New Conservative Chief Advocates Dominion Railway Co-operation

Would Consult With Employees—Liberals Not Opposing Him a Run

LONDON, Oct. 15: (CP)—Co-operative measures between the Canadian National Railways and the Canadian Pacific Railway "decided upon in consultation with employees" as a means to economy were advocated last night by Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion, Conservative leader. Unification would be no solution of the Canadian railway problem. Dr. Manion told a convention of the London Conservative Association which nominated him as Conservative candidate in the London federal by-election to be held November 14. The Liberals are not contesting the seat but the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation has a candidate in the person of E. O. Hall.

To Insist On Parity

LONDON, Oct. 15.—Germany's proposal that the British air force be limited to one-third the strength of Germany's while Germany holds her naval strength to one-third of Britain's is not meeting with much favor in this country. Officialdom also appears to be insistent that Great Britain shall maintain at least parity in a branch of service which is becoming increasingly important.

They are the U.S. destroyers, Moffett (362), McDougal (358), Balch (363) and Winslow (359), latest additions to Uncle Sam's first line of defence in the Pacific. These destroyers have the appearance of small cruisers. Capable of a speed of better than 35 knots, they have terrific hitting power. Note the twin turrets forward, which house 5-inch guns. They also carry eight torpedo tubes. They are considered the most formidable craft afloat of their size.

THE CITY'S ASSETS

Permanent improvements to the city since its incorporation almost equal the present net debt. Street grading has cost a total of $1,186,381, cinder sidewalks have cost $44,127; asphalt walks $41,110; city sewers $108,440, making a total of $1,379,597.

In addition to these improvements the city has waterworks, telephone system, buildings including schools, city hall, fire hall, etc. This year the land within the city is assessed at $2,005,000 and the buildings at $3,397,560.

The collection of local improvement taxes has enabled the city to send to the minister of finance at Victoria toward its sinking funds since the refunding of the bonds in 1934 the sum of $134,000, so it is evident that the city is in a much improved condition.

Should the industries to which we are looking forward develop, with the consequent demand for city property, the city would be able to sell enough of its reverted lands to enable it to make the improvements which would be necessary such as a much improved road to Seal Cove. In that case many more homes would be required and doubtless stores would be erected. There would be a period of great activity.

REPRESENTS BRITISH GOVERNMENT

The representative of the Chamberlain government in Canada today is Sir Gerald Campbell, K.C.M.G., high commissioner. All communications between the British government and the government of Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King pass through Sir Gerald's hands. It is his duty to keep in very close touch with the activities of the Canadian government and to act for the British Secretary of State for the Dominions or any other department of the British government at all times. While the Governor General represents the King in Canada, he does not represent the British cabinet any more than he would represent the Australian or South African governments.

Sir Gerald recently came to Ottawa from New York, where he was British consul, to take the place of Sir Francis Floud who a year or two ago gave several addresses in this city. He is 59 years of age and is said to be a good speaker and a delightful personality. He has had a wide experience in the consular service, having served the British government in Rio de Janeiro, the Belgian Congo, Venice, Addis Ababa, Philadelphia and San Francisco before being moved to New York. He and Lady Campbell will reside in the official residence of the High Commissioner at Earnslcliffe, the home of the late Sir John Macdonald.

THE JAPANESE THREAT

Britain, France and the United States have concessions in China which Japan is threatening to seize. If Japan wishes to terminate the war quickly it might be wise to make the seizure and see what will happen. She must be in desperate straits to even suggest such a thing.

Man in the Moon

Keep your troubles to yourself. Nobody wants to know what they are.

If you talk about your troubles And tell them o'er and o'er, The world will think you like 'em and proceed to give you more.

Uncle and niece stood watching the young people dancing about them.

"I bet you never saw any dancing like this back in the nineties, eh, Uncle?"

"Once—but the place was raided."

The big news of the day still comes from Europe or the Orient where the dictators continue in the spotlight.

If you would be outstanding With all eyes turned your way, Just make yourself a dictator With new moves every day. Be as cruel as a tiger Let nothing turn you back And, when a person cuts up rough, Just put him on the rack.

Germany has finished slicing the edges off Czechoslovakia. Now she has made friends with the victims and will probably proceed to absorb them little by little unless she finds the process too slow.

We are being told what Germany could do to the British Empire if she tried. In the meantime Hitler will probably not try.

People are talking about a suitable title for Mr. Chamberlain when he goes to the House of Lords. Jake says they should make him Lord Giveaway of Sudetenland.

Hitler and Dempsey are in the same class. Both try to change the map of their opponents.

The Czechs feel pretty badly cut up about the whole affair. (Yes the sudeten affair, not what you thought.)

Young Clerk: "Could you learn to love me, do you think, Josephine?"

Gay Young Stenographer: "Well, Napoleon, you never can tell. I learned shorthand in six weeks."

The two women met at a concert and began to talk.

"Yes," said one. "I have awful headaches and pains in my lungs. The doctor says I've a weak heart, too."

"I've just the same," replied her companion. "Heart, lungs, and ears always giving me trouble."

"Pardon me, ladies," said an old gentleman in the seat behind, "but I've come to a concert, not an organ recital."

Father (admiring his recently-born heir): "That fellow will be a great statesman one of these days." Mother: "Oh, Charles, dear, do you really think he will?" "Sure of it. Look how easily he wriggles out of everything."

Don't let these THREE hold you up this winter!

You can forget that there ever was such a motoring menace as a freeze-up when you choose "Prestone" anti-freeze. Because "Prestone" anti-freeze and water in the proper proportions just can't freeze even at 60° below zero! And this is true every day, no matter how long the winter—or how severe. Because "Prestone" anti-freeze doesn't evaporate—doesn't lose its strength! Three or four days of mild weather won't send you scurrying for another quart. "Prestone" anti-freeze protects against rust-clogging, too—can't harm the finish of your car—can't create an unpleasant odour.

NO FREEZE-UP
One half "Prestone" anti-freeze and one half water protects against freezing to a temperature 34° below zero. Use more "Prestone" anti-freeze, according to printed directions, for protection at 50° or 60° below zero. The guarantee is printed on the tin!

NO EVAPORATION
"Prestone" anti-freeze will not evaporate. When mixed with the proper amount of water in a normal cooling system, it gives guaranteed all-winter protection.

