City Commissioner Alder Outlines Improvements That Have Been Made in City

Is Optimistic

Taking Over of Cow Bay Will Enable Cleaning up to Take Place Near the Waterfront

Stressing the need of caution in borrowing money for civic purposes and outlining the improvement the city had made since first it was laid out in 1906, City Commissioner W. J. Alder gave an interesting address to the Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon yesterday. His subject was "Individual and City Assets." He showed pictures to illustrate how great had been the changes.

The Commissioner pointed out that personality and credit were two of the most important assets either for a man or a city. The latter was obtained by always being careful to honor an obligation. You could tell pretty much what a city was by the price of its bonds. He said he had been able to visit and inspect a great many cities in his time. He had been born and educated in England and apprenticed there. Then he came to Canada and lived in Winnipeg. Eventually he had taken a job on a farm at $10 a month and board and this had benefited him very greatly, making him very fit physically. Then he had gone to the United States and worked his way through university and later became manager of a big mortgage and loan company. Looking over cities with a view to making loans had given him a great opportunity to study and compare cities.

When he was on his way to Prince Rupert to take over the commission he had overheard a conversation in which a man said he had asked a taxi-driver to take him to see the sights. He had taken the visitor to the Cold Storage and then to the "Red Light" district. From that time he felt it part of his duty to encourage the provision of things for the tourists to see. Since that time the Horticultural Society had been formed and had done excellent work. The Canadian National Railways had provided splendid gardens. The provincial government had done good work around the Court House. The city had provided the new Totem Park with a fine array of totem poles. The museum had been established and everywhere great work was being done toward improving the city.

Cleaning Up Cow Bay

The next work the city would have in hand would be the cleaning up of Cow Bay. The Canadian National Railway had given up its claim to that area and, completing two years of negotiations, an agreement had been drawn up and was now being implemented providing for the transfer of Cow Bay to the city in exchange for a number of city lots facing the Court House, to be used for improving the grounds there. This would enable the city to improve Cow Bay to make it more presentable to tourists and especially those leaving the steamers at the government dock. The junk yard would be abolished and the place generally improved. The city had gradually been getting rid of eyesores and this would be the next improvement.

These improvements had to do with the personality of the city. Dealing with the credit of the city, Mr. Alder showed pictures of the dock as it appeared in 1906 and of the city in 1910 in order that his audience might realize how much it had progressed. The seeds of the city's insolvency had been sown in the huge costly contracts for grading section one. Some of the huge

PEACE RIVER SETTLEMENT

EDMONTON—There was a marked speeding up of new settlement in the Peace River district of Alberta in 1937, according to government figures. Two hundred and seventy carloads of settlers' effects went in last year as compared with eighty-eight in the year previous.

INSURGENT DESERTIONS

GIBRALTAR—Desertions from the insurgent forces in the Spanish civil war continue to increase despite rebel denials. Many of the deserters have crossed into British territory prior to joining the loyalists. Insurgent authorities are so concerned that a special patrol has been set up at the frontier to prevent the departure of deserters.

Cuts had never been used. Then Section Two had been put on the market and a bridge built to connect it with the city. A ball park costing $30,000 had been made and later $20,000 had been added. The city still had to pay $70,000 a year in interest charges after $34,000 had been lopped off in the reduction of interest rates. Relief had been reduced to $32,000 of which the city paid $6,000.

The general levy in the city had in 1933 been $229,194.29. In 1934 it had been $200,361.50 and in 1937 this had been reduced to $148,383.65.

The city still owed a million and a half dollars. He strongly urged that the ratepayers should frown on any bond issues and thus guard against going any further into debt. The city was making good progress and things were looking better. He was very optimistic that the pulp mill would become an accomplished fact and, meanwhile, there were other things that promised well for the present year.

Cutting Down On Jap Labor In Salteries

VICTORIA, Jan. 14: (CP)—A report of the Department of Fisheries shows a reduction in the number of Orientals employed in British Columbia fish salteries. Reports for the operating year of 1937 showed that fifty per cent of the workers were now white or native Indian whereas Oriental labor had been almost entirely used before.

PROGRESS OF LABOR

T. and L. Council in Annual Session—Thomas Black Re-elected President

The Prince Rupert Trades and Labor Council, at its meeting last night, elected officers for the coming year as follows:

President, Thomas B. Black.

Vice-President, J. J. Gillis.

Secretary-Treasurer, Thomas Elliott.

Statistician, George Anderson.

Sergeant-at-Arms, George Hudeb.

Executive—William Reid; Ben Dalgarno and James Black.

