Believes Chicago Fire Caused By Mrs. O'Leary's Cow

NEW ORLEANS, June 1.—Mrs. Pearl Hale, born in 1870, still clings to the belief that the fire was started when a cow kicked over a lantern in Mrs. O'Leary's barn. "It was a blessing in disguise," says Mrs. Hale, because the cheap timber buildings destroyed were replaced with substantial structures. The generally accepted theory now is that the fire was started in a lumber yard.

SEARCH IS FRUITLESS

No Trace of Plane Which Has Been Missing Since Last Friday Between Vancouver and Zeballos

ZEBALLOS, June 1: (CP)—Four veteran British Columbia fliers yesterday carried on the search for the Ginger Coote Airways seaplane, missing since last Friday morning with four persons on board, but without success. All clues failed to reveal any trace of the plane which dropped out of sight on a flight from Vancouver to Zeballos. Mrs. Bonnie Arnes, daughter of Mrs. George Nicholson of Zeballos, one of the passengers, flew yesterday with Ginger Coote as an observer in the search. Mr. Nicholson, who is the deputy mining recorder here, said yesterday that he had given up hope of his wife being alive.

This afternoon the searchers planned to land miners and fishermen on the west coast of Vancouver Island to comb the land near the shore for traces of the missing plane.

The fifth day of the search saw the flyers concentrating on the area around Tofino where F. M. Knott and his two sons said they saw a plane Friday over the small sawmill they operate at the head of Cypress Bay.

One Hundred Planes Said to Have Engaged in Greatest Plane Engagement in History

SHANGHAI, June 1: (CP)—Over one hundred airplanes took part yesterday over Hankow, provincial capital of China, in what was said to be the greatest air battle ever staged. There were conflicting claims as to the results of the battle. The Chinese claim to have brought down sixteen of fifty-four Japanese planes, the Japanese contradicting this. The Japanese declare that thirty Chinese planes were brought down, the Chinese asserting that they lost only one.

Meanwhile, air raids continue on Canton where it was estimated that 1600 persons had been killed and 3500 injured as a result of the showers of deadly projectiles during the last few days. The Japanese declared today that General Kai Shek's latest defense lines along the cross-country Lung-hai Railway were giving way gradually before Japanese aerial power.

MANY FACTORS ASSURING FOR DOMINION DECLARES HEAD OF MANUFACTURES

Industrial Head Urges Canada To Think For Herself in Business Matters and Appraise Own Affairs

OTTAWA, June 1: (CP)—Decline in business in Canada during the past few months was due largely to the influence of the United States on Canadian thoughts and activities, declared F. C. Brown of Vancouver in his presidential address at the opening luncheon of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association's annual meeting here today.

While admitting Canada was affected by those international movements which had caused the upward trend of world recovery to hesitate, pause and fall backward, Mr. Brown saw in what had been happening in the United States the chief cause of the recent decline of activity in Canada.

"As a matter of fact," said Mr. Brown, "there is nothing in the basic situation in this country to account for the extent of the moderate recession in business that we have suffered. The fear of what might happen in Canada, following what has happened in the United States, has been the most depressing factor in our situation. It is respectfully submitted that we Canadians should show more independence in our thinking and more ability to appraise our own conditions and to act boldly and confidently in regard to our own affairs."

There were many factors that were reassuring and some distinctly encouraging, submitted Mr. Brown. Many experienced and able observers believed that world political relations, bad as they were, showed definite signs of improvement, partly as a result of the policies conceived and adopted by Great Britain during recent months. World production, while it had diminished, had not suffered a serious decline. Trade, in spite of obstacles, seemed to hold its own in countries that were not at war. Generally speaking, industrial production in the British Isles continued at a high level, although part of this was due to the manufacture of war supplies.

GOOD HOPE FOR CROPS

Official Statistics Show Amount And Distribution of Moisture On Prairies

TORONTO, June 1:—General spring rains following good winter precipitation in Western Canada's grain belt give the prairie farmer greater cause for optimism than at any time during the past ten years. Reports of vastly-improved conditions are given adequate backing by Dominion Meteorological Office statistics issued in Toronto.