NO RUST-CLOGGING
Special properties in "Prestone" anti-freeze reduce the danger of rust-clogging and corrosion to a minimum. A rust-clogged cooling system often leads to expensive repairs—play safe with "Prestone" anti-freeze.

Miss Catherine Carmichael Becomes Bride of Carl Strand at Interesting Ceremony

In the presence of some fifty or sixty friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Olsen, English Hill, a pretty and interesting wedding took place at 7:15 last evening, with Rev. Lawrence C. Jensen, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, officiating, when Miss Catherine Carmichael, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Carmichael, Queen Charlotte City, became the bride of Carl Strand of the city.

The rooms had been attractively decorated in pink and white colors and the ceremony took place under a white wedding bell in an arch of streamers. The bride, who was given in marriage by Oscar Olsen, was a lovely picture in white satin with long train, veil and orange blossoms, carrying a shower bouquet of pink roses. Her sister, Miss Bessie Carmichael, was a pretty bridesmaid in a blue and white flowered dress over white and white turban hat with pink and white streamers, carrying a bouquet of pink and white carnations. The groomsmen was Anton Strand, brother of the groom. During the ceremony, there was appropriate piano music by Mrs. L. C. Jensen. During the reception which followed the bride cut a handsome three-tier wedding cake which centred the table set with a beautiful white lace cloth. There were pink and white flowers and tall pink tapers. A toast to the bride was proposed by the pastor and responded to by the groom. J. L. McIntosh proposed a toast to the bridesmaid to which the groomsmen responded. Bernhoff Peterson rendered a vocal solo. Assisting the hostess were Miss Brita Johansen, Mrs. Stensen, Miss Johanna Jonassen, Miss Nellie Anderson, Mrs. Ed Moore, Mrs. Harold Helland, Miss Kay Johnson and Miss Dorothy Carmichael. Many beautiful gifts, testifying to the esteem in which the contracting couple are held, were on display. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Strand sailed on the Cardena for a honeymoon trip to Vancouver following which they will return to take up residence on Eighth Avenue West. The bride's going away costume consisted of navy suit and tweed coat with matching accessories. Mr. Strand is a well known local fish packer. DAY BORN OF PEACE

Thanksgiving in Earlier Times Was Set to Mark Victories or Ending of Wars

This year's was Canada's sixtieth consecutive Thanksgiving as a Dominion-wide statutory holiday. The first—as an annual celebration—was proclaimed for November 6, 1879, by the Marquess of Lorne, then governor-general, in the second administration of Sir John A. Macdonald.

Distinctly North American as an annual observance, it is timely to recall that one of the earliest recorded Thanksgivings proclaimed officially in Canada was for the peace between Britain and France after the Seven Years War, much of which had been fought on Canadian soil. In recognition of this peace in their time (the British authorities in Halifax appointed September 29, 1763, a Day of Thanksgivings.

A frail thing as between nations in those times, peace was soon broken with Napoleon resplicing national boundaries in Europe. Proclamation of a Thanksgiving Day for January 10, 1799, asked the people of Lower Canada (Quebec) to give praise for "the signal victory over our enemy and the manifold inestimable blessings which our (British) kingdom and our province have received and daily continue to receive."

The particular victory referred to was Lord Nelson's defeat of the French on the Nile. Nationally, the repulse of American troops invading Canada after the American Revolution was also something to be thankful for.

There is record of an official the city on company business.

Thanksgiving Day in Upper Canada (Ontario) June 15, 1816, when Napoleon was safely exiled on St. Helena and the Treaty of Ghent had sealed peace between Great Britain and the United States after the war of 1812-15—a peace never broken, though sometimes strained, in the ensuing 123 years.

