LEGION'S CHIEF URGES SUPPORT FOR AUTHORITY; WOULD GUARD RIGHTS

Vigilance Needed to Protect Canada From Subversive Movements, General Ross Tells Delegates at Fort William Convention

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., January 31: (CP)—The duty of the Canadian Legion is to "preserve our freedom and our existing rights," General Alex Ross, Dominion president, told the seventh biennial convention of that organization here today. Delegates from the nine provinces heard the president urge upon their association the necessity to support constituted authority "and the principles for which we stand."

"We have a direct concern in maintaining our own liberty and our own institutions, and as citizens we have a responsibility in this regard," he said. "We know that efforts are being made to promote communism in this country, and I hear from time to time of efforts being made to advance the principles of fascism."

Those "subversive movements" thrived on opposition, said the general. They could best be countered by constant vigilance to protect all constituted rights.

"In this connection it would be well if we gave attention to trends which, although not originally designed to achieve an authoritarian form of government, may, if continued, bring about that result in effect. We have all noted the tendency in recent years to place more and more responsibility upon governmental institutions of every kind, and to substitute state responsibility for individual responsibility. Under changing conditions this may be necessary, but it is for consideration just how far it should be permitted to go."

Stand by System
Freedom of the press and freedom of speech were rights which had been hard won and were deeply cherished. Efforts to restore these could be observed. But most disturbing of all was the too frequent tendency to lose confidence in the present system of government.

"Living, as we have been, under trying conditions, blame for these conditions is inevitably placed upon these bodies which have the responsibility of governing, and the motives of those elected to office are too frequently the subject of unjust statement and interference. If this tendency is permitted to continue," said General Ross, "The people as a whole must lose all confidence in our elective system and the field will thus be prepared for those other forms of government."

"I suggest therefore that it is vitally necessary that as citizens we should consider those facts and use our influence to restore confidence and assist those who are charged with the responsibility of government in discharging the responsibility which is placed upon them."

"He had invariably found those in authority with whom he had to deal "to be honest and sympathetic." Their inability to meet all the views of the Legion was due not to callous indifference, but to that sense of responsibility which should be the governing motive of those who hold high public office."

CRUSADE OF FRIENDSHIP

Closer Co-operation Between British Empire and United States Aim of New Movement

Dictators Menace

English Speaking People Should Combat Challenge to Democracy

MELBOURNE, Victoria, Jan. 31: (CP)—A movement aimed at bringing about closer co-operation between the British Empire nations and the United States has spread to Victoria State after early organization was completed in other sections of Australia.

Named the "British-American Co-operation Crusade," the movement was launched in Sydney, N.S.W., in 1936 by Sir Henry Brandon, Australia's first Commissioner General to the United States. Later a branch was formed in Adelaide.

The organizers have said they hope to bring Victoria, Queensland, Western Australia and Tasmania into the organization, then extend the movement through the rest of the British Empire.

The "Crusade" is based on the belief Great Britain and the United States together could insure peace and prosperity by "combined protective action to maintain peace," by adoption of a policy of reciprocal trade and co-operation to improve international trade and finance and by uniting to preserve constitutional liberty "to insure that government of the people by the people shall not perish from the earth."

The organization intends to sponsor a petition to the King and, if possible, to President Roosevelt.

Peace and Security

A brochure issued by the "Crusade" says in part:

"A survey of the present world situation should leave no doubt as to the need for an urgent and determined effort by the English-speaking peoples to insure peace with security. International mistrust is manifest and all the principal nations of the world are rearming with feverish haste."

"The dictatorship countries and Soviet Russia, armed to the teeth, present a menacing spectacle and a terrific challenge to democracy, while Spain, racked with civil war, threatens to embroil other nations by the spread of its insidious influence."

"In the Far East, Japan makes no secret of her intentions to absorb China and eventually the whole of eastern Asia and is likely to become, unless checked in her ambitions, a world power second to none."

In a recent speech, Prime Minister Joseph Lyons of Australia appealed for a British Empire understanding with the United States. He said the Australian government would co-operate in seeking such an understanding.

"We believe that the Empire, working in close co-operation with the United States, can be an irresistible force of reason and conciliation," he said.