Considering the grain-producing area as a whole, official records indicate precipitation was above normal for the nine-month period, August 1 to April 30 and early May rains brightened the statistical picture even more although in some parts a little more moisture during the past couple of weeks could have been absorbed.

During the first 10 days of the month good rains fell over Alberta Saskatchewan and Manitoba with the exception of the Peace River area where precipitation was limited to light showers. From one to two inches of rain were reported in southern and central Alberta and slightly more in the east central section of the province.

Hopes run high in southwestern Saskatchewan, the west's drought-ridden area, where one to one-and-a-half inches fell in early May. In other districts of the province, well-provided with winter moisture, the rainfall was not so great. In the agricultural area of Manitoba rainfall generally in May was slightly less than an inch.

GOOD POLICY

The hospital board is certainly following a good line of policy in deciding to erect a complete hospital now rather than provide for only forty-seven beds as previously proposed. The difference in cost is so small and only a little more effort is needed for the larger work to be put over. The present is, undoubtedly, the right time to complete the work.

INCREASING TRAVEL

In order to have more travel and larger freight shipments we must have more people in the country. As it is, Canadians travel about as much as anybody and they consume more than the ordinary amount of goods and produce goods for people of other countries to consume. We are not a backward people on the whole. All that is wrong is that there are so few of us. There are not enough of us to cultivate the open spaces and thus provide a market for our lumber, our fish, our minerals and, in fact, everything that we produce. If more land was cultivated by people of the right quality brought to the country for that purpose, there would be more travel on our railways and steamships and our railways would have a chance of paying.

A few people are coming to Canada from Holland, Switzerland and a few other countries. They are people with money who can afford to buy or rent farms. They do not want to take up wild land and bring it under cultivation. If we are to make real progress we must encourage settlers who will start from the bottom and develop their own farms from the wilderness.

It is claimed that it is impossible to keep these people on the land. We are not suggesting how this can be done but we feel sure it is possible. We have, for instance, the Hornby system of training men for the farms and placing them in this country. If we had the population we should have the travel and the railroads would pay. Until we get the population we cannot expect the railroads to pay.

ROAD AROUND ISLAND

A Prince Rupert citizen has asked us to suggest that the present time would be a good one to start building the road around Kaien Island. Now that the defense project is being commenced at the mouth of the harbor he says there should be a road from the city to serve this project and that, little by little, the road could be extended until it is possible for cars to take tourists on a round the island drive.

New World's Welterweight Champ

Henry Armstrong Winner Of Title From Barney Ross Who Put Up Game, Losing Fight

JACOBS TAKES ARMSTRONG

NEW YORK, June 1: (CP)—Promoter Mike Jacobs today signed Henry Armstrong, the double class champion, to a contract whereby he has exclusive promotional rights on the sensational negro for three years. The contract is identical with the one that Jacobs holds on Joe Louis, the world's heavyweight champion.

LONG ISLAND BOWL, New York, June 1: (CP)—Despite one of the gamest title defenses in many a day, Barney Ross of Chicago lost his world's welterweight title last night in a gruelling fifteen-round battle to the colored Los Angeles challenger, Henry Armstrong. In the eleventh and twelfth rounds, Referee Arthur Donovan had considered stopping the fight to save the badly beaten Ross further punishment but the tottering champion insisted upon carrying on. His courage and stout heart kept him on his feet until the end of the grim fight in spite of a completely closed right eye, smashed nose and chopped lips sustained from the battering flail-like lefts and rights of Armstrong. A veritable human dynamo, Armstrong substantiated the claim that has been made for him that, pound for pound, he is one of the hardest, if not the hardest, hitter in the prize ring today. Armstrong, at 132 pounds, gave an eight-pound advantage to Ross.

Except for the first round, Armstrong forced the fighting throughout the entire bout and carried a fierce attack to the champion in the manner which is known to be characteristic of him. Ross had seemingly tried for a knockout in the opening round but, neither at this stage nor at any other, did he have a chance to damage the challenger. Armstrong was hard to hit and, whenever Ross did land, it did not seem to affect him. Armstrong started crowding Ross and throwing punches in the second which was a fiercely fought round as the challenger forced the champion into his style of open and hard fighting. Both swung lefts and rights with all they had. With heads and shoulders together, like a pair of rams, they continued a fast pace in the third round. Ross started to miss as Armstrong continued to charge. Ross was commencing to breathe hard even as the third round ended in favor of Armstrong.