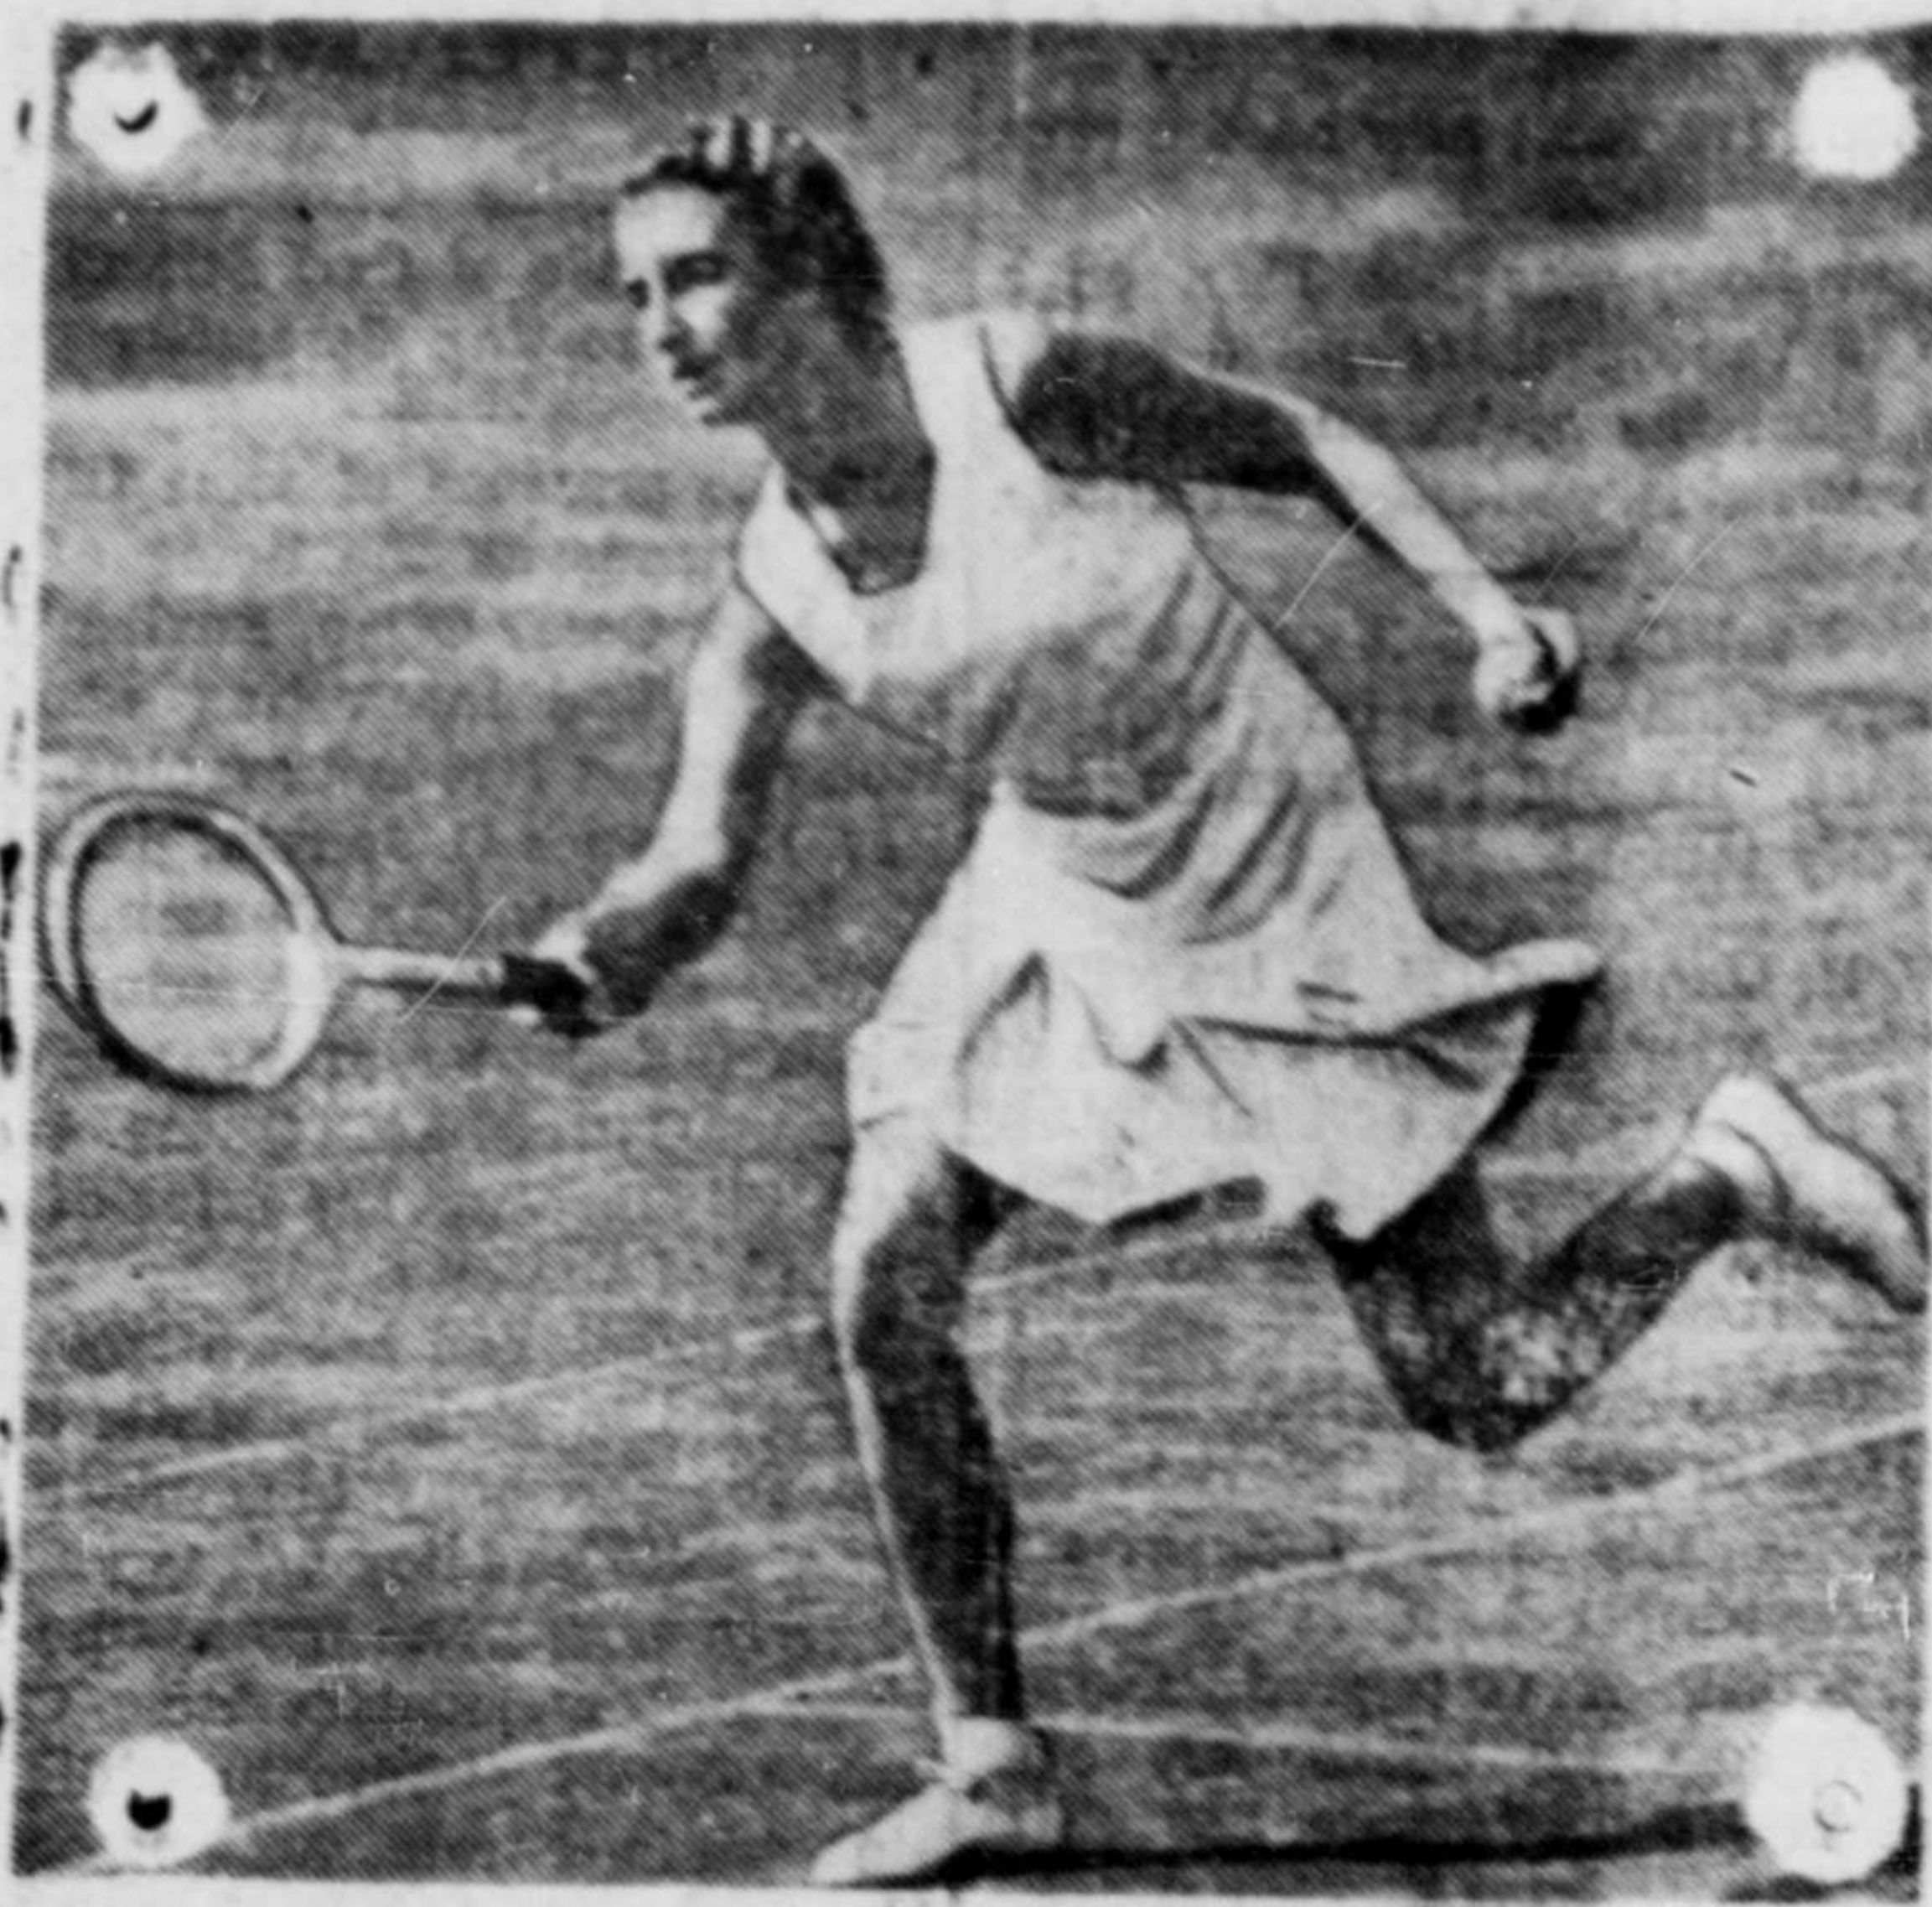

Days of 1621
The Pilgrim Fathers are credited with the idea of a Thanksgiving Day as a definite appointment for expressing gratitude for material blessings. Soon after arriving in America from England and following their first harvest from the virgin soil in 1621, they set apart a week-day for attending religious services and giving thanks. It is recorded they frequently carried their shooting weapons to church with them for protection but, while at worship they lost many a good dinner to marauding Indians.

Primarily a religious service, it became an annual festival in Connecticut in 1647, Massachusetts in 1680 and New York in 1817. Meanwhile George Washington and various succeeding presidents of the United States named sundry thanksgiving days for war victories and good crops but seemed diffident about making it a national perennial. Andrew Jackson of Carolina, president from 1829 to 1837, like some other southerners, saw "a relic of puritanic bigotry" in the idea. He would have nothing to do with the "Yankee holiday."

In 1864 President Abraham Lincoln appointed the fourth Thursday in November for national thanksgiving and the holiday has been set annually for that day in the United States ever since.

O. E. Ford, representative of the Canadian Pacific Express Co., sailed by the Princess Adelaide last night on his return to Vancouver after spending a couple of days in the city on company business.

No. 2 ON JOHN BULL'S TENNIS LIST

Second only to Kay Stammers in the feminine tennis sphere in England is Ruth Hardwick, above, who handed Helen Wills Moody the first set-back in her 1933 comeback attempt. It was the first defeat for the American star, out of competition in 1936 and '37, since Kay Stammers turned the trick in 1935. Miss Hardwick was not on the British Cup team.

SPORT CHAT

Objecting to its professional nature, the South African Lawn Tennis Union declined to sponsor a six-weeks tour that Bill Tilden and Henri Cochet suggested they make in South Africa.

When the King visits Norwich on October 29 to open the new city hall he will spend a short time watching the English Football League match between Norwich City and Millwall.

Despite a reduction of 10 per cent in attendance as a result of off-course illegal betting, the Victoria Racing Club at Melbourne had a profit of £20,000 ($96,600) the best for many years.

