FIRE MORE FIERCE YET ON ISLAND

One Hundred Thousand Acres Now Being Swept—Flames Mile High—Ashes Fell in Vancouver

VICTORIA, July 23: (CP)—Forest fires are sweeping Vancouver Island more fiercely than ever today. The area covered is now over 100,000 acres, centring in and north of the Comox Valley. The flames are now covering Constitution Hill and are menacing the famous Forbidden Plateau. Two hundred loggers last night were keeping the village of Head-Quarters, north of Courtenay, soaked with a constant stream of water in the hope of saving that modern little settlement with its railway shops and neat homes from destruction. Settlers have commenced to evacuate their farm homes and, up to last night, thirty families had sought shelter in Courtenay. The residents of Campbellton and Elk Falls were ready to leave as those logging communities were menaced by flames. The tongues of fire, were reported to be leaping into the air and ashes were falling in the streets of the city of Vancouver, one hundred miles distant across the Gulf of Georgia. Destroying Virgin Timber The giant fire is now raging over an area twenty-five miles long and five to ten miles wide. More than ten thousand men are endeavouring to fight the conflagration which is racing through one of the province's greatest tracts of virgin timber. Locomotives were standing by to evacuate miners and families from Bevan should the wind change and send the fire towards that town, which appears to be immediately threatened.

ACCLAIMED ON RETURN

King and Queen Home After Visit To France—Important Results Seen

LONDON, July 23: (CP)—King George and Queen Elizabeth were cheered tumultuously last night as they returned to London after their four-day state visit to France. Their Majesties appeared on the balcony of Buckingham Palace soon after their return. With them were the two little princesses. Thousands of loyal subjects acclaimed them. Two principal results were seen by London observers from the royal visit to France—first, further co-ordination of French and British plans for military co-operation, and second, joint influence upon Germany to ease the tension in Europe.

Not without significance was taken a forty-five minute conference yesterday between Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and German Ambassador Count von Ribbentrop.

Peace Talk Heard

Talk of new "peace preserving" alignments swirled over Europe today as British, French and German leaders discussed means of relieving the Sudetan German problem in Czechoslovakia. Some quarters mentioned the possibility of a non-aggression pact among France, Germany and Russia. Renewed emphasis on Anglo-French friendship is believed to have strengthened the possibilities of such an alignment.

SHIP PLAN POSTPONED

New Vessels for Vancouver-Sydney Run Cannot Be Built Economically Now

LONDON, July 23: (CP)—Sir Edward Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway and Lord Craigmyle, British shipowner, issued a joint statement last night saying that the Canadian-Australian Line had decided not to build two new ships for the trans-Pacific service between Vancouver and Sydney at present because of uneconomic shipbuilding prices.

RUSSIAN PROGRESS

New Yorker Returns With Story Of Soviet of Happy People

NEW YORK, July 23: (CP)—Improving economic conditions in Russia, employment for all able-bodied men and women and happy faces everywhere were some of the things reported by Corliss Lamont on his return from a tour of the Soviet Union. Lamont, who is chairman of the American Friends of Soviet Russia, compared conditions with what he saw when he visited Russia in 1935. "Any able-bodied man or woman who wants a job can have one," he reported. "Everyone gets vacations with pay, with a three-week minimum. People on their holidays are dancing in the public squares. The theatres, the opera, the ballets and the movies are filled nightly with workers."

Lamont also told of increased efficiency in public services. Trains run on time, restaurants are modernized, shops have a greater variety of better quality goods and "there is a greater feeling for style in women's clothes." Social insurance cares for old age, accident and sickness. Education is free from the kindergarten through the Universities for those who can pass examinations and the age for compulsory schooling is being increased. Russians are inclined to feel war will come sometime but they see no immediate prospect of it, he said.