Ross Starts Tiring

Armstrong had the advantage over the tiring Ross in the fourth and endeavored to follow it up. Barney kept coming back, however, against the colored man's terrific pace. In the fourth a cut over Ross' right eye commenced to show but, nevertheless, he started a rally and again they battled shoulder to shoulder, Armstrong giving back everything he took. It was Ross' round for staging a real attack. They worked on each other with rights and lefts again in the sixth with Armstrong landing the more heavily again toward the end and tiring Ross.

Armstrong was obviously the fresher as the seventh commenced. He led and crowded Ross with hard left hooks to body and head. Ross was finding it hard to hit Armstrong who was either under, inside or out. Barney cut loose momentarily but Armstrong had him against the ropes as the round ended. The round went to Ross owing to a low punch by Armstrong. Ross was very tired.

Barney's face and neck were well marked up as the eighth started. Armstrong was hitting by far the most effectively, boring in with plenty of power and a fierce attack. Ross taking a severe pounding. His right eye was completely closed. In the ninth, Ross endeavored to force it but did not have much steam against the bearing-in tactics of the powerful negro. By the tenth Ross was keeping his head down and fighting purely on defensive lines. Armstrong was trying to straighten him up in order to land. Ross was getting badly battered with right eye closed, nose bloody and lips chapped up.

Armstrong, who had never before fought beyond ten rounds, continued the merciless attack in the eleventh, Ross endeavoring to hold him at range. The negro continued to land, getting his hard right as well as his left into full play. Ross was leaning against the ropes and almost out as the round ended. The referee walked over to him to look him over and talk to him.

Ross' Come-Back

In the thirteenth Armstrong continued the attack with Ross unable to escape the barrage. Ross actually started a comeback, feeble as it might be, in the fourteenth. Armstrong did not have quite so much steam himself. In the fifteenth, Ross was coming back definitely and showed more speed than he had since the ninth. They even fought toe to toe. Armstrong still landed hard, however, and Ross' blows were quite ineffective. They were exchanging rights and lefts as the gong ended the final round.

The decision of the referee and the two judges gave the crown of the welterweight division to Armstrong. There could have been no other verdict for Ross was a badly beaten champion.

- Simundsen, Legion, 1.

A keenly contested game last evening in the Stuart Benefit Shield of the Prince Rupert Senior Football Association ended in a two-all draw when Merchants and the Canadian Legion met for the first time this season, the two teams thus remaining on even footing in the shield competition. The weather was poor but the standard of play was good and a continuance of this type of game will soon have larger crowds in attendance. The players are doing their part and it is confidently hoped the spectators will do theirs.

The Merchants pressed from the outset but Currie cleared and then the Legion took up the attack. Scherk gave Simundsen a nice opening but Gomez saved. Smith and Holkestad threatened. Vance centred for Scherk to drive in a hard shot that Simundsen converted. Merchants were unlucky when Holkestad's centre went clear across an open goal. Ferguson equalized from a penalty. Franks dislocated his knee and the Legion continued with ten players. Holkestad again went close and Bremner did well to save from Smith.

Both goalkeepers saved in turn and then Dickens' long centre beat Krause. Merchants pressed and Bremner was called on. Gomez headed away Scherk's good centre and then Vink headed in a perfect goal from Gillis' centre. Play was even with both defences being tried out but found equal to the occasion. Bremner saved from Gillis and Smith. Then the Legion tested Krause who saved well. The match ended in a draw.

Teams: Merchants—Krause, Parsons, Gomez, Bussey, Ferguson, Bob McLean, Gillis, Holkestad, Smith, Vink, W. Gomez. Canadian Legion—Bremner, J. Currie, McKay, Sam Currie (in), H. Dickens, R. Franks, Vance, Judge, Simundsen, Campbell, Scherk. Referee, Albert Dickens.