"My wife is like a football team—home one week and away the next"—said a Warwick Englishman whose wife applied for a separation order. The probation officer was appointed referee.

Herbert Bartaune of Alberton, has established a new South African gliding record of 210 miles as compared with the world's record of 400 miles held in Russia.

Japanese sport authorities in Tokyo have promised that, despite war with China, "we shall send more and better competitors" than ever before to the 1940 Games, transferred from Tokyo to Helsinki, Finland.

Jack Francis, 40-year-old bricklayer, who ran on to the field during the Aston Villa-Brentford English League soccer match, was found guilty of a disorderly act and bound over for eight months.

Under the National Fitness scheme, the government will pay 75 per cent of the cost of two coaches to be appointed by the National Amateur Rowing Association. The grant will run until March 31, 1940.

Van der Walt, popular Capetown heavyweight wrestler, has grown a beard following the new Voortrekker fashion. He formerly was South Africa's "masked marvel."

Thomas C. Hooman, 87, who played for Wanderers against Royal Engineers in the first Football English Association cup final in 1872 and scored the only goal of the match, died at Hythe, England, the other day.

Rough play in a soccer game at Germanston, South Africa, aroused spectators to such an extent that police were called to quell a demonstration against the referee. One player suffered broken ribs during the game.

Stollenbosch footballers were still at the "dirty cheek" state in a recent game at Capetown. They had adopted the Voortrekker beard-growing custom.

Scout Committee Is In Session

Formation of Association in Prince Rupert Is Now Contemplated

The regular meeting of the troop committee of the First Prince Rupert Scout Troop was held recently in the Scout Headquarters, Toc H Hall, with the president, Dr. Neal Carter, in the chair. It was decided to hold the annual meeting of the parents and committee in the early part of November for the election of officers for the coming year and for the presentation of reports. This meeting will have added significance in view of the fact that an invitation will be extended to the committee and parents of the Seal Cove Troop to attend in order to inaugurate a local association. The association will look after the general interests of scouting in the city while each troop will be sponsored by its own committee.

