TORIES ARE RELAUNCHED

Conservatives, With New Leader and Platform, Are Looking Ahead

Have Ideals

Manion, Stewart and Smiling, Is Popular Figure

OTTAWA, Aug. 11.—With a new leader, a new name and a revised platform the Conservative party, which has ruled Canada for many decades, has been freshly launched as a result of the national convention held in Ottawa with nearly 2,000 delegates attending. It was the first national convention since 1927.

Dropping the old name "Liberal-Conservative," the party agreed to be known henceforth as "The National Conservative Party of Canada."

The new platform calls for co-operation with the rest of the Empire on defence, selected immigration from Great Britain and France, exclusion of Orientals, creation of a non-partisan department of unemployment relief, a department of youth welfare, tariff protection for primary industries, opposition to railway amalgamation and the completion, as a national responsibility, of the trans-Canada highway.

Promote Ideals

It was decided also to appoint a permanent Dominion party organization to establish a publicity and propaganda bureau and to publish a periodical devoted to Conservative ideals and principles.

Several dramatic incidents marked the convention. Mr. Bennett charged reactionary forces within the party had prevented his carrying out his reform policies announced in a series of radio talks in 1934 although all his proposed measures were based upon the 1927 platform.

Danger of a split with the French-Canadian delegates from Quebec arose when Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader in the Senate and a former prime minister, declared Canada's readiness to co-operate to the fullest in Great Britain's defence measures was the main issue.

Young Conservatives caused some excitement when they endeavoured to have the convention adopt definite policies on solution of the railway problem and to take the stand Canada should not enter a war without a referendum decision from the people.

These difficulties were ironed out but, just before the close a sensation was created by Major W. D. Herridge, brother-in-law of Mr. Bennett and former Canadian minister to Washington, who declared the platform resolutions were "little better than a lot of junk and an insult to the intelligence of the people."

Young members of the Conservative party were given special consideration in the selection of delegates and they organized themselves into "The National Young Conservatives of Canada" with their own executive of young men and women.

Hon. R. J. Manion is the first veteran of the Great War to become the leader of a national political party and the third Roman Catholic to head the Conservatives. He is a native of Ontario. A former Liberal, Dr. Manion has supported the Conservative cause since the Union government parliament, which saw his first entry into federal politics in 1917, as Unionist member for Fort William, almost continuously until defeated in 1925.

Dr. Manion won the M. C. at Vimy Ridge. He is the author of two books, one an account of his experiences as a surgeon with the forces in France and the other written since his defeat in 1935, on his own personal experiences in life and politics.

A tall, rugged, stalwart man with a ready smile, the new leader has

Japs Now At Hankow—Many Die

HANKOW, August 11: (CP)—Japanese bombers killed an estimated five hundred persons in the twin cities of Hangyang and Wuchang across the river from Hankow today. An accurate count of the casualties is impossible until wreckage on one hundred houses and a large school has been cleared away.

HOLY LAND TROUBLOUS

Three-Cornered Warfare With Bandits Taking Hand—Munitions Seized

LEBANON, Palestine, August 11.—Police seized a car with 500 rifles and cartridges and bombs aboard. The driver and his passenger were Palestinians who refused to divulge the vendors of their cargo.

A sort of three-cornered guerilla warfare exists between bandits, Arabs and Palestinians with casualties reported almost daily.

Canada At War TWENTY YEARS AGO

(Written for The Canadian Press By CAPT. W. W. MURRAY, M. C.)

The Battle of Amiens, which opened on August 8, 1918, ushered in the last hundred days of the Great War. The expression, coined in connection with Napoleon's final bid which ended at Waterloo, is particularly apt, for the phrase wrote finis also to the desperate efforts of the Germans to wrest victory in 1918. The sudden delivery of the Canadian and Australian attacks in the misty morning of August 8 was a surprise to the enemy in every particular. They had confidently believed the Canadian Corps—the "storm troops" of the British Army—to be in Flanders and they had made hasty preparations to meet an offensive there. Prisoners captured on August 8 were bitterly amazed to find the Canadians crashing through the Amiens line and their criticisms of the inadequacy of the German intelligence staff were voluble and convincing.

The engagement did not end with the penetration of the Canadian Corps nearly eight miles from their jumping-off line on August 8. Flushed with victory, the corps resumed the battle next day. So successful had they been that plans for complete exploitation of their triumph had not been perfected. (It is now known that the initial break-through exceeded even the highest hopes of the British general staff.)