CHINA AID AGREED ON BY NATIONS

Great Britain, France and Soviet Russia Express Confidence That League of Nations Will Fight Aggression

Big Battle Is Looming

Struggle for Control of Railway in China With Haichow as Principal Objective

GENEVA, Jan. 31: (CP)—China agreed with Great Britain, France and Soviet Russia tonight on a League of Nations resolution which will express confidence that the League's member states will individually give China aid in the fight against Japanese aggression.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 31: (CP)—With heavy fighting along a wide front, the Japanese invaders of China appear to be concentrating today on the strategic railway terminus of Haichow. A major struggle for control of the Tientsin-Pukow railway appears now to be commencing.

The Chinese and Japanese fought a series of heavy engagements along the Tientsin-Pukow Railway today with the Chinese asserting that they had pushed back the Japanese invaders at strategic points.

Coincident with the report of Chinese guerilla gains came the Japanese announcement that bombing planes had attacked Haichow which is the eastern terminus of the Lunghai Railway, inflicting considerable damage.

Flying Boat Of United States Navy Squadron Is Lost Enroute Here

Lieut. Horton and Four Companions Picked up From Rescue Boat by Steamer Catala and Brought Here Aboard U.S.S. Teal

Five of the six flying boats of the United States Navy patrol squadron flying north from Seattle to Prince Rupert enroute to Sitka to take up base landed here safely about 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The sixth was lost after a forced landing just north of Goose Island in Queen's Sound off Hunter Island and outside of Bella Bella early Saturday afternoon. The mishap interrupted the entire flight which otherwise would have got away under ideal weather conditions for Sitka yesterday. The departure was delayed until 2 o'clock this afternoon. The flight to Sitka is expected to take about three hours.

Lieut. J. A. Horton, in charge of the lost plane, and his crew consisting of Aviation Cadet L. E. Matraw, second pilot, Aviation Machinist Ray Robinson, Radioman J. Reighard and Mechanic West arrived here this morning from down the coast aboard the aircraft tender Teal which left Saturday afternoon for Goose Island with a view to assisting the disabled plane which was at first believed to be not in a serious plight. The personnel of the plane which has been lost were transferred one each to the other five planes here for continuation of the flight to Sitka.

The six planes had left Seattle at 9:40 Saturday morning. It was clear on leaving Seattle but soon overcast skies were encountered, weather being clear again after passing Queen Charlotte Sound. After Lieut. Horton was obliged to make his forced landing on account of carburetor trouble, Lieut. Commander C. C. Champion Jr., squadron captain, and Lieut. H. B. Miller also came down.

Lieut. Commander Champion, in radiotelephone communication with Lieut. Horton, satisfied himself that the disabled ship, in sheltered waters and not far from shore, was in no immediate danger. Before taking to the air, however, in continuation of the flight here, he hailed a large fishing vessel with which he made arrangements to proceed to the scene and give such assistance as Lieut. Horton might require. Naturally, Lieut. Commander was astonished when word came yesterday morning that his ship had come to grief.

The first three planes of the squadron, which had made the flight uninterrupted from Seattle, arrived here at 3:50 Saturday afternoon and immediately proceeded to Seal Cove, their mooring place. The remaining two planes came in at 4:30.

Following arrival of the five planes, U.S.S. Teal, naval airplane tender, which had been standing by here to refuel and service the squadron, left for Goose Island to assist the disabled plane which, meantime, had further trouble, leading to the sending out of "S.O.S." calls which the steamer Catala picked up, proceeding at once to the scene. The Catala took the five fliers from a fish boat which had picked them out of their rubber life boat. The Catala later transferred them to the Teal which brought them on here.

Catala Gets S.O.S. The steamer Catala picked up the S.O.S. from the disabled plane at 9:15 a.m. Sunday. The Catala, in command of Capt. James Findlay, had been released on a court order after spending three weeks in jail for refusing to divulge the name of his informant on some secret proceedings of The Hague plane. The vessel immediately transferred them to the Teal which

DUTY ON HALIBUT

Two years ago one cent a pound of the duty was taken off halibut being shipped into United States from Canada. That was a great relief to Canadian fishermen and it did not in any way injure the American fisherman. Now the suggestion of removal of the other cent a pound is being discussed, putting American and Canadian fishermen on an equal footing.