It was decided that a Scout Toy Shop will be conducted this Christmas for the distribution of toys to needy children. A meeting of the local Scouters will be held shortly to make suitable arrangements. It is hoped that in the near future, a Wolf Cub Pack will be started under the auspices of the First Prince Rupert Group.

OTHER SIDE OF PICTURE

Objection Taken to Report of Ted Gunrud in Regard to Civil War in Spain

Father James Gordon, parish priest of Annunciation Church explores the fact that Ted Gunrud, who he says is associated with the Communist party, should be given publicity in local newspapers. His own kind has a newspaper to voice his utterances and then one is deceived. But since his words have been reported as coming from one who is impartial then another side of the story should be given.

Father Gordon requests publication of the following account given by Brenden Moroney:

"It was in November, 1936, that I decided to accept a friend's suggestion to go to Spain where the International Brigade was already fighting. I was not, and am not, a Communist; but I love adventure and I was assured I should be fighting for freedom.

"I spent a large part of my 'service' in leftist jails for infractions ranging from protests against Communist methods to quarrels with a fellow member of the Brigade. The court martials I saw were mock trials in which the lack of evidence was the principal characteristic.

"After undergoing the hardships of filthy prisons and the bullying of officers, rogues and blackguards the whole gang of them, I attempted to make a breakaway to Franco's side by going through France, but was caught and jailed.

"As a result, I was sentenced to 97 days in jail, where there were incarcerated also middle-aged and old men and women who couldn't and wouldn't hurt a fly. Some were there for the crime of being respectable, others because they refused to sign over their property to the thing called a government." But most had committed the heinous crime of being Christians, and this by a "legal" government whose constitution says no man shall be persecuted for his ideas.

"From friends in Albaceta, headquarters of the International Brigade, I learned that the Nationalists did not shoot Reds and Republicans in the course of their brief stay there, and that a month before the war broke out, the Reds had burnt out numbers of churches, leaving the blackened walls, which were usually stone. I myself, could see this. This induced the townsfolk to join the rising against the government. The Nationalists, small in numbers, were completely cut off from all help but held out for five days and during those five days they executed absolutely nobody.

"However, when the Reds took the town, a veritable reign of terror commenced. The average number of people they shot daily was 58, the lowest total on any day was 38 as long as the terror lasted—till the end of August, 1936. The execution squads were mainly sailors from Valencia who had already murdered their officers. But they were cowards at fighting and broke at the battle of Brunete.

"Most of the folk in Albaceta hate the Reds. It won't be long now before General Franco comes; they say to cheer each other up: I secretly visited what was left of the churches and found disinterred bodies lying about. Such religious objects as had not been stolen were lying about, smashed and twisted in heaps. The crosses on the tombs had been broken and thrown down. This was nothing new. I saw it everywhere I went in Red Spain, in Madrid, Alicante, Valencia, Denia, etc.

"I spent twenty months in the International Brigade before making my escape."

BOMBS, NOT GAS, FEARED IN BRITAIN

Scientist Urges Great Systems of Tunnels Under Large Cities of United Kingdom

By PAT USSHER

LONDON, Oct. 15. (CP)—Construction of a vast system of underground tunnels in which the population of Britain's large cities could take shelter from air raids is suggested by Prof. J. B. S. Haldane, the distinguished scientist.

Professor Haldane criticizes many aspects of the government's air raid precaution schemes, popularly known as ARP. He asserts the greatest damage in war-time would be caused by high explosive bombs, not by gas or incendiary bombs.

The scientist-author, a leftist himself in politics, approaches the problem from an unbiased viewpoint. He writes after personal experience of bombing raids in government Spain.

The underground tunnel system would cost something like £400,000,000 ($1,920,000,000), Professor Haldane estimates. In London alone, expenditure of £100,000,000 ($480,000,000) would be necessary.

In two years sufficient tunnels could be built to accommodate London's entire population, he believes. He proposes brick-lined tunnels, 60 feet below ground level, with entrances not more than 1000 yards apart.

"You could get 100,000 skilled miners for the work at a day's notice though it would take some weeks to get them fit for hard work," he declares. "Ultimately we shall aim at a system of completely bomb proof shelters for every town in England and Wales and most of those in Scotland with evacuation as an alternative in special cases."

Haldane has some sharp criticism of steps taken already against the air raid danger. "The provision of anti-aircraft guns is of the utmost importance to Britain," he asserts. "This provision has been grossly neglected."

He goes on to declare: "I think it probable that if, as I believe, high explosive bombs are the principal danger, the entire air-raid precaution schemes so far adopted are rather worse than useless."

In addition to a long-range plan of tunnel-building, the author suggests immediate construction of trenches in parks and open places as partial shelter. Immediate arrangements also should be made for evacuation and billeting of school children. The children's camps would be provided with bomb-proof shelters.

Plans Fall Short

Professor Haldane commends the government's anti-gas measures as far as they go but finds them inadequate. He calls for instruction of the full population in the use of gas masks. He believes the civilian respirator can give full protection to the eyes and lungs against any gas or vapor which can be used by the enemy unless a bomb bursts within a few yards of a man in the shelter in the same room with him. But he objects to the policy of storing gas masks until an emergency arrives because issuing them to the public would constitute an insoluble problem.

He has little use for the "home-made" gas-proof room as suggested by the authorities. "It may reduce the risk of death to those in it by five or ten per cent but it is hopelessly inadequate," he contends. "And the recommendations are dangerous because they will give many people a wholly false sense of security. The majority of London basements would be death traps."

Presentation has been made by Cambrai Chapter, Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire, to Miss Alma Dybhavn of a $15 cash prize for having had the highest average at matriculation examinations in the local High School this year.

Boy Scouts Here Are Active Again

New Recruits Are Received And Everything Indicates Good Year

The First Prince Rupert Boy Scout Troop is now in its fourth week of activities for the current season. Everything promises well for a very successful year. A number of new recruits have been invested.

Among those recently to make their Scout Promise and be admitted into the brotherhood of Scouts are C. Wanamaker, L. Wanamaker and J. McKeown.

It has been found necessary to form a fourth patrol. The patrols in the troop at present are as follows:

Foxes, under Patrol Leader Nordén.