Sees Twenty Thousand People In Prince Rupert Soon After Highway To Interior Is Built

Californian Urges People To Wake Up And Get Road Built and Make Themselves Prosperous Along With People of Interior

'What is wrong with you people? Why don't you get together and demand that the highway connecting Prince Rupert with the outside be constructed at once? If there were a highway leading into the city, thousands of tourists would come here from all parts of the United States and especially from California. All that would be needed would be a fairly passable road and cars would be coming in by the dozens and hundreds and Prince Rupert would receive such a shock, your languidly quiet local merchants would never get over it. The city would really become a part of the North American world.'

It was in words much like this that a Californian addressed a Daily News representative this week. He was enthusiastic and emphatic over the possibilities. It was argued, in rebuttal of the suggestion, that the province had no money for the purpose and that every district was urging the building of other roads just as loudly and insistently as were the Prince Rupert people. In some places, even, they were building the roads by volunteer labor in order that they might be in a position to get places. This did not satisfy our visitor who continued somewhat along these lines:

'Highways are necessities these days and any place that does not connect up with the system of the continent is bound to be as dead as Prince Rupert seems to be. It is inevitable. Down in our state (California) we build highways through the desert and cut our way through and over mountains that seemed impassable a few years ago. Thousands of people drive over roads that are anything but good and are often dangerous. It would be no trick at all to build along the Skeena River to Terrace and the distance to be covered, I am told, is only about eighty miles. The road would pay for itself in gasoline tax in no time. I suggest, this highway be built while negotiations are going on for the Alaska Highway so that I can bring my car in here in 1940 instead of having to leave it in Hazelton as at present. I think it is a disgrace to the province of British Columbia that a city of the size and importance of Prince Rupert cannot be reached by automobile.'

'Yes, you are right, people do not like to return over the same road on which they came, if they can possibly help it. But you have a splendid triangle route. The visitors could drive in over the road and take their cars south on the steamers, thus combining a road tour with a beautiful cruise. The steamship company would benefit tremendously if the highway were opened. While the railway might lose a little business from vegetable peddlers and others bringing their produce in by car instead of shipping them on the railway, yet this is petty stuff and does not amount to anything. To offset this you would have a city of twenty-thousand here within the next few years, if the highway were opened, and the railway would make up in a week on the long haul what it makes in a year from the vegetable peddlers.'

'Think, too, what you would get from Ketchikan and Portland Canal,' continued the visitors. 'Boats bring their fish to Prince Rupert for shipment over the railway and, if it were possible, they would bring their cars across in the same way and drive south over the road. There would be money spent here for hotels and food and articles of clothing.'

'Indirectly you Prince Rupert people would benefit from the increased prosperity that would come to the interior towns and villages. Open that highway and immediately Hazelton, Smithers, Burns Lake, Vanderhoof and the other places along the highway would be making progress and that would feed Prince Rupert. You would all grow together and this little town would soon develop into a real seaport. I have a picture in my mind of progress such as you have never even thought about. Forget Sir Wilfrid Laurier and these other things you talk about as you look back and regret that something did not happen in the past. Set your minds on the future and build. Wake up, you Prince Rupert people. I understand you have a wonderful country there in the Peace River district that is being connected with the system at Vanderhoof. Insist that you have connection too. You can get it if you talk loud enough and are insistent. We did it in California and I am sure you can but it is no good to sit down and wall about business being bad. That never helped any place. You have to bestir yourselves and make things happen.'

By this time the visitor, who evidently seemed well informed, had pretty well talked himself out but he gave a parting shot as he walked away:

'You are an editor aren't you? Tell your people what I say. I like this town and I see its possibilities. If you can waken the people from their coma I might come here some day and open up in business. But I tell you this I would never settle down in sleepy town with a bunch of Rip Van Winkles. No place where the people are always asleep ever amounts to anything.'

