The scene at the Police Court was one of great excitement when the announcement of the ballot was made. Alderman Newton was warmly congratulated by his friends. Rounds of cheering outside the Police Court announced the fact that he had been elected third Mayor of Prince Rupert. The result of the ballot was made known by 7:30 o'clock.

A HEAVIER POLL.

The poll was a heavier one than last year. Altogether 816 votes were cast for Mayor, a decided increase over last year, when the total ballot was 766. On that occasion Mr. Manson's majority was over Mr. Frank Mobley.

Leek's "Plunkers."

Quite a feature of the count of votes for aldermen in Ward 1 was the "plunkers" which kept cropping up for George Leek. Probably a third of his vote consisted of "plunkers." Half a dozen more would have put him in.

Face at the Window.

In the height of the excitement within the Police Court room when it was just known that Newton had made it the big form and interested face of Fred Stork, Prince Rupert's first mayor, appeared at the window of the court room, overlooking the scene like a ghost from the past. Appealed to stop the frightful din the youngsters outside were making with tin cans to celebrate the occasion, ex-Mayor Stork asserted his authority with marvelous effect.

Early Congratulations.

Long before even the swiftest of the scrutineers had got half through their tally, the constant reiteration of the "Newton-Newton" led to proffered congratulations to Alderman Newton, who took them smiling grimly like a man sure of his ground.

Last Vote Polled

Amongst the very last electors to enter the polling booth was Alderman Hilditch himself. His ballot papers were the last to be slipped into the box. Ald. Hilditch did not wait around whilst the count was being made.

Candidates Anxious

Keenest interest and anxiety prevailed amongst the aldermanic candidates. The reporters were following the count in close touch with the five groups of scrutineers, were as closely followed by the would-be aldermen who estimated their chances from the newspapermen's systematic tabulation.

ORVILLE ALIFF, SKEENA RIVER TRAPPER, BROUGHT TO RUPT HOSPITAL HELPLESS THIS AFTERNOON--GOOD PROVINCIAL POLICE WORK.

Orville Aliff, a trapper, was brought in by train yesterday afternoon from upriver with both feet badly frost-bitten. He had been caught by the frost when trapping in the neighborhood of Ohindemash Creek on Wednesday night. Aliff was in care of Constable Jones of the Provincial Police force, and was met by Chief Owen, who had made arrangements to have him taken to the hospital.

News of Aliff's distress had been carried to Kitselas by a companion of the trapper, and in a dog sled the helpless man was brought over the six miles to Kitselas and across the frozen Skeena. One of his feet may be saved, but the whole of the toes of the other are frozen off and he had suffered intensely. He was bearing it pluckily when he arrived in Rupert yesterday.

Big Public Meeting Held in the Empress Theatre After the Result of the Poll Was Made Known Last Night

MAYOR NEWTON'S SPEECH OF THANKS

Says He Has Nothing But Kindly Feelings For His Rival, and Promises That if the Money is Forthcoming He Will See to it That His Regime is One of Construction--Speeches of Successful and Some Unsuccessful Candidates

A deafening burst of applause greeted Alderman Newton as the curtain rose at the Empress Theatre last night and revealed him to the audience who had packed the theatre as soon as the results of the election were made known. Contenting himself for the moment with announcing his chairman, Mr. H. H. Clarke, Alderman Newton bowed acknowledgement.

Must Make Good Now.

Mr. Clarke, in taking the chair, stated with considerable effect that it was now up to Alderman Newton to make good. (Cheers and "He will!") It was almost as good to be well on the winning side, he thought, as to be elected himself, and he was glad he had helped to elect Mr. Newton, whom he now asked to speak.

The Mayor-Elect's Speech.

"Had I been beaten at the polls today," said Alderman Newton very candidly, "I think I should have been able to say a lot more and much more strongly, but I cannot enough express my deep appreciation of the confidence you have shown in me tonight." (Applause.)

Will Be Constructive.