Legislative Committee—Frank Derry, J. J. Gillis, George Anderson, James Forman and W. H. Brett.

The Council will inform the contractors for the new Post Office building that the government scale of wages will be expected to be paid on the construction and there are plenty of available men here to take care of the employment situation.

The question of having a mail delivery for this city will also be taken up with the proper authorities.

Concern was expressed at the spread of measles which is assuming epidemic proportions and the Council felt that there was a laxity on the part of those in authority in dealing with the situation. It was felt that the public schools should be closed until the situation is under control.

Report of the President for the year was given as follows:

"In reviewing the activities of this council during the past year I am happy to say that cordial relations between employers and our various crafts have been maintained and I believe in some cases have reached a new basis of understanding.

"No disputes of any major consequence have arisen and it is important to note that in many instances the employers have granted wage increases and other benefits.

"Your council has held something of a watching brief over the relations between the civic authority and civic employees and citizens with I believe some advantage to all parties concerned.

"Matters which have been brought to the attention of both the Dominion and provincial governments have to a considerable extent been adjusted, especially those of a nature pertaining to the welfare of local workers and citizens in general. Our members of parliament in both houses have at all times given a measure of assistance.

"Perhaps the most notable achievement of the year was the passage of the Labor Act in the provincial house allowing workers the right to collective bargaining. This council was instrumental in (Continued on Page Four)

FARMING IN STRIPS NOW

Tree Planting is Another Plan to Stop Soil-Drifting on Prairies

Rehabilitation

Experimental Side of Restoring Dried Out Farm Lands

OTTAWA, Jan. 14: (CP)—Discovery of an effective method of controlling soil-drifting marked completion of the major task on the experimental side of prairie farm rehabilitation. Through experiments conducted on Dominion experimental farms and stations and study of farming methods in various districts it has now been established that strip farming will keep soil drifting under control.

Wide areas of prairie farmland have been more or less permanently injured by soil-drifting. Finely pulverized dry soil is carried along by the wind and piled up in drifts, leaving the land bare of its fertile surface.

Strip-farming is planting crops in long narrow alternating strips of summer fallow and forage crops where forage crops can be grown. The strips run at right angles to the prevailing wind and may be from four to 16 rods wide, depending on the severity of conditions making for soil drifting.

Other aids are tree-planting, cover crops, seeding abandoned land to grass and special methods of cultivation calculated to leave as much stubble and other refuse on the surface of summer fallow as possible.

Soil-drifting has proved one of the most annoying accompaniments of drought on the prairies. It robs the soil of fertility, destroys crops, in some cases buries roads, fences and even buildings. But it also afflicts the city and village dweller with suffocating dust storms.

Although few areas on the prairie are entirely immune from soil-drifting its causes are not yet fully understood. Whenever there is bare soil and certain other factors including dry weather and high winds there is usually some drifting. Scientists, however, believe there must be a certain turbulence in the wind before drifting starts.

Tons Blow Off

If one inch of surface soil were blown off a section of land 100,000 tons of soil would be moved. As several million acres are subject to drifting the amount of soil shifted each year is tremendous.

Experts have estimated that the removal of one inch of soil from an acre of land means the loss of 649 pounds of nitrogen, 155 pounds of phosphorus and 5,380 pounds of potash. The phosphorus alone is equivalent to the amount removed in the production of 485 bushels of wheat or bumper crops for 20 years.

The drifting also removes certain living organisms which profoundly affect the productivity of the soil. It spreads weed seeds and insect eggs, injures growing crops in its path, makes living conditions in farm houses almost unbearable.

Strip-farming originated in southern Alberta where some farmers noticed the last places to drift were the west sides of their fields and that the prevailing winds came from the west. This led to the idea of presenting as many as possible west sides to the wind.

Summer fallowing is necessary on the prairies to restore moisture to soil after a year or two of cropping. But it also presents a large area of bare soil to the wind. By narrowing the width of summer fallow strips alternated with grain crops the scope for wind erosion on bare soil is limited.

CABINET RESIGNS

Political Crisis in France as Chautemps Quits After Blum Group Withdraws Support

PARIS, Jan. 14: (CP)—After nine Socialist members of the cabinet led by Premier Leon Blum announced withdrawal of their support, the government of Premier Carille Chautemps resigned early today, precipitating another political crisis in France. The government had consisted half and half of Socialists and National Socialists. Chautemps declined to form a new government, his split with Communist and Socialist allies in the People's Front, which preceded the resignation of the cabinet, precluding attempts to form another, he said. The crisis was precipitated by growing labor unrest and the fall of the franc.