Foxes, under Patrol Leader Aves.

Sea Gulls, under Patrol Leader Davey.

Beavers, under Patrol Leader Haugan.

Keen competition is maintained between the four groups. The troop's out-of-door activities are well under way in spite of the uncertain weather. Patrol hikes are held weekly, each patrol going out in turn. Among several new activities to be started in the troop is a troop magazine which is being prepared under the direction of a capable editorial board.

Halibut landings at the port of Prince Rupert for the 1938 season up to and including yesterday totalled 12,738,550 pounds as compared with 13,051,850 pounds at a corresponding date last year. The Canadian catch for this year stands at 6,014,650 pounds in comparison with 6,542,850 pounds a year ago at this time while the American total is 6,723,900 pounds as against 6,509,000 pounds. During the week ending yesterday landings totalled 442,500 pounds consisting of 318,500 pounds from Canadian vessels and 124,000 pounds from American. With landings somewhat heavier, prices showed a weakening tendency during the week. The high price for Canadian fish was 10.1c and 6c which the Rose Spit received for 19,000 pounds while the low was 8.9c and 5c paid the Finella for 13,000 pounds. For American fish the top bid of the week was 10.6c and 6c received by the Emma for 14,000 pounds and the low 9c and 6c which the Bolinda was paid for 12,000 pounds.

C. Rosang, who returned yesterday on the halibut boat Oldfield, was paid off at Lipsett's but, before he reached the U. and I. Cafe he had lost his roll of bills amounting to $182, his share for the best trip of the year. Mr. Rosang is asking the person who picked up the roll to call at the Daily News with it and receive a reward of $50. He is hoping that it was an honest person who got the money and one who will do the right thing about it. He feels it is tough to lose the only bit of real money he received this year. He was on the way to the bank when he lost it.