HERE FROM DOWN SOUTH

Two Hundred Mississippians Pay Goodwill Visit To Prince Rupert

Met by J. T. Harvey, vice-president of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce, and a number of members as well as representatives of various other organizations in the city two hundred prominent men and women of the state of Mississippi arrived here on a special train yesterday at 2:30 and left for Stewart and Hyder on the Prince Rupert two hours later.

The party was in charge of Ex-Governor Dennis Murphree and was thoroughly representative of all classes of the community. They brought with them an exhibition car showing the products of the state, the chief of which is cotton, although fruits and vegetables and timber are also important.

Speaking of the exhibition car, one of the prominent members of the party said they had taken these trips each summer for a number of years and they found it to be good publicity. They sold approximately two hundred tickets and the price included the exhibition car so that there was no cost to the state. They did not consider the car had any commercial value in Canada but it was educational and cost nothing extra.

At the station a formal welcome on behalf of the city was extended by M. P. McCaffery who expressed the hope that all would enjoy the visit. He drew attention to the fact that, while they came from the United States, they were not looked upon as foreigners. Of late, while all the world was talking of war, Canada and the United States were drawing closer together in the cause of peace.

On behalf of the visitors W. F. Bond, state welfare director, thanked Mr. McCaffery for the welcome given him. He reciprocated the plea for closer co-operation and spoke of the neighborly feeling between the two countries. He then presented Mr. McCaffery with a huge water melon, which he said was one of the small ones, the others being too big to bring along. He made a happy speech and there was much enthusiasm. The trip was described as a good-will trip, taken chiefly for enjoyment and education.

The party will arrive back in Prince Rupert this evening and, after another two hour stop, will continue through to Vancouver where they will again be met by their special train after they have visited Victoria.

POPULAR APPOINTMENT

The appointment of N. B. Walton as vice-president of the Canadian National Railways in charge of operations, maintenance and construction is a popular one in Prince Rupert. People who remember Mr. Walton when he was general superintendent in Prince Rupert remember him as one of the most popular superintendents that have held that position. He is also spoken of as a man who knew his work and did it well.

It is interesting to note that Mr. Walton was one of the old Grand Trunk officials. Having been in charge of the Pacific division of the line he will be familiar with our problems and will undoubtedly be keen to take the division pay by developing traffic over it and that is what we all want.

FLOCK TO SEE FLOWERS

England is flower minded. So great is the interest taken in the famous Russell Lupins that thousands visit the field where they are grown in the country near Wolverhampton. Sixpence each is charged for admission and the money collected goes to some charitable purpose. One Sunday recently the sum collected in this way for the "Poor Children's Boot Fund" amounted to over seventy pounds or approximately $350.

WILL MEET ROOSEVELT

Next month Prime Minister Mackenzie King will meet President Roosevelt in connection with the opening of international bridges connecting the two countries and it is possible that the matter of the Alaska Highway may then be informally discussed.

It will be remembered that it was during a brief visit of the President to Victoria that the negotiations were commenced in regard to the project with Premier Patullo. Now that these negotiations have advanced to a point where they may easily develop into more definite plans being arranged, the Federal Government it would seem, must take part, at least informally. If the Canadian Prime Minister gives his assurance that he is ready to cooperate, there should be nothing further to stop the project going ahead.

WHO ARE THEY?

Vancouver Island is becoming more or less well known as the place where seeds are grown that are supplied to people in various parts of the world. People who live in British Columbia usually send out for their seeds, some to England or Scotland and others to Eastern Canada. Many of the seeds they purchase in this way are grown in California or on Vancouver Island.

British Columbia people would in many cases buy from British Columbia firms if they knew from whom to buy. They know one or two or perhaps three seedsmen in Vancouver and Victoria but they cannot usually get in touch with the growers because they have no idea who these people are. In other words the growers do not advertise.

Take garden seeds as an example. Many gardeners would like to purchase British Columbia grown seeds if they knew where to find them. It ought not to be necessary to send to Scotland to buy British Columbia seeds, but that is what some are doing. If the seed growers on Vancouver Island could get together with a campaign of publicity they could easily familiarize the purchasing public with what they have to offer and the purchases could be made direct or through British Columbia seed houses.