George Bonnet, until recently French ambassador to Washington and minister of finance in the retiring Chautemps cabinet, was invited by President Albert Lebrun today to form a new government.

Despite refusal of French industrialists to attend Premier Chautemps' peace conference, it had been announced earlier in the day the government would proceed with measures on behalf of French labor. There were demonstrations by Communists on the streets of Paris in criticism of the employers' attitude.

The franc dropped to its lowest level in twelve years yesterday. In unofficial trading it sank to 39.20 to the dollar.

All trading in gold and silver was suspended today. Trading in currency had already been suspended on account of the cabinet crisis.

Aged Telephone Man Passes Away

Hugh Neilson of Toronto Dies at Age of Ninety-Three—World's Longest Subscriber

TORONTO, Jan. 14: (CP)—Hugh Neilson, age 93, whose life was intimately identified with the development of Canadian telephone communication, is dead here. He was the longest continuous telephone subscriber in the world.

Mrs. James Farquhar sailed last night on the Prince George for a trip to Vancouver. She will visit with her mother, Mrs. Marsh, for a couple of months.

low to assist in checking drifting include stirring up the soil near the surface without burying weeds and stubble. This kills weeds and leaves the surface covered with protective litter.

Implements have been evolved for this purpose such as the blade and rod weeder and the basin litter. This implement forms the soil into ridges and blocks the furrows between with small dams, so that any rain water is caught and held. Autumn is a bad time for drifting. Tests made with cover crops have met with some success. The fallow land is lightly seeded to grain in late August. Frost kills the young plants before they take much moisture from the soil and the frozen grain checks the erosion of the autumn winds.

Since the rehabilitation program was started a number of substations have been established under direction of officials of the Dominion experimental farms. They are for the purpose of experimenting with soil drifting in different areas (Continued on Page Two)

SITUATION IN BRAZIL

Brazil is said to be making progress under the new semi-Fascist government of President Vargas. Steps are being taken to build up a navy and the army is being modernized. Trade and commerce are being encouraged. Political parties have been abolished and the judicial system has been adapted to the new condition.

Formerly there were 22 states in Brazil, each, as in Canada, claiming powers which competed with the federal power. Under the new administration all affairs of state are centralized under the federal power. Education has been nationalized although so far it has not been narrowed to become a subsidiary of the ruling group as in some other countries.

Naturally all these changes could not be brought about without causing dissatisfaction. This is particularly true of those who had benefited from the pyramiding of public positions. Under the former regime a man might hold as many as a dozen positions and draw salaries for each, salaries which it was impossible for him to properly earn. All this has become a thing of the past. There were, too, under the old system something like seventy political parties, different parties for each state. The abolishing of these has caused something of a flurry. However, the new government has been carrying out its powers with care and with a slight tendency to give way under pressure where it was thought wise so the probability is that the country will gradually settle down to the new conditions.

BEST 1937 PICTURE

The picture which was here at the first part of the week, "The Life of Emile Zola," was chosen by motion picture reviewers as the best picture of the year, while the picture being shown this week end "A Star is Born" comes fifth. This seems to be pretty much of a record to have two such outstanding films shown in Prince Rupert in the same week.

BUYING AND SELLING IN ALBERTA

Alberta means a great deal to Prince Rupert and this port means something to Alberta. In this city we buy a great many Alberta products such as butter, bacon, coal and fresh meats. Our elevator handles some of the Alberta wheat. On the other hand we ship lumber to the prairies. Each benefits from the other. If Hon. W. J. Assestine can increase business with the prairies he will be doing a great service to them and to us. We wish he could increase the usefulness of the local elevator to the Alberta people. Possibly he may, if we drew his attention to the present unsatisfactory situation.

Rhythm—Swing For College Boys

Joe de Courcy Thinks Students Should Have More Music

EDMONTON, Jan. 14: (CP)—Joe de Courcy, maestro of the dance, believes Canadian university students may soon be attending lectures in rhythm, swing, harmony and other fine points of modern music.

Joe hails from Ottawa and is spending his time in Edmonton polishing up a talented band assembled by Chet Lambertson. Educating and organizing young musicians has become Joe de Courcy's business.

"If I had my way musical theory would be taught in grammar schools, instruments would be handed out in high schools and university students intending to be professional musicians would be privileged to attend lectures in rhythm and advanced musical theory," de Courcy said.

and demonstrating approved methods.