As in the former case, the removal of the one cent a pound on Canadian caught fish would not in any way injure the American fisherman. He would get just as much for his fish as formerly but the Canadian fisherman would get more. Canadians would look upon it as a friendly gesture if this cent a pound were removed. Local fishermen were much interested in the announcement made Saturday that the matter was being considered.

SPEED UP FOR WAR

Almost every country in the world is speeding up with a view to either defending itself or attacking some other nation. It is an unfortunate condition. The average person in every country wants peace. The Japanese people wanted peace. The people of Canada most certainly want peace but no one can say how soon war may be forced on them.

The time will probably come when the world will get a peace complex and all countries will vie with each other on armament reduction and a desire to co-operate. But that time is not now and may not come for many years.

CONFERENCE OF FISHERMEN

The idea of a conference of fishermen to make plans to carry out the spirit of the conservation policy and a price stabilization scheme should meet with very general approval, it would seem. Evidently the international commission is determined to hold the fishermen down to a certain maximum catch. The next best thing to an increase in the catch is a properly distributed catch under which it will be possible to make the most of the situation as it presents itself.

MAKING FOR HAPPINESS

It might not be a bad plan for each of us to think for a few moments whether or not we are happy and, if we are not, why is it? Only recently the editor met a man who claimed that he was one of the happiest people in the world because he enjoyed at least 75 per cent of his waking hours. Even when kept awake at night he found he could be happy by thinking happy thoughts.

The lucky person is the one who is happy in the work he or she does. For most people work takes the large proportion of their waking hours and, if that is not a happy time, the person is in a poor plight. Next to enjoying work comes the enjoyment of play or recreation or some hobby. Usually the happy ones are those who are doing something of a constructive nature such as making things, painting pictures, striving for success in music, constructing useful things. Some take pleasure in watching others do things such as playing games, racing horses, seeing pictures at the theatre. All have their particular lines of enjoyment.

PLEASED WITH HOSPITAL

Editor, Daily News:
I had intended, at the Annual Meeting of the Hospital on Friday evening, to move a vote of appreciation to the Board of Directors for the efficient way in which they, and their predecessors, have so successfully shouldered their responsibilities in the past. However the meeting dispersed so rapidly after the announcement of the election results that I had no opportunity to do so.

We are very fortunate indeed in having a hospital so well equipped. The sum of $18,000 spent on keeping the equipment up to date is evidence of that. The members of the medical profession in the city have a very fine record of achievement behind them, of course; and the nursing staff, under the very efficient supervision of Miss Harrison, have an equally fine record.

But I feel sure that I am only expressing the satisfaction of the citizens generally when I refer to the fact that during these last years of financial stringency the Board of Directors has been able not only to carry on but to accumulate a surplus, and a very substantial one too. This speaks volumes for them, and of course their managing director, Mr. Birch.

Another source of gratification to the citizens generally must be the fact that the only civic institution still under democratic control has come through these trying years with flying colors.

In his birthday message President Roosevelt spoke of the success of the campaign against diphteria and tuberculosis. This had been achieved entirely through the unity of the nation in tackling the problem. He felt sure that a similar unity of purpose in attacking the scourges of cancer and infantile paralysis would have equally successful results. And if we in Prince Rupert unite in the common purpose ahead of us, the building of a new hospital will be a fairly simple matter.

Recently the city celebrated its coming of age. Let's show we are of age and capable of managing our own affairs. Some speak of their faith in the city—even if they have lived outside it for years. Surely the way to show our faith is to get together and work for success. The Hospital Board has given us a splendid lead. Their record of the past warrants our support in the future.

Pioneer Of City Goes To Georgia

George Eckerman Honored Before
Leaving After Many Years
Residence Here

Leaving the city on the Princess Norah this afternoon is one of the old timers of the city, George Eckerman, for a number of years in the employ of Edward Lipsett Ltd. and formerly with Musalliem's and other firms. He is going through to Georgia state where he expects to go into the electrical business with his son-in-law.