Angus M'Donald Goes To Final

Latest results in the doubles competition are as follows:
William Miller and G. P. Tinker 21; Steve King and Jack Preece 11.

ACROPOLIS UNBEATEN

Defeated McClymont 11 to 3 Last Night in Playground Softball

Acropolis boys are still the unbeaten leaders in the Gyro Softball League by virtue of their 11 to 3 win over McClymont last night. The game was a real thriller, the score being no indication of the run of play. One of the highlights of the game was the pitching of Parlett, who played his first game for McClymont. This lad has speed to burn and good control. He had pitched on the mound for McClymont instead of coming in in the fourth inning, the final score might have been closer.

Acropolis scored seven of its runs in the first three innings. Dan Marnet, Acropolis pitcher, had a big night with the stick, hitting seven safe singles for seven trips to the dish. Three of Magnet's blows were three-baggers.

In their half of the third inning, Acropolis practically won the ball game by scoring four runs on two errors, three singles, and Magnet's first triple.

Parlett took over on the mound for McClymont in the fourth and held the Acropolis team well in hand although he was given poor support in the field.

McClymont's hitting was weak and the hits they did manage to get hold of were gobbled up by the Acropolis boys in the field. The team was playing right on its toes and backed up Magnet's steady pitching with smooth work including two double plays to hold McClymont to three runs.

McClymont's big hitter was Keavs with three for three.

Although not a particularly strong team, McClymont stepped out of its class last night to play over their heads and give the strong Acropolis team some real competition. Zbura, the McClymont catcher, played a particularly good game and shows promise of becoming the best catcher in the league.

Captains were Scherk for McClymont and O'Neill for Acropolis. Umpire was Neil Ross.

Westview Wins In Basketball

Had Nip and Tuck Battle With Seal Cove Yesterday

The third and finest game as yet of the inter-playgrounds basketball series was played last night with Westview winning by a narrow margin of 32 to Seal Cove's 30.

Mah opened the scoring for Seal Cove followed by Montesano who kept up excellent shooting throughout the game, tallying fourteen points in the first half. Scherk and Brown of Westview were the only scorers in the first half with four points each, the score being at this time 20 to 8 in favor of Seal Cove.

Westview opened strongly in the second half and seemed to find the basket every time with Scherk, Brown and Blain scoring frequently. Long made a few unsuccessful shots but played an extremely good defence game. It was probably due to Westview's tight defence that Seal Cove was unable to make headway in this half.

On the whole the game was extremely fast and very well played and featured some beautiful shots by Cook and Scherk and the fast clever combination of the Seal Cove team.

The players:
Seal Cove—Mah 2, Barton 1, Busanich 4, Houston 2, Montesano 21.
Westview—Brown 8, Scherk 11, Cook 5, Long Blain 8.
Referee, H. Gordon-Cooper.

Andrew Ferguson, who was removed from his cabin at 211 Ninth Avenue East to the Prince Rupert General Hospital about three weeks ago, passed away at the hospital at 5:30 last evening. He was seventy-two years of age and had been in Prince Rupert some ten years. At one time before the Great War, during which he served with the British Navy as a baker and cook, Mr. Ferguson operated a large restaurant in Winnipeg. Born in Scotland, Mr. Ferguson was a widower, where he understood to be relatives in the Old Country. He had been in British Columbia for about sixteen years. At one time he was employed as a cook on Dominion government boats here. Before age and infirmities prevented his activity, he had baked commercially here.

Organize Corps To Catch Spies

Recent Exposure of Espionage Spurs United States Authorities

WASHINGTON, July 23.—(CP)—The recent exposure of foreign spy activities in United States has been spurring Army and Navy officials to organize anti-espionage corps in both services comparable to those in European countries. The suggestion has the approval of President Roosevelt.