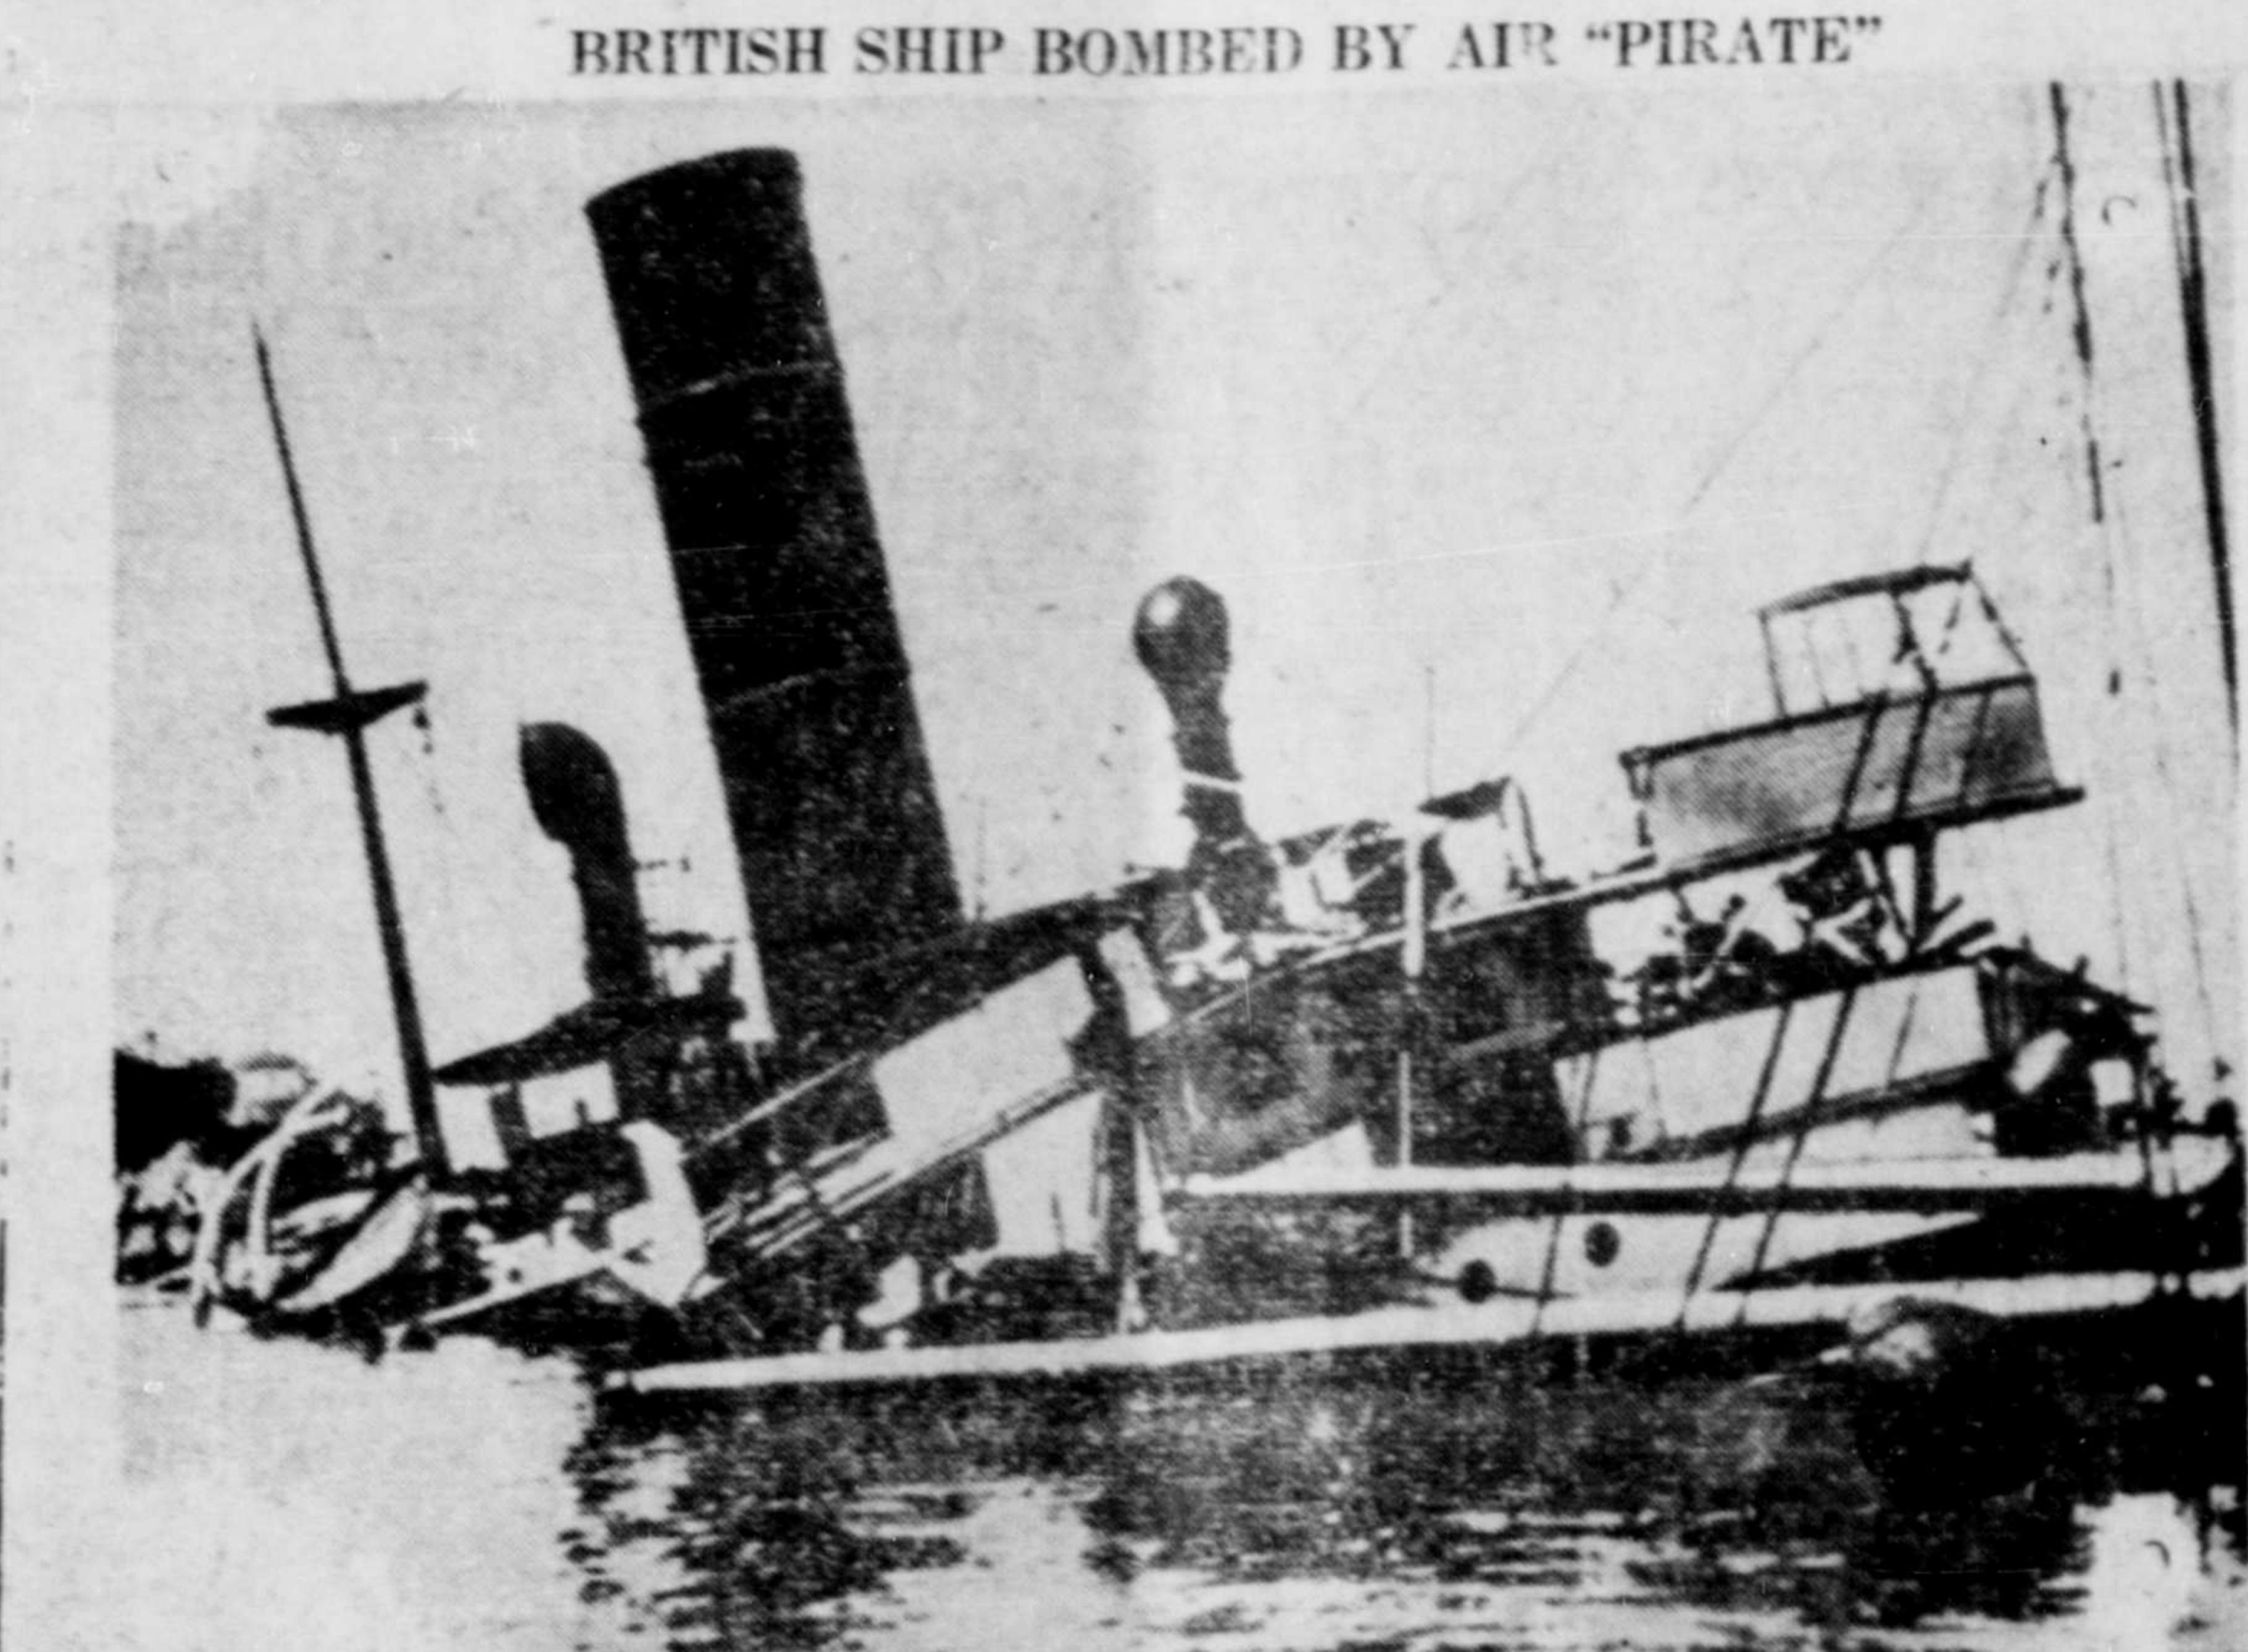

Three Area No. 3 halibut boats sold catches totalling 78,000 pounds at Seattle yesterday as follows: Narrona, 22,000 pounds, Whig, 15c and 13 1/4c; Pioneer, 30,000, Sebastian, 12 1/2c and 12c; Ionic, 26,000, Booth, 14 1/2c and 13 1/4c. The Aloha landed 400 pounds of halibut caught incidental to cod fishing, receiving 17 1/4c from Sebastian-Stuart Fish Co. which paid 4 1/2c for 11,000 pounds of sable and 4c for 1000 pounds of mixed cod.

KITSELAS

The Kitselas branch of the Native Brotherhood of British Columbia held a carnival in the Kitselas Young People's association Hall on Thanksgiving Day. The proceedings were opened by Chief M. G. McKay and proved most enjoyable to a large crowd. The hall was profusely decorated with flowers, fruit and vegetables and features included afternoon tea, social and fish pond.

The Kitselas branch of the Native Sisterhood of British Columbia has been instituted by Chief M. G. McKay with officers as follows: president, Mrs. M. G. McKay; vice-president, Mrs. Joseph Houdson; treasurer, Mrs. Albert McKenzie; secretary, Miss Amelia Bevan; assistant secretary, Miss Josephine Seymour; social committee, Miss Flora Bevan and Miss Bertha Cecil. At a party given by the new Sisterhood branch speakers were Chief McKay, Albert McKenzie, Silas W. Bevan and Mrs. McKay. The latter made an appeal for membership to which many ladies

On Thanksgiving Day the Salvation Army held special services at Kitselas. There was a baptism.

Major D. M. Mackay, Commissioner of the Department of Indian Affairs for British Columbia, was a visitor to this village at the first of the week, accompanied by W. E. Hollison, Indian Agent, Prince Rupert. They conferred with village leaders on important matters.

UNCLE SAM SEEKS RAIL ILLS CURE

Many Billions Tied Up in Industry to be Investigated by President's Committee of Capital and Labor

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15: (CP)—The railroad industry in the United States, one of the agencies which contributed most to the quick colonization and development of the country, is struggling with the tangled problem of existence in a changing world. President Roosevelt has appointed a six-man committee to attempt to diagnose the ills of the industry and find a cure. Three of the committee are railroad executives, the other three are labor men—representatives of the 21 unions which speak for trainmen and their fellow workers.

The government interest in the private industry of railroading is occasioned by the considerable segment of the total industrial life of the country railroading constitutes. In 1938 the payroll of the railroads amounted to more than $2,000,000,000. Railroads represent an investment of $23,000,000,000 in transportation lines binding together the 3,000 miles expanse of the country.

Some of the difficulties of the railroads at present are, according to expert analysts: 1. The railroads feel too quickly the upsurge of prosperity and the slump of depressions. 2. Competition with buses, trucks, pipelines, ships and airplanes checking them at every turn, the railroads cannot solve their financial difficulties by increasing rates. That might turn more business away. Passenger automobiles and busses have cut into the coach and pullman trade and refrigerated ships have taken away a considerable slice of fruit and meat shipping trade.