The Best Players Krause kept a fine goal though he seemed to be at fault when the second goal was scored. He fields the ball well. Parsons was the best back on the field. Gomez was good. Ferguson played hard and will do even better when he feeds his forwards more. McLean and Bussey were good spoilers. Smith played cleverly at centre. He has speed and courage and, when he makes more use of his wing men, will be very dangerous. Holkestad was clever and dangerous and W. Gomez did several good things on the wing. Gillis and Vink were good triers and Vink's effort was a perfect effort.

Bremner put up a remarkably good show in goal. J. Currie was safe at back and for his first game Bob McKay did well. Dickens showed clever football but spoiled his own play and hampered the team's chances by occasional childish outbursts of temper. Franks did well until he was hurt and showed courage in returning to the field. He hit the ball once and then collapsed again. Sam Currie Jr turned in a very good game and fed his wing nicely. Simundsen played hard all through and Campbell showed many a clever play although he took the ball with his back to the goal too often. Scherk made a very successful first appearance in senior football. This boy will be a real asset. Judge opened weakly but did well in the second half. He also is a promising player. Vance missed several chances by not getting rid of the ball and also wasted several chances of shooting.

Albert Dickens refereed. The question arose as to whether a player can be offside from a throw-in.

CORRESPONDENT CORRECTED

Editor, Daily News: I saw in the Daily News of May 27 a report of the sports at Uxbridge that your reporter of Terrace and this district get around and obtain some first hand information on these things instead of guessing about them. There were two ball games and Terrace did not lose two as that town played only one. Uxbridge the winner, played Copper City (Hagen's Spur) on the Uxbridge grounds. There was also a softball game as well as children's races, jumping and a dance. The ferry did not stop at 6 o'clock because of high water and only stopped at dark on account of driftwood. Two truckloads of people stayed for the ball game, one of which was played at 8 p.m., finishing around 8 o'clock when one truckload went back to Terrace while the other stayed for the dance and left for home after dawn at 3:30 a.m. Nobody was refused crossing at any time before dark.

I trust your reporter will be "Johnny on the Spot" next time. CARL G. BRECHIN, Ferryman, Ux.

during early May and light snow fell in Saskatchewan and Manitoba in the first week of the month. Subsoil moisture conditions throughout the west are the best in many years. At most points there is sufficient moisture to ensure satisfactory germination but high winds May 12 resulted in soil drifting in some districts.

Total precipitation for the nine-month period ending April 30 gave Alberta an average increase over normal of eight percent. The excess in Saskatchewan was recorded as four percent and in Manitoba seven percent.

Northern Alberta recorded a deficiency of one percent but central and southern sections were each 13 percent above normal. Northern Saskatchewan was up 15 percent and the southeastern area showed an excess of five percent. The southwest was 10 percent below normal. Western Manitoba had the best winter record, 24 percent above normal, but the east showed an eight-per-cent deficit.

District Variation
Summarizing the record by months, northern Alberta precipitation was normal or better in all except four months. Moderate decreases were shown in September, March and April while January was more than 50 percent below normal. A better showing was made in the central section of the province mainly through exceptional precipitation in September and November. In the south big excesses were reported in October, November and February.

August was the only month with subnormal precipitation in northern Saskatchewan. In the southwestern area twice the normal amount of snow fell in February. March registered a slight excess but the opposite was the case in April. Good precipitation in September, January, February and March gave the southwest an above-normal supply.

Western Manitoba's 24 per cent excess was accounted for mainly by heavy precipitation in October and February, smaller increases being noted for September, December and March. Despite February snowfall, more than 50 percent above normal, eastern Manitoba had a deficiency of eight percent.

Detail Matters At Museum Meeting In City Hall Last Night

It was reported at the monthly meeting of the Museum Board last night that the boulder in the Totem Park had been fenced and flowers planted around it. All that remained was to have the history of the petroglyphs printed and framed so that visitors would know what it was all about. The City Commissioner had prepared the ground for the little garden. Alfred Bayne had donated the plants and Dr. J. T. Mandy and Dr. Neal Carter had planted the seedlings.

It was also reported that a scroll containing a list of life members of the Association had been framed and hung in the museum.

The custodian reported that 78 visitors had been reported at the museum during the month. One of these was D. C. Stevenson, a well-known collector of curios and objects of art. He said the local collection was one of the most interesting he had seen.