Mr. Eckerman, who was a prominent member of the Christian Science Church, was surprised one evening recently at his flat by a number of members of that organization who came to present him with two Prince Rupert pictures as mementoes of his stay in the city. Prior to that he was the guest of honor at a banquet in the Boston Cafe at which a presentation was made. The staff at Edward Lipsett's on Saturday gathered briefly and presented Mr. Eckerman with a fountain pen and pencil set.

Mrs. Eckerman left for Georgia some time ago.

WHAT CATHARTICS DO TO YOU!

Harsh pills and purgatives often over-stimulate your intestines... and leave them weak and listless.

If your constipation is of the common type that is due to insufficient bulk, there's a better way to treat it. Kellogg's All-Bran supplies the bulk you need. It absorbs moisture and softens like a sponge. This water-softened mass aids elimination. But All-Bran does still more. It contains vitamin B₁, the vitamin that helps tone the intestinal tract.

Eat Kellogg's All-Bran every day and drink plenty of water. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

VISITOR AT CADET DANCE

Lieut. Commander Champion And Officers in Attendance at Affair
Saturday Night

An interesting feature of another highly enjoyable dance for the local Sea Cadets Corps Saturday night was the presence of Lieut. Commander C. C. Champion Jr. and other officers of the visiting United States naval air squadron as well as Squadron Leaders Earl MacLeod and T. F. Stevenson of the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Lieut. G. H. Greenwood, commanding officer of the Sea Cadets, welcomed the visiting officers as well as those of the wardroom mess of the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve.

Lieut. Commander Champion spoke in reply, expressing appreciation of the hospitality he and his officers and men had been extended here. The boys gave three cheers for the Americans.

F. A. MacCallum, responding on behalf of the members of the R. C. N. V. R. wardroom mess, referred to the fact that it was President Roosevelt's birthday and mentioned the anti-infantile paralysis campaign which was being conducted throughout the United States on that day.

Music for the Sea Cadets was by the Serenaders' Orchestra.

Refreshments were served and the boys' dance concluded at midnight after which the members of the R. C. N. V. R. wardroom mess and their ladies carried on entertainment of the United States officers.

turned back and found the five fliers in the launch which half an hour before had picked them up from their rubber boat.

The fliers had abandoned plane partly submerged on a rock three miles north of Goose Island. While the plane was awaiting help, it was caught in the wind and went on the submerged rock. Thereupon they took to the rubber boat and headed for the steamship channel. The plane is undoubtedly a total loss.

How Plane Was Lost

Lieut. Horton and his companions were staying aboard the disabled plane awaiting the arrival of the feal when the plane struck the rock Sunday morning and began to sink and break up.

It was then they took to the rubber boat one by one to go to the fishing boat which

Lieut. Commander Champion had sent and which by this time was standing by. Cadet L. E. Mattraw

suffered somewhat from exposure in the frosty weather but was not in a serious condition. The fliers had to make a quick getaway and lost everything they had with them.

The rescue boat headed with the fliers for the steamship channel

where the Catala picked the party up.

At 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon the Catala transferred the fliers to U.S.S. Teal which followed the Catala into Prince Rupert early this morning. The transfer was made inside of North Island in Milbank Sound.

The planes of the squadron are twin-engined flying boats. The engines are 600 h.p. Wrights.

The fliers in charge of the six planes are Lieut. Commander C. C. Champion Jr., flight captain; Lieut. C. S. Smiley, Lieut. H. B. Miller, Lieut. M. T. Evans, Lieut. P. H. Harrington and Lieut. J. A. Horton.

The squadron is proceeding to Sitka to relieve one which flew south to Seattle last week, two of the six machines stopping here overnight on Thursday while the other four went direct from Sitka on Friday, landing at Everett that night on account of thick weather on Puget Sound and continuing the thirty miles to Seattle Saturday.

The Teal, following arrival today, did not land here but anchored at Seal Cove with the planes.

The Teal, after picking up the moorings here, will leave this afternoon for Seattle.

Before leaving here, Lieut. Commander C. C. Champion Jr., commander of the squadron, sent in his official dispatches on the incident to the Navy Department.