Alderman Newton with a retrospective view of the short campaign remarked that it had been said that he would make a constructive rather than a constructive mayor. He suggested that he after all but little chance to show constructive ability in his work on the council during the past year. He promised that if funds enough were available he would alter that during the coming year. He and his colleagues would do their utmost to make the citizens' money fly in constructive directions. (Cheers.)

Good Feeling to Ald. Hilditch.

Alderman Newton at some length expressed considerable good will toward Alderman Hilditch. He apologized if in the heat of the campaign he had gone rather far in criticism of his rival. Their differences were not personal, but rather matters of principle. Alderman Hilditch had fought for what he considered right; Alderman Newton had struggled for his own view of the right. A few more bouquets Alderman Newton handed around to his colleagues on the passing Council, and especially Mayor Manson, who was present on the platform. Concluding with renewed thanks to his supporters, Alderman Newton, amidst deafening applause, gave place to Mayor Manson.

Shook Hands with Manson.

There were thunders of applause as the Mayor shook hands with the Mayor-elect, congratulating him on his success. Mayor Manson appreciated Alderman Newton's regard for the old Council, and congratulated the members of the new Council. He noted with satisfaction that four members of the old Council had been re-elected, said that this showed wisdom on the part of the people and advised them to keep well in touch with their Council. Wishing them every success in office in the new year, the Mayor retired, amid applause.

W. H. Montgomery.

Alderman George Kerr, who heads the poll for Ward 1, being unfortunately indisposed, the chairman called on W. H. Montgomery, who gave a sturdy little address expressive of the feeling that the labor cause was entitled to a little show on the council, which representation he would gladly give. He thought also that he would be found big enough to support even the cause of those who could not support him. (Applause.)

The Absent Ones.

Alderman Morrissey and Malcolm McLeod were not present, and George Leek was called on by the chairman. A voice replied: "He's roller skating." (Laughter.)

W. T. Robinson.

W. T. Robinson then gave a brief address, its tone proving his remark to his audience that he meant to make good his assurance of the night before that whether elected or not he would not meet the citizens with any change of front. He hoped that those who did not support Alderman Newton at the polls would at least support him during the year. (Cheers.)

Ald. Bullock-Webster.

L. Bullock-Webster, head of the poll for Ward 2, on the call of the chairman merely expressed his thanks to the electors and promised that though a young man he would make a close study of municipal affairs and merit the confidence reposed in him.

Mr. Bullock-Webster's appearance was appreciated heartily, but his reception was as nothing compared to the salvo of applause that greeted Alderman Douglas.

The Hero of the Hour.

"I might state," began the council veteran, smiling rosy in the footlights' glow, and away went the audience into a gale of delight.

When he had a chance to speak Alderman Douglas stated (as he said he "might") that it was his intention to serve the will of the people and the interests of the city to the utmost of his ability. He would also watch carefully the interests of labor (applause), and thanked the people heartily for their confidence in him, recalling how he had appeared last year on that same platform a defeated candidate

MAYOR NEWTON AND THE COMMISSIONS

He Will Try to Have Police and License Commissioners Appointed on Nomination of Himself, the Council, Conservative "Progressives" and the Club

Alderman S. M. Newton, newly elected mayor of Prince Rupert, who takes the oath of his office on Monday, when the first meeting of the new Council will be held, in a special interview granted The Daily News this morning made the following statement in regard to the appointing of police and license commissioners.

"I intend," he said, "to do the very best I can to get the Member for the district, Mr. Manson, to use his influence toward the end that myself, the members of the City Council, the executives of the Prince Rupert Progressive Conservative Association and of the Prince Rupert Conservative Club shall have the naming of the members of these commissions to be appointed by the Government."

Interviewed on the subject of the same appointments this morning, Mayor Manson, who holds office until the new Mayor is sworn in, remarked: "These appointments are made entirely by the Government, but the responsibility for the nomination of men for them rests with myself as Member for the district. The fact that I was Member for the district last year as well as mayor of the city may have given rise to the idea prevalent in the city that the power to appoint these commissioners is vested in the Mayor. The fact is that it rests with the Government, the Mayor being ex-officio chairman of both commissions."

FRIDAY, JAN. 12

THE NEW COUNCIL'S TASK.

