to the family just in time to prevent loss of reputation and money. Jed Prouty, Spring Byington, Shirley Deane, Kenneth Howell, Billy Mahan, June Carlson, Florence Roberts and George Ernest are cast in their usual roles.