It was reported that a set of whales ear drums donated through the good offices of George Cripps was unique in that it was a perfect set, something that was not often secured and which other museums had been trying to get.

A sponge was received from Captain Tony Martinusen and a piece of fossilized ammonite from John Thompson. The ammonite was a remnant of the Jurassic age and was said to be approximately 190,000,000 years old. The museum also accepted the offer of a grizzly bear's head, mounted, from Mrs. Sherman.

The City Commissioner appointed Dr. Neal Carter and Dr. J. T. Mandy a committee to consider ways and means of erecting and financing a building for the museum.

The chairman appointed N. Mussallem, G. C. Ham and Custodian Jones a committee to erect several signs advertising the museum.

Dr. Neal Carter presided in the absence of R. L. McIntosh, who is in the East.

Babies Came After X-Rays

Fifty Normal Babies Born In Treatment of Sterile Mothers

NEW YORK, June 1: (CP)—The birth of 50 normal babies to 44 mothers, sterile for periods of one to 18 years, by the administration of mild doses of x-rays was reported by Dr. Ira I. Kaplan, chief of the cancer division of the New York City Department of Hospitals.

One woman had twins, both girls and both physically and mentally normal, Dr. Kaplan reported. Ten women had more than one child. In the group of living children there were 27 boys and 23 girls and "reports from their parents have disclosed no abnormalities or physical deformities in these children."

"Originally," Dr. Kaplan said, "Only the destructive effects of irradiation have been considered of therapeutic value. Nowadays, however, since we have a better understanding of the physiological responses of body functions to irradiation, X-ray therapy is successfully employed to control various disfunctions of the glands and other vital organs."

MANY FACTORS ASSURING FOR DOMINION

ification of the spirit and methods of co-operation that had always existed in Canadian industries and had developed in recent years.

Labor Conditions

"Although there were some unfortunate strikes in 1937," said Mr. Brown, "the great majority of industrial employees quietly adjusted their problems through peaceful negotiations with employers. They were interested observers of the violent methods used elsewhere and have formed their opinions of the merits of such methods in comparison with their own. Canadian employees realize that wages are an important item of costs and that costs must maintain a proper relation to prices, or the consumers, who have the final say, will restrict their purchases of industrial products. Consequently, as sensible employers pay the highest wages they can afford and still keep their prices within the range of the consumers' ability to buy, all parties to industrial production, distribution and sale, are learning, if they do not know, that intelligent co-operation and fair dealing are the most effective methods of securing the most satisfactory results for all concerned.

Declaring that friendly relations with the United States were valued and expressing the hope that economic trade between the two countries would continue, Mr. Brown pointed out that Canada and the United States grew and made the same things to a large extent and were thus friendly competitors in both domestic and external trade. He quoted figures to show the existing trade agreements were more favorable to the United States than to Canada.

"On the basis of Canadian official export figures," he said, "it appears that less than one-third of the total increase in exports of merchandise from Canada to the United States in 1937 over 1935 amounting to $100,000,000, was in items on which present trade agreement gives Canada a reduction in duty. On the other hand, most of the increase in United States exports to Canada in 1937 over 1935 is in items on which the present trade agreement grants the United States lower rates of duty than were applicable to that country prior to January 1, 1936."

Safeguards Needed

Mr. Brown concluded his address with an appeal for the maintenance of proper safeguards to enable industry to compete at home and abroad. He referred particularly to the heavy burden of taxation.

"An examination of manufacturers' statements," he explained, "shows that taxes now form a large part of costs, while, in many cases, governments take more in taxes than the shareholders receive in dividends. Since governments have become part owners of industry and rely to so great an extent on industry for revenue, it seems reasonable to expect that governments will do everything possible to safeguard and to develop profitable industrial enterprises. If they fail to do this, and industry languishes as a result, where will governments obtain their revenues?"

Between 75 and 85 per cent of total agricultural production was consumed in Canada, said Mr. Brown. The growth of industry developed the capacity and value of the home market and this applied not only to farming but to lumbering, fishing, mining, transportation, finance and trade. He also stressed the functions of industry in supplying opportunities for the graduates of universities, colleges and vocational and agricultural schools. Where were the graduates to obtain employment if industry was hampered.