According to government officials, the Federal Bureau of Investigation so far has borne the brunt of counter-espionage work by increasing activity of foreign agents here makes it desirable for all defense services to organize independent intelligence corps.

BICYCLE CHEAPER

Peace River Youth Pedalling His Way To Montreal

WINNIPEG, July 23: (CP)—The cheapest way to travel is by bicycle according to 28-year old Rod Evans who arrived here after a 1600-mile pedal from Fort St. John, one of the Peace River settlements.

Rod is on his way to Montreal via Minneapolis, Chicago and Detroit, where he intends to catch a boat for England to visit his parents.

The young cyclist, loaded with more than 100 pounds of equipment, had laid out only $10 for food. He carries his own tent, cooking utensils and a little flour for emergencies. He has not patronized a hotel or tourist camp.

A one-mile stretch of road in the Athabaska country stalled him four and one-half hours. Carrying his bicycle and equipment on his back, Rod waded almost hip deep in muskeg before an Indian with a team picked him up.

"I almost broke my back," he smiled.

Before coming to Canada six months ago, the cross-country wheeler spent 10 years on an Australian cattle ranch.

Uncle Sam Finds Depression Gives Folks Time to Learn

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 23: (CP)—The number of illiterates in the United States has been reduced by 1,000,000—or 25 percent of the estimated total—during the past five years, through the activity of the educational branch of the Works Progress Administration, according to a review recently issued by Harry L. Hopkins, W. P. A. administrator.

The review showed that in spite of reduction of the personnel of the educational branch of the bureau, the number of enrollees for classes continually increases. In April this year 26,271 teachers offered 101,602 classes as against 34,230 teachers and 139,756 classes a year ago. Enrollments for April showed an increase of 37,000 over the comparable period of a year ago.

In addition to classes in elementary education, the W. P. A. offers classes in home-making, cooking, nutrition, household budgeting, hygiene and care of the sick. Closely associated with these are 1,500 nursery schools for children two to four years old. There are also correspondence schools for persons living in remote farm and mountain regions with an enrollment of 30,000 last year.

HERRING QUESTION.

Editor: Daily News.— Your correspondent of June 29, in attempting to defend the herring seining operations at Langara, shows himself as a master of the herring handling business and, in his letter, he draws many "red" lines across the trail to obscure the real issue by introducing irrelevant arguments.

He should understand that the trollers represented by this committee are not concerned in any fight to put another class of fisherman out of a job. Previous experience of the "Divide and Rule" policy has taught us that, so long as we can be kept going at one another's throats, our main exploiters will remain unassailed.

Just as the citizens of Vancouver have no objection to thousands of loggers chopping down the woods of British Columbia but would bitterly resent even the smallest hay-wire camp starting up in Stanley Park, so we feel that the small sheet of water between Wiah Point and Langara Light could be very well left for bait and feed purposes.

Killing the goose that lays the golden egg was never found to be good practice. We confess to a little exaggeration in the use of the word golden in this case but we feel entitled to one little flight of fancy for didn't your correspondent speak of 200,000 tons of herring passing through these waters in a few months? Well, we have no suitable scales to weigh them out and, although our guess is as good as his, we don't think it is worth being included.

We wonder why he emphasizes the argument that "Above all they are American herring." What if they are American herring, or Chinese or any other kind? We feel sure that the salmon and halibut pay very little attention to the nationality of their feed and we would like them left here just the same. The possibility of them becoming too numerous and dying of disease, as he suggests, is too remote to give us any gray hairs just yet.

That herring and salmon that feed on them disappear from certain grounds is definite. Sometimes the causes are beyond our control as in the case of Hippo Island but, when the cause is within our control as in the situation under discussion, we feel that something should be done about it.

The information that we find almost off the West Coast of Gra-

BROADCAST IS NOVEL

Mobile Transmitting Unit At Jasper Gets Some Interesting Sequences.