There can be no mistaking the meaning of the vote yesterday. For that let us be truly thankful. It means that the mass of the people are strongly opposed to having municipal affairs mixed up with party politics. It is a lesson which every member of the Council might well keep fixed in his mind, lest peradventure he be tempted later on to forget the lesson and yield to the influence of his friends.

Undoubtedly the labor vote had a great deal to do with Mayor Newton's big majority. The fact that the workingmen were able to put W. H. Montgomery in in Ward 1 and Tom Maitland in in Ward 2 shows that their voting power is large enough to be effective in both wards. In this more than in any other way the danger to Mayor Newton's peace of mind and safety lies. Mayor Newton is already pretty well pledged to the workingmen. In fulfilling his pledges he must beware lest a similar fate to that of Mayor Taylor of Vancouver befall him. The position of the two editor-labor-mayors is similar in many ways.

Mayor Newton is to be congratulated on having some of the best of the support that offered. This is especially true of Alderman Morrissey, whose return is all the more creditable because he refrained entirely from campaigning, soliciting support or making promises. He took the ground that if the public was not satisfied with his past service it was unbecoming of him to go around begging for their support. The independence shown by the Alderman in this act is one of the best of qualities in an alderman.

The next great question that the public is interested in is in regard to the possibility of a clean-up on the license and police boards. Mayor Newton promised a clean-up on both if he got the nominating of one of the commissioners on each board. He stated his firm belief in the good faith of the McBride Government that he would be given the privilege of nominating one of the commissioners on each board.

The News takes this with a grain of salt. It would be so great a reversal of policy for the McBride Government to put on any man who would allow of a "clean-up" that we decline to believe it. Mayor Newton's defeated rival is much more likely to find a place on one or other of the boards than Mayor Newton's nominees.

That Mayor Newton and the Council of 1912 will start off with the general support of the general public is assured by the vote. In no previous year has there been so much unanimity of thought, or so little rancour in the electorate. The two mayoral candidates fought a bitter fight while it lasted, but this bitterness did not extend to their supporters, and indeed had ended between the principals before ever the ballots were counted.

Our new Mayor has a fair field in front of him, with every opportunity in his favor for making good. The News joins the great mass of the citizens in wishing the new Council every success in their administration, and pledges them its support in their endeavors for the welfare of the city.

with only his famous thirteen votes.

Alderman Clayton:

Referring to Alderman Clayton as a fighter for whom the world ever has a respect whether it agree or not, the chairman introduced him. Alderman Clayton took rather longer than the others for his speech, which was received with applause. He congratulated the Mayor retiring, and the Mayor-elect, and maintained his intention of ever living up to his principles and convictions whether people liked them or not. He had had differences with persons and with newspapers in this city, but from that hour he considered the slate clean and was starting out anew forgetting the differences called into active life in the heat of the election campaign. (Applause.)

John Dybham.

John Dybham amidst the applause of his supporters, and with the chairman's congratulations still sounding in his ears, came forward, promised his best efforts and a square deal for all and retired to his seat. He was cordially applauded.

"Is Mr. Dagnall in the hall?" asked the chairman. "No, he is in London!" shouted some one, and Mr. Dagnall did not respond to the call.

Tom Maitland.

Tom Maitland did, however, saying that he was ready to do his utmost to be able to face the citizens as proudly at the end of his term as he did on his election night. E. Shockley with a smile quoted the war cry of Alderman Douglas—"It is the people's will!"—and retired amid good humored laughter. F. Lannic said there was at least one lady in Rupert—his wife—who was delighted that he had not been elected. She had hoped he would not be. "She has her wish," he said with no sign of chagrin.

Cheers for the Mayor.

Dr. Kergin and P. W. Anderson, the elected school trustees, were not in the hall, and the meeting broke up with loud, long cheers for Alderman Newton as coming mayor, for Mayor Manson and for the elected aldermen. With "God Save the King," the audience dispersed.

IN RUPERTNot a Politician, but the Yellow
Cedar Stem-post of the New Large Launch Being Built for Capt. Babington.