The past summer gave the stations a severe test because it visited southern Saskatchewan with the most severe drought in years. But soil-drifting was effectively controlled on all the stations even in areas where severe drifting occurred on nearby farms. Many experiments have been made with different types of grass in the seeding down of abandoned lands which were badly drifted. These are menaces to nearby farms because they give drifting a start.

Koots That Stay

Brome grass and crested wheat grass have proven the most suitable re-grassing plants for most areas and high hopes are entertained for results from a perennial wheat grass recently developed by the experimental farms. This plant has tough spreading roots which help to bind the soil and turn it into sod.

Tree-planting has other advantages besides helping to prevent soil drifting and is being actively promoted as an important part of the rehabilitation program. The regular distribution of free tree seedlings to farmers which has been a part of the work of the department of agriculture in Western Canada for years has been enlarged. More than 2,000,000 trees were distributed in the fiscal year of 1936-37. Field shelter belts of trees check wind velocity and reduce erosion on the soil.

As the prairies were treeless by nature doubts have frequently been expressed as to the value of efforts to make trees grow there. Many failures have been encountered but there have been a sufficient number of successes to convince the experimental farm officials it can be done if care is used in the selecting of species and in planting methods.

In this as in other phases of the rehabilitation program the co-operation of the farmers themselves, is an important factor. Demonstrations are provided of the value of field and domestic shelter belts, of proper methods of planting and maintenance.

In several areas shelter belt associations have been formed in which groups of farmers plan their belts to bring the maximum benefit to the community. These associations are similar to the agricultural improvement associations and strip-farming associations also organized as part of the rehabilitation program.

GUIDED BY MINISTER

GLASGOW, Jan. 14: (CP)—Tommy Walker, noted Hearts' soccer player who has decided to enter the ministry, was guided in his choice of vocation by Dr. James Black, minister of St. George's, Edinburgh. He is a strong supporter of the Tynecastle Park team.

BORROWING AT THE BANK to meet increased demand

Retail Stores, subject to the caprices of style and taste, frequently find it necessary to buy certain goods which have caught the fancy of the shoppers, despite the shelves and windows full of necessary, staple supplies. Borrowing to meet present demand for "specialties" is constructive borrowing, because it serves to please and hold customers for the "staples," increasing profits.

Wholesale Houses, dependent upon retailers' orders for popular goods, often have to place increased orders with the manufacturer. Borrowing to pay for such immediately salable goods is "good business"—increases profits.

Manufacturers, called upon to increase their output of popular goods, must buy new supplies of raw material, hire more workers. To meet the increased demand, they too may borrow—and increase their profits.

The Bank of Montreal welcomes applications for loans with such constructive objects.

Liberal Pictures Occupy Tory Room

Manitoba Conservative Members Are Discomforted

WINNIPEG, Jan. 14: (CP)—Much to the discomfort of Conservative members of Manitoba legislature, some one discovered recently the chief decorative features of the room occupied in the legislature by Conservative Leader Errick Willis are oil paintings of two Liberal premiers.

On one wall Hon. Thomas Greenway's picture rests. On the opposite is the painting of Hon. T. C. Norris. Conservatives explained Mr. Willis had been too busy to notice.

One of the interesting sights in the city at any time, winter or summer, is Mrs. C. V. Sutherland's private collection of cacti. The collection is all kept in one window. There are approximately forty different plants of as many different species. They are a curious lot and the receptacles are also interesting. I am told that many tourists visit the place in the summer just to see the plants.

One beauty of a cactus garden is that it is interesting all the year round and that the plants take so little room at first that several may be grown in one receptacle. The pot does not need to have drainage if watering is done carefully. In this particular window garden, which is now in its third year, only about half a dozen of the specimens have bloomed but each year should see an increase in that number.

birds than usual in the city this year. Just now they may be seen in large numbers in his garden every day and he thinks this presages an early spring. Many garden plants are also far advanced this year. While there may be another cold spell, he thinks we shall have flowers in the garden much earlier than usual. He says there was a similar season in 1917.

Many local people are sending away for the Russel lupins which are so widely advertised both in England and Canada. I was given a packet a few days ago with a dozen seeds in it so I shall try my luck with them along with the rest. These lupins are said to be quite different from the old-fashioned kind. We shall all look forward to seeing them. While they are perennials, they may possibly bloom the first year if planted early.

I was hoping to pick wallflowers, polyanthus, double white arabis and pansies on Christmas Day but just a few days before the festival the killing frost came which destroyed them all. Just a week before Christmas.