JASPER, July 23.—Highways and by-ways of this largest of Canada's national parks have been well covered by the novel mobile unit of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation directed by R. T. "Bob" Bowman which is now making a series of sound pictures on the sports and wild life to be broadcast Wednesday, July 27, from 9 to 10 p.m. E.D. S.T.

The most novel broadcast ever recorded was made on the tongue of the seven mile long Athabaska glacier in the heart of the spectacular Columbia Icefield area early Thursday morning. There Bowman caught a party of Alpine climbers complete with crampons and ice axes starting off for the peak of Mt. Athabaska, a gorgeous glaciated mountain that dominates this section of the Columbia Icefield Highway.

Golf sequences feature the Scotch brogue of Charlie Duncan, the Jasper Park Lodge professional from old St. Andrews, who played the course for them.

The broadcasters were disappointed when there were no sound effects at the two water holes.

A three-pound rainbow trout from the glacial waters of Summit Lake contributed its share of the sound effects and the roar of creamy foam racing through the depths of the Maligne Canyon pot holes provided an almost terrifying sequence.

Humorous interlude came with the tipping of a canoe on the jewel blue waters of Lac Beauvert as boy and girl came close together.

The social scene was recorded in Jasper Park Lodge, the park's magnificent summer hostelry, where dancers and orchestra closed a typically interesting day in this mountain playground.

Indicating a degeneration...
On of the claims made was that it is in the interests of the community that women should be allowed to do work for which they are trained, regardless of whether they are married or not.

The idea behind the degeneration was that the L. C. C. should set an example in this way to the government. Recently they made a ruling allowing married nurses to retain their positions owing to the shortage of hospital staff.

Leading the Band
It is still unusual in this country to see a woman conducting an open-air orchestra. But Canadian visitors to London will have the opportunity this summer. Miss Agnes Coleridge-Taylor, who is the first woman to conduct a band in Hyde Park, will be busy.

Probably Miss Coleridge-Taylor is the first woman in England to tackle such heavy jobs as the conducting of municipal orchestras or military bands. She started off on this career by accident. She went to a seaside resort to supervise the rehearsal of her compositions, took the train for a moment and conducted so well the conductor invited her down to take his place on the day of the concert.

With such women in the limelight there is little wonder that a prominent preacher, Rev. C. B. Canning, came out with a much-quoted passage in a recent public address: "There is a strong temptation for men to comment mournfully on the approaching end of the male dynasty. Dorothy Segens, Laura Knight and Grete Garbo have stolen all our thunder and there is no object that gives men so abiding a sense of guilt as a woman policeman."

Yet the metropolitan police have had great difficulty in recruiting women for the police force. The uniform is not becoming, the boots in particular make the women officers' feet look double their size. Within the last month, however, two romances have blossomed into matrimony in the force and two couples of police constables have marched to the wedding march. Well publicized, such announcements should assist in recruiting.

Sockeye Fishing Much Improved On Skeena—Heaviest Week of Halibut Landings—Great Hatch of Kamloops Trout

With fine weather resulting in a definite improvement in the run of sockeye salmon on the Skeena River, the probability is that the pack in this area may reach a larger amount during the latter part of July and possibly come up to last year's volume after having lagged owing to light fishing immediately after the opening of the season. Unless some changed conditions should warrant otherwise, it is expected fishing with sockeye nets will be closed about the usual time around the middle of August. Although it has been disappointing to some, the volume of sockeye this year is no less than some of the more conservative observers of the fisheries had expected. During the past week boats on the Skeena River were averaging thirty-five fish, those on the Neena, twenty-five, and at Rivers Inlet, seventy. Pinks have not yet shown up in sufficient quantity to warrant setting but are expected to soon.