One of the finest "crooks" of yellow cedar ever used in boat building in Prince Rupert was brought over from the mainland across Shavatlans Passage recently by H. Johnston, of the Cow Bay boathouse. The crook is very massive and finely curved for the stem-post of the large new gasoline boat Mr. Johnston is building for Capt. Babington. Three days were spent in the bush in the search for a suitable yellow cedar tree, and after the crook had been located it took a day or two to rough hew it, and get it down to the water's edge to be shipped. Yesterday it was taken up to the building shed where the keel of the new boat and sternpost are in position, and today the stempost is being shaped. The yellow cedar of Prince Rupert district is famous for boat building, and has been sent to yacht yards on the Atlantic coast.

10 MARRIAGE COMMANDMENTSAmanda Buckman Hits on the Sure Way to Happiness.

Has Amanda Buckman, a pretty motion picture scenario writer of Chicago, solved the unhappy marriage problem?

She believes she has. She has saved up a "Reno fund." A Reno fund is represented by the $200 to $500 the business girl saves to insure her happy marriage. If she isn't happy after marriage she draws on her fund and gets legal separation— isn't that simple?

Miss Buckman will be married in the near future to a young man employed in the office of a big Chicago concern. He knows she has the fund. He's willing to take a chance at it. Here are the ten commandments she has laid down for her husband to observe:

1. Thou shalt be faithful; this is the first and greatest commandment.

2. Thou shalt love no woman but me, and have no other affinity or soul mate.

3. Thou shalt not be indifferent. Neglect is often more heartbreaking than positive disloyalty.

4. Thou shalt not deceive me, but shall confide in me implicitly as to the state of thy mind, morals and finances.

5. Thou shalt not be addicted to strong drink or gambling.

6. Thou shalt not be jealous nor hypercritical. (It is understood that I shall give thee no occasion to be either.)

7. Thou shalt be on time at thy meals, and not remain out at unreasonable hours, without good cause, or without notifying me when possible.

8. Thou shalt take notice when I have "bedecked" myself, done up my hair differently, or done any other little thing for thy delectation.

9. Thou shalt not diminish the little courtesies and attentions thou shalt remember our amorous days, and versaries to keep them holy, remembering to make gift offerings thereon, if only a 10-cent box of candy or a few flowers.

10. Thou shalt give me an allowance, compatible with thy income, and provide not only for all legitimate household expenses but a little bit over for me to spend without question.

THE LATEST BEAUTY HINT

You Must Emulate the Owl and Look Expressionless.

A new plan for attaining or retaining beauty comes out on the average once a week, and some of the suggestions are sufficiently weird, but the latest has certainly not been surpassed in strangeness.

It is simply that the person who desires to remain young should refrain from laughter.

"You must," according to the lady who described the system, "choose between looks and laughter; the two cannot go together. Laughing lines and wrinkles the face.

"There has lately sprung up in London a set of expressionless women," she added. "These women—there are from 50 to 80 of them at the moment—steadily refuse to laugh at anything. They are all, more or less, 40 years old—woman's 'dangerous' age—and it is their daily belief that by refraining from laughing they are retaining their looks.

"I first met the high priestess of the cult at the last big reception at Stafford house, and a few days later I went to tea with her.

"She has a beautiful but impassive face. She does more than keep her face from smiling. I have laughed for two years," she told me with the nearest approach to joy which she permits herself. Also, she avoids all manual work and strain.

"For example, she began to pour tea, and then, apparently remembering that even this might cause some expression to come into her face, suddenly stopped and ordered a man servant to do it for her. 'A woman can keep ten years off her face by avoiding doing things like that,' she explained.

"This woman and her following have almost reduce keeping straight faces to a second nature."

ICE CRUSHED CANNERY

Part of North Pacific Cannery
Smashed by Grinding Floes.

News reached Prince Rupert late yesterday afternoon that a part of the piling and buildings above it on the wharf of the North Pacific Cannery, up the Skeena River, had been carried away the night before by tremendous pressure of ice grinding down stream against the structure. The damage done to the cannery buildings was slight, but precautions have to be taken at once to prevent further mischief. About ten piles were torn out.