OFFICERS INSTALLED

Oddfellows and Rebekahs Have Interesting and Enjoyable Evening

Installation of officers of the Oddfellows and Rebekah lodges was held jointly on Wednesday evening in the Oddfellows' Hall. A good turnout of members and friends was present.

The ceremonial installation was conducted by District Deputy Grand Master H. M. Daggett and District Deputy President Mrs. H. V. Tattersal with Murdo MacArthur and Mrs. G. V. Wilkinson, district deputy marshalls, assisting. The following elective officers were installed:

Oddfellows
Noble Grand—Norman MacGlashan.

Vice Grand—Mike Hudema.
Recording Secretary—W. A. McLean.

Financial Secretary—A. E. Wood.
Treasurer—N. Moorehouse.

Rebekahs
Noble Grand—Mrs. J. W. McKinley.

Vice Grand—Mrs. N. Moorehouse.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. J. Durran.

Financial Secretary—Mrs. T. Priest.
Treasurer—Mrs. S. L. Peachey.

After installing the appointed officers, all present gathered around a very daintily laden table where those present were given a very hearty welcome by the Noble Grand of Centennial Rebekah Lodge.

"O Canada" was sung, after which Mrs. J. E. Boddie pronounced grace.

Following refreshments, Mrs. J. W. McKinley gave an address on the life of Thomas Wildey, the founder of Oddfellowship on the American continent, whose birthday was being commemorated by the local lodges.

Other speakers of the evening were N. MacGlashan, Mrs. H. V. Tattersal and H. M. Daggett. There were recitations by Miss R. Cox and J. L. McIntosh, piano duets by the Misses Ruth Nelson and Jean McLean, piano and violin selections by the Misses E. Hamblin, P. Hamblin, K. Bulger and E. Johnstone.

Accompanists for the evening were Mrs. W. Sherman and Mrs. J. G. McKinley.

A very enjoyable evening was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

Committee for refreshments consisted of Mrs. A. Barbe, Mrs. P. Solen, Mrs. N. Moorehouse and Mrs. S. V. Cox.

gaining the support of the Premier to this measure and his co-operation in other ways.

"In conjunction with the Deep Sea Fisherman's Union and other interested bodies, the Trades and Labor Council lent active support in securing representation by this port on the International Fisheries Commission.

"Pleas for certain adjustments in relation to minimum wage orders and hours of work regulations have been met or are meeting with success as have those relating to local minor disputes where the provincial authorities have final jurisdiction.

"Representatives from this council have served on various public organizations and committees during the past year and have been congratulated on services rendered.

"The Labor Day Sports sponsored by this body were again the featured sports of the year due to the work of the committees and the encouraging support of local merchants, individuals and companies.

"The greatest loss sustained by labor in this community in 1937 was occasioned by the death of our late President, S. D. MacDonald. His personality, experience and judgment exemplified the best in the labor movement and gained wide respect throughout the city and province.

"I would ask at this time that all affiliated unions lend their active support in the affairs of his council, using 1938 in order that the local labor movement may continue to function effectively and protect the interests of the workers in Prince Rupert and district.

"In conclusion I wish to thank the members of this council, together with the officers and members of affiliated unions, for the support which they have accorded me during my term of office. I trust that all of you may enjoy every prosperity in the year ahead.

Farewell to old Cow Bay

A sad farewell, I say

For we all will miss said the speaker, "show that every

At this point a member of the

"Are those statistics absolutely

"Absolutely, sir," said the speaker.

"Then I've been dead over two

POW-WOW AT VANARS DAL

Woman Goes to Hospital With Cracked Head—Six Months for White Man

Apparently in connection with the celebrations incidental to the New Year, there was a lively time at the Indian village of Vanarsdal. One woman was so badly injured, one of the party hitting her over the head with a lantern, that she was sent to Hazelton for hospitalization. The disturbance occurred last Saturday. On Monday, Mrs. Mills and Mrs. Sherwood went from Vanarsdal to attend the injuries and the injured woman went to Hazelton by Monday night's train.

A. J. Watkinson, Indian Constable from Prince Rupert, has been at Terrace in connection with these doings and he, with constable McKenney of Terrace, had a busy Tuesday with the police station filled to capacity by Indians and their witnesses.

David Mason got seven days in jail for drunkenness on the reserve but that meant his immediate release as he had already been held in custody for that time. A white man, J. W. Ferguson, was sentenced to six months for supplying Indians with liquor.

Constable Watkinson, with Ferguson in charge, arrived on last night's train from Terrace. He was taken on to Okalla.

Presiding Justices will be Robinson and Nigel Sherwood.