"I should like to close with an appeal for co-operation, friendly and intelligent co-operation between town and country and among those engaged in various occupations," said Mr. Brown. "We sincerely urge co-operation among the nine provinces of Canada. Confederation was made possible by adjustments of opinions and compromises of interests. Similar adjustments and compromises are necessary to continue Confederation and to maintain a vigorous and permanent nation. I also appeal for confidence in regard to the future."

SPORTS AT KITWANGA

Big Two-Day Celebration at Interior Village on Tuesday and Wednesday of Last Week

The interior village of Kitwanga had a two-day celebration of Victoria Day on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week. There were visitors in the village from various district points. Almost all of Kitsegukla and Cedarvale came with their softball, baseball and football players. There were also visitors from Woodcock and Hazelton. The entire proceedings were successful and enjoyable.

The celebration commenced on Tuesday morning with a procession from the centre of the village to the sports field led by the Kitwanga Band. In the opening softball game Kitsegukla defeated Kitwanga by a score of 7 to 9, the game going nine innings. Kitwanga got its revenge in baseball by winning 3 to 1 over Kitsegukla in nine innings. In football Kitwanga defeated Cedarvale three to one.

On the second day in nine innings of softball Kitsegukla defeated Cedarvale 13 to 9. In baseball Cedarvale slugged out a 40 to 10 victory over Kitwanga. Kitsegukla defeated Kitwanga one to nil in football, the lone counter coming in the last minute of play.

Big Dances

There were crowded dances in the Community Hall on both nights, music being furnished by Stanley Williams' Orchestra. At the concluding dance, the prizes were presented to the winners by Matthias Bright and Joe Williams, presidents of the sports committees. Mr. Bright expressed appreciation of the presence of all visitors.

It was announced that the ladies of the sports committee would present a silver cup for the winning softball team at the next celebration.

The expenditure for the staging of the sports on the two days amounted to $250.

Now the people are looking forward to the next celebration at Kitwanga on Labor Day.

TEST PILOT

Adapted from the METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER Picture by GERTRUDE GELBIN

SYNOPSIS: Jim Lane, test-pilot, sets out on a Transcontinental speed-record flight for the Drake Aviation Company. Engine trouble forces him to land in a Kansas wheat field where he meets Ann Barton. With Ann, it's a case of love at first sight. Jim stays at her home until his mechanic, Gunner Sloane, arrives to fix his plane. He then sets out again—but returns, this time to take Ann with him.

NOW READ CHAPTER THREE—BELOW

"The Thompson Trophy Race can't wait for a honeymoon."

To Ann (Myrna Loy), the shock of flying for the first time is as nothing compared to her joy and surprise at Jim's (Clark Gable) answer to her question: "Where are we flying to?" Jim answers: "To Pittsburgh, to get married." Their wedding is a hilarious affair. They hunt up a minister who makes them Mr. and Mrs. Immediately afterwards they wire Ann's parents, then climb back into the plane and head for New York.

"Buy her a night-gown. She's a lady."

Jim lands at the Drake's Eastern airport almost a day late. He is greeted by the frenzied and furious shouts of Mr. Drake (Lionel Barrymore) and Gunner (Spencer Tracy), who have given him up for lost. Jim presents Ann and announces he's off on a honeymoon. Drake reminds Ann he must report back in two days to test another plane. Jim laughs him off and tells him he won't be back for another ten days.

"Darling, we don't need any more."

Ann tells Gunner that Jim spent his worldly wealth, $600 for a wedding ring and a wedding supper in Pittsburgh. Gunner turns over his money to them. All they have is ten dollars. Part of it goes to buy Ann her trousseau—a night gown; the rest goes for dinner. The three of them then go apartment-hunting. They find a furnished flat and Jim cajoles the landlady out of asking for a month's rent in advance.

"You can't fly Grant's crazy jalopy."

Jim assures Ann he'll get plenty of money from Drake for his next flight. But his wedding and honeymoon escapade have been one too many for Drake who refuses him a job and who has him blacklisted with every other company. Jim is determined to enter the Thompson Trophy Race which awards $10,000 to the winning pilot. Despite Gunner's pleas, Jim agrees to fly a freak plane invented by Grant, unknown manufacturer. The next chapter is thrilling.