Father (impressively)—Suppose I should be taken away suddenly, what would become of you, my boy?

Irreverent Son—I'd stay here. The question is, What would become of you?

It takes a heap more money to pay what you owe than what is owed you.

DIGBY MARINE STATION DOES CREDIT TO RUPERT

SPLENDID PROGRESS HAS BEEN MADE WITH THE BUILDINGS AND EQUIPMENT AT DIGBY ISLAND.

Those who pay a visit to the Digby Island marine station now, after having seen it in its initial stages in the summer just past, will be surprised. In place of a wilderness of contractors' plants there are now well laid out yards, with some of the best constructed buildings north of Vancouver. Superintending Engineer Jennings has most thoroughly carried out his instruction to give Prince Rupert a first-class marine station.

Most commanding among the buildings is the residence for the Marine Department chief. This building has been carried out in perfect modern finish to the minutest detail and is quite a triumph of convenient planning.

Residential buildings for the staff are in keeping—less stately, quite as substantial and the same careful planning for convenience is apparent in them. But most striking of all are the big buoy shed and engine shops. The buoy shed is a particularly fine structure, with trussed roof and provision for a fifty-ton traveling crane to handle the huge buoys. Engine house and shops are all designed for swift efficiency. There are stores for light equipment, for lenses and gas apparatus for the beacons and buoys, and all are evidently designed for a port of world importance, such as Prince Rupert will be in a very few years hence.

All the ferro-concrete piles have now been placed for the wharf, and operations were in progress until the frost appeared. The completion in ferro-concrete of the transverse beams will make the wharf a huge, firm frame work of reinforced concrete capable of standing the very heavy traffic to be done over it. The transverse work of the Provincial Government wharf is of timber, not ferro-concrete.

A rough stone sea wall similar to retaining walls in Prince Rupert caught the eye of a Daily News reporter visiting the marine station yesterday, and he asked Mr. Jennings its cost per yard. "About $2," was the reply. Mr. Jennings explained that the work had been a little more expensive than had been anticipated. The wall was faced with smaller stones than are used in city retaining walls, very tightly jammed together to resist the ceaseless attack of the sea.

With the marine station now so near completion announcement may be expected soon of the appointment of the resident superintendent, and there is already some surmise amongst Prince Rupert people on the subject.

THREE DAY CURE FOR DRINK HABIT

Appeals to the Business and Professional Man, the Banker, and Man in all the Higher Walks of Life

BECAUSE OF THE TIME IT SAVES THEM

When a man's time is worth a great deal more to him than the cost of a drink habit cure he is not going to drag along for twenty-eight to forty-two days taking a treatment when he can get a cure in three days, without hypodermic injections, and be surrounded with every comfort of home.

A PERFECT CURE.

The Neal internal treatment cures the periodical, occasional or moderate drinker and the nervous man who has to drink to keep from becoming nervous. It takes away all inclination to drink, all desire and craving to drink, by neutralizing the poison of alcohol in the system and ridding the blood of the poison by a rapid system of elimination, leaving the drinker in the condition that he was before tasting liquor, so far as the effect of alcohol may be concerned—all appetite for drink gone—and he a new man.

The treatment consists of the internal administration of a harmless remedy, tonic in its action, that removes the craving for liquor in a very few hours.

DRUG HABIT CURED.

At the Vancouver institute we also treat drug addicts with uniform success. Call, write or phone for booklet, giving full information.

312 FEET

Is the distance at which Mr. Reddall of Pennsylvania shot a crow with his 16-bore Greener gun. He considered his feat of such importance that not only was the distance measured by a civil engineer but his statement was sworn to before a justice of the peace. Of course such a shot is only possible with a GREENER GUN. No other gun in the world shoots so far and so true as a GREENER GUN. This has been proved over and over again from the time of the Great London "Field" Gun Trials of 1875, when the Greener gun beat 102 guns by the world's best makers and won the Field Cup for choke bores. There are many other features about the Greener gun, fully described in our latest catalog. Let us send you a free copy.