3. The burden of the payroll is too heavy for the curtailed income of the railroads. Many of the railroads are in debt. 4. "Fixed charges" have caused trouble. Railroads are financed by bonds on which interest must be paid promptly once a year in good times and bad. Reorganization of a railroad may cut fixed charges but some railroads, it has been said, would be "in the red" even if fixed charges were eliminated completely.

Mergers and Stocks

Other "financial abuses" in the make-up of railroads are reported as: (a) railroads bought control of other railroads or transportation companies at extravagant prices; (b) railroads bought terminal properties at extravagant rates in order to control traffic; (c) improper or misleading accounting sometimes concealed the actual financial condition of a road; (d) some railroad securities were unwisely issued "in the interests of those who market such securities."

There is no single plan for saving the railroads. The six-man committee must wait for conclusion of the present fight between labor and the railroads over a proposed 15 per cent wage cut.

Here are some proposals mentioned:

1. Consolidation and co-ordination of overlapping lines and equipment. Opposition to this is expected from unions whose men would lose jobs, management which might be displaced and local business and shippers adversely affected by the proposal.

2. Creation of a transportation authority as a new department of government to control transportation, eliminating uneconomic competition. The railroads contend, however, the government is indirectly a competitor in that government-built highways and waterways give actual competition an unfair advantage.

3. The railroads press for a reduction of 15 per cent in wages—now in dispute. But the unions, speaking for labor, say their members should not be made to pay for the financial plight of the railroads, which they insist is the result of mismanagement.

4. The fourth proposal suggests that railroads "be put through the wringer" of bankruptcy to squeeze out excess water in the total capital on which they must earn a return. But the effect of railroad failure on banks and insurance companies raises a barrier to ruthless "wringing."

"MORAL REARMAMENT"

Editor, Daily News:

Practical evidence accumulating in sixty countries has convinced responsible opinion that "Moral Re-armament" provides the solution of the world's problems. Whatever happens in Europe, "Moral Re-armament" remains the only answer to recurrent crises and the one foundation for reconciliation and permanent peace.

During the recent World Assembly of the Oxford Group at Interlaken, at which forty-five nations were represented, fifteen national and international news agencies carried this constructive news throughout the world. In these critical days the press of every nation can play a decisive part in the "Moral Re-armament" of world public opinion. I am anxious that my paper shall contribute to this program and I have decided to devote four pages in an issue of the "Journal de Geneve" to the "Moral Re-armament of the Na-