However, August 9 saw the corps again marching to the attack. The 4th Division, more or less idle the previous day beyond employment of some units in the advance to the last objective in the vicinity of Caix, was "side-slipped" to the extreme right of the line. One small pocket of enemy resistance had continued to hold out at Le Quesnel. This was captured by the 12th Brigade around mid-day on August 9 and, the French to the south having now entered the fray, the battle moved on.

Equal To Occasion

In the full light of the afternoon, under a blazing sun, units of the Canadian Corps swept across the hay-fields which chequered the plain of Santerre, continuing their advance of the previous day. It was an infantryman's battle—"Company Commander's Battle." During the summer they had been trained in open warfare, in the attack on distant objectives and under circumstances in which control of operations fell more and more into the hands of the subordinate commanders—company and platoon officers. So well had that training been assimilated that its first application on August 9 found the corps thoroughly equal to all emergencies.

For the first few miles of the advance enemy defences were almost nil. The Germans contented themselves with manning transverse ditches and hedgerows and they had hastily converted the small woods which dot that area into strong points. Their artillery had fallen almost entirely into the hands of the Canadians the previous day but stout-hearted machine gunners fought back valiantly.

Beaufort, Warvillers, Vrely and Rosieres—four villages sprawled along the front of the advancing Canadians—were centres of resistance. Heavy fighting with bomb and bayonet ensued but the Canadian Corps would not be stopped. The long line ruffled forward. On the right the 4th Division swept through Bouchoir, about eight miles north-west of Roye. The 1st Division in the centre over-ran Falles and Rouvry. On the left the 2nd Division captured Meharicourt and pivoted the line from Rosieres.

Rouvry was the centre of the penetration and its deepest point on the second day, something more than four miles from the starting point of nearly thirteen miles. More prisoners and more guns were taken. It was clear, however, that further attacks would be more costly in this area. The broken ground of the old Somme fighting area was being reached. Enemy divisions were hurriedly concentrated from other sectors to bolster the resistance. Further fighting was in prospect but, with the glittering triumph of August 8 and 9 behind them, the Canadians faced it with confidence.

FRIENDSHIP REAL NEED

Gyro Club Hears Talk By William Talbot of Kelowna, Toc H Organizer

"The greatest need of the world today is real friendship, friendship that develops common interests and sinks social and political barriers," declared William Talbot of Kelowna, Toc H organizer, in addressing the Prince Rupert Gyro Club at luncheon yesterday. Solution of the great problems that faced the world today, the speaker believed, lay not in politics but in the hearts and minds of men and could be accomplished by daily application of the teachings and principles of Jesus Christ.

Mr. Talbot outlined the development of the Toc H movement which had found its origin at Talbot House in Poperinghe, Belgium, during the days of the Great War. There, regardless of rank or position, had arisen a spirit of comradeship and understanding which the speaker said had been about the only good thing that came out of the war. Since the war, the movement had been continued in civilian life and had spread to all parts of the world.

Toc H, Mr. Talbot continued, was now endeavouring to reach out and get in touch with the many young men who were being thrown upon a world which seemed to have nothing to offer them. It was endeavouring, through the helping hand of friendship, to stay the growing tendency of drift and hopelessness and develop a spirit of responsibility and courage in face of difficulties. Mr. Talbot suggested that there might be activities in Prince Rupert where Toc H could co-operate with the Gyro Club.

Dr. H. N. Brocklesby, past president, was in the chair at yesterday's luncheon in the absence of the president, D. G. Borland, who is absent from the city attending the Gyro district convention at Yakima. Guests, in addition to the speaker, were Dr. W. C. Aspinall and J. T. Harvey.

The club decided to endorse the entry of Miss Alice Gomez in the Port Day Carnival Queen contest as candidate of the Gyro Playgrounds.

R. T. Elliott of Victoria, writing to the press, takes strong exception to the campaign of slander being carried on against the Canadian National Railway and shows what an injurious effect this has on the nation. His letter in part says:

"A large part of Canada has no railway facilities except those provided by the Canadian National Railways, and another part of Canada would have very inadequate railway service without the facilities given by the C.N.R."

"Practically one-half of the wheat areas of Canada and more than one-half in value of the producing gold areas in Canada have been developed through the rail facilities of the C.N.R."

"All these areas pay the scheduled railway rates and these rates will increase in aggregate volume with extension of development and growth of population. In the meantime, and during the progress of development and growth of population, the revenue of the C.N.R. has to be supplemented by annual payments to cover the cost of railway facilities which are necessary for national development."