Due to doubt to the suspension of lay-over periods between trips and with fishing becoming more intensive immediately prior to the closing of the season for Area No. 2 next Friday, Prince Rupert has just had its heaviest week of halibut landings so far this season with sacks totalling 804,000 pounds of which 441,500 pounds was from Canadian boats and 362,500 pounds from American. Despite the weight of landings, prices stood up well. The high bid of the week for Canadian fish was $1.1 cents and 5 cents which the Embra received for 18,000 pounds and the low $1.5 cents and 5 cents which many of the boats were paid. For American fish the high price of the week was $1.1 cents and 4 cents received by the Zarembo for 14,000 pounds and the low 7.5 cents and 4 cents paid the California, Focemont and Yukon for 20,000 pounds, 40,000 pounds and 25,000 pounds respectively.

One hundred thousand Kamloops trout eggs brought to Prince Rupert for planting purposes have shown a highly satisfactory hatch of better than ninety-five per cent. At the government wharf, where a hatchery was installed to handle them, the fry are now healthy, lively and ready to be removed next week to Prudhomme Lake near Prince Rupert for liberation under the restocking program of the Prince Rupert Rod and Gun Club.

Two sails Chartered
The Armour Salvage Co. has chartered its two service boats Pachena and Daly to the B. C. Packers for seine fish packing, the former going to Namu and the latter to Shannon Bay in Massett Inlet.

The run of red salmon on the British Columbia coast is slightly better this year than it was last, said Major J. A. Motherwell, chief supervisor of fisheries, yesterday as he went south aboard the patrol steamer Malaspina after a trip to Ketchikan. Major Motherwell said

Seven boats split halibut catches totalling 66,000 pounds at Seattle yesterday at prices ranging from 75c to 1k.

The halibut boat Chancellor which landed 35,000 pounds at Seattle yesterday, had engine trouble on her last trip to the fishing grounds. Engine bearings burned out on the Goose Island bank and the vessel was towed by the Pioneer III, another halibuter, to Alert Bay, where temporary repairs were effected after which the vessel proceeded to Seattle under her own power.

Corp. Harold Raybort, who was transferred last week to Victoria after having been for some years skipper of the provincial police boat P. M. L. 8 here, has been promoted to the rank of sergeant. He takes command of a new police boat at Victoria. Constable E. E.

OLD LAND WOMEN TO COUNTRY

Farmers and Gardeners of Gentler Sex on Increase in England

(By Mollie McGee)
LONDON, July 23 (CP)—Feeding the cows and raking the hay is becoming women's work in England. Women farmers are on the increase according to officials of the Royal Agricultural Society.
Usual modern method is for two women in partnership to run the farm. They are not new at the job, however. Many receive their training on large estates and work their apprenticeship in exchange for food and lodging. Others attend agricultural colleges.
Country jobs that have particular appeal are dairy work, butter-making, cheese-making, stock work and milking. Women gardeners are wanted for private gardens and for the gardens of large institutions. To be head gardener at a girls' school or women's college is considered quite a woman's job and many trained women are employed to assist in horticultural nursery work. According to the Women's Farm and Garden Association, the demand for experienced women in various branches of outdoor work far exceeds the supply.
Would Try Housework
Perhaps as encouragement to women to stay in the kitchen and not wander outdoors, the Dowager Marchioness of Reading told of her repressed desire to be a housemaid. She was speaking at a meeting of the Society for Overseas Settlement of British Women.
She is the only woman on the board of this Society with 10 men. In her short address she said definitely that if she were young again she would certainly emigrate to one of the Dominions and what is more would not mind what kind of job she had to take to begin with. "I wouldn't try to be a cook, because I can't cook," she said, "but I would make an excellent housemaid."

Miss Edith Thompson, chairman of the executive committee, told of a constant demand for qualified teachers, hospital nurses, governesses and children's nurses in both Australia and South Africa, where the settlement scheme under the guardianship of this association is well under way. A limited number of secretaries, hotel receptionists, hairdressers and dress-makers are promised jobs on arrival.