"These annual payments are honestly payable and paid out of national funds because the whole nation benefits by the created trade and commerce resulting from use of C.N.R. railway facilities."

"The volume of Canadian commerce which is directly created by C.N.R., facilities exceeds $1,000,000,000 per year. The national annual contribution towards getting this commerce has been somewhat less than 5 per cent. per annum. No one with any sense would throw away the increased commerce to save the 5 per cent."

UNCLE SAM AND LEAGUE

Withdrawal of Another Central Republic From League of Nations Cited

NEW YORK, August 10: (CP)—Venezuela's withdrawal from the League of Nations (making the ninth Latin American country to abandon the League organization) is another demonstration that the Americas are pulling away from Europe and seeking security and self-sufficiency among themselves, say observers here.

The projected League of American nations—proposed last March through the Pan-American Union—seems to have drawn a bit nearer. This would replace European dependencies with an all-American brotherhood. It would make the Monroe Doctrine—long regarded by many Latin states as a threat to sovereignty—a matter of mutual advantage.

Venezuela is the ninth Latin American country to sign off with the League. Twenty western hemisphere republics originally belonged.

It isn't particularly surprising to see Venezuela make this move. Her foreign minister, Dr. Gil Bergas, is thoroughly pan-American. He was long assistant director of the Pan American Union in Washington and is a firm friend of the United States republic.

Another late development is the trade war between Brazil and Germany which started when President Vargas of Brazil took steps to curb activities by German groups in his country. This has resulted in virtual cessation of trade between the two nations.

Westview Wins Over Acropolis

Score of 12 to 2 in Playground Softball Yesterday.

The second game in the intermediate division of the Gyro Softball League was played yesterday afternoon with Acropolis beating Westview by a score of 12 to 2. The boys showed occasional flashes of brilliance in the field although their batting was weak. The youngsters put on a good show and the game was exciting enough in spots to satisfy the most rabid fan.

Robertson, pitching for Acropolis, was a fairly solid performer although he weakened slightly in the sixth inning to walk in two runs. Westview used three pitchers in the game. Vukovich, Arney and Pavlikis, none of whom showed particularly well with three hits each, while Arney and McLeod of Westview both hit two for three.

Team captains were: Ted Arney for Westview and Clifford Robertson for Acropolis.

Umpires were Neil Ross and Ray O'Neill.

Two Games Last Night In Gyro Cager's League

The two games in the Gyro basketball league that were played in the Exhibition Building last night provided thrills galore. In the first game McClymont Park boys played over their heads to take a close 13 to 9 decision from Westview. The second game saw a strong Seal Cove quintet beat Acropolis quite handily by a score of 23 to 6.

McClymont Park's victory was largely due to the fact that Westview, although time and again in position to score, persisted in missing set-ups when under the basket. Grimble, Simundson and Hougan for McClymont were the stars of the game. Grimble took enough time off from playing a very sound defensive game to make spectacular floor length dashes which usually ended in a score. Simundson played a good game although he was lucky in not being called for more fouls and Hougan, who has the prettiest shots in the league, gave his usual sterling performance.

The Westview boys played smart basketball but could not sink their shots. Blain particularly was off. Playing under the basket he was repeatedly fed sitters by his mates but managed to pot only one basket and one free throw.

Brown, Westview's captain and probably the best man on the floor was a tower of strength on the defence and was responsible for most of his team's points but he alone could not stem the tide.

Had Little Difficulty In the Acropolis-Seal Cove game the Seal Cove lads had little difficulty in any part of the game. Their shooting was deadly and their combination and running play left little to be desired.

Bussanich opened the scoring for Seal Cove and played a bang up game throughout. Besides scoring 7 points himself he was the instigator of many plays that ended in a score.

Montesano, for Seal Cove, had another of his "unconscious" nights and scored 14 of his team's points. Credit for a lot of Montesano's points goes to his teammates whose beautiful combination usually ended with Montesano under the basket.

Acropolis boys managed to hold their opponents down in the first few minutes of play but, when the score began to mount against them, they threw the game away by r-4 sorting to dirty play. Nine fouls in all were called against the team. Acropolis would have made a better showing if they had played as a team rather than a group of individuals. The only combination used in the game by this team were plays in which Brown and O'Neill figured.

Astori of Acropolis played a good game when he was given a chance to get in the play and Mentenko showed well although his rushing tactics were frequently called for fouls.

Team captains were: Westview, Bill Brown; McClymont, Bruce Simundson; Seal Cove, Albert Mah; Acropolis, Ray O'Neill. Referees were Dominic Montesano and Neil Ross.

PEACE CROP LOOKS GOOD

Yield Will Be Larger Than Expected, Running Fifteen to Sixteen Bushels Per Acre.

DAWSON CREEK, August 11.—Crop conditions throughout the Peace River country now indicate a much better crop return this year than had seemed possible a few weeks ago. Following a very favorable spring seeding season, dry weather and hot winds did heavy damage with extensive soil drifting in a few restricted areas. An almost total lack of rain during the summer resulted in thin stands of grain and at the end of June conditions were such that an average yield of as low as five bushels per acre would look like a fair estimate.

During July a few light showers made a marvellous change in the outlook and at the end of July prospects indicated an average yield over the entire Peace River country of fifteen or sixteen bushels per acre. This estimate takes into account the very unsatisfactory strip of country about sixteen miles in width and extending from Beatonson westward to within a few miles of Wembley and also allows for the complete loss of 21,000 acres of crops destroyed by hail in the Berwyn-Grimshaw district.

Peace River Block
Fair to good crops are the rule in the Peace River Block of British Columbia with an average of 20 bushels per acre of wheat indicated and with some fields promising much heavier yields. In the Rio Grande and Halcourt good yields are the rule but for the remainder of the country south of the Peace the crop is spotty. Spirit River, Eyroft and Wanham will have very low yields and some farms will have normal crops.

North of the Peace and in the High Prairie district the average is better than south of the river, but in the Falher and Donnelly district, while grain is rapidly recovering from the disappointing conditions of June, the general average will be very light and this district will to a considerable extent offset the heavier yields of High Prairie. Hines Creek and the Battle River district. In the latter district the highest average yield of the north country is promised with a few fields showing prospects of as high as forty bushels per acre of wheat.

More Than Last Year

A general summary of the north country, made after driving the length of the district from High Prairie to Dawson Creek and Rolla, indicates an aggregate crop return of perhaps 40 per cent. more than was the case in 1937. Moreover, the grain is filling well and a high grade is expected if given favorable weather from now to harvest.

Over wide areas the color is turning fast and cutting has begun in many districts. Binders are starting in scattered districts and early cutting is becoming general.

Simple Home Treatment

Prove It At Small Cost
The world progresses. Today many minor ailments that took weeks to overcome can be helped much more quickly. If you have varicose veins or bunions start today to bring them back to normal size and if you are wise you will do so. Just get an original bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil at Ormes Ltd. or any dispensing pharmacist and apply it night and morning to the enlarged veins. In a short time the veins should begin to grow smaller and by regular use soon approach normal. People who want to reduce varicose veins or simple swellings, should not hesitate to try a bottle at once. It is so penetrating and economical that a small bottle lasts a long time.

WILL HONOR HIS MEMORY

Week-Long Celebration to Mark Bi-Centenary of Explorer Who Led Expeditions to Prairies

WINNIPEG, August 11: (CP) — Two hundred years ago next month an earnest young Frenchman, then living at the little hamlet of Three Rivers, Quebec, had a vision. He believed it possible to reach the western sea across the prairies and he organized and led an expedition with this end in view.

Early in September the cities of Winnipeg and St. Boniface will observe the bi-centenary of Pierre Gauthier de la Verendrye's accomplishments with a week-long celebration that promises to attract many visitors.

Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King has been invited to come here and officiate at the unveiling of a monument to La Verendrye which will be erected on the exact spot he landed. An effort is also being made to induce President Roosevelt to time his visit to Winnipeg to coincide with the unveiling. The Canadian Historical Society has donated $5,000 to the cost of erecting the monument. The Metis Society has handed over $1,500 it collected several years ago and grants from the Manitoba government and the two cities also are expected.

Montreal, Quebec and Three Rivers have displayed unusual interest in the historical spectacle which will feature a nightly pageant in the million-dollar civic auditorium. A special train will bring between seventy-five and one hundred prominent citizens from Quebec for the occasion. The celebration will start Saturday, September 3, and conclude September 11.

In his search for the western sea La Verendrye led expedition after expedition across the prairies. He visited the Mandan country in North Dakota. His sons discovered the great Saskatchewan rivers. They followed the course of the Missouri and were the first to view the Rocky Mountains.

La Verendrye was born in Three Rivers in 1683. After a brilliant and distinguished military career in New France and in Europe, he returned to this country and engaged in the western fur trade. While at Nipigon he conceived the idea of exploring the unknown country beyond Lake Superior to discover the western sea, a project to which he devoted the remainder of his life.

Of all the men who dreamed of one day reaching the western ocean by travelling overland, none had a surer vision than La Verendrye. For twenty-one years he followed this vision and, at the time of his death in 1749, he was busy organizing a new expedition to the northwest. Few men have suffered greater disappointments or endured greater hardships than La Verendrye. With no financial support from the French court, he carried on his great project with his own meager resources. Time and again he had to go back to Quebec to keep up the interest of the government in his explorations or to meet the attacks of his enemies.

During the week of celebration a cairn will be unveiled at Ft. Maurepas, where the Red flows into Lake Winnipeg, and a plaque will be unveiled at the bridge across the Assiniboine, where it joins the Red. The bridge will be rechristened "The Bridge of Forts."

COLORFUL PEAS

HARROW WEALD, England, August 11: (CP) — A dish of green peas in dark blue pods was exhibited at the horticultural show here. They were grown from seed which had been lying dormant for 4,000 years in Tutankhamen's tomb.

DOCTORS READY

PLYMOUTH, England, Aug. 10: (CP) — The British Medical Association Conference here was told that between 40,000 and 50,000 doctors — about 80 per cent. of the profession — have volunteered for war work if hostilities should break out.

R. A. F. EMPLOYEES TOURING RECRUITING OFFICE

As Britain rushes ahead with her rearmament program and the reorganization of her armed forces, the Royal Air Force employs this touring recruiting office as a means of getting the youth of the land to join up. Ten of these mobile stations will be constructed to tour the country. Sir Kingsley Wood, Britain's air minister, is shown at the left, shaking hands with the recruiting sergeant, as they stand beside the new go-get-'em office.

WHIFFLETS From The Waterfront

The tug Commodore is now on her way from Vancouver to pick up the tug Sea Wave and barge. While coming in with the barge, laden with fuel supplies for the Home Oil Distributors Ltd., the Sea Wave suffered a broken tailshaft this week and had to be towed in from between Lawyer and Genn Islands where the breakdown occurred.

There were 188 passengers aboard the steamer Princess Alice which was in port yesterday afternoon southbound from Skagway to Vancouver. Three disembarked from the vessel at this port while a similar number took passage here for the south.

At least six Prince Rupert people were aboard the giant Cunard-White Star liner Queen Mary as she made her record-breaking voyage across the Atlantic Ocean to New York this week. They were Dr. and Mrs. Neal Carter, Dr. and Mrs. R. G. Large, Miss Edna Vickers and Miss Joyce Edgcombe.

Due no doubt to the bright weather, an improvement in salmon gill net fishing on the Skeena River this week has been reported thirty sockeye per boat being quite a common report. The sockeye net season will be concluding at the end of next week. A falling off in trolling is reported.

There were no landings of halibut here today for the second day in succession. It is expected that a number of the larger vessels may be in next week although the majority of the American boats will probably go to Seattle.

Caught fishing in closed waters at Steamboat Pass the seine boat Hazel L. Captain C. Leask, was fined $125.

Man in the Moon

Some citizen wants to know why we do not advocate a "No newspaper" week. He says he wants a rest and we won't let him.

Jake says he rests all the time and it doesn't seem to do him any good.

"Me and my father knows everything," boasted a small boy. "All rightie, where's Passamaquoddy Bay?" inquired his older companion. "That's one of the things my father knows," said the little chap.

Bobby had just returned from school and was asked by his father what he had been studying. "Grammar," said Bobby. "And what have you learned?" asked his father. "Well, daddy," said Bobby. "I've learned that cats and dogs are common hounds but you and me are proper hounds!"

There are plenty of kickers in Prince Rupert but what would happen at a football match if there were no kickers?

"Aye," exclaimed Sandy McTavish to his English friend, "Scotland's the finest place on earth." "Then what made you leave it since you like it so much?" asked the friend.

Sandy smiled. "Ah, weel," he chuckled, "it was like this. In Scotland everybody was as clever as mase' and I couldna mak' muckle progress. But here—here I'm getting on verra weel!"

Prince Rupert is well on the way toward becoming a bureaucracy. As a starter it has a tourist bureau.

Victoria is selling petrol and serving afternoon tea to tourists. Now what can Prince Rupert do that no other place has thought about? Possibly our new tourist bureau may have something to say about it.
